Denton/Dallas/Houston/Issued by the Office of Public Information, Texas Woman's University, Denton, Texas 76204/ 817-898-3456

Vol. 16, No. 32, May 23, 1994

SURLES PREPARES FOR PRESIDENCY

Reflecting on her appointment as the ninth president of Texas Woman's University during a recent telephone interview, Dr. Carol Surles said, "It's a wonderful feeling. I look forward to this new challenge as an opportunity to grow and to lead TWU." The new chief executive officer--the third woman to lead the university--plans to listen to all constituencies and "to develop a sense of timing for the campus community and its needs."

Her immediate agenda includes a review of the strategic plan and actions that need to be taken, to learn what is urgent and to spend time with faculty, staff and students at Denton and the Dallas and Houston Centers. "TWU is already off to a good start," she said. "I want to see where the university feels it should go now."

A strong advocate for single sex education, Surles said she feels that the benefits of single sex institutions are tremendous. "The need is as urgent today as it was yesterday to achieve economic, social and educational parity (for women). I feel very strongly about that."

Surles expressed her appreciation for the warm reception she received during her visits to the university. "Texas Woman's University, as a woman's university, is uniquely positioned to serve the nation with its large representation of women from a broad socio-economic strata. TWU is on the leading edge and is positively impacting the lives of many women--exponentially. I am proud that the Texas legislature, the TWU Board of Regents and the entire university community understand the value of single sex education. Our daughters and granddaughters will be the beneficiaries of our pursuing what is urgent now."

Surles said she is enthusiastic about the opportunity to work with faculty, students and staff "as we develop new paradigms in teaching, research and service for the education of women." The date she will take office has not been determined, but is expected to be during the late summer.

FANNIN ELECTED SPEAKER OF FACULTY SENATE

Dr. Ron Fannin, associate professor of family sciences, was elected speaker of the Faculty Senate for 1994-95 and Dr. Janice LaPointe-Crump, associate professor of performing arts-dance, was named speaker pro tem at the Senate's final meeting of the spring semester on May 13. Pat Fallon, assistant professor of dental hygiene, was elected secretary. Fannin previously served as speaker in 1988-89.

Standing committees of the Senate and those named as chair are: Academic Freedom and Responsibility--Dr. Stan Ivey, professor of educational leadership; Academic Standards--Dr. Michael Droge, professor of biology; Elections--Dr. Peggy Lazarus, associate professor of early childhood and special education; Constitution and Bylaws--Dr. Chris Hawkins, associate professor of nursing-Houston; Committee on Committees--Dr. Clay King, associate professor of nutrition and food sciences; Budget and Planning--Dana Gibson, assistant professor of business and economics.

University standing committees and those named as representatives from the Senate are: Graduate Council--Dr. Mona Cherri, assistant professor of computer science; Curriculum--Dr. Roger Shipley, associate professor of health studies; Faculty Development--Dr. Clay King; Strategic Planning--Dana Gibson.

Sullivan Thanks Senate for Support

In her report to the Faculty Senate, Interim President Patricia Sullivan thanked the Senate and "all TWU faculty, staff and students for your support during this year of transition. Without your commitment, hard work and dedication to TWU's mission, we could not have made the progress we did this year."

Sullivan also thanked Associate Vice Presidents Wilkes Berry and Les Thompson, the executive staff and the deans "for all they have done to keep us on course this year." Senate Speaker O. Jayne Bowman presented Sullivan with a certificate from the Faculty Senate in appreciation for her "service and contributions" as interim president during 1993-94.

Looking toward a new era for TWU under the leadership of Dr. Carol Surles, Sullivan said, "Dr. Surles will bring a breadth of experience that will help continue to move TWU forward. I believe that TWU's commitment to students and a person-centered environment, and especially to the advancement of women, will be Dr. Surles' top priority." Surles, who is currently vice president for administration and business affairs at California State University-Hayward, was named by the Board of Regents on May 11 as the university's ninth president.

"With her (Surles) expertise in administration, human resources and technology, she will create an ambitious agenda for planning TWU's future," Sullivan said. "I look forward to working with her to achieve for TWU even higher levels of excellence in all areas."

In other announcements, Sullivan:

- Reported the establishment of two new unrestricted endowments--the Tom and Naomi Williams Presidential Endowment Fund and the Shirley S. Chater Presidential Discretionary Endowment Fund. The income from both funds will be used for priority needs and projects as determined by the president.

- Congratulated two faculty on recent honors: Dr. Ingrid Scobie, associate professor of history and government, who has been selected to hold the Mary Ball Washington Chair in American History at University College, Dublin, for 1994-95--one of 10 special Fulbright chairs in Western Europe for senior scholars and the only endowed chair in Ireland in American studies; and Dr. Brenda Phillips, assistant professor of sociology and social work, who has been awarded a Fulbright-Hays scholarship this summer to Pakistan, where she will study Islam through the history and culture of that country.

- Noted that the advisory committee to the Coordinating Board regarding HEAF (Higher Education Assistance Funds) will recommend to the board in July an allocation plan that would include more than $6.9 million annually to TWU for the first five years of the 10-year funding period.

The plan would be reviewed at the end of five years, but could result in approximately $70 million to TWU over 10 years. Funds are restricted to the improvement of physical facilities.

- Said the first trial use of the framework document for faculty evaluation is complete and that she has asked the Faculty Senate for a revised version by Sept. 1 for distribution to faculty next fall. Plans call for faculty to have input into revision of the form before it is officially approved.

- Reported that she has distributed version "C" of the sexual harassment draft policy to student leaders, the executive staff, the university general counsel and the director of human resources for comment. Sullivan said she intends to pull all the suggestions together and submit them to President-elect Surles for approval. She noted that TWU is fortunate that human resource management and sexual harassment issues are among Dr. Surles' areas of expertise. In light of this, Sullivan said she will not present the draft document to the Board of Regents in June. (The Senate endorsed Sullivan's plan.)

- Complimented the Senate for its good work in developing policies and procedures, but stressed that it is now time "to turn your attention to a variety of critical academic concerns that may be issues during the legislative session." These include: faculty productivity--TWU is below state average in faculty-student ratio; student retention and graduation rates--legislators are concerned about student success and how long it takes to complete a degree program; and assessment of academic programs--we must strengthen efforts for institutional effectiveness and evaluation.

Suggestions Needed for Human Relations Programs

Members of the Faculty Senate were asked by Vice President for Student Life Glenda Simmons to give their suggestions and support to the university's human relations programs. The program was established about six years ago by former President Shirley Chater "to foster diversity and improve communications with one another and our external publics," said Simmons, who chairs the human relations committee.

During that time, many programs, workshops, films and departmental-school-college sessions on various human relations and interpersonal communications issues have been offered by the committee. "We want to make sure that we include (in our planning) what interests you," Simmons said. Senators and other faculty and staff members are asked to send their suggestions to Simmons to help the human relations committee this summer as it plans for the 1994-95 academic year, and so that faculty can include programs or films in their class syllabi.

COMMUNITY DANCE THEATRE OFFERS SUMMER CLASSES

TWU's Community Dance Center is offering summer classes from June 6 to July 8 in creative movement, creative dance, ballet, jazz and dance fitness. The cost is $25 for five weeks of classes, with two lessons each week. Registration is May 30 to June 2 at the Dance Building (DGL), Ext. 2085, or by mail to P.O. Box 23747, Denton, TX 76204.

Classes are Monday and Wednesday for creative movement, ages 3 to 4; creative dance, ages 5-6; and ballet and jazz, ages 7 to 12. Each lesson is 45 minutes long, beginning at 4:30 and ending at 7:30 p.m. Classes are Tuesday and Thursday for creative dance for special populations, and dance fitness for adults. Lessons are one hour, with each class offered from 6 to 7 p.m.

TWU TO PARTICIPATE IN DALLAS EDUCATION CENTER

TWU is one of seven colleges and universities in the north Texas area that will offer courses at the new Dallas Education Center (DEC), a cooperative partnership which also includes the Alliance for Higher Education, the Central Dallas Association, Dallas Citizen's Council, Greater Dallas Chamber of Commerce. DEC will begin holding classes on June 6, but TWU will not offer courses until the fall semester.

Other participants are the Dallas County Community College District (El Centro), East Texas State University, UT-Arlington, UT-Dallas, University of Dallas and University of North Texas. The center is located at 1901 Main Street in the recently renovated Joske's building and is connected to the walkway and tunnel systems linking downtown Dallas buildings. DEC has been designated as the first multi-institutional teaching center in Texas by the Coordinating Board.

Students will be admitted through one of the participating institutions and will earn credit toward that school's degree programs. Much of the course work will be transferable among the participating colleges and universities. Classes will be offered from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m., Monday through Friday, with extended weekend hours, primarily for students living or working in the downtown Dallas area. Courses will include teacher education, marketing, criminal justice, public relations, public administration, business and finance. TWU will offer several education courses in the fall through the College of Education and Human Ecology.

EMPLOYEE ARTS AND CRAFTS CHOSEN FOR CITY EXHIBIT

"Precious," the adorable textile sculpture by Carol Freeman of occupational therapy that sat complacently in a rocking chair outside the public information office during TWU's "On My Own Time" exhibit, has been selected along with arts and crafts by 12 other faculty and staff members for the city-wide show.

The items will be displayed from June 27 to July 15 in the Meadows Gallery at the Center for Visual Arts, 207 South Bell Avenue, with other arts and crafts by employees from Boeing, the City of Denton, Denton Publishing Company, Denton State School, HCA Denton Community Hospital and Sally Beauty Supply.

Those chosen from TWU as city finalists are: Jo DeSive, financial aid (crafts, non-textile--"Wedding Shoes"); Adelaide Flower, occupational therapy (textile--"Knitted and Felted Suit"); Carol Freeman, occupational therapy (textile/sculpture--"Precious"); James Galloway, library (color photo--untitled); Betty Hodge, telecommunications (crafts, non-textile--"Wedding Bouquet Set"); Carole Holt, fashion and textiles (painting--untitled); June Impson, family sciences (watercolor painting--"Sea Dream" and "Fruit of the Desert").

Also, Elinor Johansen, sociology and social work (painting--"Still Life"); Glenn McFadden, physical plant (sculpture--"Cowntown Main Street"); Cynthia Polson, purchasing (sculpture--"Staple Therapy"); Robin Zaruba, student activities (painting--"Sailboat"); and Cynthia Istook and Sharon Underwood, fashion and textiles (textile--"Simply Perfect Spring"). "Davey and Dad," a textile by Underwood, was chosen "Best of Show" and will also be included in the city-wide exhibit. "Sailboat," by Zaruba, won the "People's Choice" award.

Sherri Gideon of institutional advancement, who coordinated the TWU exhibit, extends her congratulations to those selected for the city show and her thanks to all participants "for sharing their creativity with our community." Bobbi Ritcheske, also of the advancement office, helped set up the exhibit.

ALUMNAE PLAN TOUR TO BARNES COLLECTION

A tour to see the famous impressionist masterpieces from the Barnes Collection at the Kimbell Art Museum in Fort Worth has been planned for Tuesday, June 21, by the TWU National Alumnae Association. The event, which will cost $15 each and includes transportation, is open to former TWU students and others interested on a space-available basis. Reservations are due Thursday, June 16, by calling the alumnae office at Ext. 2586.

The tour group will depart by bus from the library's west parking lot at 9 a.m.; the tour will be held from 10 to 11:30 a.m.. Afterward, participants will have lunch on their own at the Kimbell and then return to the campus.

The Barnes Collection includes works from Cezanne to Matisse, with examples by Gauguin, van Gogh, Picasso, Monet and many others. The Kimbell is one of only six museums worldwide chosen to host these renowned paintings on their one-time-only international tour. The paintings will be on exhibit through Aug. 14.

AUDITION DATES ANNOUNCED FOR TWO PLAYS

Audition dates for two of Broadway's best plays, Little Shop of Horrors and The House of Blue Leaves, have been announced by TWU Theatre '94 Summerfest and the Denton Light Opera Company. The auditions will be held Tuesday and Thursday, May 24 and 26, at 7 p.m. in Redbud Theatre. For scripts and information, call Ext. 2500.

Roles are available for nine to 12 men and 10 to 15 women. Those trying out for Little Shop of Horrors should bring a prepared song and sheet music; an accompanist will be provided. All auditioners are encouraged to wear comfortable clothing suitable for a movement audition. Piano playing ability is important for the character of Artie in Blue Leaves, and several characters will be asked to sing. Performance dates are June 24 to July 17, and rehearsals will begin May 31.

Little Shop of Horrors is the "gleefully gruesome" off-Broadway musical with books and lyrics by Howard Ashman and music by Alan Menken. It will be co-produced by the Denton Light Opera Company. Pamela O'Briant is the musical director and Adrienne Fisk is choreographer. The production will feature the actual Audrey II plant from the original off-Broadway production. The House of Blue Leaves, by John Guare, is described as an "enchantingly zany and original farce" about a middle-aged zoo attendant who has visions of being a songwriter.

ENROLLMENT MEETINGS SET FOR GROUP INSURANCE

Open enrollment for group insurance and TexFlex programs will be held from July 1-31 for all benefits-eligible employees, according to a recent announcement from Amy Hall, manager of benefits in the department of human resources. The sessions will include a 20-minute video reviewing the insurance coverages and assistance from benefits coordinators to help faculty and staff complete enrollment forms. For additional information, call Hall at Ext. 3555.

The meeting schedule is as follows: Denton--Wednesday and Thursday, July 6 and 7, ACT 501, at 8 and 10 a.m., and 1 and 3 p.m. Dallas-Parkland--Wed., July 13, Room 112, at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. Dallas-Presbyterian--Thursday, July 14, Room 110, at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. Houston--Wednesday and Thursday, July 20 and 21, Room 724, at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

STUDENTS RECEIVE TRAVEL FUNDS TO PRESENT RESEARCH

The Student Travel Fund Committee, chaired by Dr. Basil Hamilton of psychology, met on April 29 to review applications for the second funding period and made travel grants to 11 students. The application deadline for the fourth funding period is July 14. Forms and guidelines are available from departmental offices or from the office of the vice president for student life.

Students receiving awards are: Dance--Holly Williams, National Dance Association and American Association of Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Dance Convention, Denver, Colo.; English--Julia Anderson, Sigma Tau Delta International Convention; Kinesiology--Judith Berzen, 3rd International Medical Congress on Sports for Disabled, Quebec City, Canada; Kevin Kendrick and Robert Steward, National Conference of American College of Sports Medicine, Indianapolis, Ind.

Nursing--Suzanne Yarbrough, Qualitative Health Research Conference, Penn State University; Sociology and Social Work--Cheryl Childers, Southwest Social Science Association regional meeting, San Antonio; and Gail Wallace, Council on Social Work Education, Atlanta, Ga.; and Physical Therapy--Carolyn Jansen, Raymond McKenna and Rhonda Stanley, Canadian Physioth Association and American Physical Therapy Association Congress, Toronto, Canada.

FACULTY INVITED TO LEARN INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY

Faculty who want to learn to use the new information technologies are invited to examine the facilities and services of the School of Library and Information Studies' Multimedia Laboratory or to audit a variety of courses offered by the school, says Dean Keith Swigger. For information about these opportunities, call Ext. 2602.

The Multimedia Laboratory, located in Stoddard Hall 315, contains a collection of hardware and software, including a photographic darkroom; a variety of devices for paper presentations, from cut-outs to desktop publishing; a poster maker; multimedia PCs and the Macintosh; and presentation hardware and software from slide makers to computer-based video presentations. Faculty are invited to use these facilities to improve their media skills. Graduate assistants are available to help.

Faculty who prefer to sit in an organized class may audit a variety of courses, including Interactive Television, to help those who wish to learn to teach effectively in this new medium; Electronic Information Retrieval, teaching database searching across many disciplines; Multimedia Materials, to learn production techniques; The Internet, to gain access to a new universe of information; and Desktop Publishing, to learn to make paper look good.

BRIEF NOTES...

A surplus/salvage property sale will be held on Wednesday, May 25, at 2 p.m., with inspection of items from 9-11 a.m. and 1-4 p.m. on May 23 and 24, and 9-11 a.m. only on May 25. Call the inventory office at Ext. 3140 to make an appointment for inspection and for bid forms, as well as for additional information. A public bid opening will be held at 2 p.m. on May 25 in the purchasing office, ACT 8. Sale items include office and lounge furniture; bicycles; tire changer; computer, office and A/V equipment; appliances; Fender Rhodes pianos; 1978 Plymouth van; 1979 Dodge van; exercise and weight lifting equipment; scientific equipment; and other items.

MORE BRIEF NOTES

The bookstore and supply storeroom will be closed for inventory Wednesday through Friday, May 25-27, and will reopen on Monday, May 30. The bookstore will be open from 8 a.m. until noon on Monday and on a special schedule (see calendar) until June 6 when it resumes regular hours. The supply storeroom will be open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Participants in the PEER group (Program for Education and Enrichment in Retirement), coordinated by the office of continuing education, will attend a gala matinee production of Loot at the Kalita Humphreys Theater in Dallas on Sunday, June 19. Reservations are due by June 6 at a cost of $25 per person. The theater tour and performance will be from 12:30 to 6 p.m. The theater is the only Frank Lloyd Wright-designed theater built in the United States. For information, call Silvia Lesko, continuing education coordinator, at Ext. 3411.

Students will begin filing applications for graduation this summer on scantron cards in order to process information more rapidly with fewer errors, says Registrar Jim Stiles. The procedure enables staff to feed the forms through a scantron machine, which then sends the information directly to the university computer. TWU is the first college or university in the nation to use scantron graduation applications. A demonstration of the TWU system was presented recently at the annual Scantron Corporation National Convention in Los Angeles.

UPDATE ON TWU PEOPLE

The American Association of State Colleges and Universities will present its first Distinguished International Alumnus Award to Dr. Sook He Kim, minister of education for the Republic of Korea, at the association's annual meeting on Nov. 20-22 in Boca Raton, Fla. The award honors the accomplishments of an international graduate of an American public university. Kim earned her M.S. from TWU in 1962 and Ph.D. in 1964, both in nutrition, and received the Distinguished Alumna Award in 1989. Considered one of the leading nutritionists, educators and administrators in South Korea, her current position enables her to be an advocate for excellence in education and for fostering understanding among different cultures.

The TWU Choraliers earned a certificate of excellence based on their overall performance at the Oklahoma State University Fine Arts & Jazz Festival in Stillwater on April 16. Two soloists from the group--freshman nursing major LaTosha Boldware and freshman drama major Nykol DeDreu--each received a certificate of excellence for outstanding performer as chosen by festival adjudicators. Dr. Janice Killian (Performing Arts-Music) directs the Choraliers and Pamela O'Briant is staff accompanist.

Ann Hatch (Public Information-Media Relations) was among 20 members of the Leadership Denton Class of 1993-94 who were honored May 12 at a graduation dinner and ceremony sponsored by the Denton Chamber of Commerce.

Research and grants has announced that Research Corporation of Tucson, Ariz., has given a Cottrell College Science Award of $30,000 to Dr. Jinfeng Ni (Chemistry) for his research in chemistry of carbon dioxide: reaction of carbon dioxide with early transition metal (IVB) dinuclear complexes. The goal of the project is to search for catalysts that will induce the carbon coupling of two carbon dioxide molecules.

President Emerita Shirley Chater was honored May 20 by the University of Maryland at Baltimore School of Nursing with an honorary Doctor of Science degree. She also gave the keynote address to the 1994 graduates at the school's convocation ceremony that day.

UPDATE ON PEOPLE, continued

Dr. Anne Young (Nursing, Houston) was a co-recipient of the 1994 ONS/Chiron Therapeutics Susan Baird Excellence in Writing Award in Nursing Research at the 19th Annual Congress of the Oncology Nursing Society on May 4-7 in Cincinnati, Ohio. The $1,250 award was given to Young and three other researchers for their study of "Oncology Nurses' Attitudes Regarding Voluntary, Physician-Assisted Dying for Competent Terminally Ill Patients."

Susan Grant (Visual Arts) had examples of her work in two recent exhibitions--"The Visual Diary: Women's Own Stories," at the Houston Center for Photography through April 10, and "Re: Framing the Past," at the Galveston Art Center through April 20.

Dr. Ruth Caswell (Reading and Bilingual Education) presented a paper titled "The Changing Role of Reading in Conceptually-Oriented Science Instruction" at a meeting of the Society for the Scientific Study of Reading in New Orleans on April 2-3. On April 4-7, she was a session leader in a symposium on "Mentoring Women In(to) and Through Academe: Shattering the Glass Ceiling" at the American Educational Research Association meeting, also in New Orleans. She was one of 10 women representing higher education institutions across the United States who spoke during the year on mentoring issues.

Caswell traveled to Toronto, Canada, on May 10-12 where she presented "Relating Performance Assessment to the Classroom" at the International Reading Association conference.

Dr. Catheryn Weitman (Early Childhood and Special Education) was one of three persons in the United States invited to participate in the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education's (NCATE) institutional training for the Association of Childhood Education. The program enabled participants to work directly on site as NCATE/ACEI consultants with folio development.

Mary Lou Hoyle (Performing Arts, Drama) was installed as a Fellow of the Dallas Institute of Humanities and Culture on May 8. The honorary advisory board is a multi-disciplinary organization working to improve life in our cities. Hoyle's involvement with the institute has included teaching the literary classics to area teachers and principals. A recent book, Classic Texts and the Nature of Authority, edited by Donald and Louise Cowan, is an account of her work.

Elizabeth Snapp (Blagg-Huey Library) has been elected to the Board of Trustees of the AMI-GOS Bibliographic Council Inc. (OCLC Regional Network). The position is a three-year appointment from 1994-1997. AMIGOS covers a five state area--Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, New Mexico and Arizona.

Alisa Sample (Intercultural Services) presented a workshop on "Multiculturalism, Diversity and African Americans: Toward a Global Agenda" at the Texas Association of Blacks in Higher Education State Conference in Dallas on April 16. The session explored recent issues of multiculturalism and diversity, and their relationship to the success or failure of African American faculty, staff and students in a global society. Sample was named to the organization's board of directors.
