PRESIDENT'S OFFICE ANNOUNCES HOLIDAY GATHERINGS

TWU President Carol Surles would like to invite all faculty, staff and students to holiday gatherings that celebrate the season of friendship and giving. She will host two events on different days so that everyone on campus has an opportunity to enjoy one another's company before the campus closes for the break and 1995 begins.

A holiday coffee will be held from 8 to 10 a.m. on Wed., Dec. 7, in the southeast room of Hubbard Hall. The next day, on Thurs., Dec. 8, Surles will host an afternoon reception from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. in the same location. "I hope that all of our faculty, staff and students can attend one or the other holiday event," said Surles. "We will celebrate the season in this way among the campus community, sharing the spirit of TWU."

RECEPTION ANNOUNCED FOR PATRICIA SULLIVAN

All faculty, staff and students are invited to attend a reception honoring Dr. Patricia Sullivan (academic affairs) as she prepares to move to North Carolina and to assume the duties of chancellor of the University of North Carolina at Greensboro. The event will be held on Tues., Nov. 29, from 3 to 5 p.m. on ACT 2. Sullivan, who will assume her new duties on Jan. 1, 1995, is the first woman ever elected to the top job at UNCG, which was founded as a college for women in 1891 and opened its doors to male students in 1963.

CHATER NOMINATED TO CONTINUE AS SSA CHIEF

President Bill Clinton announced last week (Nov. 15) his intention to nominate former TWU President Shirley Chater to continue as head of the Social Security Administration when it becomes an independent agency next year. "In the year since she was sworn in as the current commissioner, Dr. Chater has taken decisive steps to improve service to Americans with disabilities, to streamline the agency and make it more efficient, and to enact high customer service standards for the more than 49 million Americans who receive Social Security or Supplemental Security Income benefits," said Clinton. "I can think of no better person to protect and maintain the administration's commitment to Social Security." The Social Security Independence and Program Improvements Act of 1994 will establish SSA as an independent agency on March 31, 1995. Under the law, the commissioner will serve a six-year term.

GRIEVANCE FILING DATE EXTENDED

The date for filing grievances under the TWU faculty grievance policy for occurrences between April 1 to Nov. 1, 1994, has been extended to 90 days after Nov. 1, 1994.

STREAM RECEIVES MARCH OF DIMES HONOR

Dr. Kathryn Stream (Houston Center) was one of seven outstanding volunteers honored on Nov. 16 by the March of Dimes Birth Defects Foundation, Texas Gulf Coast chapter, during its annual meeting. Stream, who received the "Award of Distinction," joined the March of Dimes Health Professional Advisory Committee in 1991. Under her leadership, HPAC now requires chapter grants to address transportation as a barrier to perinatal health care services. Stream, who also is a member of the March of Dimes board of directors, is a supportive member of the organization's volunteer corps, even though she lives in Denton and commutes weekly to serve as director of the TWU Institute of Health Sciences Houston Center.

"It is wonderful to have such hardworking, dedicated volunteers giving their time to help prevent birth defects and save the lives of many babies," said J.D. Epstein, chairman of the board of directors and a partner in the law firm of Vinson and Elkins. "With the continued support of these volunteers, we will be able to overcome the challenges set before us."

THEATRE '94 PRESENTS STUDENT-DIRECTED DRAMAS

TWU Theatre '94 will present an evening of drama that will satisfy a wide range of tastes during an evening of theatrical performances titled "Stix and Stones." The showcase will be offered in Redbud Theatre on Sat., Dec. 3, and Mon., Dec. 5, at 8 p.m. and on Sun., Dec. 4, at 2 p.m. "Stix and Stones" is a collage of theatre ranging from monologue collections to a one-act comedy to a multimedia event. General admission tickets are $3 per person and will be sold at the door before each performance. For more information, call the theatre box office at ext. 2020.

■ "Telling Tales" is a collection of monologues that involve reminiscences of youth and an ethnic experience directed by TWU graduate student Lynda Rodriguez, outreach director for the Fort Worth Theatre at the Scott. Migdalia Cruz's monologues include the selections "Yellow Eyes," performed by Lisa Duncan; "Papa Chibirico," performed by Elizabeth Guzman; "Sky," presented by Jennifer Davis; and "Fire," done by Rene Forte.

■ "My Cup Runneth Over" is a one-act comedy by Robert Patrick, directed by drama student Nykol DeDreu, that tells the story of two best friends and roommates who are both striving for success in two different fields. Conflict arises as the two must learn to adjust to the overnight success of one of the women. The cast includes Linda Wiggins and Taj James.

■ "Rain Without Rainbows" confronts issues about death through a collection of monologues directed by drama student Karen Limme. The collection includes the monologues "An Angel at My Table," written by Janet Frame and performed by Jeani Pisachubbe; "Johannesburg," written by James Harrison and presented by Rosana Mina; "Where's Sarah," performed by Jackie Rosenfeld; and "Animal," written by Oliver Bailey and performed by Cindy Matthews. Two poems, both performed by Stacie Leverton, also will be staged: "For Anyone Who Has Ever Lost Anyone" by Elizabeth Sewell and "The Dragon and the Undying" by Siegfried Sassoon.

■ "Yurodivy" will be a multimedia event that tells the plight of a group of women in exile during World War II. The story unfolds on stage as a string quartet from the University of North Texas College of Music performs Dmitri Shostakovich's Quartet No. 8. Aided by slides and video, the event penetrates a slice of history through a variety of different art forms. The cast includes Anne Dean, Jeani Pisachubbe, Laura Fischer, Rosana Mina and Shannan Spencer, directed by graduate student Pete Carver.

TRAVEL FUNDS FOR STUDENTS AWARDED

The student travel fund committee met on Nov. 4 to review applications that met the first funding period deadline date of Oct. 14. Ten TWU students received awards for travel to a variety of conferences so that they can present papers. The students and their awards are listed below. The deadline date for student travel fund applications for the second funding period is Jan. 13, 1995, according to Dr. Basil Hamilton (psychology and philosophy), who chairs the committee. Interested students can obtain application forms and guidelines from their departmental offices, or they can visit the office of the vice president for student life.

TELECOMMUNICATIONS OFFERS CELLULAR SERVICES

The TWU office of telecommunications now offers cellular services -- a rental-by-the-day plan for university offices and departments. Interested persons on university business may rent a Motorola portable cellular phone, including one hour of talk time between charges, for a $5 per day rental fee. Calling charges within TWU's Metrocel coverage area (which includes the metroplex and Austin) are $0.30 per minute. Calls placed to other areas in the U.S. involve a $1-per-call surcharge, plus $1-per-minute calling charges. Additional surcharges and variable rates apply for any call outside the U.S. For more information, call ext. 3434.

CHORALIERS SCHEDULE PERFORMANCE

TWU's vocal jazz ensemble, the Choraliers, will perform songs from the '40s to the present at 7 p.m. on Thurs., Dec. 1, in MCL auditorium; the concert is free and open to the public. The 12 women vocalists, directed by Pamela O'Brient (performing arts-music), will perform "Satin Doll," "Moonglow," "It Had to Be You," "Everlasting Love," "The First Time Ever I Saw Your Face" and several holiday songs. For information, call ext. 2500.

PAYROLL ISSUES TIME SHEET REMINDER

The payroll office would like to remind all offices and departments on campus to follow several key steps when students and/or employees fill out time sheets:

- Be sure that time sheets have been signed by both the employee and the supervisor before they are forwarded to payroll;
- Check to see that the seven-digit department number is on the time sheet before it is forwarded;
- Anyone using a blank time sheet and who does not know their employee object class should write in their title, which will help payroll track the paperwork that goes with the time sheet;
- Time worked each day should be rounded to the nearest quarter hour. If seven minutes is worked in a quarter hour, that time is dropped. If eight minutes of a quarter hour is worked, that time is rounded up to the next quarter hour.
- All time sheets must be completed in ink. Time sheets are run through an imaging system, and forms completed in pencil do not deliver a clear image.
- Anyone who uses a previous employee's time sheet for a new employee should white out the old name and social security number, and then fill in the new information.
- Those who work on a scheduled TWU holiday should write on their time sheets that they worked on that holiday. This information will be recorded on the computer system, and employees who have worked on a scheduled TWU holiday will have 12 months to take those holiday hours off.

Anyone who has additional questions should call Ruby Caudle at ext. 3561.

DEBUT CONCERT SET FOR UNIVERSITY CHORUS

The TWU University Chorus will present its debut concert, directed by Dr. Janice Killian (performing arts-music), on Wed., Nov. 30, at 8 p.m. in the Little Chapel-in-the-Woods. The program is free and open to all members of the campus community and the general public.

The fall concert will feature a variety of choral literature, including traditional folk songs ("Danny Boy"), Romantic period works ("Wenn ich ein Voglein war"), spirituals ("Joshua Fit the Battle") and some popular standards ("You Made Me Love You"). The University Chorus also will be joined by selected soloists who are enrolled in "The Choral Experience," a fine arts core curriculum option in which students enroll in both University Chorus and in a solo voice class during the same semester.

"This semester marks the first time since 1972 that University Chorus has been in existence," said Killian. "The mission of the University Chorus is to provide as many TWU students as possible with an opportunity to make music by performing a wide variety of choral literature."

The chorus is designed for women who want to develop or maintain their singing skills, but who are not able to commit to the performance schedule maintained by the TWU Concert Choir and the TWU Choraliers. "The chorus also serves as a training ground for the more rigorous musical demands of concert choir," added Killian. "Singers this semester include graduates and undergraduates with such diverse majors as government, music therapy, education, music and nursing. Because University Chorus is open to anyone at TWU without audition, the women of the chorus hope that even more students join them next semester in their enjoyment of creating choral music." For more information, call Killian at ext. 2505.

FACULTY SENATE DISCUSSES REPORTS

The TWU Faculty Senate met on Fri., Nov. 11, and received a number of reports from officers, President Carol Surles and committee representatives.

Speaker Ron Fannin (family sciences) reported attending a two-day program, the Council of Faculty Governance Organizations, in Austin. He said participants heard from keynote speakers and others that higher education needs to convince legislators and the general public that "we are good problem solvers" and that we are "contributing solutions to society" -- ideas that are directly related to the issue of accountability. Speaker Pro Tem Janice LaPointe-Crump (performing arts-dance) attended the conference as well and shared some of her experiences, including a discussion of non-instructional activities that faculty engage in and how such involvement is difficult to quantify and report.

Both officers of the Faculty Senate added that the executive committee had met with Dr. Carol Surles to discuss, among other issues, the role of the Senate in governance, peer review and faculty procedures for the review of administrators.

Surles, who addressed the Senate, shared her recent activities -- visits, dinner out with the Houston Center faculty, alumni meetings and other efforts -- and talked about the campus master plan. The next phase of the plan is almost ready for review, and she invited everyone to attend presentations (which will be announced), hear about the plan and provide feedback. She added, "I feel very strongly that a new president must have a vision concerning the campus climate -- an open one...that encourages the academic process. Everything I can do to enable that, I will do."

Surles also discussed inclusiveness -- placing representatives from Dallas and Houston on the university's committees so that everyone is represented. "Funds have been allocated to accommodate faculty visits to Denton and service on university committees," she said. Surles then spoke on academic leadership and announced that she would name the interim vice president for academic affairs and the chair of the search committee for that position within approximately one week. She welcomed suggestions from faculty but stressed that any ideas or names had to be submitted the first part of the following week. She added that the TWU board of regents would meet on Dec. 9 and that they might discuss the university's admission policy at that time. Surles also said that budget and state appropriations are major concerns as the next legislative session approaches, and she discussed with Senate members the issue of faculty productivity.

Several standing committee reports were offered. A revision of the "Policy on Adjunct and Part-Time Faculty" was distributed, but no action was taken. A document for the evaluation of administrators is available for faculty review; the job descriptions also are available in each department, the Faculty Senate office and on the faculty bulletin board on VENUS. (Cycles and frequency for evaluating administrators were discussed as well.) A document for tracking faculty activity was distributed, and senators talked about the method for using the form and surveying faculty each semester.

Gary Washmon (visual arts), who is secretary for the Senate this year, will write a synopsis of each meeting in newsletter form, and he also will submit full minutes for meetings. Interested faculty should contact the Faculty Senate office for copies.

NEWSBRIEFS

Thank you! Thank you! Thank you! TWU's State Employee Charitable Campaign (SECC) went over the top (of our $20,000 goal, that is) and raised $20,192! "Everyone in the TWU community who participated deserves a big thank you," said Mary Ann McDuff (academic affairs), who chaired the TWU campaign. "So many people will be helped because our faculty and staff have donated generously to a variety of charitable organizations."

Reminder: Old and contemporary compositions, sea songs, holiday music, soloists, instrumentalists and the Denton premiere of a work by a TWU alumnus will be heard in the TWU Concert Choir's annual fall concert at 8 p.m. on Tues., Nov. 22, in Margo Jones Performance Hall. The concert is free and open to the public, faculty, staff and students.

TWU Health Professions students and faculty in the College of Nursing, the School of Physical Therapy, the School of Occupational Therapy and the department of communication sciences and disorders will hold an educational Fall Forum on Tues., Nov. 29, at the TWU Dallas Center-Presbyterian from 5:30 to 8 p.m. The TWU SGA will sponsor an interdisciplinary dinner and social from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m., and campus tours will be hosted by students from OT and PT. The program, titled "Aligning for the Future," will be presented by an interdisciplinary health care team from Nova Care Rehabilitation Hospital of North Texas from 6:30 to 8 p.m. Reservations are required; RSVP by e-mail or call Reggie Michael Campbell at 8-3-2409.

Reminder: The TWU department of business and economics, the TWU Small Business Institute and Management Training Specialists -- a business based in Fort Worth and owned by TWU alumna and adjunct faculty member Dr. Connie Sitterly -- are among many sponsors of a conference on "The Female Entrepreneur." The North Texas Women's Business Ownership Conference will be held on Sat., Dec. 3, at the Dallas Infomart, 1950 Stemmons Freeway, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The cost to attend is $65 for those who pre-register; $75 per person at the door; or $55 per student with valid identification. For information, call the conference office in Fort Worth at (817) 332-3612 or Dr. Derrell Bulls (business and economics) at ext. 2111.

A note of thanks from the Chauncey family for your support :

On behalf of the Chauncey family -- Jim, Ashley, Andrew and myself -- we would like to thank everyone who contributed to the Andrew Chauncey Fund and to the benefit barbecue for the Andrew Chauncey Fund held Nov. 12, 1994, in the Student Center "Underground" at TWU. Words cannot express the gratitude we feel toward our many friends in the community. As I looked around Saturday at the many people who came to the barbecue to show their support, my heart was filled with many emotions -- joy, love, wonder and much, much appreciation.

While a tragedy happened with Baby Andrew, many positives have come out of this. The strong community support shown to me and my family has given us a renewed focus on life. There are so many good people out there, and that is what makes the world go around. Also, the good Lord has shown us that anything negative can turn positive through our faith and prayers.

Again, thank you, thank you from the bottom of our hearts. The support that you have shown to my family will never be forgotten. Andrew has touched so many lives. I can truly say that he is one of God's little angels.

May God bless all of you,
Kristie and Jim Chauncey

The inaugural planning committee will hold its next meeting on Tues., Nov. 22, 1994, at 1 p.m. on ACT 12.

Reminder: The TWU Graduate School will present a workshop on Mon., Nov. 21, for all faculty and staff who regularly advise or respond to questions from prospective or current graduate students. The program will be held from 9 to 11 a.m., ACT 5. Representatives from the graduate office, graduate admissions, financial aid and the registrar's office will participate. For details, call ext. 3415.

Golden Key Honor Society will induct several new members on Wed., Nov. 30, at 5 p.m. in SC 207-208. Among the honorary inductees will be TWU President Carol Surles.

Reminder: TWU faculty who are interested in teaching on the university's distance learning system are invited to participate in a workshop for that purpose on Fri., Dec. 2, in the distance learning classrooms in Denton, both center sites in Dallas, and Houston. Topics will include: using the equipment; preparing students for distance learning; presenting yourself on the system; the benefits and constraints of "small screen" instruction; and preparing materials for distance learning. The program is scheduled from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m.; to register, call Carol Lewis (academic computing) at ext. 3286.

Reminder: Student participants are needed for a research project that will be conducted on the effects of music on spatial reasoning ability -- the "Mozart effect." Dr. John Flohr (performing arts-music) and colleagues from the University of North Texas and Trinity University will conduct the research during the second week of December. They need 50 students (any major) to participate; call Flohr at ext. 2511 or 2500.

Please note in the departmental telephone directory that Teresa Pierce (bookstore) is misspelled.

Reminder: Basketball season opens with a bang, and Nov. 29 has been designated as "TWU Faculty Day." "We need all of you there for our game against Midwestern (at 5 p.m.)," said Judy Southard (athletics). "The only stipulation we have for your attendance is that you are loud and rowdy! We look forward to seeing you at some of our home games."

Reminder: Annual employee performance evaluations are due during the month of November. Materials for the evaluations may be obtained through human resources by calling ext. 3555 or by stopping at their office. Call Don Smith at ext. 3555 for details.
