MISS OLIVE WHITE

The 1960 Daedalian Annual is dedicated to a woman whose high deals have inspired hundreds of Texas Woman's University students.

Miss Olive White's interest in national affairs and humanity has challenged Texas Woman's University students for over a has challenged Texas Woman's University students for over a decade to take their place in a modern world However, not only decade to take their place in a modern world. However, not only has she challenged, but as a teacher she has provided her students has she challenged, but as a teacher she has provided her students with the substantial background necessary for the intelligence evaluation of current affairs.

Although Miss White's activities in the history and government department and on campus demand the maximum amount of her time, her interest in each student extends far beyond the classroom into the realm of personal friendship.

In acknowledgment of her keen interest in the students, Miss White was named as one of two recipients of the first Student Council award for outstanding work with Texas Woman's University students.
A teacher, a friend, a woman with an inspiration; to you, Miss White, we proudly dedicate the fiftieth volume of Texas Woman's University's Daedalian Annual

Business and Economics

Dr. Thurmond L. Morrison, professor and director of the Business and Economics Department, gives instruction to several business education majors in the use of the adding machine. ing machine.

The Department of Business and Economics at Texas Woman's University offers the unique advantages of a specialized training program designed exclusively for women, as well as a solid background in the liberal arts. Through the process of lectures, discussion periods, labs and field trips, in addition to the required internship program, the student is prepared for a position of responsibility in today's modern world of business.

The School of Business, largest department of the College of Arts and Sciences, offers the Bachelor of Arts or the Bachelor of Science in merchandising, insurance and finance education, secretarial administration, general business and economics. The merchandising program is the only one in Texas to emphasize fashion merchandising, rather than marketing.

Graduate students may receive a Master of Arts degree in Business or Master's of Business Education. Outstanding junior and senior business majors are eligible for membership in Sigma Phi Beta, the national honorary fraternity for business administration.

Instructors in the Religious Education Department are Mr. James Flaming, who is director of the Baptist Student Union on campus, and Rev. Henry J. Dooley, who is chaplain of the Newman Club, a Catholic youth group.

The Department offers non-sectarian, non-doctrinal courses in religion and the Bible. These courses are taught on the same level of University standards as all other academic subjects offered at the University and each course offers one or two semester hours of credit. These studies give the student a better derstanding of religious beliefs and creeds and impart a reater knowledge of Christianity, wond religions and philosophies, churches, and church group work.

The opportunity is offered to students to present weekly devotional services through dormitory vesper groups and through the Sunday morning chapel services in the Little Chapel-in-the-Woods. Students are also invited to participate in activities sponsored by the student centers maintained by the local Denton churches.

Sociology

By studying various sociological charts, these sociology students are able to comprehend trends in social habits and customs of people as influenced by environment. Checking their progress is Dr. Ethelyn Davis, professor and director.

College of Household Arts and Sciences

The College of Household Arts and Sciences, since the University and Department was established in 1903, has provided more home economics trained young women than any other institution of higher learning in Texas. The careers open to women in this broad professional field are many and varied which enables the student to select a field that fits her own particular talents and interests. Students, upon graduation, may be qualified for home economics teaching, work with the pre-school child, a position as a food and nutrition specialist, costume designer, research worker or home economics jour nalist. The college, whose classrooms are located in a beautiful air-conditioned building, is a leader in both Texas and the nation in research work.

The legislative enactment in 1901, establishing the institution which is now TWU, officially gave the govern vide, among other things, an instruction in "trained nursing" and "caring for the sick", No other fully statesupported institution of higher learning in Texas ha

Senior Hymn

Class of ' 60 stands today Hopes and dreams held high Memories of our college days Fade but cannot die

Voices hushed, but never lost,
Echo down these halls.
Through our stunts and songs we've shared
Friends we will recall
Senior Class, Senior Class,
These our Golden Years,
Cherished times both good and bad When laughter followed tears.

Our footsteps soon will disappear
As we go our way.
Every heart will linger here
Though we all may stray.
Senior Class, Senior Class
We will always stay,
Loyal to the school we love
Though we be far away

Mr. and Mrs. John Murray Kendrick, Senior Sponsors

Our Golden Years

"Class of ' 60 stands today,
Memories of our college days
As we returned to the campus in September to begin our year in Stoddard as the "Ladies on the Hill," We looked back to three years with pride and turned our thoughts to the year before us. days together by choosing our officers and class song. No sooner had we put aside our beanies the began our introduced to the work and play of Gold Rush and Con Huskin'. Our first production found us in a sidewalk cafe in Paris where we sang and danced our way through our Freshman Talent Assembly. In our first Stunt, we learned to share our loads and work to oether as we dreamed of a "Poorman's Paradise.". In our first Stunt, When we returned to the campus as sophomores, we were no longer college girls, but university women at Texas Woman's University. As we sang "shine on, shine on, Harvest Moon ". "we started a year of victories. One on our class members was chosen to be the Aggie Sweetheart and "OOh Shenandoah" brought home the first place in the Corn Huskin" dormitory sing-song contest for our Houston Hall classmat the first place in the Corn Huskin', dormitory sing-song contest for our Houston Hall classmates. Having successfully survived Pledge Week and final exams we began to rehearse and drill for oil in our Stunt production of ""Black Gold." There was enough "oil down there" to fill the silver Stunt Cup as we brought it home for the first time.

> Tho the Class of '62 There's a prayer within our heart That our friendships never part $\ldots$.

As juniors we welcomed our little sister class, '62, and began our activities with a damp, but lively, hayride and pirc Com Huskin' Be and song contest. At Christmas we hond ' 62 with our con second in the Corn Huskin' Bee and song contest. At Christmas we honored ' 62 with an open house to celebrate their successful talent assembly and Santa Claus joined us at a party for underprivileged children. After rewriting our script because of theme conflicts, we defended the "fish,"" "26ed" and "did it to it" as our vivid costumes and professional jazz-like ciancing saved the stock market. The judges pronounced our production "Commonly Preferred" as the winner, and we started our second year with the Stunt Cup Inside the pyramid of King Fif-Te-Nin, we gave the seniors a rousing send-off at the Junior-Senior Breakfast as our mummies, Egyptian slaves and archeologists interpreted the heiro-lyphic history of the "L fast as our mummies, Egyptian slaves and archeologists interpreted the heiroglyphic history of the "Ladies." Our frst function together as we settloed down to the business of being seniors was the Senior Breakfast.
We may not have been especially alert at 7 a . m., but after a delicious breakfast and the sophomores' "beatnik" We may not have been especially alert at 7 a a. m., but after a delicious breakfast and the sophomores' "beatnik", rendition of music from our previous class stunts, we pronounced the breakfast a big success. It seemed as though we had scarcely time to excuse ourselves from the breakfast table before Gold Rush and Corn Huskin' had arrived. ""Wimberly Castle," our dorm display, won first prize for us at Gold Rush, We barely had time to change back into our school clothes before Christmas arrived, and we paused to reflect on our good fortune and to share it with the underprivileged children of Denton. This party was a tradition handed down to us by our sister class and which we will in turn give to our little sisters. dition handed down to us by our sister class and which we will in turn give to our little sisters.
"Do it to it" echoed down the halls of Stoddard during the month of February as our portrayal of a Neqro community's united effort to build a church captured the Stunt Cup for the third consecutive time for the Class of ' 60 and broke a University record. The last shouts of the Victory Party were still ringing in our ears when a senior beauty was crowned Queen of the Redbud Festival. Soon after this event, we donned our academic regalia for the second time, the first having been for the Edith Deen convocation, and attended the dedication of the six new buildings on We took off our academic regalia and put it away, but only temporarily, for school was almost over and we would soon be wearing it for the last time. The Senior Picnic, Senior Formal and Senior Day were pleasant interludes yet to come, but the major portion of our senior year, and for that matter our college years, had gone by faster than we imagined possible.
Looking back we could see a period of major change, not only in ourselves, but in our school. During Looking back we could see a period of major change, not only in ourselves, but in our school. During our sophomore year we became students of Texas Woman's University, and Texas State College for Women became a part of the past Gold Rush progred became a part of the pact. Gold Rush progresssed from a small carsinvel ind ifont of the Music Building to a large midway in Lowry Woods. We watched with interest the completion of six more new buildings on campus large madway in Lowry Woods. We watched with interes the completion of six more new buildings on campus and read of plans for further expansion. As we reminisced on "these our golden years," we came to the sad realization that our four years had slipped away. As we recorded our destinations on our map of the future, we sang for the last time

Blast Off

"Blast Off" seemed to have been our motto this year as we moved to the other sid of the campus into Smith-Carroll.
Our year started off with a bang with the annual Junior Hayride to the Univer sity's Lake Dallas campsite. We shivered around the campfire and sang our old stunt songs in the late fall weather.
In the first Gold Rush dormitory display contest, the junior Viking Ship with ful blown sails and sea dragons battled the rainy weather to win second place.
Corps Trip time brought us our second class Aggie Sweetheart as Rose Ann Annaratone became the second consecutive Aggieland representative to Texas A&M from The Corn Huskin' Bee found us dressed in our calicos as the juniors won firs place in Hog Callin' and second in the song competition with a version of "Lonesome Valley."
For the first time in November, we had our own pledges to write our letters, do our ironing and clean our room during Literary Social Clubs pledgeship For the first time in November, we had our own pledges to write our ironing and clean our room during Literary Social Clubs pledgeship.

The second semester found us deep in rehearsals for our Stunt, "Count Down." Our bright red, blue and yellow costumes accented our theme on building a foothold on the future. Excitedly, we worked on lighting, costumes, dances and sets as we prepared for the opening curtain. Although we didn't win the coveted silver Stunt Cup, we did convince our audience that we were ready for modern living.

After Stunts came the Redbud Festival and the girls we chose for Redbud Princesses began their long hours of curtsy rehearsals

Our Scholarship Show in March raised over $$ 150$ to be given to a member of our lass to further her education. The theme, "Entertainment, USA," covered the six eras of entertainments from the days of the silent movies to the current rock and roll and beatnik generation.

Having finished our third year of college life, we leave wiser and more united than we were nine months ago. In three months, we will once again return to the campu for the last year of our education and take over as "Ladies of the Hill."

Spirit of '62

So now we pass - from the years as "little sisters" into the last remaining years.

We are of the even-numbered classes who hold the Stunt Cup and the "fish" - and through tradition they will be ours.

It's no wonder the sophomore year is called the hardest. The class is split with its counselors in four different freshmen dormitories, its nursing majors in Dallas and the majority of its members in three other dorms. To strengthen '62 and draw ourselves closer we worked through a strong, newly-organized executive board, our class bulletin, Pow-Wow, and class parties. Stunt time came and out of anxiety to put on a stunt as good as '60's came a fierce, bold spirit. We hung out our signs, wired up our bal conies, filled our wastepaper cans and sat up nights waiting for the comand battled the Freshmen on our home grounds, all in the same day

The need for our own win changed to "let's keep it in the family" and it was, when the seniors raised their church

The "soophomore" spirit ,irreardess, inficts each second-year class. As we pass on, though, we still strongly contend that "your money's in the very best of hands."

This Fascinating Place

Arriving on campus, we, the Class of ' 63 , looked forward to a rewarding year at Texas Woman's year in college.
We met our sponsors, donned our '63 beanies and began to explore this fascinating new place. Our first days were filled with numerous activities concerts, the Universit, Revue, WRA Fun Night, the Lantern Parade and the President's Picnic. Then the long-awaited day arrived. We chose our class song and threw away our

But more was in store for us. Through Gold Rush, Corn Huskin', Corps Trip and Religous Emphasis Week, we got an insight into what it means to be "real Tessies." At the Howdy Dinner we made more new friends and shared the fun and laughs with

Practical Nurse Training Program

The practical nurse training program was established on the campus of Texas Woman's University in 1952 to train women in this useful and vital field. The student spends the first seventeen weeks on campus receiving instruction from the members of the University faculty. The final thirtytwo weeks of the program are spent in clinical practice in either Wichita General Hospital in Wichita Falls, Medical Center Hospital in Tyler or Flow Memorial Hospital in Denton. There the student receives training in four major fields: medical, surgical, pediatric and obstetrical. After completion of the program the student is eligible to become a licensed vocational nurse. After graduátion opportunities are available as a hospital nurse, Civil Service, private nursing practice or in a special care institution.

It is even harder to realize that 384 pages are finally filled, pictures ar It is even harder to realize that 384 pages are finally filled, pictures are ompleted, deadline worries are over and a relaxing tiredness has set in But perhaps more than this book just being the memories of one school year as it is to most of its readers, the Daedalian of 1960 reminds th staff of the joys and sorrows of fulfilling its duty to produce an excelling annual and one of complete and accurate day-to-day accounts of the past year at Texas Woman's University. This has been its aim and its responsibility to you.
Each page of the 1960 Daedalian symbolizes the work of many hands, he ideas of many minds and the tireless energies of many individuals. It is to those persons that the staff sincerely hopes receive the feeling of pride and joy in its final product.

We extend appreciation to Mr. Frank C. Rigler, our faculty advisor, for his firm stand behind us, his work and cooperation and his interest in our work. We wish to thank the staff of Marvin D. Evans Printing Company in Fort Worth for their work and cooperation and the many members of the TWU faculty and administration for their assistance and support. Sincere thanks go to Mr. Frank Burchari who became a

It is a fortunate editor who can have someone as a firm and constant source of assistance, assurance and backing. I, and the 1960 Daedalian, have been so lucky. To Jan Behrns, my able and invaluable assistant editor, my deep appreciation and sincere gratitude for her many hours of willing w
