ALUM'S FAMILY ESTABLISHES ENDOWMENT AT TWU

Children and young people were a top priority for long-time Denton resident Helen Norgaard. Her works attested to her devotion -- from directing the Denton City-County Day Nursery to leading Girl Scouts for more than 25 years to raising two children of her own -- Richard and Elsa. Now her family wants to extend that outreach to Texas Woman's University -- her alma mater (and daughter Elsa's, too) -- by establishing an endowment for more than $100,000 that once again will help others, especially single parent students who need help paying child care tuition fees at either the TWU Child Development Center or the Clubhouse children's recreational program in Mary Hufford Hall.

Former Denton physician Dr. Hal V. Norgaard, a heart specialist who now lives in Dallas, and his son, Dr. Richard Norgaard, have established an endowment of more than $100,000 -- the Helen Coniglio Norgaard Endowment Fund. Through the gift to TWU, Dr. Norgaard is honoring his wife's memory by helping the university assist single-parent students and their children...an effort that reflects the caring nature of its namesake.

While Dr. Hal Norgaard served as physician to many heart patients in Denton and as president of the Denton County Heart Association, Helen Norgaard helped the community by sharing in health care efforts and by serving in organizations.

"We are pleased and honored to accept this gift from Dr. Hal Norgaard and Dr. Richard Norgaard in honor of a Denton resident who devoted her life to family and community service," said Kathleen Gigl, vice president for institutional advancement at TWU. "Helen Norgaard's caring spirit will continue as we help our TWU students who are single parents and who need financial help for child care as they seek to better themselves for their families."

The family moved to Denton in 1947, and Helen almost immediately was involved with the Denton Medical Auxiliary. During the next decade, she was elected chairman of the advisory committee for the Kress Foundation School of Practical Nursing at Texas State College for Women (now TWU) and also served as chairman of the city's Park Board; training chairman of the Denton County Girl Scouts; first president of the Denton Girl Scout Leaders Club; chairman of recreation for the Youth Development Council; chair of a Cancer Crusade for Denton County; and organizer and first director of the Pan American Round Table in Denton.

During the 1960s, Helen Norgaard's involvement in the community expanded to include the Denton City-County Day Nursery -- which continues to serve children today. Beginning in 1961, she served as house chairman 7 years for the school and also was acting director. The Cross Timbers Girl Scout Council recognized Helen Norgaard's 25 years of service and dedication with the Thanks Badge in 1976.

"Mrs. Norgaard was a role model for many people of the Denton community," added Gigl. "We believe, through her endowment, that our students, too, will graduate and serve as role models in their own communities and for their own family members. As a result, Helen Norgaard's caring, giving spirit will live on through others."

"THREE SISTERS" WILL BE STAGED AT TWU

The TWU department of performing arts program in drama will present The Three Sisters at 8 p.m. on April 17, 18, 24 and 25, and at 2 p.m. on Sun., April 26, in Redbud Theatre. Tickets, which go on sale April 12, are $5 for TWU students and children; $7 for other students, TWU faculty and staff, and senior citizens; and $10 for general admission. Reservations may be made by e-mail at theatre@twu.edu or by phone through the theatre box office at 8-1-2020.

Originally written by Anton Chekhov, The Three Sisters has been adapted by author, screenwriter and playwright David Mamet. The play is set in a provincial Russian town in the 1900s and centers on Olga, Masha and Irina Prozoroff, as well as their brother, Andrei; his wife, Natalya; and their friends. Sharing a desire for a better life, the sisters crave the sophistication of Moscow. However, over the course of the play's four-year span, their plans to go to Moscow are altered by their brother's marriage and their passionate relationships with the men in their lives.

Directed by Jeanne Everton (performing arts, drama), The Three Sisters features TWU graduate students Lindy Benton, Honey English and Sonya Worden as Olga, Masha and Irina, respectively. Andrei is played by junior Bill Owen, while senior Laura Owens portrays Natalya. The 15-member cast features sophomore Paul Munson, senior Patrick Watson, graduate student Chase Perrett, senior Samuel Brian Beck, graduate student Nathan Cole, senior Josh Olkowski, senior Stephanie Kopp, freshman Nic Davis and sophomores Amy Cruz and Chris Shelton.

Shelton is assisting Everton with directing, while senior Susan Bryson is handling scenery design, sophomore Jonathan Starr has designed costumes and sophomore Jennifer Bernard is managing sound design. Lighting is done by guest designer Miles Chick. Call 8-1-2500.

DANCE THE NIGHT AWAY!

TWU dance students will have a chance to flex their creative muscles at 8 p.m. on Fri. and Sat., April 17 and 18, at 8 p.m. and at 2 p.m. on April 18 for Dancemakers '98. Presented by the programs in dance, performances will feature as many as seven student-composed dance numbers, all of which will be presented as complete productions in Margo Jones Performance Hall. Tickets are $7 for adults; $5 for TWU faculty and staff, and seniors; $3 for students; and $2 for TWU students and children. Call 8-1-2093 for ticket reservations or 8-1-2085 for program details.

"It's the full deal -- lights, costumes and music," said Adrienne Fisk (performing arts, dance), who is sharing artistic direction duties for Dancemakers '98 with fellow faculty member Mary Williford-Shade. "It's a really involved production in terms of the technical end of things."

Both undergraduate and graduate students will be featured on the program. Fisk said that staging these pieces in a venue like Margo Jones Performance Hall can serve as a challenge to student choreographers. "It's a very large auditorium," she said, "and the smaller, more intimate productions can suffer in a space like that."

Staged once each semester, Dancemakers '98 is something that TWU students don't take lightly, said Fisk. "It's really important to the students because it gives them a chance to take their ideas from conception all the way to production. Something like this is more complex than choreographing something and polishing it for presentation in the studio. It's just more sophisticated in terms of the number of media involved."

STUDENTS' ARTWORK SHINES

Ten years ago, the work of north Texas artist Ron Watson was featured in a one-man show at TWU. On April 3, Watson -- now chair of the art department at Texas Christian University -- returned to Denton to jury the annual student art competition. Watson said he looked forward to the opportunity. "I really enjoy looking at artwork, so I think I gave everybody a really good, fair look at their work," he said. "Plus, TWU is famous for some really good work -- whether it's photography, weaving, or drawing and painting."

As in past years, the competition is sponsored by Voertman's bookstore, which awards $600 in prize money. Work in any medium was accepted, as long as the piece was done by TWU students for a class at the university; pieces chosen for inclusion are on display through April 30 in the student gallery of the Fine Arts Building. Hours are Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.; the show is free and open to the public. Call 8-1-2530 for information.

Corky Stuckenbruck (visual arts) said that entering a competition like this (one) is an important step for a young artist. "In the art world, you build a reputation by entering shows," she explained. "Entering this show serves as a sort of training for these students because the pieces must be finished completely and ready to hang, and they must be submitted for judging on time. And one-half of the work submitted won't be juried. As a result, the competition serves as a good preparation for dealing with being turned down as well." Stuckenbruck received more than 100 entries; prizes are awarded April 7.

BLOOD DRIVE SET

The TWU Denton campus will host a blood drive sponsored by the American Red Cross on Tues. and Wed., April 7 and 8, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., SC Underground. All faculty, staff, students and community members are invited to participate; those who donate will receive refreshments afterward and a T-shirt recognizing their contribution. Walk-in donations are welcome, and students are encouraged to invite faculty and staff. "Last spring, TWU set a record for the amount of useable units collected (140) during a two-day drive in Denton County," said Dr. Don Rosen (Counseling Center), the event's organizer. "Doubling that amount would be a great community service." For details, call Rosen at 8-1-3801.

SPEAKER WILL DISCUSS MULTIPLE PERSONALITY DISORDER

The office of disability support services is sponsoring a program on Fri., April 17, featuring Dr. Colin A. Ross, who will discuss dissociative identity disorder. His presentation will be held from 1 to 4 p.m., CFO 105. "The purpose of this program is to provide an educational forum for people in the TWU community -- such as housing, public safety, faculty, staff, the Counseling Center and others -- who may provide services to students who have dissociative identity disorder," said JoAnn Nunnelly (disability support services). Interested persons are asked either to sign up in that office, located in CFO 105, or call Nunnelly at 8-1-3835 to reserve a place.

Ross is an internationally known physician/clinician, researcher, author and lecturer in the field of dissociation and trauma-related disorders. He provides treatment for patients with dissociative identity disorder (multiple personality disorder) and related trauma disorders for the Timberlawn Mental Health System in Dallas. His book, Dissociative Identity Disorder: Diagnosis, Clinical Features and Treatment of Multiple Personality, was published in 1997.

TWU ATHLETICS WANTS YOU!

The office of intercollegiate athletics is sponsoring Faculty and Staff Appreciation Day on Wed., April 8 -- an afternoon of fun and food...because the softball season is in full swing! All TWU faculty and staff are invited to a softball doubleheader on the Pioneer Hall Field; the first game begins at 4 p.m. (The gate opens at 3 p.m.) The first 150 people through the gate will receive a coupon for one free hot dog and cold drink during the doubleheader. TWU faculty, staff and students will be admitted free to the home event (the usual policy for Pioneer games or meets at home); admission for others is $3 for adults, $2 for students and $1 for children 12 and under.

NEWSBRIEFS, continued

Reminder: The TWU Child Development Center will host its annual art show, open house and book fair on Tues., April 7, at 6:30 p.m. in the center. The TWU community is invited to attend, and the book fair will be held the entire week (April 6 to 10); all proceeds from the sale of books will benefit the TWU CDC. The book fair offers many children's books to interested buyers (parents, grandparents, aunts, uncles, moms, dads and more!). The art show highlights the work of CDC students, who range in age from 18 months to six years, and the event also gives parents of prospective CDC students a chance to meet the center's teachers and to see the facility itself. For details, call Bonnie Bynum at 8-1-2321.

TWU'S CDC also wishes to thank all persons who donated a total of 2,700 Campbell labels for their drive. The center purchased toddler balls for the toddler playground and a horseshoe set for the older children's playground. Staff members ask everyone to continue to collect and send labels to the center so that they can participate in the program.

Reminder: TWU faculty and staff are invited to participate in the university's annual "On My Own Time" employee arts and crafts exhibition, which will be displayed April 30 to May 15, 1998, on ACT 2. The deadline for entries is on Fri., April 10, at 4 p.m. Original works of art are requested for the following categories: 1 -- painting; 2 -- drawing/graphics; 3 -- color photography; 4 -- black and white photography; 5 -- sculpture; 6 -- textile crafts; and 7 -- non-textile crafts. A panel of judges will select the best in-house art; those works will be exhibited in a city-wide show at the Center for the Visual Arts in June and July, which will be coordinated by the Greater Denton Arts Council. For details, call Patrice Benfield (institutional advancement) at 8-1-3867.

Reminder: Phi Theta Epsilon will host its sixth annual "Celebration of Scholarship" on April 18 at the TWU Institute of Health Sciences Dallas Center-Presbyterian from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The day, which recognizes students for research in the field of occupational therapy, will feature guest speaker Dr. Wendy Wood from the University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill. Before April 3, the cost for OTR/COTA and other interested participants is $15 each or $25 at the door; there is no charge for OT students. A lunch buffet is available for $6; for details, call Reggie Campbell (Occupational Therapy, Dallas) at 8-3-2409 or send e-mail to DF_Campbell@twu.edu.

The Wellness Center offers stress relief in the form of massage therapy; mini-massage "stress busters" are available every Wednesday from 5 to 9 p.m., JH1. Appointments for full-body massages are offered Monday through Saturday. Call 8-1-2900 for appointments and prices.

The Institute for Clinical Services and Applied Research will present an interdisciplinary clinical staffing workshop on Wed., April 15, from 5 to 6:30 p.m., ACT 3. (No audiotaping or videotaping will be permitted.) Faculty, staff and students are invited; for details, call 8-1-2285.

"The Big Easy" Comes to Denton -- actually to TWU -- on Tues., April 21, when the quantity foods class in the department of nutrition and food sciences presents an evening filled with New Orleans cuisine and live jazz. Tickets for the dinner, set at 6:30 p.m. in HHSW, are available from the department; call 8-1-2636 as soon as possible.

The department of English, speech and foreign languages will host its annual Awards Day ceremony on Fri., April 24, at 1:30 p.m., ACT 301. Honor students will receive certificates of recognition, and scholarship recipients will be named (up to $15,000 in scholarships will be awarded). TWU alumna Jane Erwin (institutional advancement) will speak, and a reception is scheduled on ACT 16 following the program. For details, call 8-1-2324.

UPDATE ON TWU PEOPLE

Several staff members in the office of public information -- Carolyn Barnes, Ann Hatch, Michael Hill and Susan Sponsler -- attended the CASE (Council for Advancement and Support of Education) District IV annual conference in Austin held March 29 to April 1, 1998. Barnes co-presented a session with Allison Holt of Texas Christian University titled "The Role of Integrated Communications in Student Recruitment." The office received three awards in the five-state district's annual competition: an Award of Achievement in color photography for the university's viewbook (done by freelance photographers Chad Windham and Ronda Corley); an Award of Excellence for general feature writing collections (TWU Times stories done by Hatch and former TWU writer Jacquelyn Millham); and a Grand Award for medical/scientific writing collections (Quest magazine stories by Hatch and freelance writer Jane Trimble).

Dr. John Flohr (performing arts, music) presented a workshop titled "Music Research on Children's Brain Development: Implications for Early Childhood Education" during a conference, Success for Life: Early Childhood Education, held at the University of North Texas on March 27. He also has been invited to present ideas about teaching in early childhood for the Music Teachers national conference in Nashville, Tenn., this spring.

Dr. Linda Sluder Schertz (early childhood and special education) and Dr. Michael Wiebe (Education and Human Ecology) have co-authored an article titled "A Systems Approach to Program Development" that has been accepted for publication in a 1998 monograph for the National Association for Social Science. Schertz also will be listed in the 1998 edition of Who's Who Among America's Teachers.

Dr. Francine Lancaster (biology) presented a poster on "Stress and Alcohol Intake" at the annual scientific meeting of the Texas Research Society on Alcoholism in San Antonio on March 13; poster co-authors were TWU graduate students Sam Wren and Suparna Mishra. She also presented "Contrast of Opinion: Alcohol Researchers and Recovering Alcoholics" as part of a panel that looked at conflicts of interest related to accepting of research funds from the alcohol industry.
