FOREWORD

Daedalians are ordinarily compiled with much and serious labor. Existence for this one has been a continuous laugh. Perhaps no staff has ever been so hilarious—even back in the days of prosperity. Read this book, and even though you don't laugh once, we'll still have faith in our sense of humor. Even if the laugh is at our expense, we'll still think it funny. Should you think it a poor annual, the laugh will be on you. Surely no Daedalian has ever been so poor, so flat broke, to be truthful. If you have ever hoarded pennies, if you have walked home from town to save a nickel, if you have turned reluctant eyes from a sack of popcorn, this book is for you. Only those who have stinted on trivialities will understand what we have meant. Next time we have a depression the others of you may find out why we have laughed.

I DEDICATE
MY ANNUAL
TO

.....
THE TIGHTEST
PERSON I KNOW

The CAMPUS VIEWS this year are something to be proud of, something to be thankful for. They represent the college in one of its best moments — a moment which will not return for lo! these many years, or at least until the newly-planted hedges have become adolescent. At any rate we can't blame the depression or the political administration for the weather, but it can not be disputed that Ma Nature handed us a raw deal instead of a new deal early this spring.

The ADMINISTRATION of this college makes a year book possible, so we are very respectful. The executives aren't tight—only economical. Particularly are the faculty members economical in giving excellent grades. Some of us think they base "the curve" on their salary in direct ratio to their income tax report.

For example:

First $1000 exempt
No A's

First $4000—4%
B's

and

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

"The days drift by, as ships drift out to sea,
Morning, high noon, twilight's tranquility;
And then,—the peace the honeyed evening brings,
With the large moon and old rememberings."

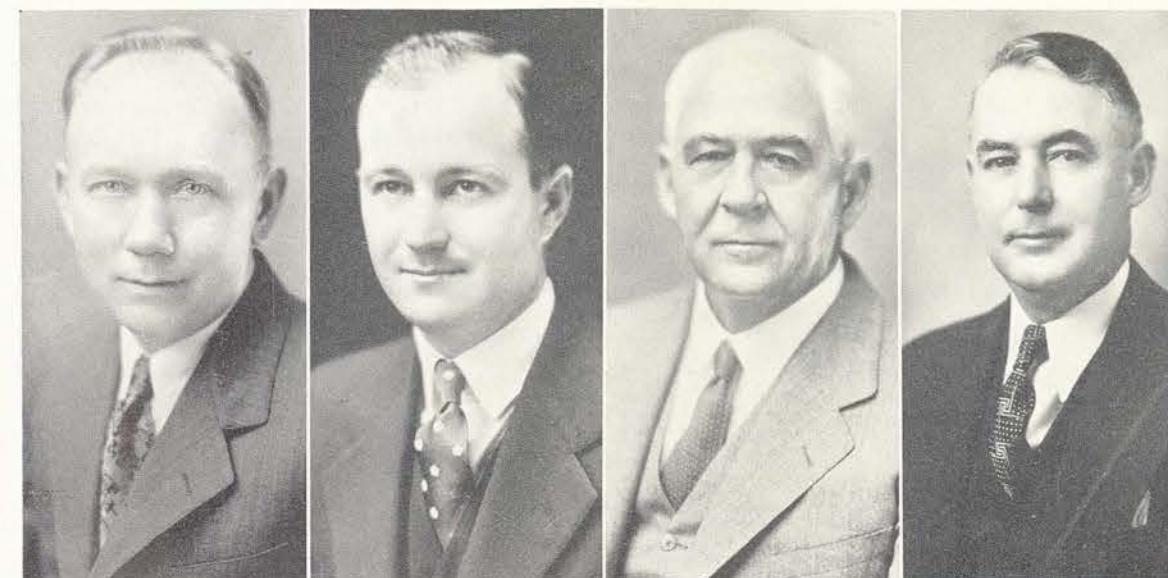

L. H. HUBBARD
President

I would like to think of these lines as picturing the Class of 1933,—the morning of your Freshman days, the high noon of your Sophomore and Junior years, then the journey's end as Seniors closing in tranquility.

And when you are gone away, and are travellers on the roads of life, leading here and there, my hope is that yours will be the experience of honeyed evenings, and that your rememberings of your College days will be ever brighter and happier.

The influence and power of the C. I. A. Ex-Students' Association was never fully realized until this year when the tradition of the college was endangered. Due to the services and loyalty of this organization, the college has been preserved for its original purpose, and students of the future shall continue to sing, "C. I. A. Forever."

This FEATURE Section is not so catty as the Campus Hawk, nor so profound as the Campus Philosopher, nor so purposeless as Jest Amusin'. The comment herein was not written by a Walter Winchell, but by a wench without the 'ell. (Mud-slinging is a dirty business at best.)

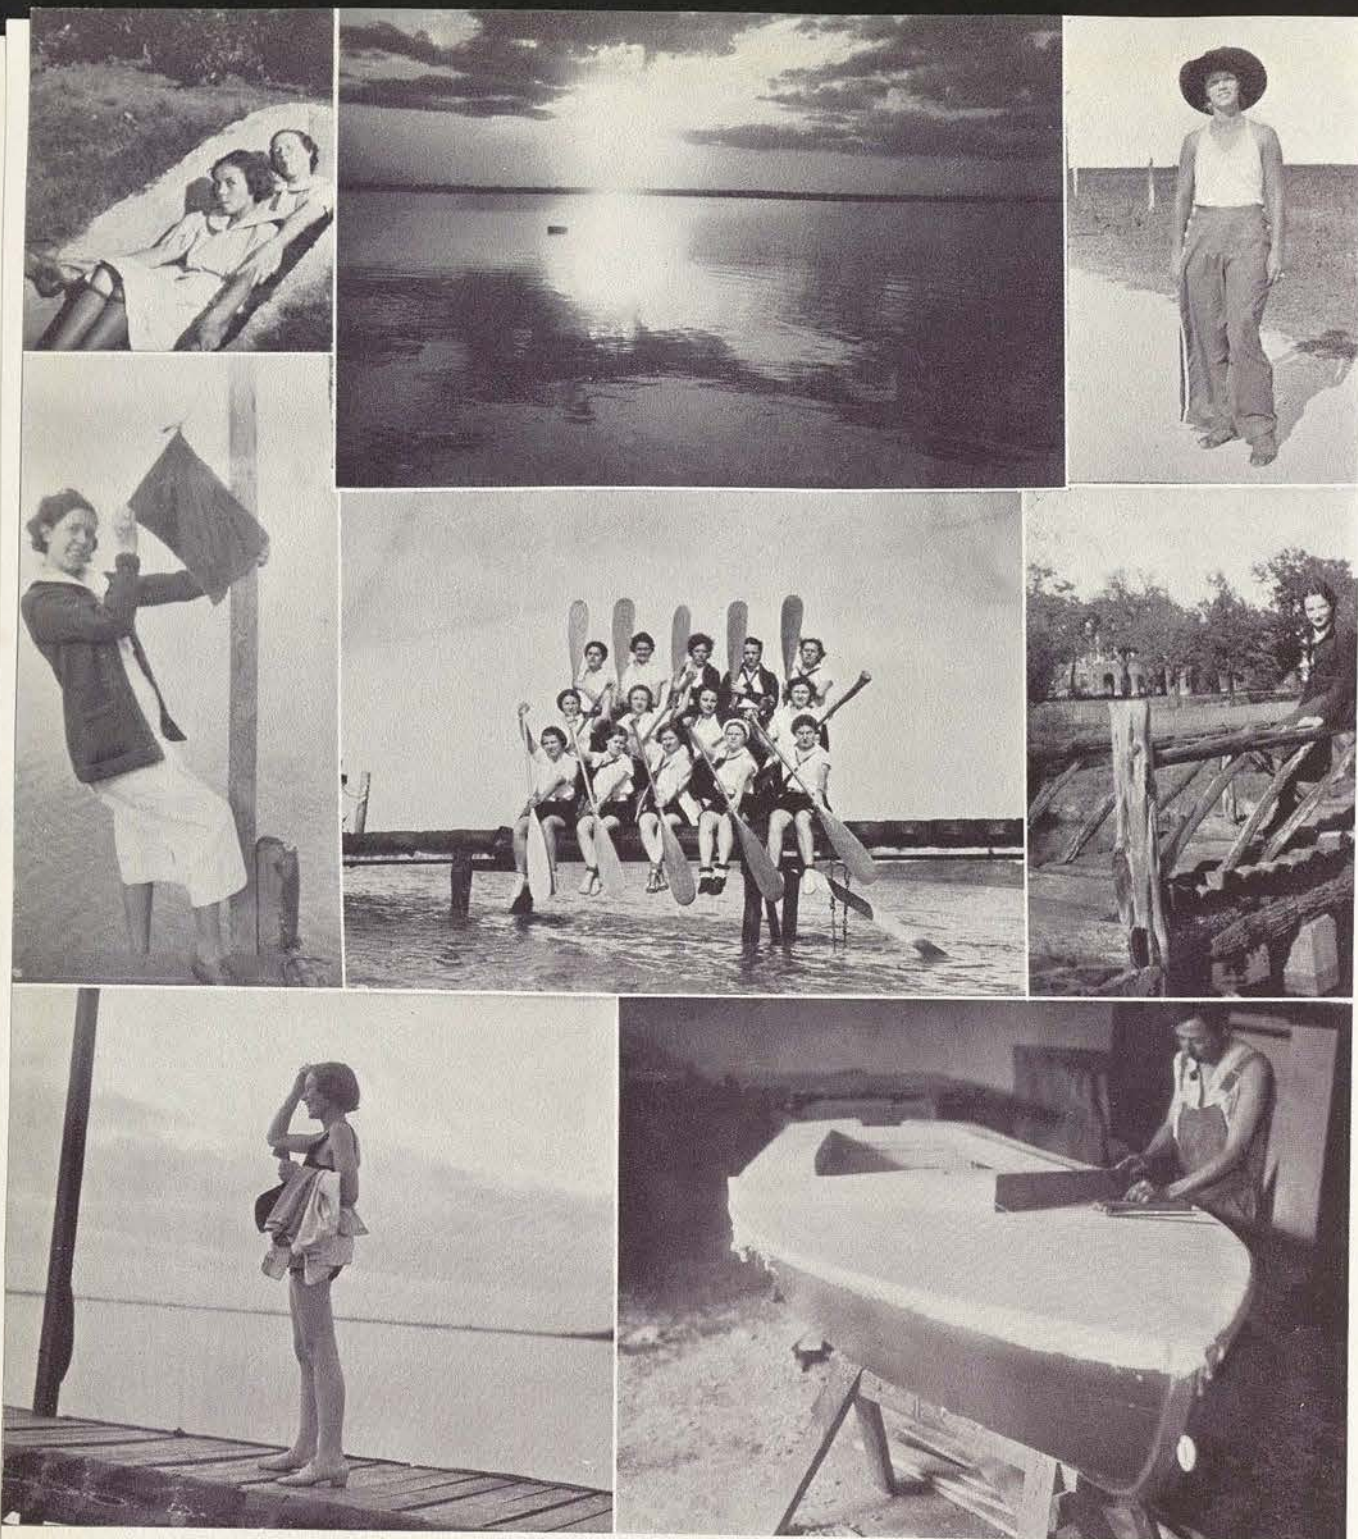

Our only apology is that too few people are represented. But that's not our fault. Either you are too lazy, too modest, or too obscure, else you would find your face within these pages. If you appear in here more than once, don't be conceited: due to the depression there was a shortage of snapshots.

The girls here in the cartoon are funny looking—but not nearly so funny as those in the pages which follow. Look pleasant, please! One! Two! Turn!

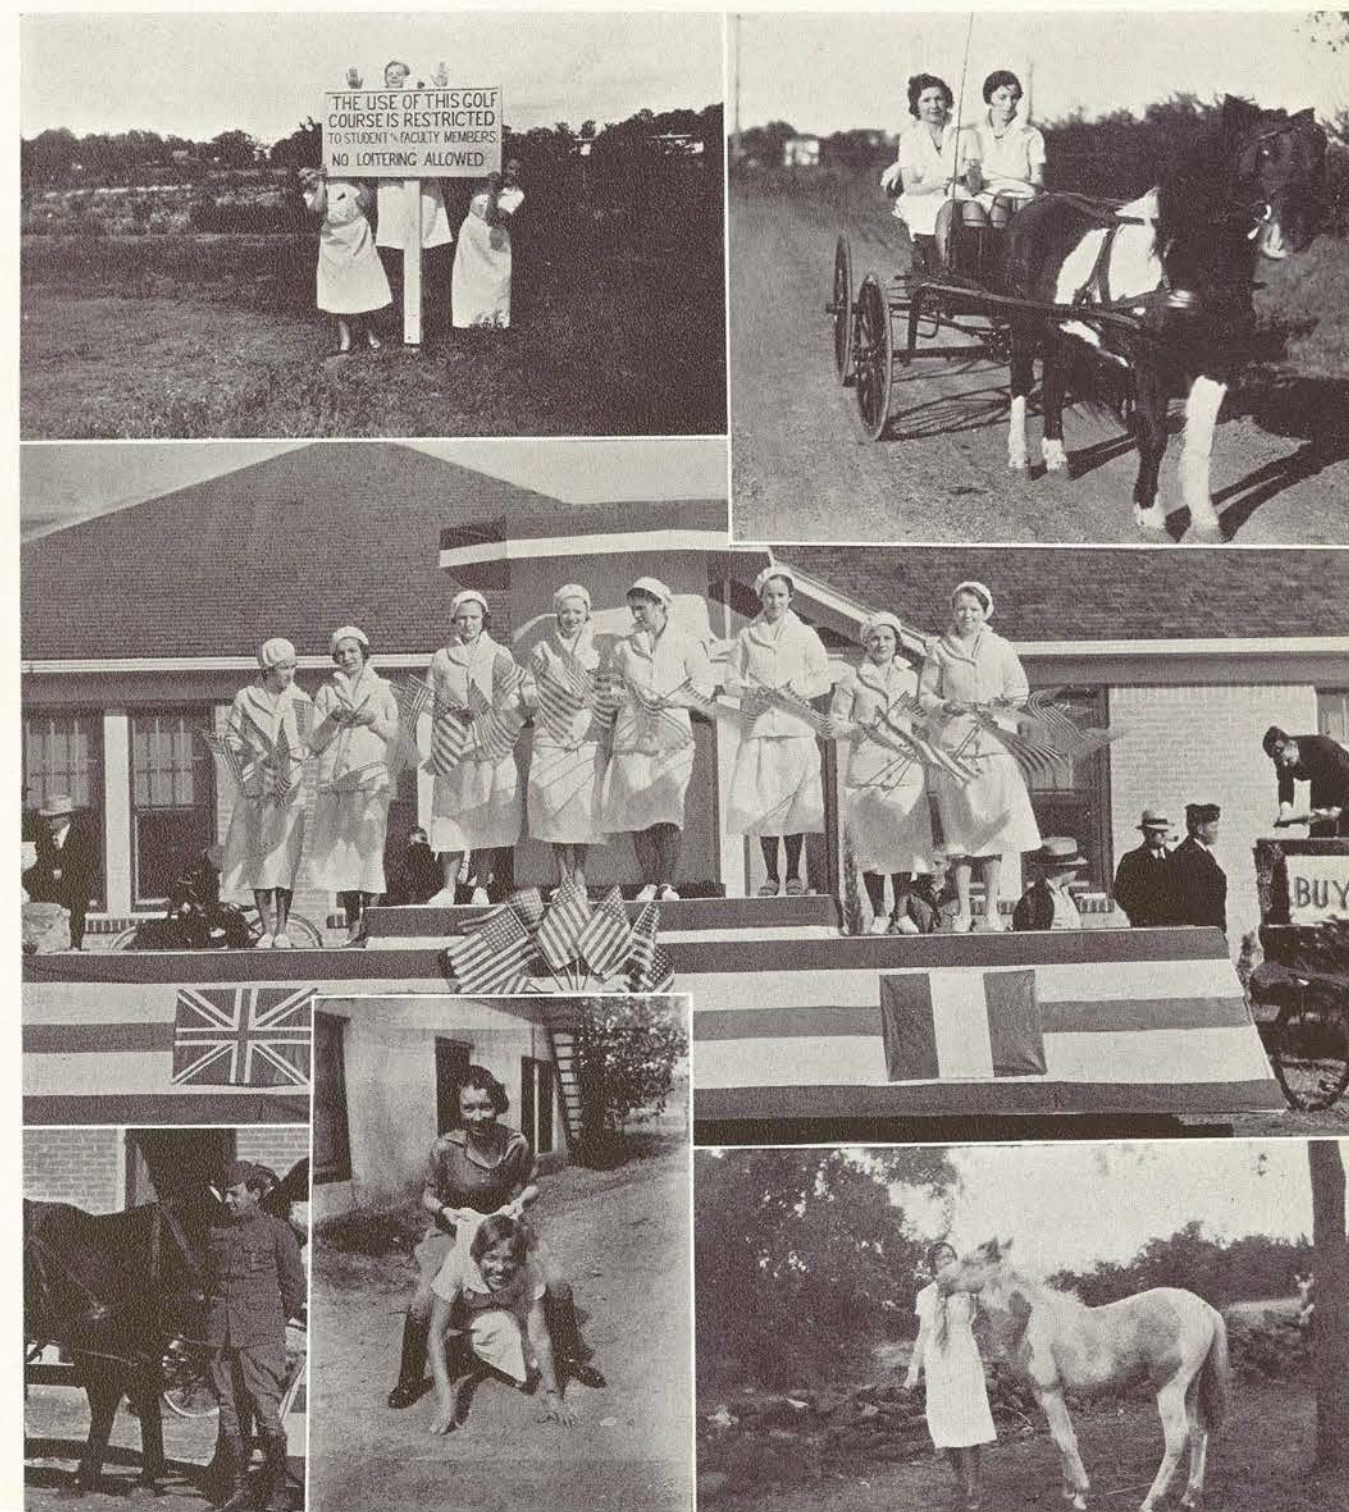

Walking down the steps are Charlotte Kennedy and Helen Doran, looking very unconcerned about the fight that's going on next door; we mean, of course, the one between Jo Beth Arledge and Mary Perry. Now we know how Polly Durst makes all her A's, but why bring your books out on the roof, Polly? Wig-wagging for a ride are Lucile Childers and Frances Hyland. Lucile knew her trade and wouldn't stand pigeon-toed. . . . Now find yourself on the way to the all-college picnic. Adorning the shrubbery on our left is Nellie Puckett, our humor editor, and on the right is the girl-who-looks-like-Joan Crawford. Below in the ducky little paper napkin caps are our Puritanical sisters who remained on the campus for Thanksgiving turkey. White meat, please!

The sunset scene on Loch Dallas is furnished by the courtesy of Mr. Delos E. Nooe. Below is last year's Life Saving Class, the members of which were always knocking each other out with the paddles. Holding the smallpox storm warning is Dot Tabb, and the girl in the half-pint hat and the beach pajamas is Helen Anderson. Below the soph president, flirting with the ducks, is Gwendolyn Amelia Bates. And then you'll see "Doc" Blagg working on his boat, the S. S. Something-or-other. The lady with the towel is Miss Coreen M. Spellman, who looks as though she has taken (or will take) a swim. Splash!

This is the college horse show. The pony in the upper right hand corner is displaying temperament for the benefit of the camera man, and his drivers are attempting to look as if they ride in a buggy every day. In the center is the college float which was entered in the Armistice Day Parade. So far as anyone knows, it was the best float entered—it was the only one. That's Catherine Burr petting the nice horse in the vacant lot back of Smith Carroll. The horse and rider combination adjacent looks pleasant enough. In the saddle is Craig, while the poor beast of burden is Tanner. The next picture shows "Doc" Blagg and the horses which pulled the float. (The one in uniform is "Doc.")

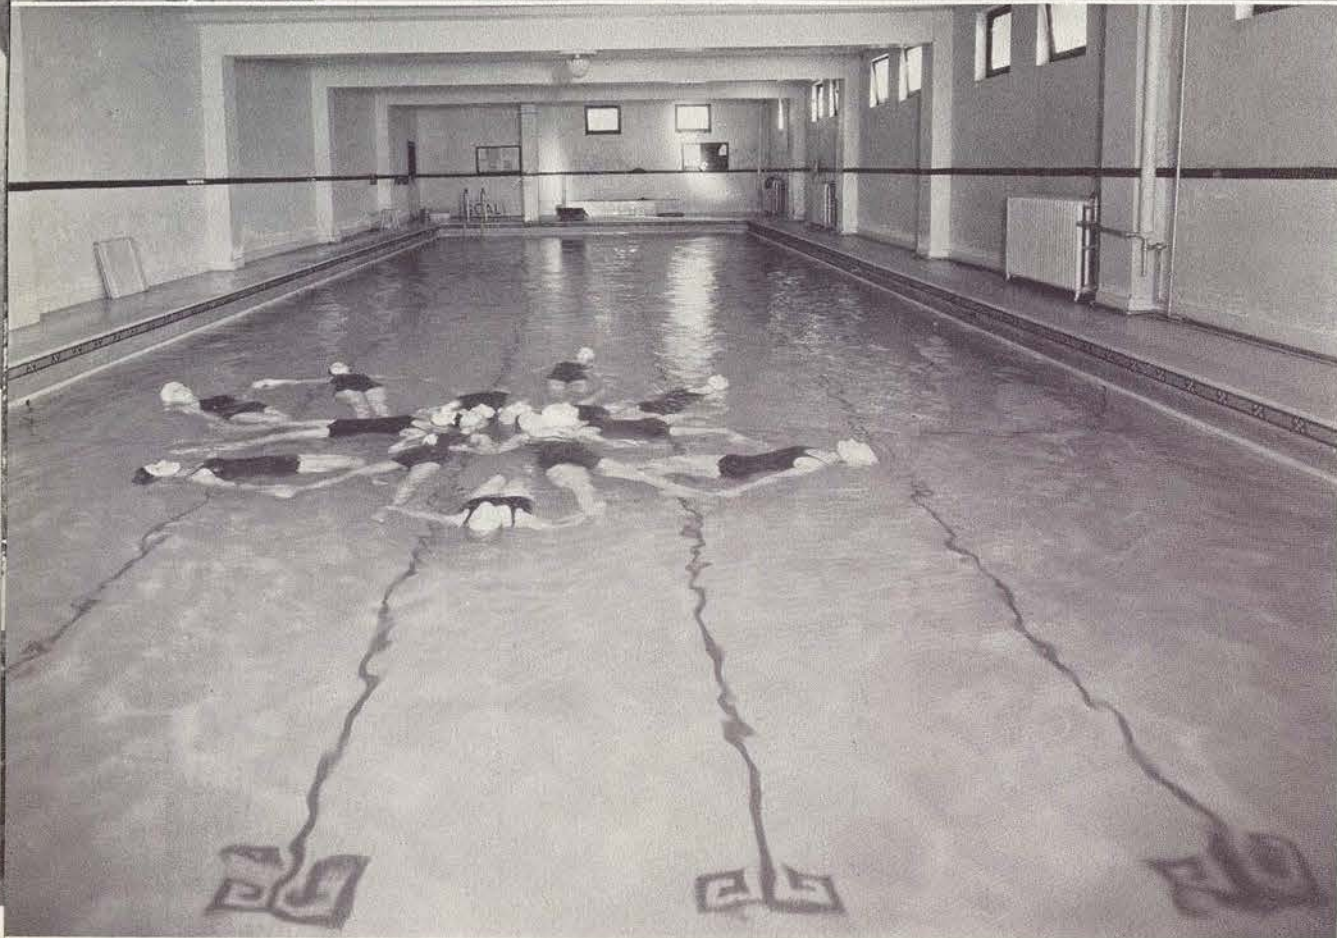

Now what can Mary Perry and her pal be looking at in the bushes. Maybe they are looking for the black cat on their right. Next to the romantic scene in the garden are the two swans, Mike and Ike. And, too, there is Lela Mae Wooley showing her profile. Back of her some disillusioned person is tearing down the Wishing Gate—the old maid's hope and the maiden's prayer.

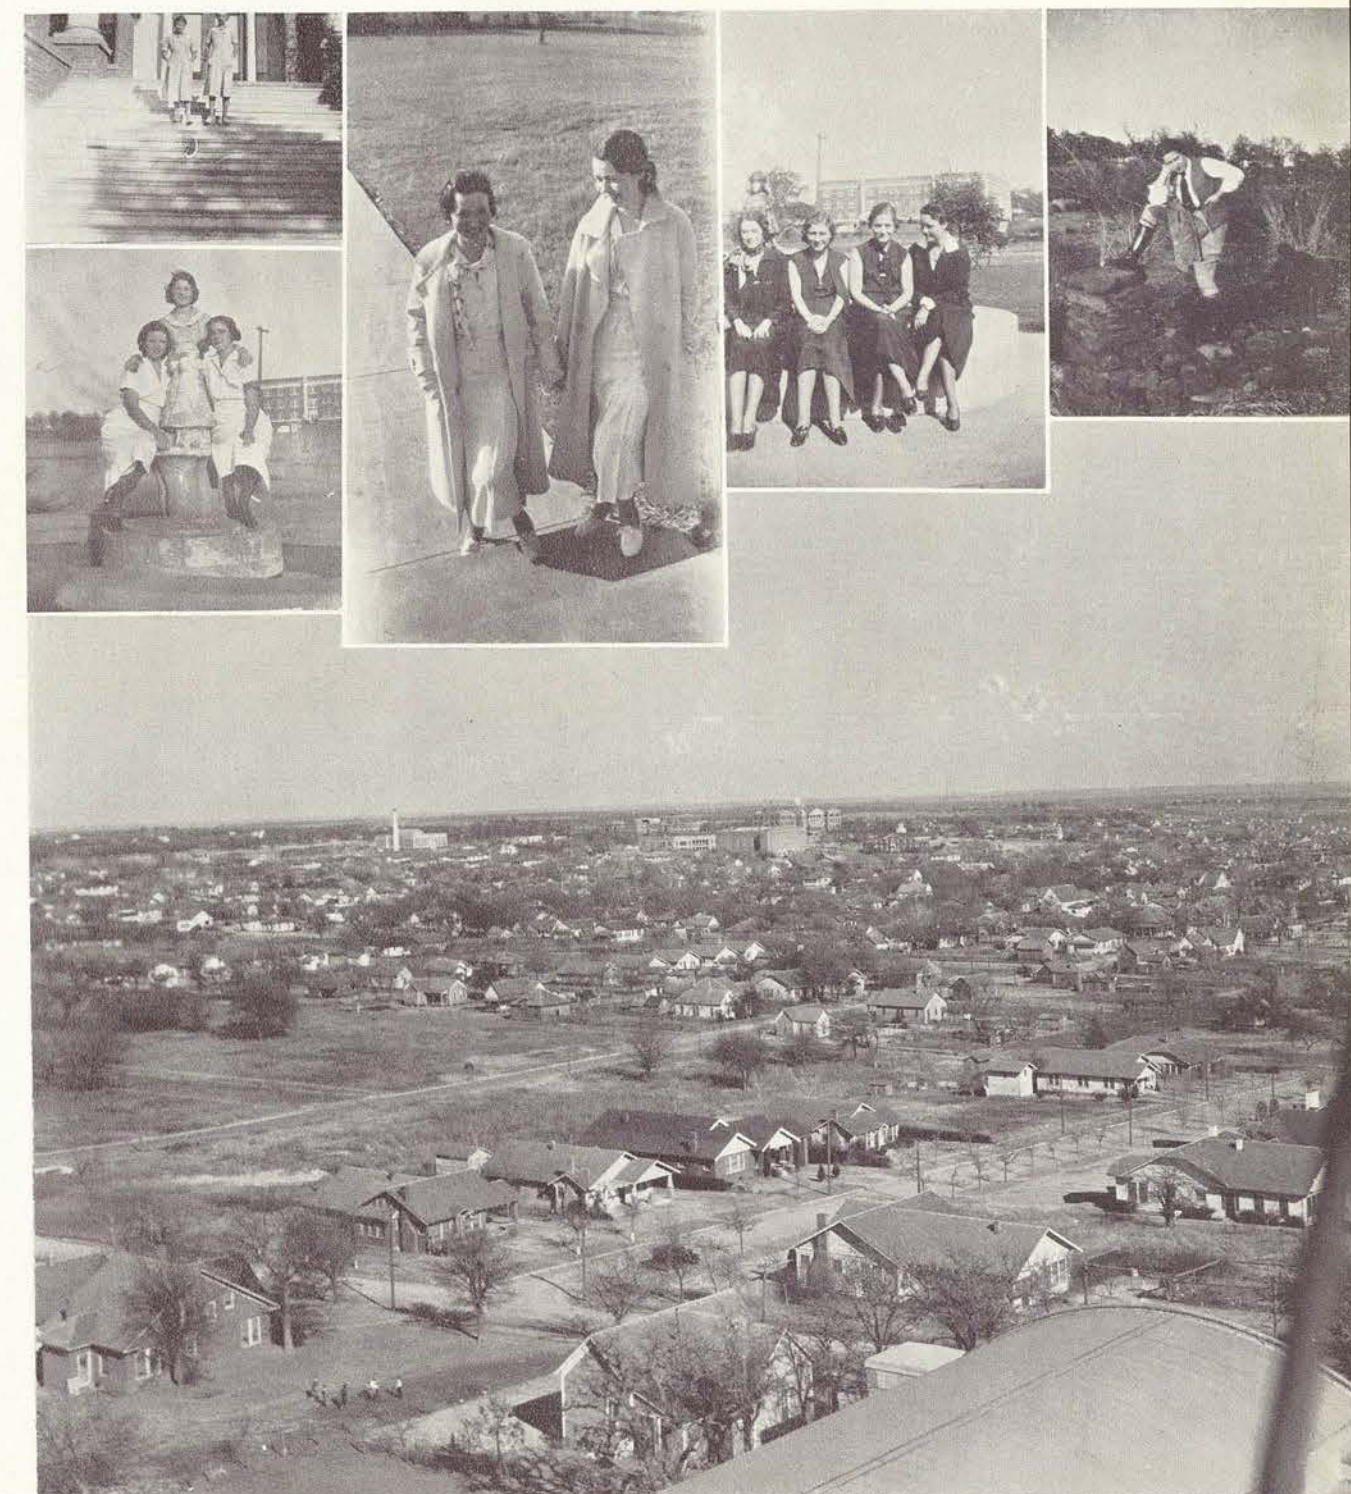

The head protruding from the hedge is the even-grinning Mary Evelyn Dunn. She must be hiding her thermos bottle. Waking up from a long winter's nap are Maude Moller and Ermin Rack. Ho! Hum! The upper right corner shows Miss Jessie H. Humphries' Hobby No. 1069—her hollyhock bed. Below is another kind of a bed. Would that photography made it possible to move Ermin and Maude down the page two inches!

Now wouldn't you like to be here in the pool and see how many phys. ed. majors you could duck at once? That's Teresa Vehle hanging out of the Stoddard window. She looks as calm as the tennis players. The girl in the foreground slugs the racket like a baseball bat, and strategists would tell her she's standing in a dangerous area. Nevertheless, sister, we wish you and your opponent A's.

Here is part of the city of Denton, and in the background is the Acropolis, the hill of learning. Doesn't the tower at the power plant look like a cigarette stood on end? Charlotte and Helen are coming back up the steps now that the fight is over. On the Stoddard steps are Louise Moore and (?), who nearly got their heads cut off in the paper cutter. There's Exa Matlock teasing the fish again. (No, not gold fish.)

Look, my children, and you shall see the Kiddies' Page. In the lower left corner is that famous old cut-up, Dolly Dingle herself, known to you as Mary Evelyn Dunn, the Eagle Brand Baby. Above is Martha Lou Horger surrounded by speech majors. Then there is Ep demonstrating how it feels to be in one's second childhood, and next is a bunch of kindergarten majors playing ring-around-the-rosie in President Hubbard's front yard. Above is one of our Outdoor Girls come to college—Toddy Anderson at the age of twelve! On her right are Nettie Mae Brown (trying to look like Norma Shearer) and Sue Runkle bellowing for her Aunt Grace. Hold on to that teddy bear, Witzie!

This is a study in transportation. The carriage on the right is the college hack—reserved for state occasions, and the carriage on the left contains Mr. and Mrs. McPherson's baby. In the center is Jeannie Stennis attempting to mount a borrowed velocipede in a NO PARKING zone. Embellishing the lattice-work are Doris Thomas (now Mrs. Mc——) and Florence Wilson. Fulfilling a similar purpose under the big trees are Montgomery, Journeay, and Spellman (the Younger). On the steps of the H. A. is Mr. Russell, who sends you a bill every month, and above him is President Hubbard backwards. The picture of Elsie and Virginia was taken on the balcony outside of 231 Fitzgerald.

Here are some scenes to prove that it really can snow in this country. The young man in boots is Master George Hubbard.

Jingle Bells! Jingle Bells! "Oh, what fun!" says George Welch. If only we had a snowball while he's not looking. Then there's Marcellus and also the pig and Clifford Matlock looking as if she had too much Christmas spirit. Above are some Smith-Carrollites, Aiken and Bloomquist and Vehle, showing how to get the best of the weather man. N. B.: There's no one coming in or going out of the P. O.!

Here is the Mickey Mouse Band. Entertainers de luxe! Notice the over-stuffed pantaloons and the cheerful smiles. The Dutch midget with the starched cap is Miss Hamilton. Note her bowed legs in contrast to Miss LaSelle's nonchalant pose.

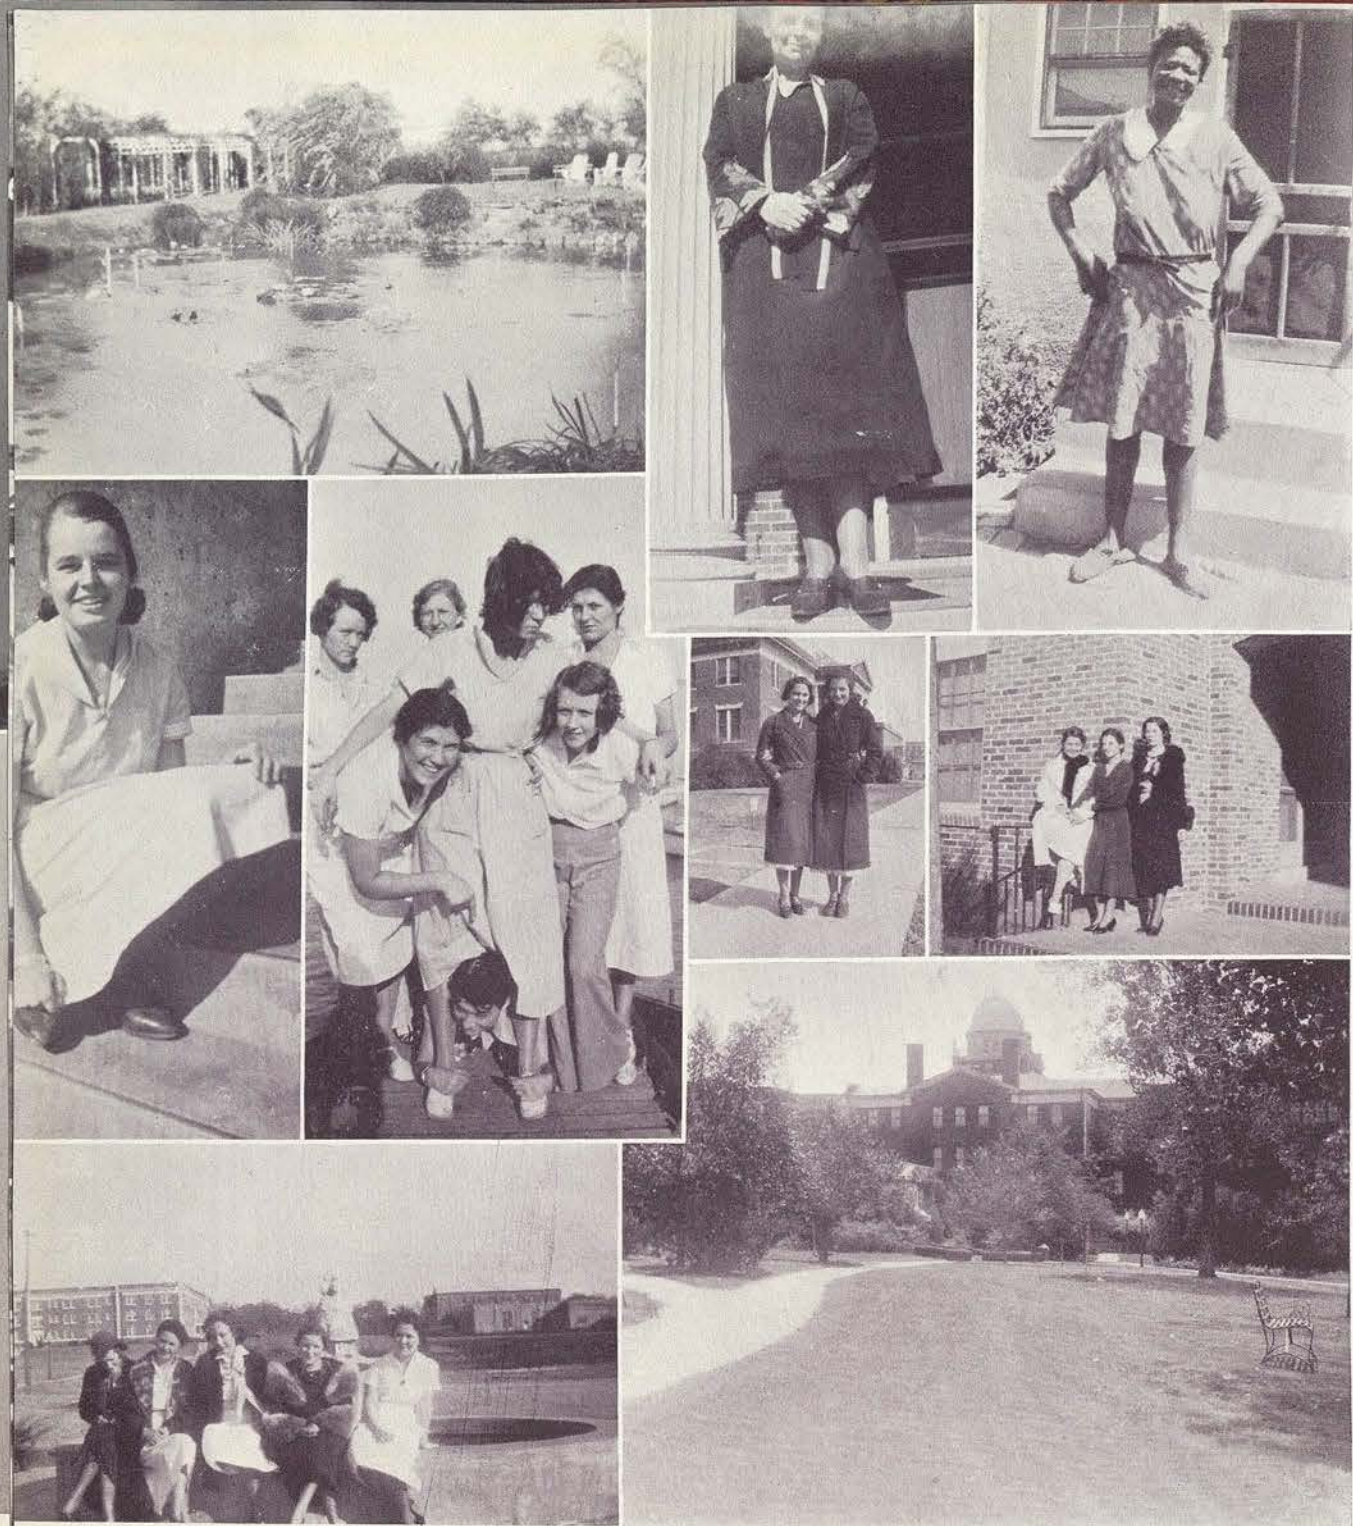

The pensive lady with the bare feet is Mable Gardner studying her Latin, but in the opposite corner you'll find out what a bed was really intended for: a first rate bull session. The man in the uniform is "Spec." His girl friend, B—— G——, kept us so supplied with pictures of him that we felt obligated to use one!

The babes in the wood are led by Zukie Weems and Mary Grace Cheatham. Something tells us they are out looking for Easter eggs. Two by two, the elephants went into the zoo. And graduates come out the same way. See the seniors march down the hill in pairs. Opal Prather is going to student teaching. What can it be she has in her arms? Well, there's no keeping that Sayers gang out of the feature section. What a pity this page isn't in color to show up Georgia B. Mayse's hair!

Seated on the steps is Elizabeth Gohmann, whom everyone likes, even if her name is unpronounceable. Next is Martha Brown, who seems to have been subdued only after something of a struggle. The odds are now ten to one, ladies and gentlemen, that Marye Durrum will either fall into the fish pond or push some one else in!

The cabin at Lake Dallas is quite a favorite haunt, but no one seems to know just why. We are looking for some one who managed to sleep an hour on a cabin party, but such a person is as rare as Diognes' honest man. Look closely at the head-chopping scene and notice the pleasant expressions of Nell Doyle and Marjorie Mason. Above is Bobbie Kinsler modelling the latest styles on the Stoddard roof-garden.

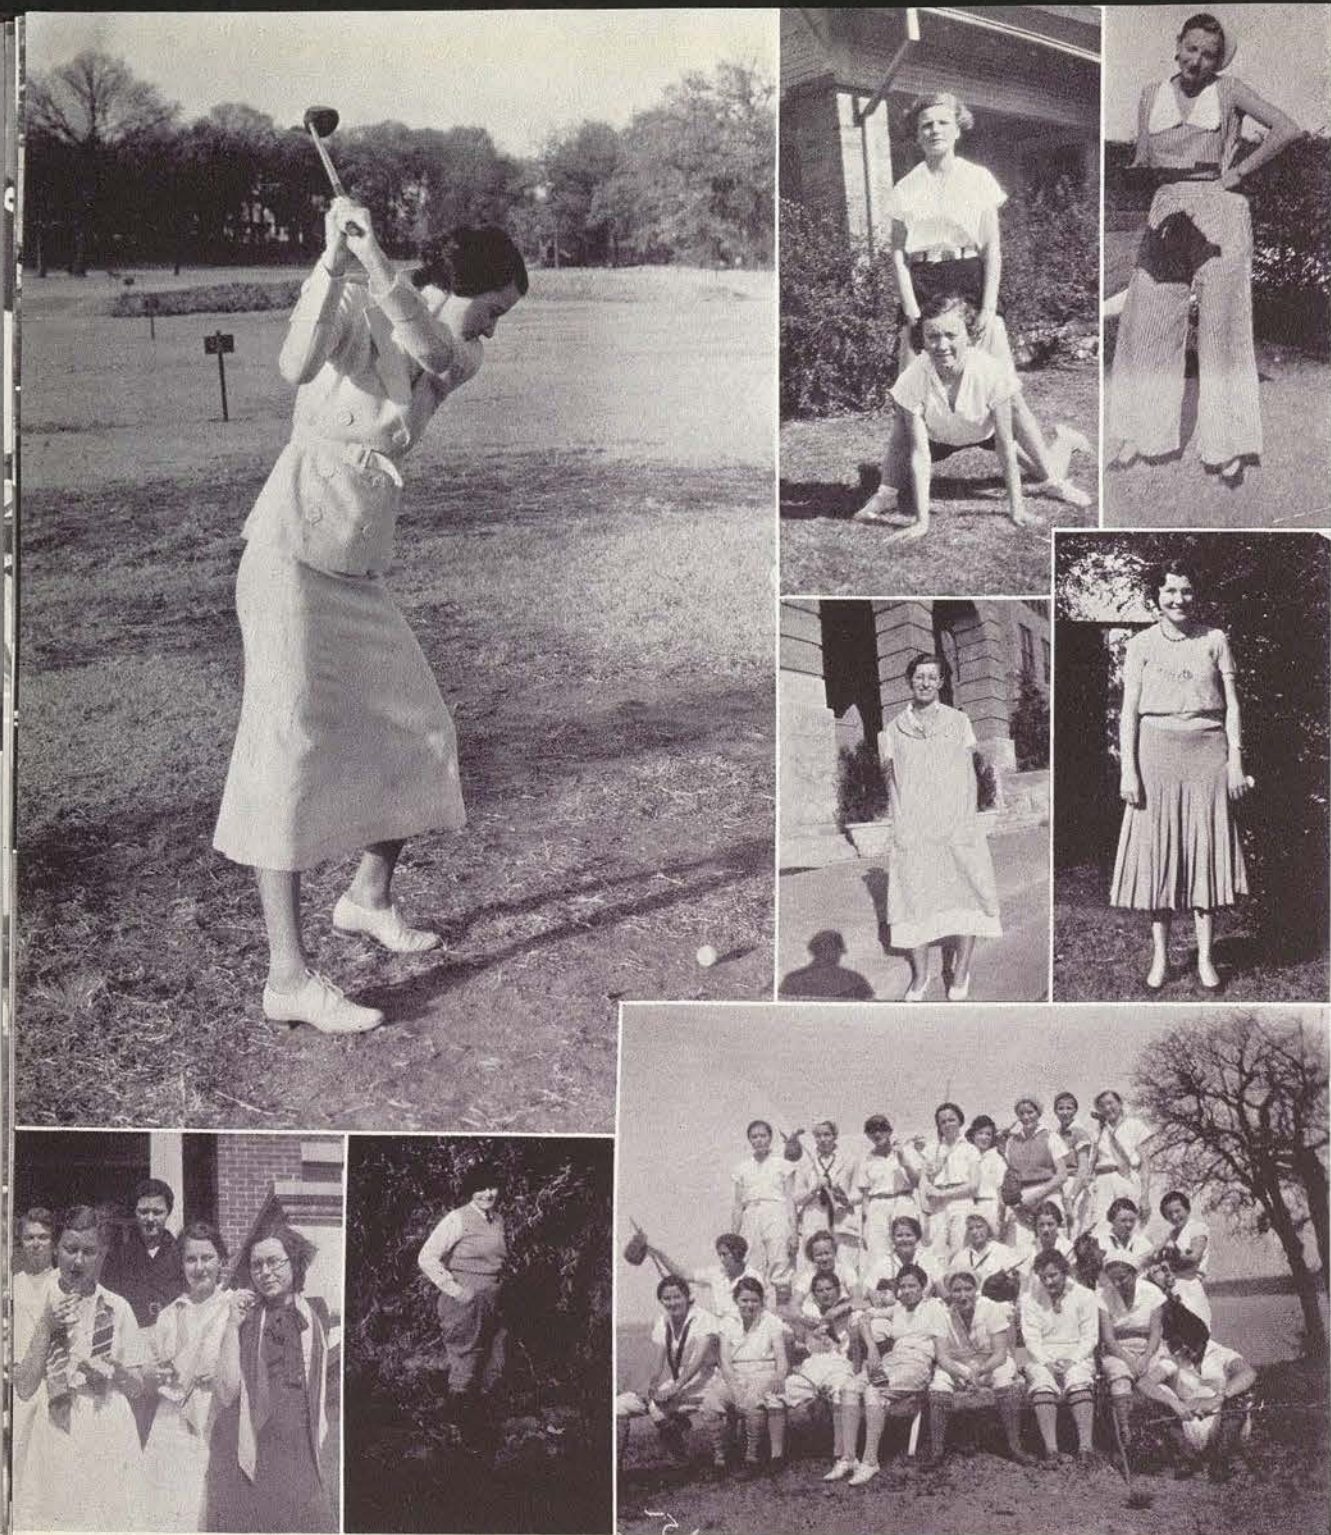

At the top of the page are two friends of Elizabeth Hurley, named Quack and Quack. The sweet little girl with the pussy-cat is Betty Clements at a tender age. Notice the two time exposures. We put those in to prove at that at least some people can keep a clean room. Time to roll out, everybody! But look more closely. That's a truck bed hauling the lazy-bones. See the tire?

Look at the studious ones. The girls on the bridge are studying nature, while Lois and Arles are only having good intentions. In a row are Camile, Zelda Mae, and Kathryn, who never, never study. Look below: see how industrious the journalism students are. Notice the white spot above Mrs. Rigler's head. She is having a thought! For scholarly atmosphere we have put in Mary Ann Smith with her diploma and Faye Hogue, whose academic gown is slightly wrinkled.

Watch Florence Prewitt sock the pill into Lowry Woods. Below is a bunch of hoboes—last year's Camp Leadership class. (And how Miss Cottrel hates to have her picture made!) Above is Miss Morris, the dietitian. Oh, Miss Morris, how we love cinnamon rolls!

This marks the day of the freshman triumph. Sophs hate to shine shoes, but worse than that, they hate to have their pictures made shining shoes. Get into line, fish. What colors do they wear? Rah! for the dear old pink and lavender. Almost everyone on this page seems happy—even the last of the Matlock plague!

Well, Sir Harry, pick the eight most beautiful girls from this lot. Some brilliant one has suggested, "Find eight beautiful ones in the lot." But we couldn't be so cruel, for beauty is as beauty doesn't. Don't George and Martha Washington look bored?

In the upper portion of this page you may see all the prosperous ones patronizing the Loan Sale. Notice the advertisements below. Doesn't it seem fitting that Louise Morgan should be advertising lunches? Here also are our more athletic students. Maurine Block, for instance, is substituting boots for scholarly glasses. The bathing beauty on the left is Teresa Vehle.

At the bottom of the page you'll see Prexy and his pets—or pests, according to your classification. The little man on your left is Alis Jo Weiting, second only to Harold Lloyd. We've thrown in a few pictures of the speech department including Mr. Horg, who looks quite collegiate. How do you suppose anyone ever got Kathleen Pickel away from the telephone long enough to take her picture?

"The Chalk Circle" caught us within its geometric confines on February 12. The antique furniture and the stage settings we have preserved for you. The play was a great success, partly because of the assistance of the musical effects and the property men.

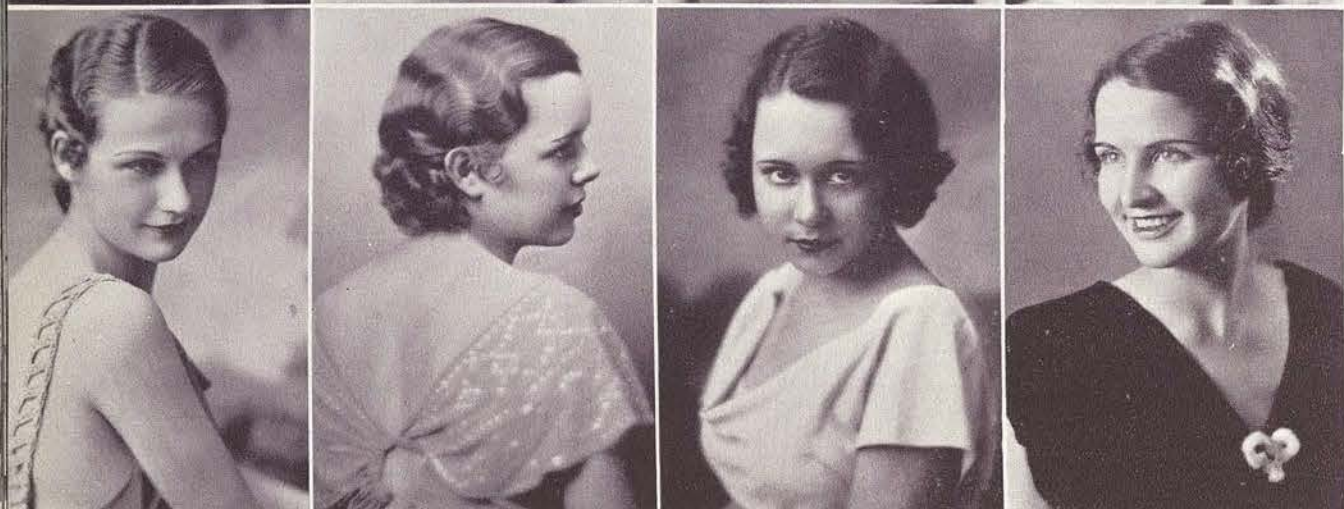

Introducing Mrs. Cheney, the leading member of the Jitney Players. The bowing gentlemen and the colonial dames appeared in the play "A Trip to Scarborough."

The man with the distinctive profile is Paul Kochanski, the Polish violinist who presented an Artist Course number March 20. Below is a Hindu dancer whose engagement at the college was supplanted with Mary Wigman as the superior substitute. In the upper left corner is Madame Supervia whose charming smile could be distinguished as far back as Row RR. Beside her is Carl Van Doren, who made quite a ripple in the college literary pond—yet not a splash. Oh, Mr. Van Doren, we should have liked you so much better if you had only passed us the cream and sugar for our coffee!

Here is the car that belongs to the CLASSES. At the wheel is Miss Senior (who always tries to run everything). Seated beside her is Miss Sophomore, a rather inert creature who sits serenely by and watches out for traffic cops and deans. Behind her is Miss Junior whose chin forms an obtuse angle with her body. She feels quite superior, having just inherited white shoes and privileges. At her left is Miss Freshman—who is always trying to attract attention. She is quite a back seat driver for one so young. But where is Miss Graduate? Dignity prevents her from riding in a strip-down so she stayed at home, figuring on the back of her thesis just how many years it will take her to get out of debt — providing she gets a job by 1940.

The Class Car, it can be noticed, has just had quite a jolt—the treasurer's report. Here is a graph showing the occupants' quotas in financing the Class Car:

The Depression has brought a decrease in enrollment, a decrease in club dues, but no decrease in the number of our ORGANIZATIONS. Indeed, they have even increased since 1929. We need have no fear that this institution might become socially defunct, even though it be as poor as Job's illustrious turkey, or as democratic as a Greek letter sorority. Even unto the end we shall have with us multitudinous clubs with their equally innumerable pledges. The Lass-O continues to have six pages; the Quarterly is thicker than ever; even the annual appears to be preserved for posterity. Likewise the Little Theater is as conspicuous as ever (despite reduction in price of a season ticket); and the choir and orchestra are still invited out—since their programs are free. Treasurers' duties may vanish, balances slide into the red, but art and society thrive upon want. To them, need is a stimulant and pessimism a tonic.

The Lass-O is a good newspaper with a commendable policy, a policy which can only be appreciated by reading the editorial columns. If all the people who read the Campus Hawk would read the editorials, the campus would be safe for student government.

THE STAFF

Isabelle Stovall	Business Manager
Anne Durrum	Literary Editor
Joyce Hunter	Circulation Manager
Earleen Kirby	Art Editor

That the fall issue of the college literary magazine should appear in the dead of winter, does not keep it from being a good quarterly. All of its contributions are made by students—which make it literary without being stuffy. Coincident with the depression there has been a shortage of poets, but with the return of prosperity, we have hopes for epics and ballads on subjects of new interest, such as love, death, and disillusionment.

The duties of the faculty committee on the annual are two in number: they must be critical, and they must be pessimistic. If they are critical, the staff had already intended to correct the obvious weakness; if they are pessimistic,—well, they have reason to be.

CLANS

THE ROUND TABLE

First Row: Davis, Dollinger, Dunn, Farrar, Gaines, Gallagher
 Second Row: Gohmann, Headlee, Insall, Kennedy, Machen, Michels
 Third Row: Mitchell, Morgan, Nettles, Partin, Porter, Rack
 Fourth Row: Rigler, Simank, Staley, Vaught, White, Williamson

The Round Table is composed of the presidents of literary and departmental clubs who meet as seldom as possible to discuss club affairs: initiations and conduct. This group is authorized by the Students' Council and is headed by the president of the student body.

THE KNIGHTS OF THE ROUND TABLE

Dorothy Davis	Zelda Mae Headlee	Hannah Morgan
Cora Lee Dollinger	Maurine Staley	Jewel Machen
Leata Farrar	Ermin Rack	Virginia Gaines
Leona Insall	Alyne Simank	Martha White
Charlotte Kennedy	Elizabeth Phillips	Margaret Vaught
Pauline Jouvenat	Mrs. Jewel Rigler	Alta Partin
Katherine Porter	Mary Evelyn Dunn	Martha Mitchell
Camille Williamson	Madge Nettles	Elizabeth Gohmann
Dorothy Michels	Beryle Gallagher	Louise Hogue

THE S. C. A. COUNCIL

performs so many duties and undertakes so many services that it takes an entire handbook to describe them. Its functions can best be described by its officers:

Margaret Hughston, President; Maude Moller, Vice-President; Sara Malone, Secretary; Chairmen of Committees: Mary E. Durst, Louise Kinsler, Marjorie Gough, Hannah Morgan, Gladys Gardner, Margaret Skinner; Manager Loan Fund Sale, Dorothy Anderson; President Students' Association, Phyllis Matlock; Presidents of Classes: Naomi Poteet, Betty Lighton, Helen Anderson, Virginia Crews; Editors of Publications: Nina Mick, Pauline Jouvenat and Laura Lane.

The Advisory Board: Mrs. R. J. Turrentine, Chairman; Miss Estella G. Hefley, Director; Miss Lila S. McMahon, Miss Susie L. Overton, Mrs. Belle Stanniforth, Mrs. Helen Farmer, Mrs. Persis Terhune, Miss Mamie Walker, Miss Dorothy LaSelle.

THE F. M. BRALLEY SCHOLARSHIP SOCIETY

represents the campus smarties and studious ones. (We mean no disrespect.) In the group picture they have temporarily discarded their books to become social and intellectual at the same time. Careful scrutiny will reveal that they have been totalling their grade points on the table cloth.

OFFICERS

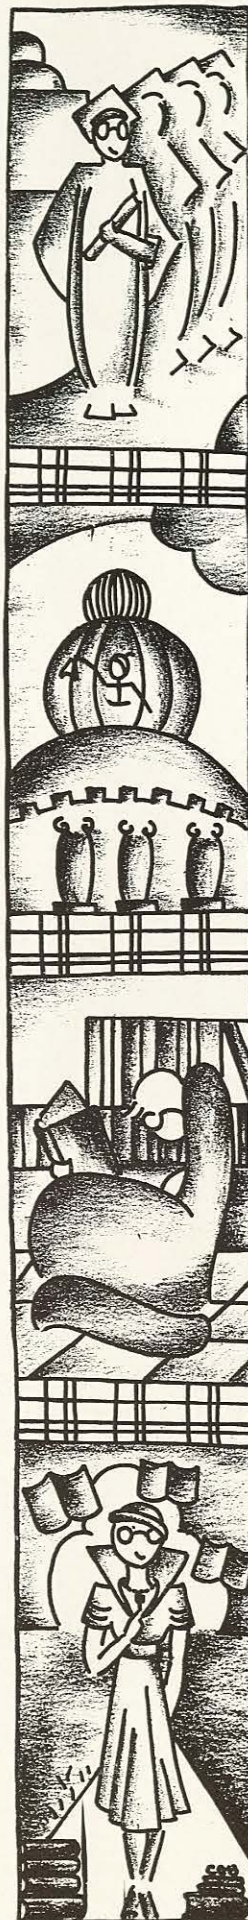

Zelda Mae Headlee, President; Johnnie Mae Kubela, Vice-President; Mary Grace Cheatham, Secretary; Martha Mitchell, Treasurer.

SPONSORS

Dr. Elsie Jenison, Mr. Jerome Moore, Dr. Spencer L. Stoker.

UNDERGRADUATE MEMBERS

Kathryn McClellan, Alta Partin, Mrs. Jewel Rigler, Mary Loughridge, Charlotte Kennedy, Jewel Machen, Marguerite Williams, Mary Louise Jones, Geraldine Forrest, Sammy Stinson, Camille Williamson, Elizabeth Walker, La Fon Morgan, Alice Savage, Ruth Levin, Ora Mae Blair, Ermin Rack, Dorothy Ray, Helen Matthews, Margaret Yust, Mary E. Durst, Edwinna Miller, Nellie Puckett, Louise Hogue, Laura Lane, and Dorothy Michels.

THE ATHENAEUM CLUB

is a literary club with scholarship requirements. It was named for an academy of antiquity, a temple to Athena. In other words, Athenaeum is Greek for literary club. (As Hermione said, "Don't you just dote on the Greeks?")

THE SENATORS

Dorothy Michels, President; Geraldine Forrest, Vice-President; Helen Matthews, Secretary; Mr. William Dyer Moore, Sponsor.

THE GREEKS

C. Callaway, D. Davis, G. Forrest, Z. M. Headlee, C. Kennedy, L. Lane, B. Lighton, D. Michels, P. Matlock, H. Matthews, M. Millet, E. Rack.

THE PLEBEIANS

H. Anderson, M. Brantley, D. J. Brooks, M. Bierschwale, V. D. Burgess, I. M. Caldwell, L. Cunningham, H. Doran, N. DeLay, M. Durrum, A. Durrum, M. E. Durst, M. Fenton, J. Forke, K. Gilchrist, M. Gough, D. Grisom, A. Good, M. Hugheston, F. Hyland, J. Hunter, M. J. Heffington, E. Holt, I. Hobbs, E. Kirby, R. Levin, M. Loughridge, C. M. Lawthrop, E. Martin, D. Mattison, F. Prewitt, G. Parr, B. D. Piler, J. Plants, I. Robinson, E. Reese, L. Ritchey, J. G. Rigler, M. Robinson, M. Yust.

THE CHAPARRAL LITERARY SOCIETY

claims to be the oldest club on the campus. It derives its name from the long-legged bird which was once prevalent on the campus. The bees in the adjacent car-a hangover from the course toon are symbolic of the annual honey supper, probably in Bee Culture once offered at the college.

THE OFFICERS

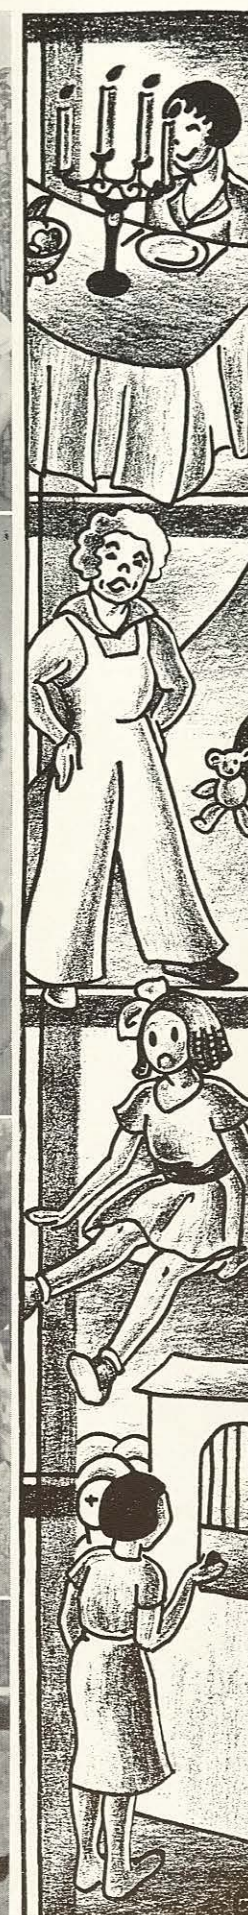

Leona Insall, President; Virginia Moore, Vice-President; Frances Lauderdale, Secretary; Freda Tobolowsky, Treasurer; Miss Mamie Walker, Sponsor, (Queen Bee).

THE CHAPS

H. Burchard, H. Doran, D. Anderson, O. Voelker, D. Davis, J. Metcalf, M. E. Treadwell, H. Anderson, A. Good, L. Tannahill, Z. Weems, K. Harris, A. Bohannon, H. George, G. Parr, B. Lee, E. Fry, E. Kincaid, J. Dossey, P. Durst, L. Lane, H. L. Trout, M. Crawford, M. Hudgins, V. D. Burgess, B. M. Rawlins, B. Gallagher.

PLEDGES

Barrow, Barry, Beal, Boney, Brooks, Cox, Crawford, Custer, Dean, Demmer, Duffy, Donoho, Eubanks, Faulkner, Fort, Foster, Gohmann, Gibson, Griffin, Grindstaff, Harrison, Hendrix, Hill, Hobbs, Hubbard, Knust, C. Lane, C. Lane, Nicholson, Harrison, McAdams, McKee, Pegram, Petzel, Plants, Ratliff, Ray, Richers, Satterfield, Shults, Skinner, Still, Sweeney, Taylor, Upshaw, D. Taylor, Wilson, Winn, Yeager.

THE M. E. B. CLUB

which was named for a former regent of the college, has as its chief tradition a "kid party." The reason for the juvenile nature of the party is not clear, but one is forced to admit that the members continually follow their theme song: "Oh, to be a child again, just for tonight!"

THE RINGLEADERS

Cora Lee Dollinger, President; Margaret Hughston, Vice-President; Jeannie Stennis, Secretary; Naomi Poteet, Treasurer; Miss Dorothy LaSelle, Sponsor.

THE KIDDIES

Bellenger, Clements, Cogdell, Coleman, Crutcher, Carrithers, Gaines, Gough, Hamilton, Handley, Hatfield, Headlee, Kain, Kubela, Lighton, Lemstra, Matthews, E. Matlock, P. Matlock, Michels, Miller, Pigg, Pool, Prewitt, Ramey, Ritchey, Shurley, Staude, Tabb, White, Williams, N. Williams, Wilson, Wood, Block, Bone, N. Bone, Brandt, Brindley, Brown, Butler, Camp, Counts, Crews, Crumley, Davis, Donoho, A. Durrum, M. Durrum, Faltin, Finney, Folse, Gamble, Gardner, Harris, Hawkins, Kutscher, Magenat, Manor, Mayse, Milan, Morgan, Nichols, Nicholson, Park, Plants, Platzer, Powell, Quigley, Robinson, Sain, Sehnann, D. Smith, G. Smith, Stovall, Thompson, West, Windham, Windwehen, Winter, Wooley, Wright, York.

THE PHILOMATHIA LITERARY SOCIETY

derived its name from a Greek word meaning "one who loves learning, particularly the science of mathematics." One has difficulty in finding any math sharks in the accompanying group, so they must have substituted cocktail for calculus.

THE PHILOS

Camille Williamson, President; Maxie Barrett, Vice-President; Lucile Jackson, Treasurer; Miss Mary Agnes Murphy, Sponsor.

THE MATHIAS

F. Glazner, K. Bloomquist, B. B. Fairchild, M. E. Wellborn, O. Prather, N. M. Standlee, M. Wilson, A. Beaird, S. Stinson, S. K. Haley, K. Lightfoot, O. Patterson, M. Millet, R. Shields, J. Forrest, M. Hutchins, R. Washburn, O. M. Blair, S. Love, D. Schiller, M. Shiller, K. Wier, N. Bashara, J. E. Carlisle, M. Abernathy, G. Gardner, J. Cox, M. Yust, B. M. White, L. Grandbury, N. Dawes, L. Slaton, L. C. Buffington, C. Montgomery, V. Curtis, E. Wheelcok, Z. Counts, B. Williamson, A. M. Hamilton, F. Carpenter, F. A. Nelms, S. Terrell, J. Wiles, M. Fenton, L. Moore, D. Mattison, S. Runkle, Z. Counts.

THE ALICE FREEMAN PALMER CLUB

was named for a famous woman educator, the second president of Wellesley College. The puzzle in this instance is to pick the future college prexy from the adjacent group.

OFFICERS

Leata Farrar, President; Mary Robinson, Vice-President; Grace McMillan, Treasurer; Miss Viola Hamilton, Sponsor.

MEMBERS

Gertrude Babcock, Elizabeth Sloop, Margaret Estes, Mary Bess Austin, Mary E. Dunn, Frances Tramonte, Anna Ray Bishop, Ida Mae Evans, Marie Harper, Evelyn Koeing, Juanita Lemburg, Alice Carver, Queen K. Milton, Mary Marie Briant, Jane Grotomat, Sydna Edwards, Ruth Stephens, Ruby Coury, Myra Conrad, Lucille Clennin, Bonnie Dee Pliler, Bessie Robinson, Alice Groves, Zoe McCrary, Martha Kay, Inez Bratcher, June Heffington, Jeanette Corry, Anna Lou Estes, Roberta Edens.

L'ALLEGRO CLUB

is cheerful enough if this picture is any indication. Maybe they're thinking about pancakes. At any rate the odds are ten to one that they aren't thinking about Milton.

OFFICERS

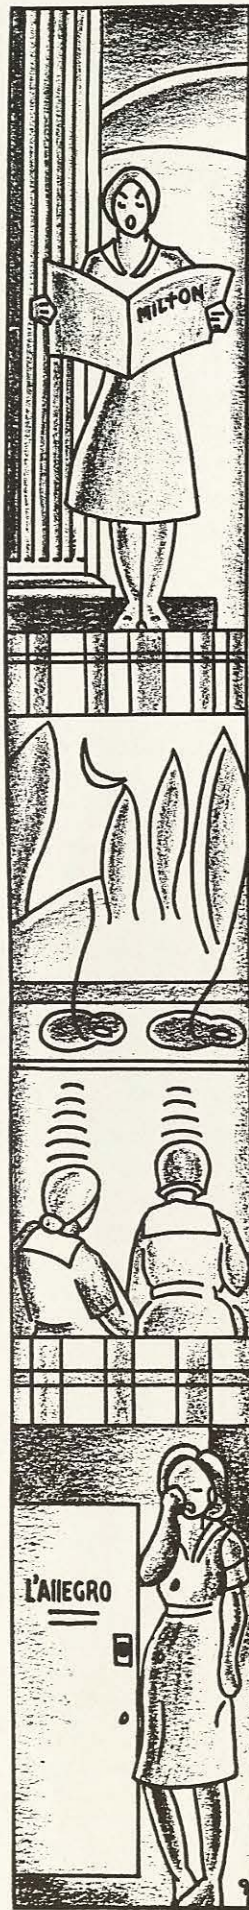

Ermin Rack, President; Eleanor Berry, Vice-President; Dorothy Grissom, Secretary.

MEMBERS

Nell DeLay, Alice Virginia Baxter, Ruth Bounds, Lola B. Holmes, Mary Loughridge, Elizabeth Hurley, Dorothy Kirby, Elizabeth Cranford, Gladys Troell.

PLEDGES

Geraldine Daniels, Margaret Ann Boesch, Evelene Brown, Frances Sammons, Marguerite Burnett, Cleo Speed, Eleanor Connor, Mavis Blount, Dorice Davis, Marian Calder, Katherine Jameson, Marian Brim.

THE JAMES H. LOWRY CLUB

was named for "Buttermilk" Jim, Texas newspaper man and regent of the college for two decades. Perhaps it is from him that the club learned that it pays to advertise club meetings and socials, (for in this club, such things are numerous.)

OFFICERS

Charlotte Kennedy, President; Vera Steely, Vice-President; Elinor Kinsler, Secretary.

MEMBERS

M. Schloeman, C. Hay, M. Mitchell, H. Hale, E. Walker, M. Black, E. Reese, A. Kirkpatrick, C. Rhea, M. Bierschwale, F. Lewis, E. Allen, D. Driver, N. V. Carver, P. Franklin, L. Carver, M. Pratt, A. Stallings, V. Erisman, V. Eickhoff, R. Washburn, E. M. Hendrick, A. Wilson, D. F. Shults.

PLEDGES

F. Almond, A. Black, J. Braun, D. Cox, A. Hodges, E. Holsonbake, M. Hooker, B. Hortig, F. Hyland, J. Lindsey, D. McCreight, M. B. Pratt, M. Webb, K. Williams, C. Burr, L. Childers, D. Harrison, H. Simms, M. Beaumont, A. McCulley, M. McClendon.

THE KARLE WILSON BAKER CLUB

is named for a poet by that name whose picture appears in the upper left corner of this page. Mrs. Baker is a member of the Department of English at the Stephen F. Austin State Teachers College in Nacogdoches.

OFFICERS

Alyne Simank, President; Joyce Forke, Secretary; Annie Hamilton, Reporter; Frances Ferguson, Chairman Program Committee.

MEMBERS

Dolores Strauss, Allene Owen, Vera Mergle, Daphne Richardson, Mary Wilmouth Mead, Marjorie Kitchell, Dorothy Lobitz, Mabel Saira, Evelyn Hooper, Rebecca Fredlock, Jane Harper.

THE BETSY ROSS CLUB

is a group of dames who make few pretenses toward being colonial. (Feature Prof. Currin in hoop skirts and a powdered wig.)

OFFICERS

Katherine Porter, President; Mrs. Belle Staniforth, Sponsor.

MEMBERS

Minnie Thiele, Bertie Thrower, Katherine Kelly, Bernice Hubbard, Margaret McCarthy, Josephine Steele, Jean Butridge, Lucretia Crane, Mosel Elliot, Edith Strode, Helen Travis, Sarah Lilly, Ethel Routh, Willie Belle Ford, Lizzette Schwartz, Mildred Aikens, Margaret Kendrick, Ruby Pritchett, Ida Mary Caldwell, Ray Journey, Kathleen Pickel, Isabelle Stovall, Madge Nettles, Maurine Currin, Iris Holiman, Elizabeth Glaab, Robertha Bolton, Mary Gary Bedwell, Margot Bigas, Maud Lanier Thompson, Mary Helen Denton.

THE BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL WOMEN'S CLUB

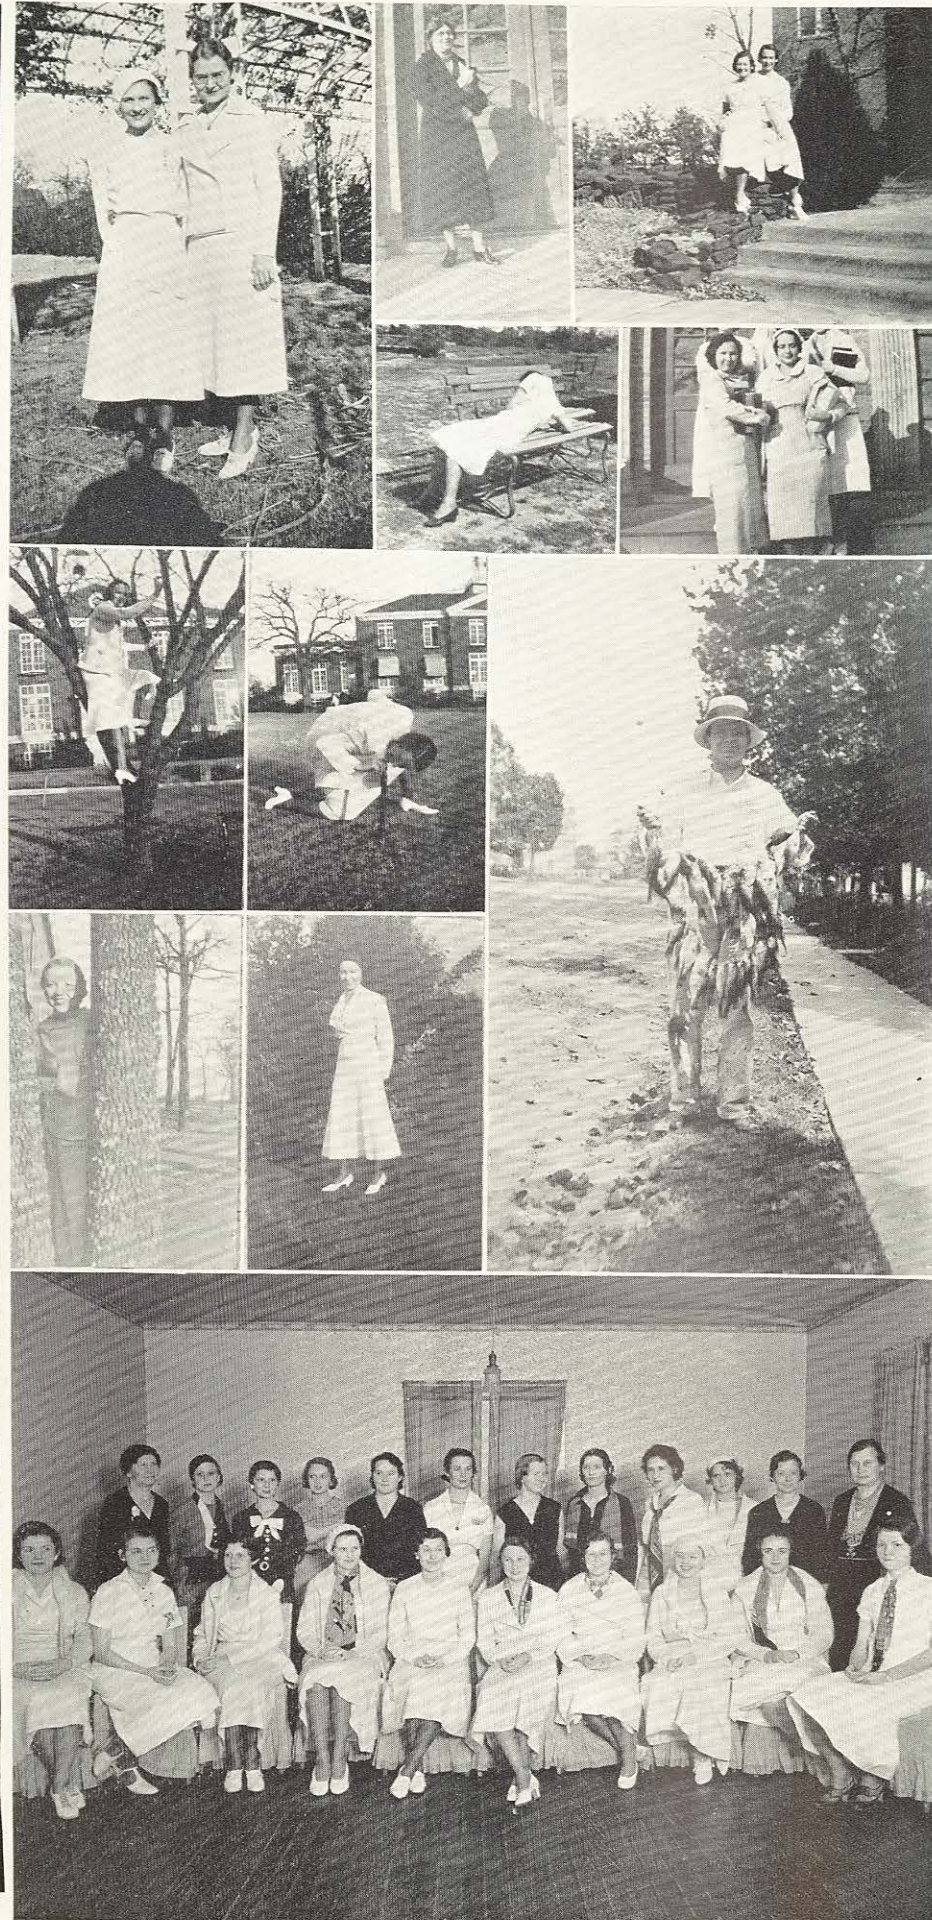

goes by an unauthorized name, but if luck is with them they hope to live up to their title some day. In application of their theories they can tell you off-hand the avoirdupois statistics of the average college girl.

THE EXECUTIVES

Margaret Vaught, President; Jeannie Stennis, Vice-President; Mary Robinson, Secretary.

THE STENOGRS

M. A. Andrews, D. Beleck, R. Callahan, W. Calloway, B. Eudaly, E. Fort, M. R. Harris, E. Kinsler, J. M. Kubela, F. Lauderdale, C. Matlock, D. Mattison, L. Moore, L. F. Morgan, D. Nesbitt, F. Nicholson, A. Owen, E. Phillips, G. Porter, R. Pritchett, E. Sherman, A. L. Still, E. B. Thompson, Leta Wilkinson, Lila Wilkinson, M. G. Yeager.
K. Armstrong, H. Barber, L. Benson, V. Budewig, J. Davenport, M. L. Emmons, M. Hood, M. Sheffield, W. Wade, V. Wallis, L. Wiese.

THE B. S. U. COUNCIL

a dominant religious force on the campus, is composed of nine members elected by the Baptist students to manage their denominational affairs. The Council seeks to encourage participation in activities by attendance at conventions and retreats of an inspirational nature. The pictures on this page were taken at the State Baptist Student Convention in Brownwood, October 31.

THESE SOLD YOU CANDY

Teresa Vehle, President; Earleen Kirby, First Vice-President; Lottie Mae Donoho, Second Vice-President; Iris Holliman, Third Vice-President; Lexie Marie Fuller, Recording Secretary; Helen Welsh, Corresponding Secretary; De Lu Curtis, Pianist; La Fon Morgan, Treasurer; Jewel Machen, Program Chairman; Mary Gaynelle Yeager, Sunday School Representative; Hallie Mae Smith, B. T. S. Representative; Mr. W. S. Donoho, Faculty Advisor; Dr. Karl H. Moore, Pastor; Mr. Lattimore Euing, Student Secretary.

THE INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB

looks like the World Court in session, but there's one difference: sometimes the World Court settles a dispute. This organization only starts them. Seated on Uncle Sam's front steps is the sponsor, The Hon. Cornelius D. Judd.

THE JUSTICES

Jewel Machen, President; Marye Durrum, Vice-President; Ruth Levin, Secretary.

THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS

D. Ray, M. B. Pratt, R. Jackson, M. Jones, J. M. Kubela, M. E. Durst, J. Metcalf, L. Levine, E. Miller, J. E. Carlisle, I. M. Caldwell, F. Tobolowsky, M. Yust, G. Moncrief, M. G. Cheatham, J. M. Eubank, F. Prewitt, B. D. Pliler, A. Partin, M. Cummins, M. Perry, C. Matlock, E. Walker.

HONORARY MEMBERS

Miss Bolton, Mrs. Clara B. Calmbach, Dr. Elsie Jenison.

THE PRESS CLUB

has for its purpose the promotion of literary appreciation and literary effort. Although it is not a "literary society," it is far more literary than organizations which ordinarily go by that name. Requirements for membership include: published contribution to the Quarterly, C average, and unanimous approval. Indeed, here is a club in which the black-ball as a parliamentary tool has not become extinct. Likewise, the club prides itself upon an unparalleled initiation—not always literary in nature.

The officers (although they function rarely) are: Jovenat, President; Perry, Vice-President; and Hunter, Secretary; Miss Mamie Walker, Sponsor.

THE EL PASO CLUB

is a local organization whose number is surprising when one considers how far its home base is from the campus. The virtue of this club lies not only in its activities here, but at home where it is supported by an interested Ex-Student Chapter.

THE OFFICERS

K. Payne Harris, President; Kathryn Gregory, Vice-President; Susan Peterson, Secretary; Mary Hartsfield, Reporter.

THE MEMBERS

Bonnie Apple, Dorothy Bradt, Alice Christie, Helen Denton, Kathryn Gregory, K. Payne Harris, Mary Hartsfield, Vera Nell Hartsfield, Mary King, Susan Patterson, Josephine Steele, Juliet Thacker, Hazel Ree Wells.

THE VILLAGERS' CLUB

is also a local club to whose membership most of the dormitory students seem to aspire. Ordinarily the town students seem rather care-free except for rare occasions when they miss the Goose or the family chariot runs dry. (Four cent tax added.)

THE OFFICERS

Zelda Mae Headlee, President; Wanda Calloway, Vice-President; Lona Mae Harris, Secretary; Frances Lauderdale, Chairman Social Committee.

Dr. Spencer L. Stoker and Mrs. Arthur Sweet.

LA JUNTA

No one knows what the name of this club means except those who have taken the trouble to ask a member. Even if it is a secret society in a sense, there are a few things in their Spanish talkies that don't have to be translated.

OFFICERS

Martha White, President; Mabel Gardner, Vice-President; Lucile Jackson, Secretary; Louise Kinsler, Treasurer; Miss Maude Wallin, Sponsor.

THE SENORITAS

THE MARY SWARTZ ROSE CLUB

is the Home Economics departmental club. Its constituency is greatly divided and its members are emphatic in insisting that their major is Foods, not V. H. E. However they all go into the soup, which in this instance is named for a nutrition expert, according to Who's Who.

CHIEF COOKS

THE W. A. A.

sponsors practically all organized sports on the campus and encourages even the least unorganized of sports: i. e., skating. Chief among their supervised activities are basketball, hockey, volley ball, swimming, archery, tennis, and golf. The president is Dorothy Davis, the third person ever to receive a Big T and the first to receive it as a sophomore. Miss Florence Huppich is sponsor of the organization.

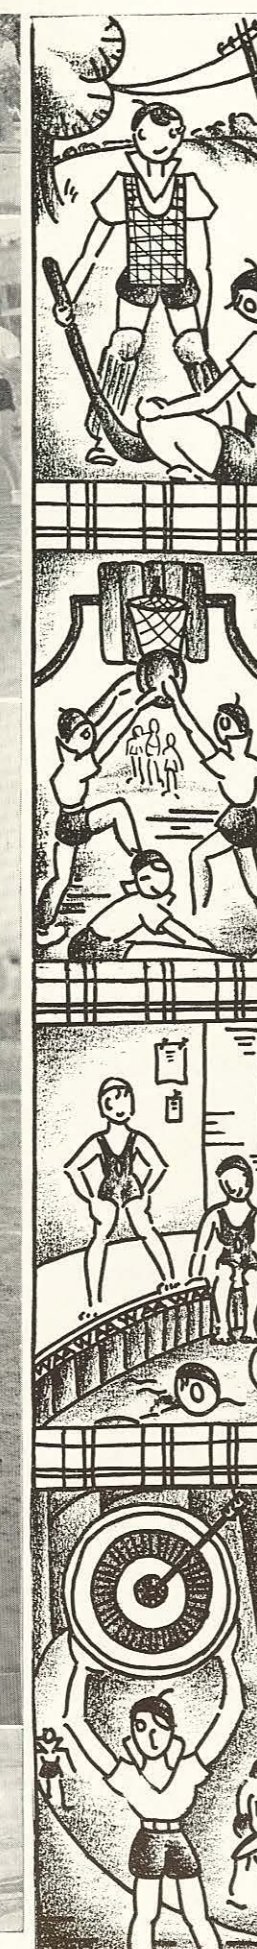

The Woman's Athletic Association is governed by the following board: Dorothy Davis, President; Dorothy Anderson, Vice-President; Jerry Forrest, Recording Secretary; Zulieka Weems, Corresponding Secretary; Mary Grace Cheatham, Treasurer; Allene Good, Hockey Manager; Eleanor McKee, Volley Ball Manager; Helen Anderson, Basketball Manager; Ruth Levin, Tennis Manager; Kitty Winter, Baseball Manager; Grace McMillan, Hiking Manager; Tennie Belle Bogges, Archery Club; Sarah Terrell, Triton Club; Assistant Managers: Opal Prather, Lucille Lang, R. J. Miller.

THE W. A. A.

Other pictures show the members of the organization in action. Such interest in sports stimulates rivalry and competition under the rules of sportsmanship and fairness. The aim of the organization has become: every person in at least one sport—not one person in every sport.

THE ART CLUB

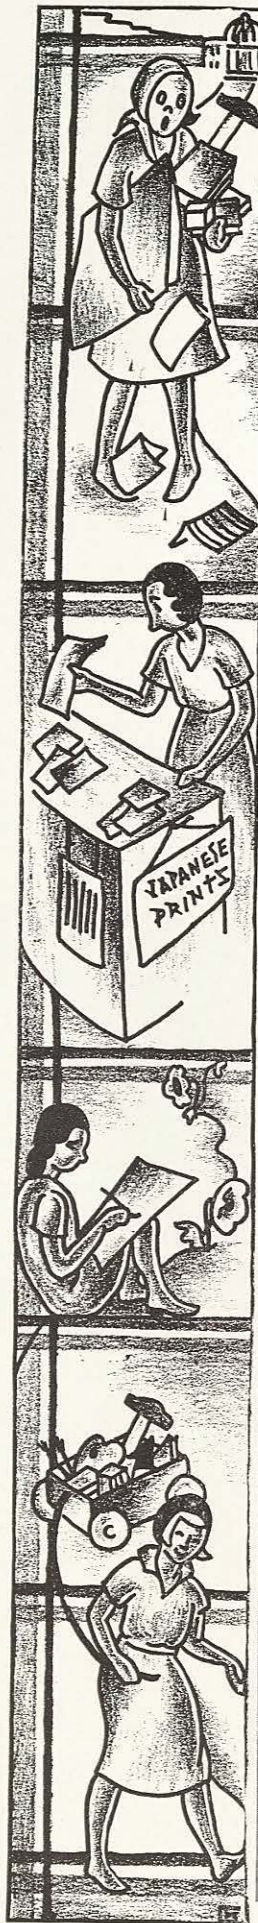

Members have for their purpose being as artistic as these pictures may credit them. They are quite a social group and talk about the aesthetic as much as they dare, mingling freely and often with professionals and dilettante from the nearby culture centers.

DRAMATICS

The Senior Little Theater, under the direction of Mr. Emory G. Horgar, presented a series of four plays this year. In the early fall, the first performance, "The Torchbearers" by George Kelly, was presented as the first of the series. The play, an American comedy, included a cast of the twelve senior speech students. "The Importance of Being Earnest," a comedy of English life by Oscar Wilde, was given on January 12.

A Chinese play, "The Chalk Circle," presented in the authentic thirteenth century manner, was the third dramatic production of the year. This play included a cast of twenty-three. The presentation of Davis's "Icebound" concluded the year's production.

The College Choir consists of fifty selected voices under the direction of Mr. William E. Jones. The initial performance was over radio station WFAA in Dallas, December 9. The second was presented at the Denton Chamber of Commerce banquet on January 12. Other performances during the year included a presentation as an Artist Course number; a concert, with the College Chorus, accompanied by the Fort Worth Symphony Orchestra, presented in the auditorium of the Central High School in Fort Worth; the Sunday afternoon program given at the First Baptist Church in Denison; and the appearance before the Dallas Open Forum on February 26.

The College Orchestra, under the direction of Mr. David C. Hansard, is composed of students of the music department.

Sir Harry thinks the QUEENIES are beautiful. Whether any one else (other than the beauties themselves) thinks so doesn't seem to be of consequence. Beauty, like genius, is often accompanied by temperament, so this is a warning to Sir Harry to stay out of America until the "not chosens" have forgotten.

We have guarded this section anxiously. It cost us so much money! At times we were tempted to sacrifice beauty to the cause of economy, but Beauty is an egotistical and unrelenting god.

"My face is my fortune," said Beauty. And the Beast? "Ah," said Beauty, "the Photographer was the Beast!"

As we begin SCOTCH SNUFF, the humor section, we are fully cognizant of that ancient gag, "If Adam were to come back to earth, the only thing he'd recognize would be the jokes." Some of these jokes are very old, in fact they are almost as old as some of the pictures of the faculty!

Some of these jokes are not funny. They are original with the staff—therefore, it is not essential that they have a point. Few of them are personal; fewer are dirty digs. Most of them are Scotch, yet we have not been Scotch with the jokes.

At last we understand why the humor division is called "the grind section." (We have no axe to grind—so it's plain drudgery.) This is the way we feel: "Have you heard the last Scotch joke?" "No, but we'd like to."

In Memoriam

This humor section is not dedicated to those whose names appear herein, nor to those neglected ones who were not mentioned.

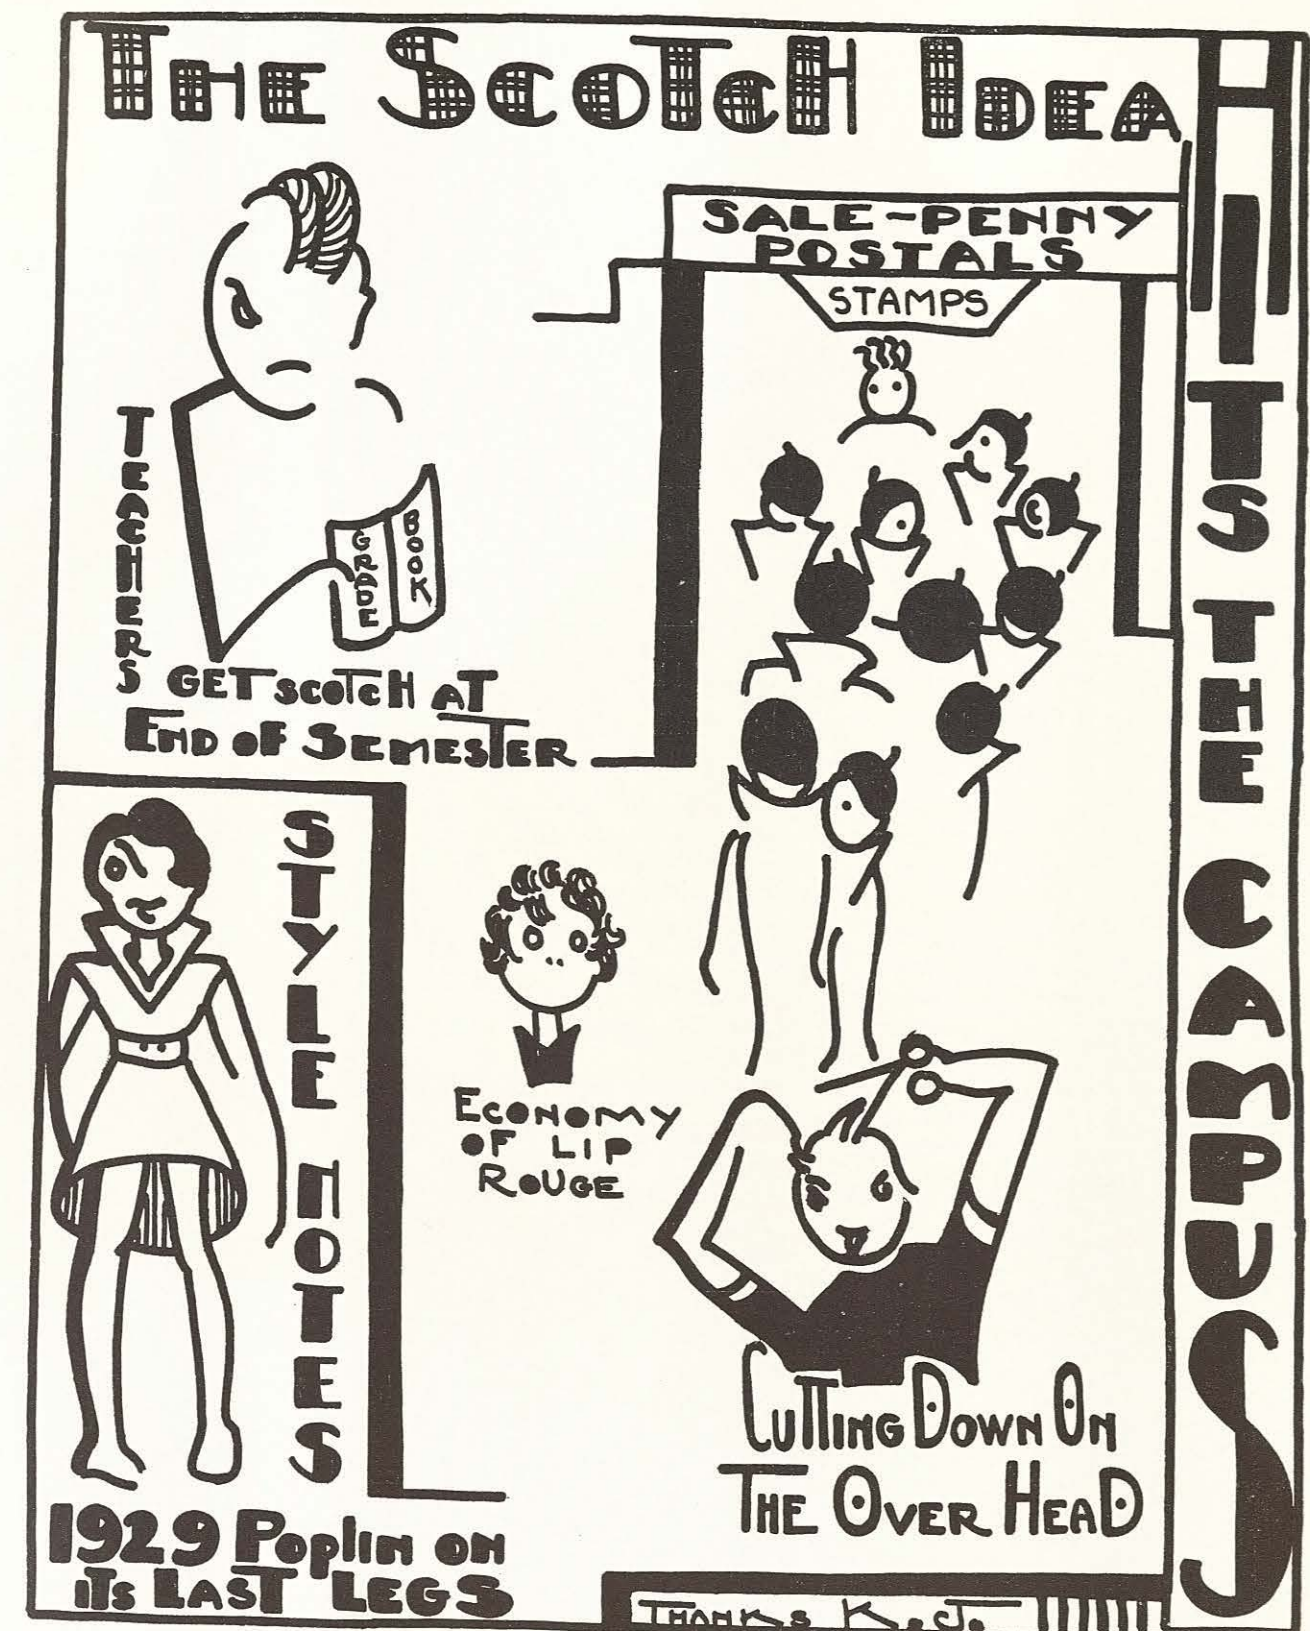

It is dedicated to the memory of O. P. (Omni-Present), the late campus dog, sometimes known as Willie, Anaemia, Soup Hound, Flea-Holder, etc., the most economical of us all. (No, he was not a Scotch terrier. His parentage was questionable.) However, he stayed at the college two years without spending a cent!

LAUDE CANEM!

THERE WAS THE SCOTCHMAN WHO:

Was so tight he squeaked.
 Became a politician just to get free mud treatments.
 Gave a gold digger a good run for her money.
 Published a magazine using only free verse.
 Never went out of his room so as to get the benefit of his rent.
 Swore off drinking for a month. His water bill was too high.
 Poured glue into his gas meter to make it run slower.
 Bought a car because the clutch was thrown in.
 Had a nose bleed and went to the hospital to see if anyone needed a transfusion.
 Had his car equipped with reflectors instead of headlights.
 For a treat on Christmas, took his children over to walk on St.
 Nicholas Avenue.
 Blew out all four tires the first time he used free air.
 Gave his little boy a slice of bread and sent him out in the garden to watch the butter-fly.
 Climbed over the gate to save the hinges.
 Quit when the captain asked him to pay out a little more anchor cable.
 Preferred blondes because the overhead is so light.
 Rushed to the post office and bought a lot of two cent stamps at par when he heard the rates were to be raised.
 Went in for football because he thought a quarter-back was a rebate.
 Spanked his little boy for buying an all-day sucker in the afternoon.
 Was so absent-minded that when he ordered asparagus he left a tip.

When a Scotchman casts his bread upon the waters, he wears a bathing suit.

"What kind of pipe does a Scotchman smoke?"

"Any given kind."

Sandy and his sweetheart, Mary, were walking down town reading the titles of various picture shows. Suddenly Sandy exclaimed:

"Look, Mary!"

Mary read: "THE WOMAN PAYS."

"We'll gang in here," said Sandy quickly to Mary.

"What do Scotchmen do with old newspapers?"

"They take them home."

"Had Cain been Scot, God would have changed his doom;
Nor forced him wander, but confined him home."

—Cleveland

Alex: "Just comin' frae the bank? So ye have money to put away?"

Donald: "I didna put money in the bank."

Alex: "Then ye drew some oot, or borrowed?"

Donald: "Neither."

Alex: "Ah, weel, an' what did ye there?"

Donald: "I fillit my fountain pen."

"Why did ye buy a daschund for the children?"

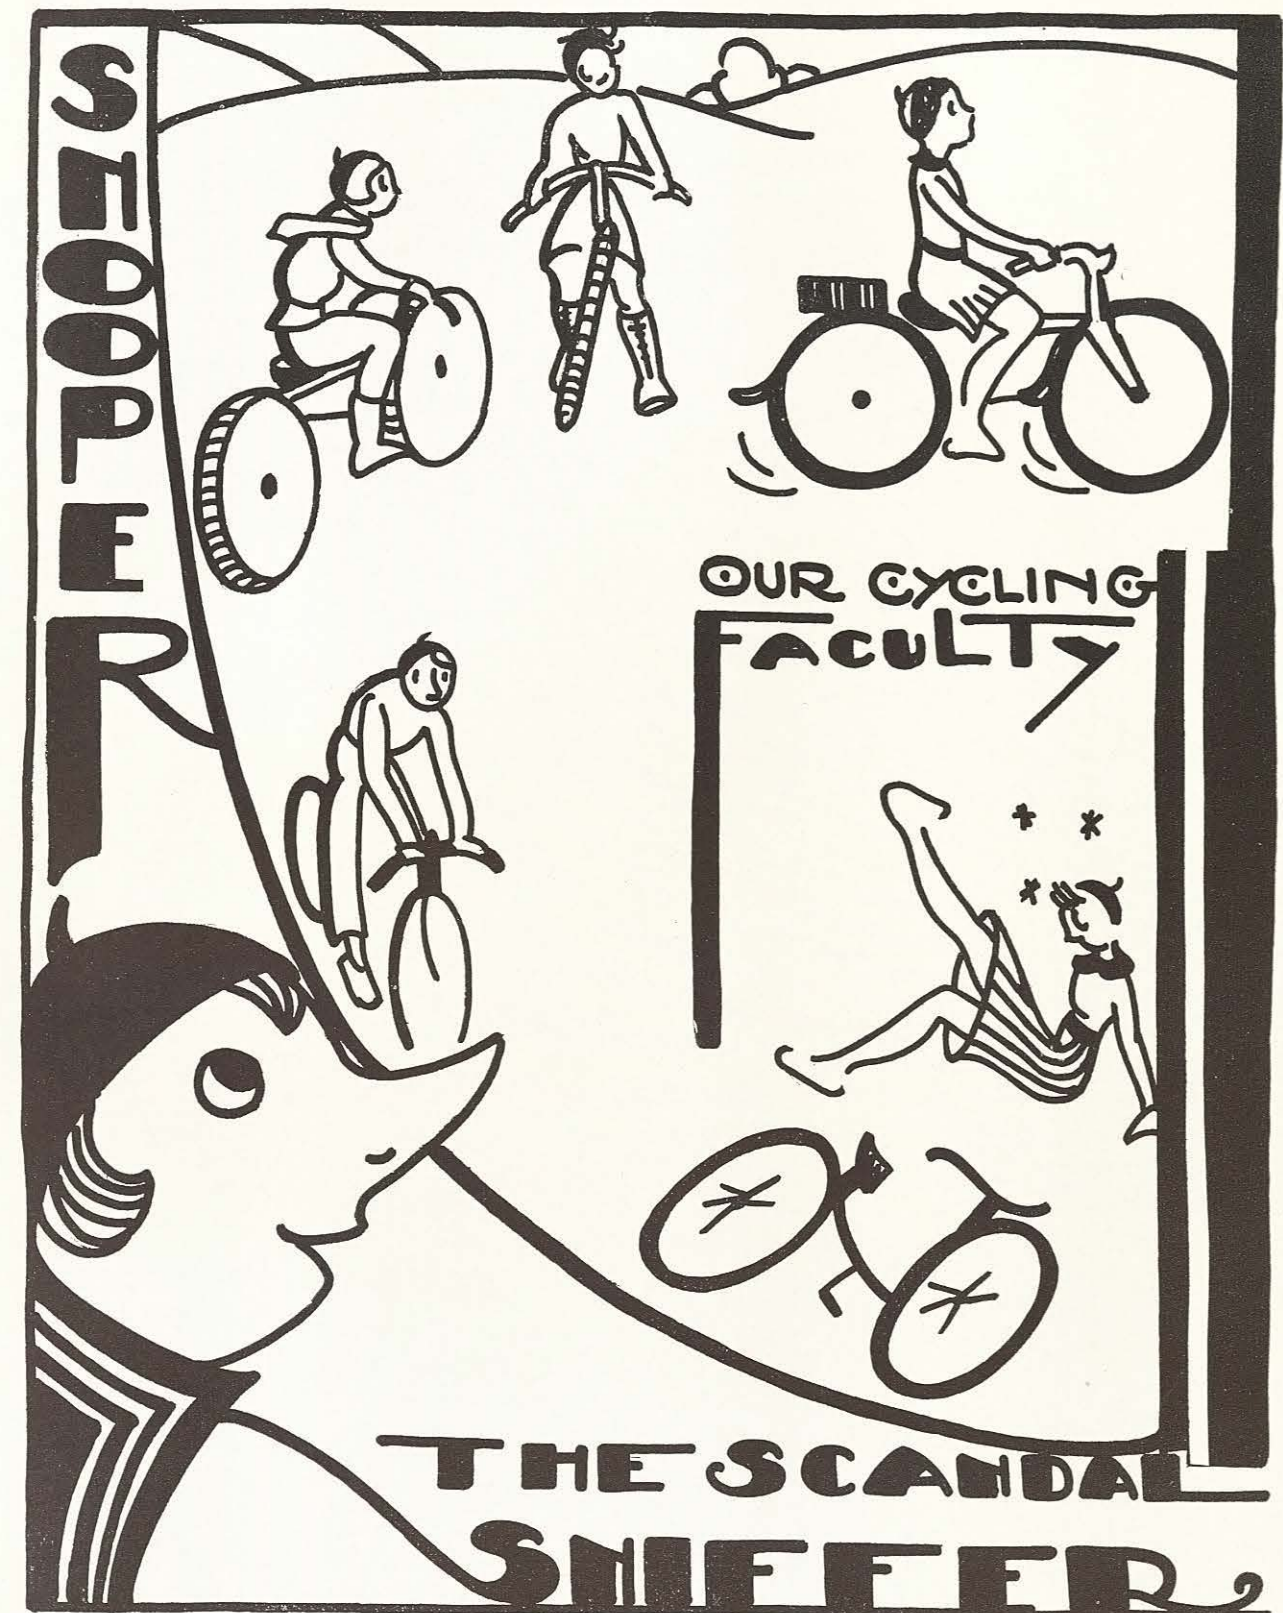

"So they can all pet him at once."

THEN THERE WAS THE SCOTCHMAN:

Who would not attend a baseball game because he heard the players sometimes passed the plate.

Who tried to take inkstains out of blotters so he could use them again.

Who pasted pictures of cheese on his mousetrap.

CUT-UPS FOR THE KIDDIES

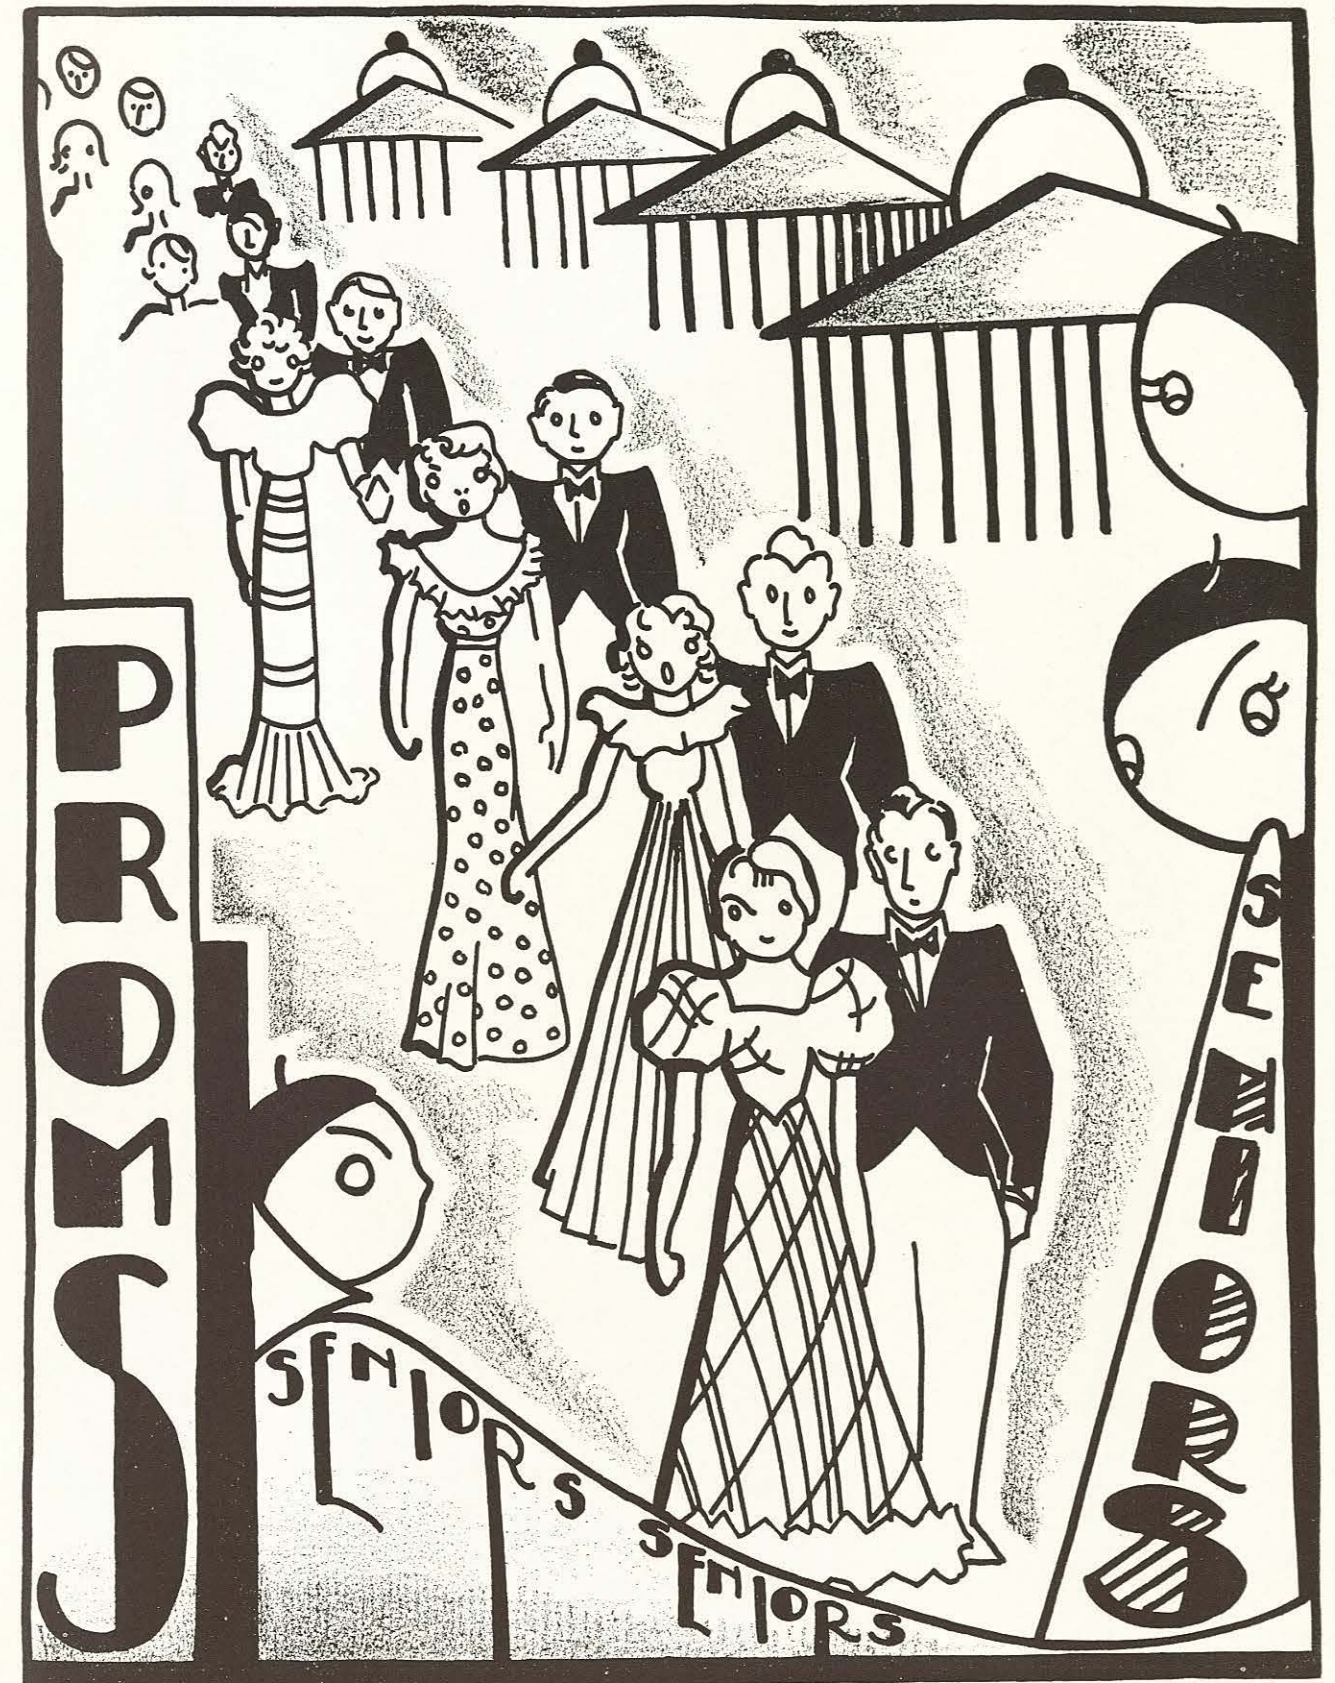

Because of the expense, the 1933 DAEDALIAN has found it necessary to eliminate the male element, the Senior Favorite Section. Not only was there a dearth of money but a dearth of men.

Paste in your man, but make him removable. You might change your mind eventually.

Such a step caused much disappointment among the fortunate minority, and this page is for their benefit. This is not a co-ed school. Why have a co-ed annual? For the fortunate few, a Scotchman once wrote:

"Take MAN from WOMAN; all that she can show
Of her own proper is naught else but WO."

—Sir Thomas Urquhart

DEDICATED TO THE STUDENT TEACHERS

(So they'll have something new to discuss at dinner.)

Janice Metcalf found her class reluctant at writing English compositions. At last she received a great idea to stimulate their interest—to write an account of a ball game.

It seemed that she was successful. With one exception they evolved youthful masterpieces. The backward one chewed reluctantly at his pen and was then struck by a burst of genius.

When Janice opened his paper, it read: "Rain. No game."

Madge Nettles was putting questions to the class.

"What do we call a person," she asked, "who keeps on talking and talking when people are no longer interested?"

"Please, ma'am," said Sam Adkins, "a teacher."

Maurine Staley had been telling her kindergarten children the story of "Ali Baba and the Forty Thieves." When she reached the end, she proceeded to question them regarding the story.

"Now can anyone tell me," she said, "what Ali Baba said when he wanted to open the door of the cave?"

One child, an ardent movie fan, promptly replied: "Open, sez me!"

Elizabeth Walker instructing her class in composition said: "Now, don't attempt any flights of fancy. Don't try to imitate the things you have heard, but just be yourselves and write what is really in you."

As the result of this advice, one youngster turned in the following composition:

"I ain't goin' to attemp no flite of fancy; I'm just goin' to write what's in me, and I got a hart, a liver, two lungs, and some other things like that. Then I got a stummick and in it's a pickle, a piece of pie, two sticks of candy and my dinner."

THOU GOOD AND FAITHFUL SERVANT

The latest from Scotland concerns one Andrew, who, being very popular with the village folk, was requested by the minister to canvass for subscriptions to charity.

Andrew accepted the task. A few days later he was seen jazzing along the road in a suspicious manner. "Andrew," said the minister, "it grieves me to see you in this condition."

"Ah, well," replied Andrew, "it's a' for the guid of the cause. You see, meenister, it's a' because of the subscriptions. Ilka hoose I go into, they make me have a wee drappie."

"Every house," protested the minister. "But surely there are some members of the kirk who are teetotallers?"

"Aye, aye, there be, meenister; I wrote tae those."

"No," said the shopkeeper, "we can't take a gramophone back after a year. Is there anything wrong with it?"

"Aye," answered the Scot. "The needle's broken."

Katherine Lightfoot: "What do we have for dinner Sunday?"

Winnie Mae Moberley: "Scotch boullion."

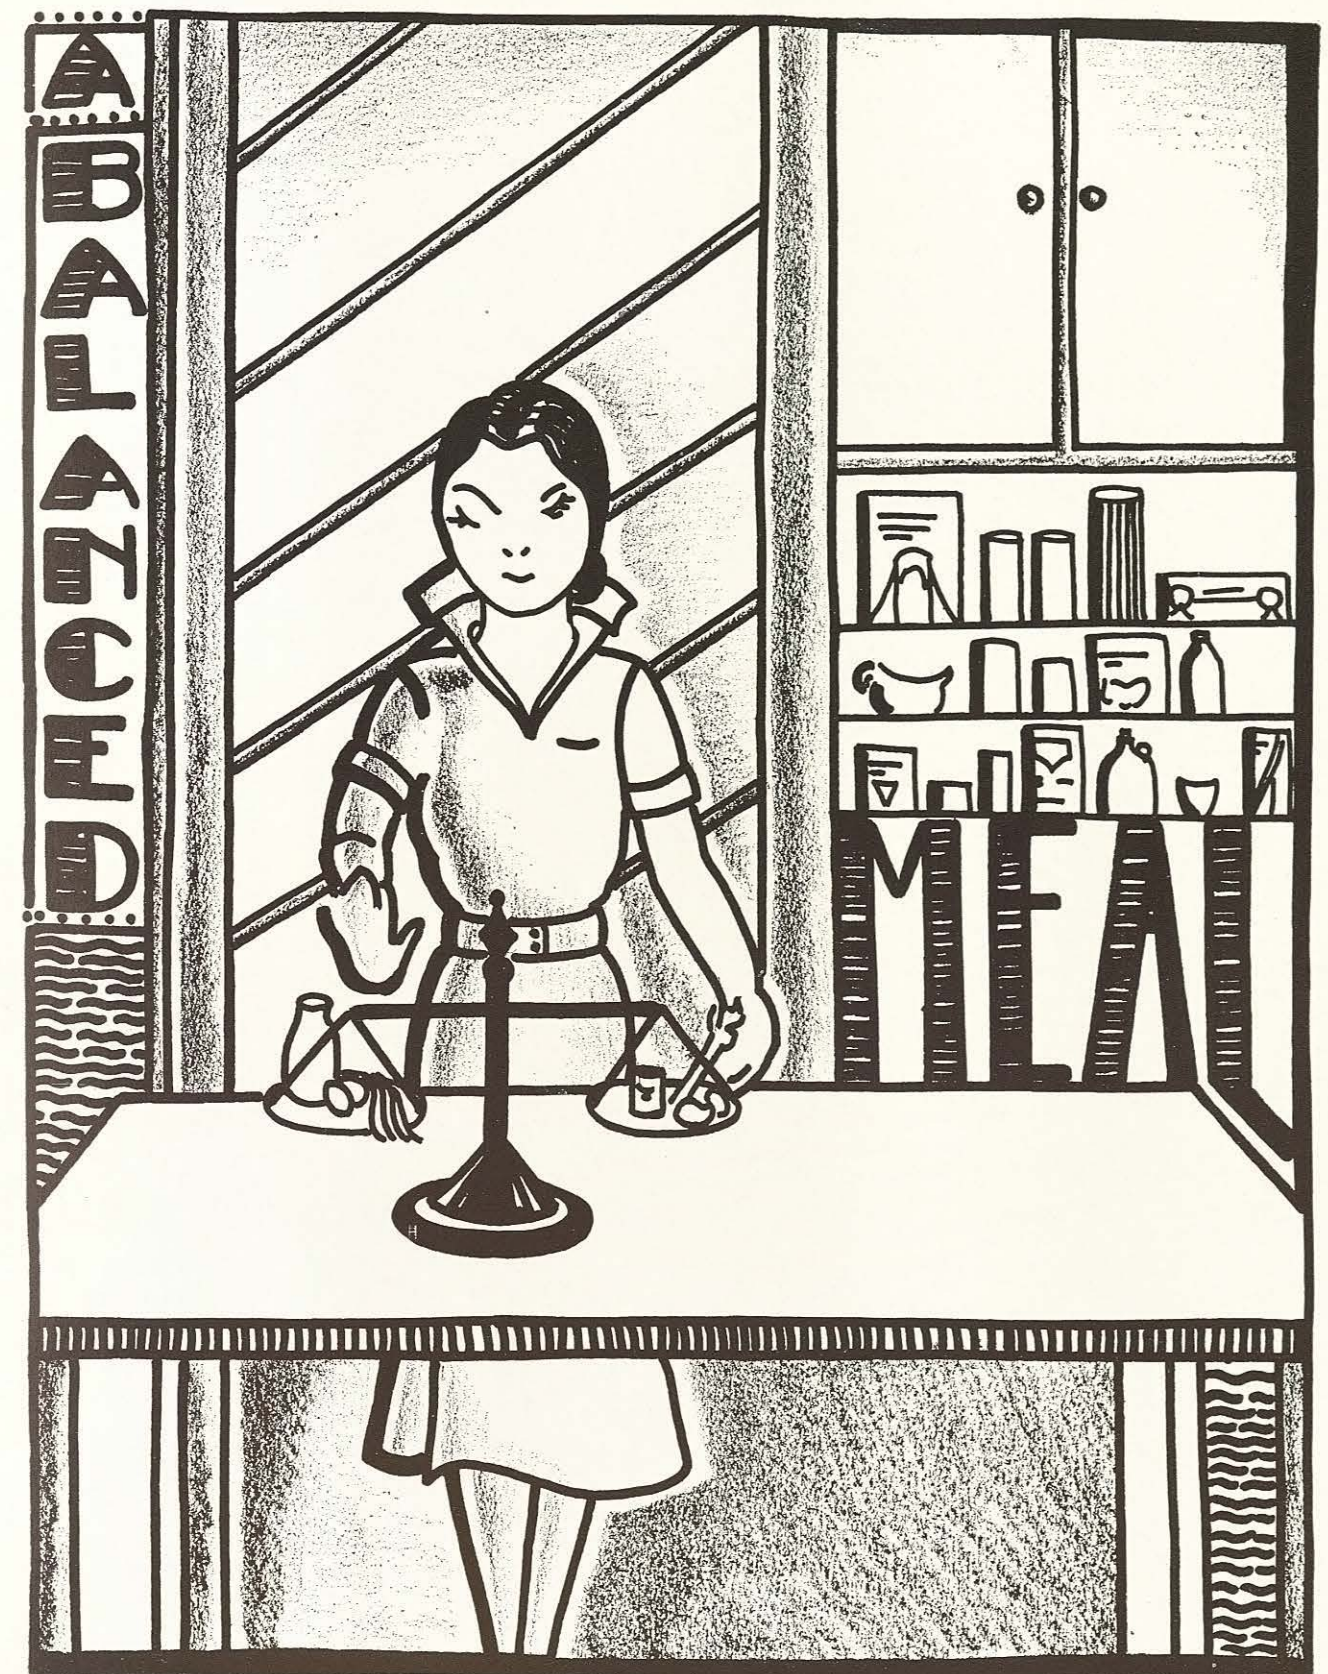

K. L.: "What's that like?"

W. M. M.: "Water with melted butter."

Sandy McChinch had gone to the city to see the sights. He went into a high office building and entered an elevator.

"What floor?" asked the elevator boy.

"No floor in particular," said Sandy. "I'm just goin' for the ride."

Once upon a time there were two Scotchmen. Now there are lots of them.

Young Angus had been out for the evening with his best girl. When he arrived home he found his father still sitting up. The old man looked up and shook his head.

"Hae ye been oot wi' yon lassie again?" he asked.

"Aye, dad," replied Angus. "Why do ye look sae worried?"

"I was just wonderin' how much the evening cost."

"No more than half a croon, dad."

"Aye? That was nae so much."

"It was a' she had," said Angus.

The Scotchman had fallen into a well and shrieked for his wife. She came running and asked, "Shall I call the men from the field to pull ye out?"

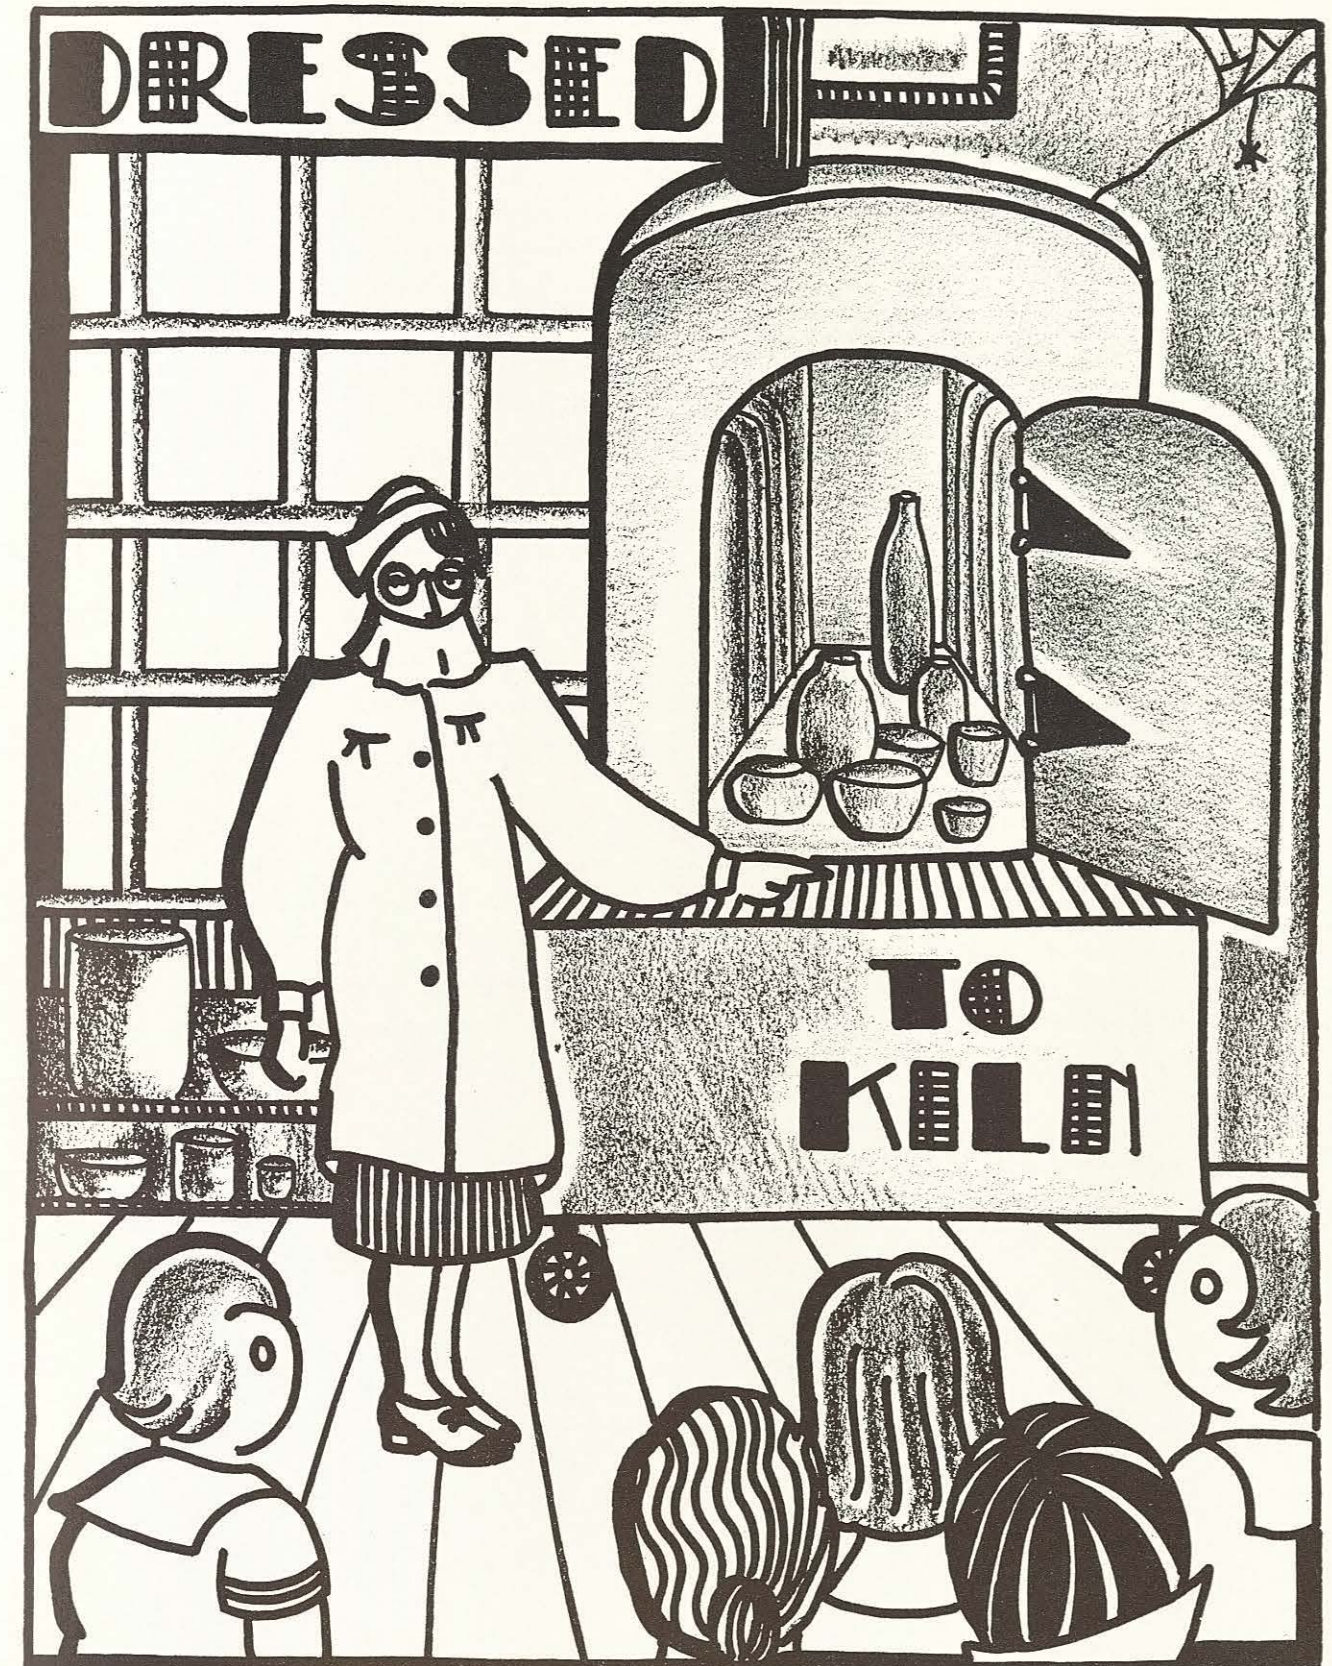

"What time is it," he inquired?

"Eleven-thirty."

"Never mind," he returned, "I'll swim around until the noon hour."

A Scotch woman was dying in Dunfermline. She expressed the wish that her body be carried back to Ecclefechan, where she hailed from, because she felt that she could not "lie quiet in a grave in Dunfermline."

Of course her husband could do nothing but acquiesce, and assured her "nae matter what the cost will be, if ye canna lie quiet in your grave in Dunfermline, we will take ye back to Ecclefechan, but I think we'll try ye first in Dunfermline."

"But that's hardly fare, sir," cried Eli Cox as the old gent handed him a phony nickel.

The latest thing in men's clothes this spring will be women. (New uniform regulations.)

Man does not understand woman. That is his tragedy. Woman understands man. That is also his tragedy.

"I suppose you miss your girl while she's at college?"

"Yep," replied Farmer Cornassel, "I dunno what I'll do without her. She's got the livestock so they won't move unless she gives them the college yell, an' I can't remember it."

Judge: "You are accused of stealing a chicken. Have you anything to say?"

Little Willie: "I just took it for a lark, Your Honor."

Judge: "No resemblance whatever. Ten dollars."

Mother: "My dear, I am shocked to death to find that a daughter of mine would stoop to parking in a dark spot on a lonely road, with a young man."

Will Ann Staude: "But, mother, I was driven to it!"

Mr. Adkisson: "If I tear a piece of paper into four, what do I get?"

Bobbie Blair: "Quarters."

Mr. Adkisson: "And if I divide it into eight?"

Bobbie: "Eighths."

Mr. Adkisson: "And if I divide it into 8,000 parts?"

Bobbie: "Confetti."

Marianne Millet: She was only a printer's daughter, but she had a bold face.

Tennie Belle Boggess: "What's a stuffed olive?"

Penelope Ziegelmeyer: "A pickle with a tail light."

Lela Mae Wooley: "I hear you're going to change courses."

Margaret Jones: "Yeah, I think I'll try the graduate school for a change."

In church, at the front, her brother, Jack, aged twelve, was being christened.

Louise Hubbard (hoarsely): "Behind his ears, too, Reverend Kinsolving."

The King of the Cotton Ball writes to Phyllis Matlock:

POIGNANT

"I shall never forget

The last time we met

At night, where the roses grow.

Our parting kiss now

I remember—and how!

You were standing on my toe."

MAY PROSPERITY BRING:

Mr. Hughes, some new sermons.
Dr. Beach, an overnight knowledge of Russian pronunciation.
Marie Black, a sense of humor.
All speech majors, softer voices.
Mr. Welsh, a coat to cover his shirt sleeves.
Prof. Jackson, a few new wise-cracks.
Dorothy Michels, a new boy friend.
Dr. Shultz, a little vim, vigor, and vitality.
Dr. Herrick, femininity, her heart's desire.
Many of us, a detailed interpretation of Mary Ray's poetry.
Andy Ashburn, relief from his attractive bachelorhood.
Fitz Hall, plastic stability.
Uniform committee, a scarf that is a tie when properly knotted.
Miss Hefley, a purple turban.
Pa Allen, a spittoon.
J. Moore, suspenders.
D. Nooe, a bottle of anti-wheeze.
Dr. Jenison, a comb.
All of us, a new crop of student leaders.
Rexine Shields, new window shades.
Brack Hall, ice water and a snake-charmer.
Teresa Vehle, her Fling.
Mr. Bishop, a new song.
Mr. McPherson, a new text for his lectures.

A very learned professor was touring the country, lecturing to pay expenses. The donations were entirely free-will, however. In one large city he gave an unusually brilliant lecture, containing wit and humor mixed with valuable information. When the plates were passed there was a very satisfactory collection. After raking out the fives, tens, etc., he came to two coppers. Wishing to continue his wit before the informal gathering, he remarked: "I see there is a Scotchman in the crowd."

Almost immediately there was a stir in the audience. Two men rose together and said: "Yes, two of us!"

"What's the matter with McTavish? He looks worried this morning."

"He just heard that gasoline has gone up."

"But why should he worry? He doesn't have a car."

"No, but he has a cigar lighter."

Mate (at boat drill): "Stand by to give away."

Sandy (forlornly clutching his trouser pocket): "Aye, Sir! Away what?"

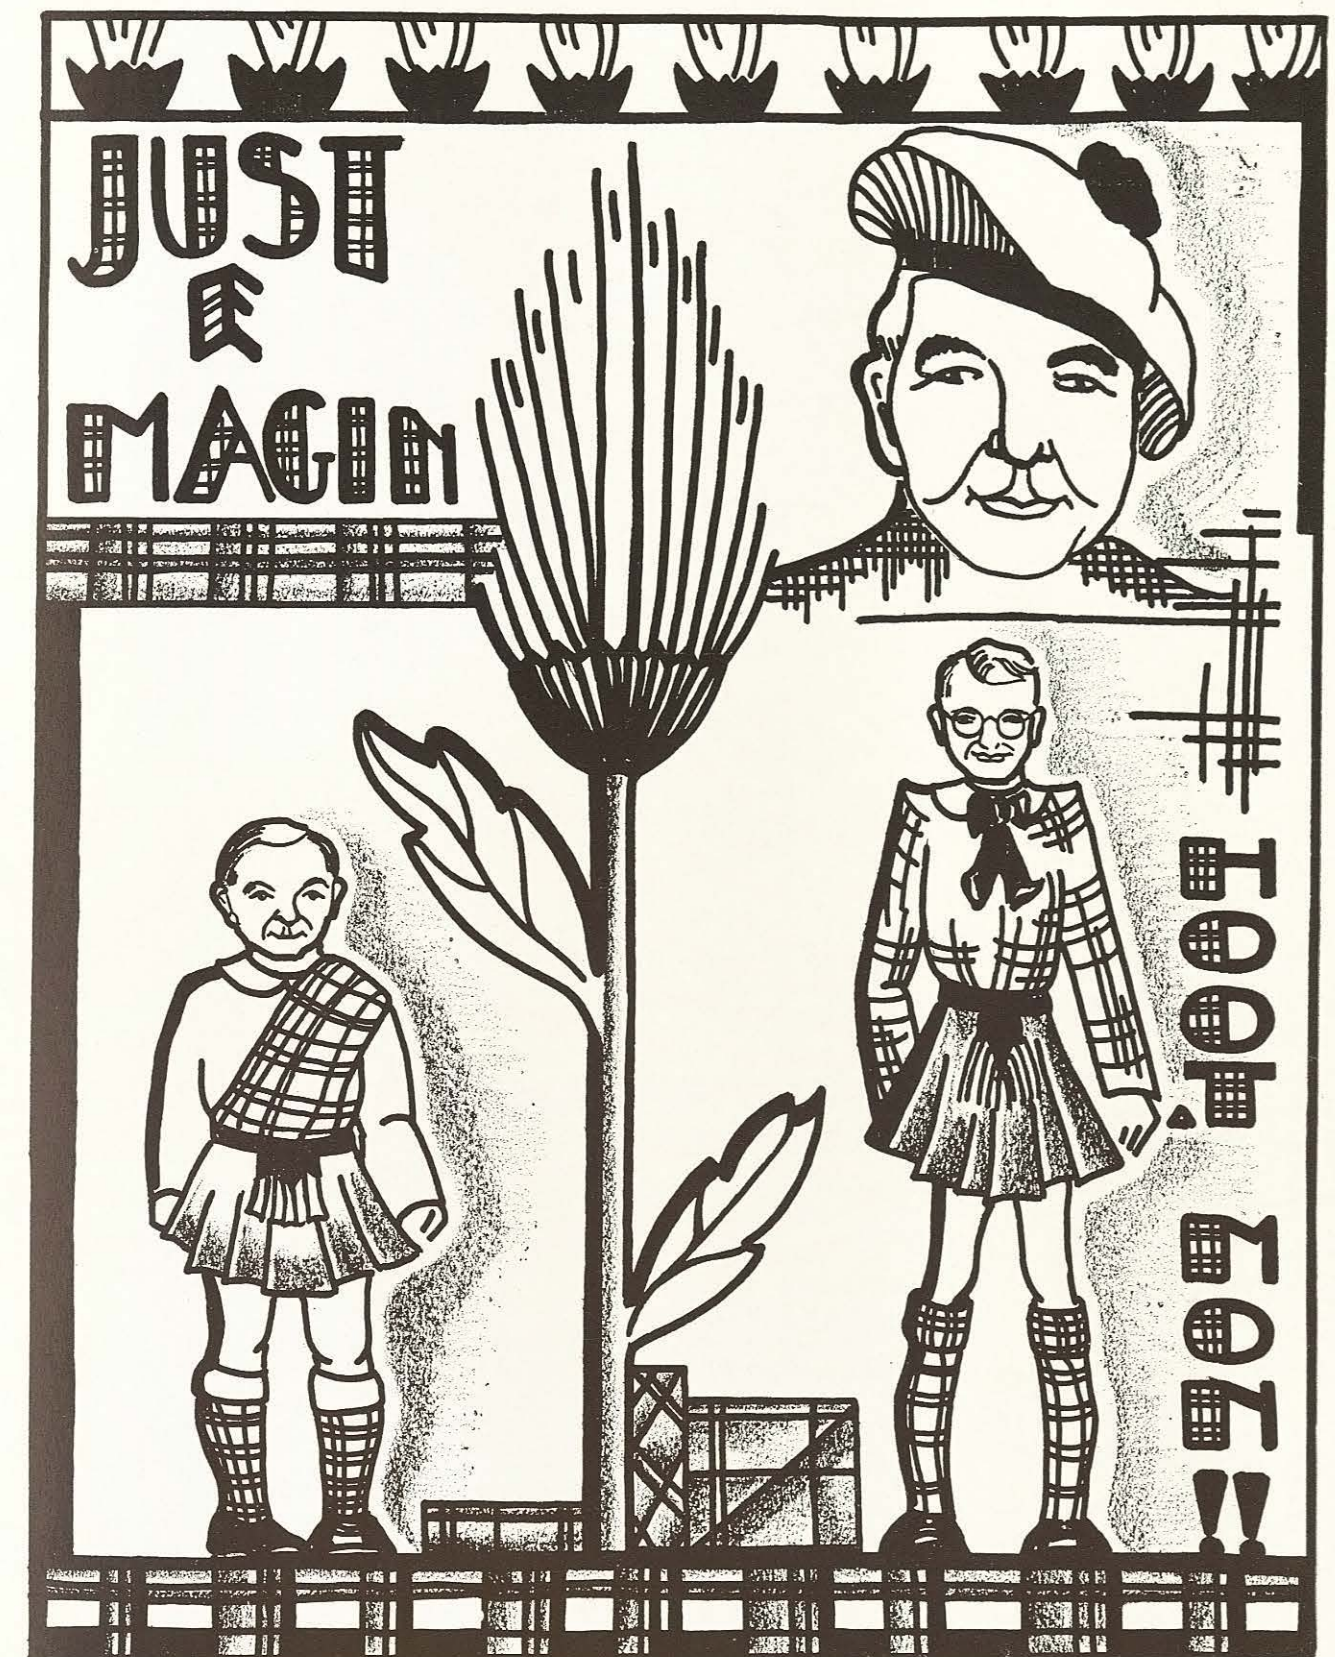

Air-Taxi Pilot: "I've lost my control. I can't stop her!"

Scotch: "Well, for the luvva Mike, turn off the meter."

"What's the difference between a Scotchman and a cocoanut?"

"You can get a drink out of a cocoanut."

Once a Scotchman didn't go to a banquet because he didn't know what the word "gratis" on the invitation meant. The next day he was found dead before an open dictionary.

Lewis Tackett: "I am firmly convinced that man is made of mere dust."
Charles Moore: "The women seem to think it's gold dust!"

Distraught Mamma: "Fireman, fireman, save my child!"
Fireman: "Why, madam?"
D. M.: "Oh, he isn't paid for yet!"

"You'll find the rent in your pants," said the landlord as he booted out his tenant.

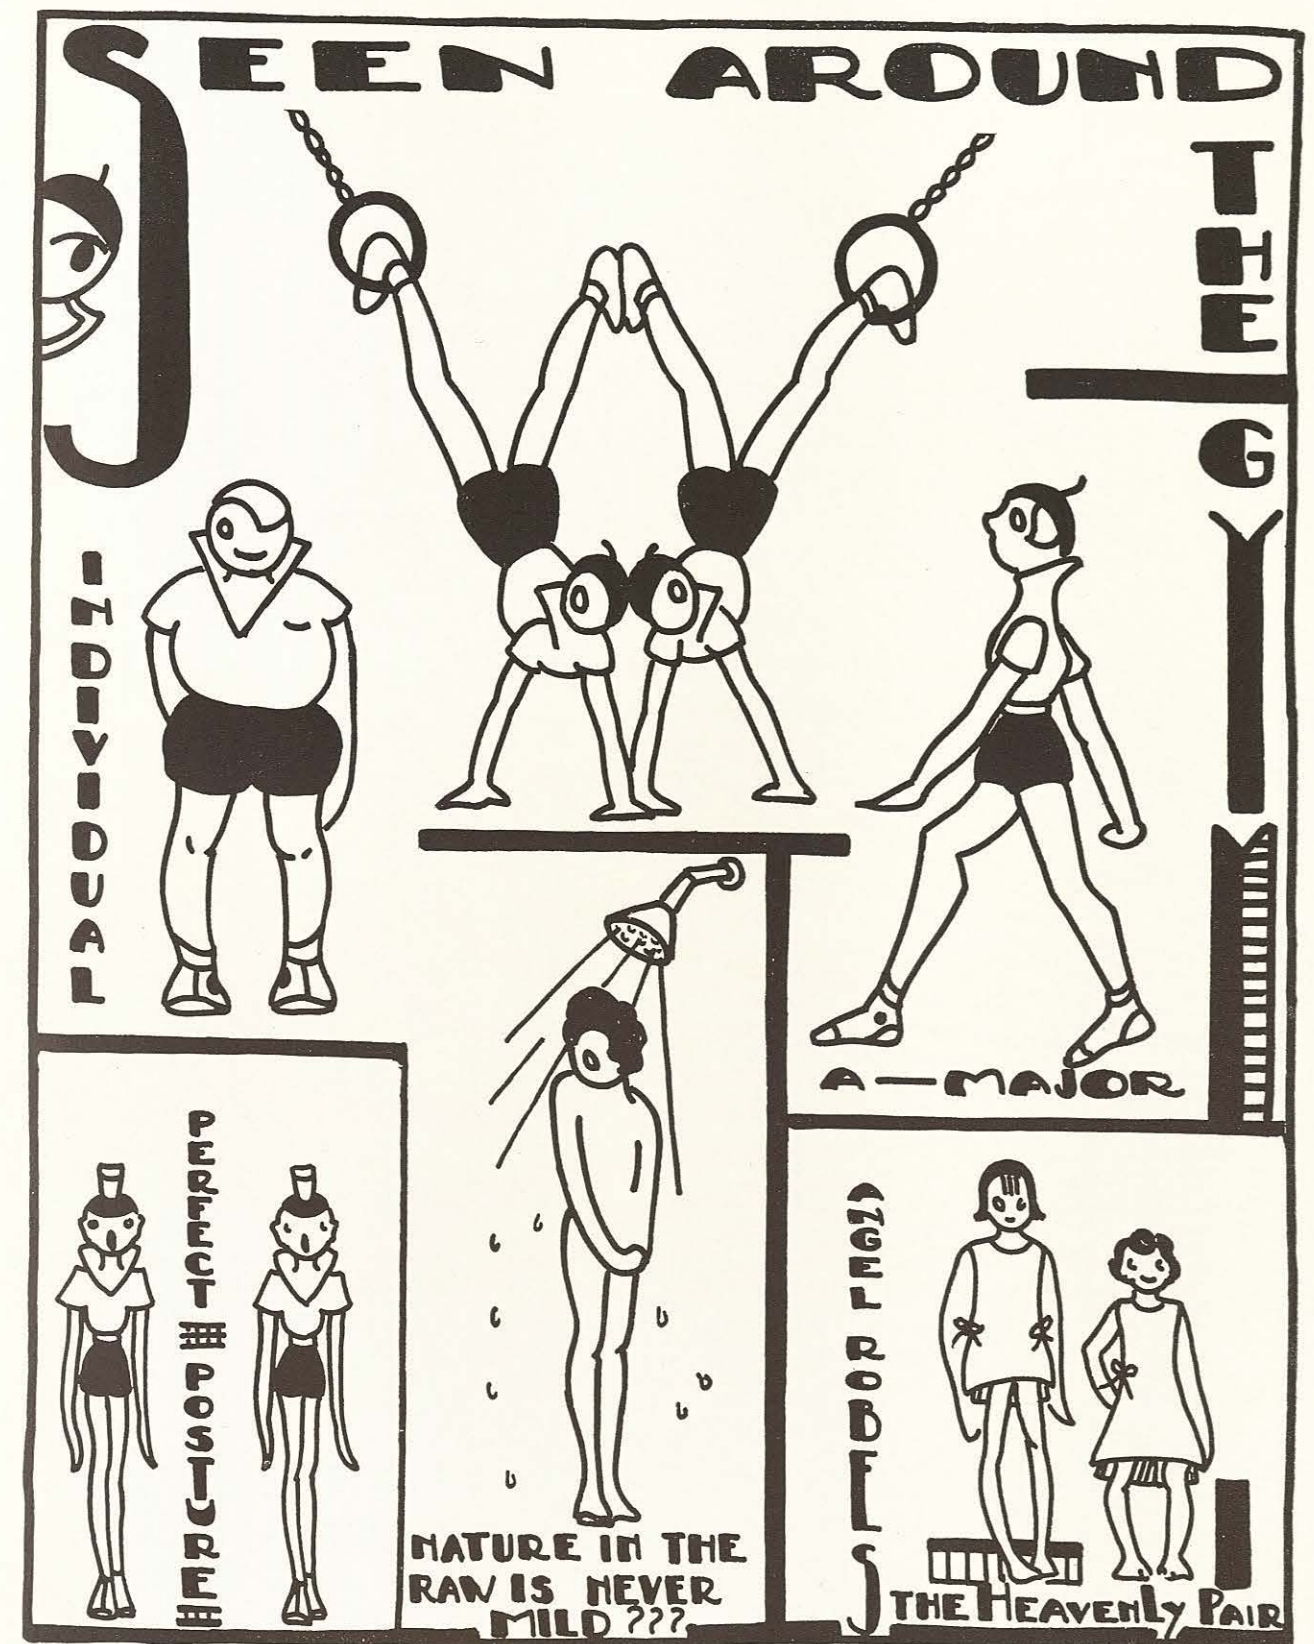

Elopers: "Five dollars for a marriage ceremony! We haven't that much, Judge."

Justice of the Peace: "Well, I can give you a trial marriage for two dollars."

Tubby: "This ten-cent piece doesn't ring good."
Lois Blanchette: "What do you want for a dime, a set of chimes?"

Bughouse Fable Number 809: The price of sugar and milk is going up, but the price of pens, pencils, and school supplies remains stationary.

Dr. Judd: "How do you spend your income?"
Gladys Moncrief: "About thirty per cent for shelter, thirty per cent for clothing, forty per cent for food, and twenty per cent for amusement."
Dr. Judd: "But that adds up to 120 per cent."
G. M.: "That's right!"

Sandy had always wanted to go for an airplane ride, but objected to the prices pilots charged to take passengers for only ten or fifteen minutes. At last one Sunday when he and his wife, Maggie, were visiting the flying field, Sandy met a pilot who would strike a bargain.

"I'll tell you what I'll do," said the pilot. "I'll take you up, and if you don't cry out once, I won't charge you anything. But remember if you say one word while we're in the air, I'll charge you five dollars."

They took off; they soared; they climbed. Suddenly they looped the loop, and straightened up with a terrifying roar. They nose dived; they soared again. Sandy sat with his lips tight together. Disappointed, the pilot prepared the final thrill for them. A double loop-the-loop. Over and over they went, but not a word came from Sandy.

On landing, the pilot congratulated him. "I didn't think you could do it," he said.

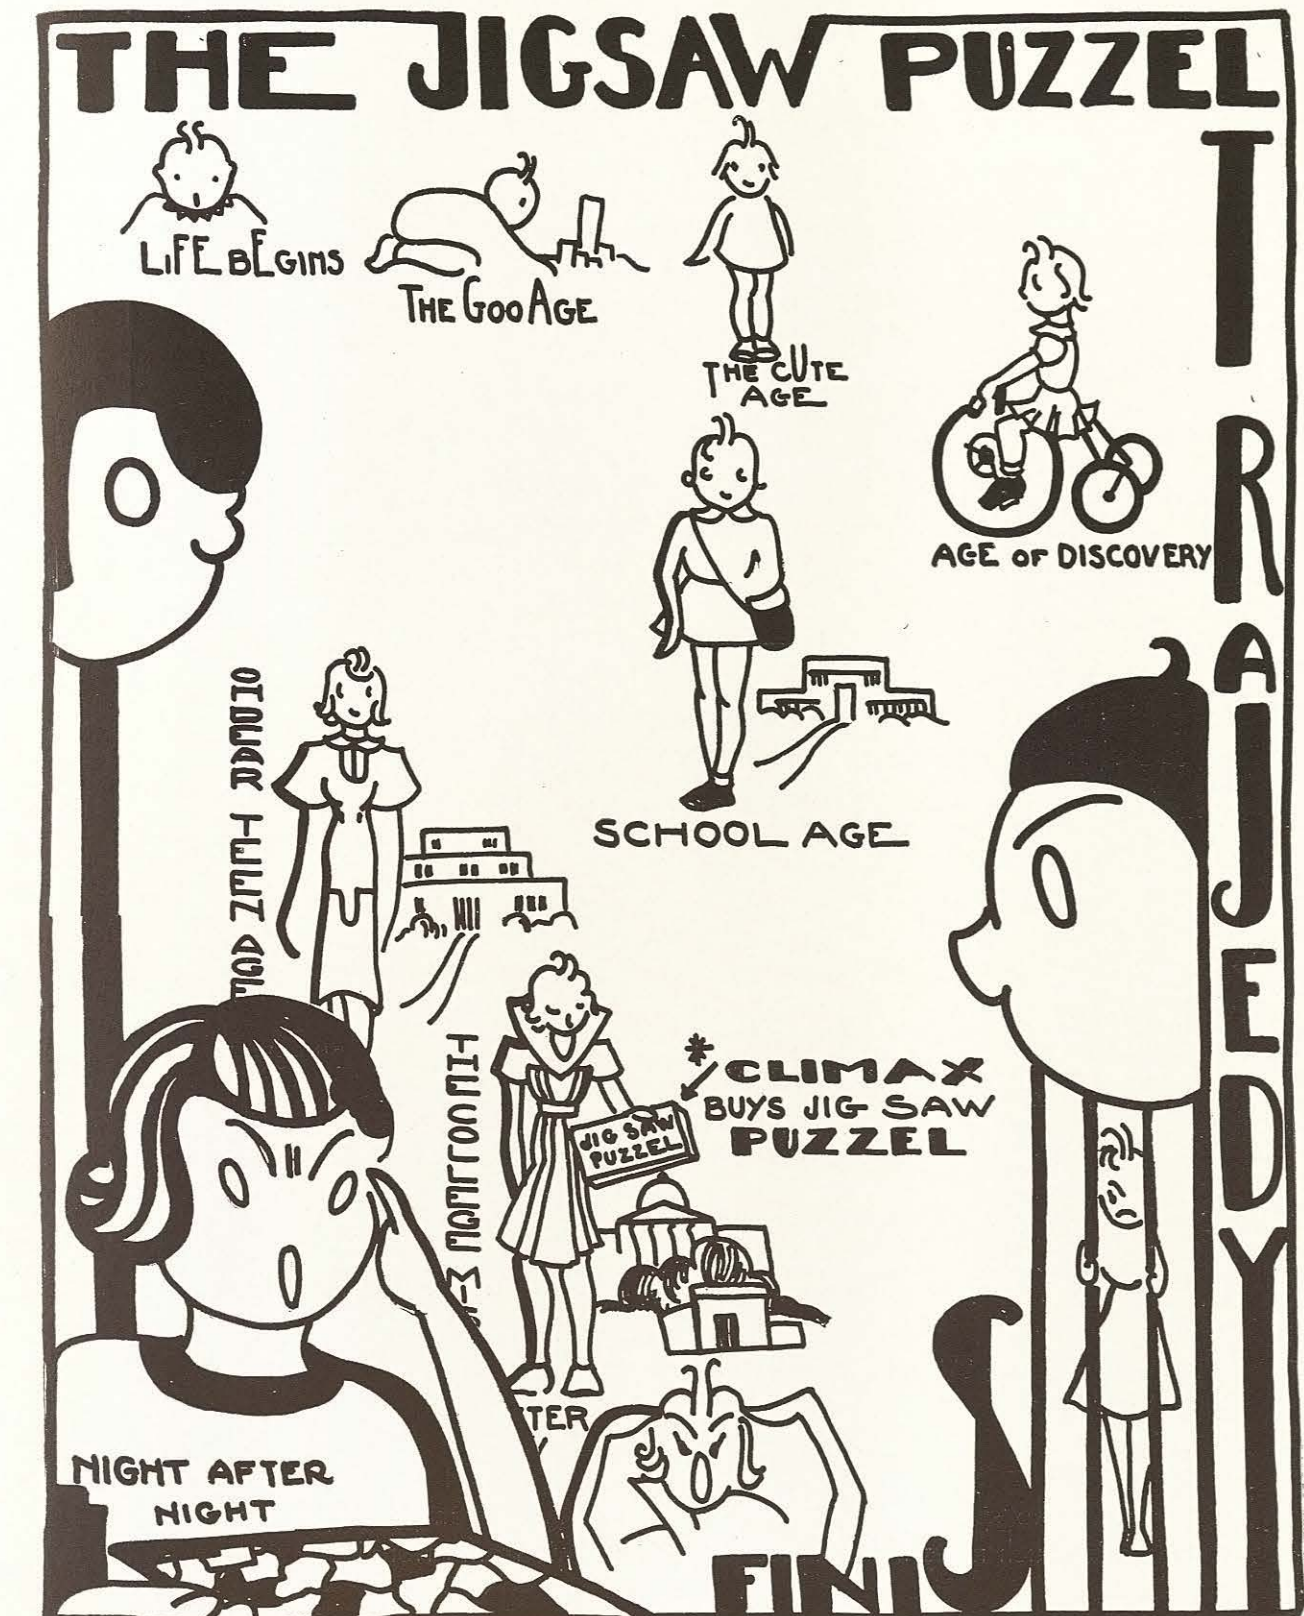

"'Twas hard," said Sandy. "I almost shouted on that last loop when Maggie fell out."

"My, but I'm certainly getting a lot out of this course!" exclaimed a Scotch chemistry student as she walked home with five dollars worth of laboratory equipment in her pocket.

AN INDIAN GIFT

MacAllister and MacGregor worked together in the shop, and when the first Scot announced his retirement to a small livestock farm, MacGregor said he would make his friend a little present to add to his chickens, rabbits, guinea pigs, white mice, etc.

The first Sunday afternoon MacAllister was settled on his place, his former co-worker visited him, had supper, smoked some of MacAllister's tobacco, drank a wee "drap" or two, and presented him with a pair of homing pigeons.

WE HOPE YOU HAVEN'T

An Englishman, according to popular legend, gets three laughs from a joke; first, when the joke is told; second, when it is explained to him, and third, when he understands it. The Frenchman only gets the first two—he never sees the point. The German gets one—he won't wait for an explanation. And the American gets none at all, because he's heard the joke before.

Breathless Visitor: "Doctor Herrick, can you help me? My name is Bierschwale?"

Doctor Herrick: "No, I'm sorry. I simply can't do anything for that."

Miss Craddock: "Now, Mary, I want you to be careful. This is some very old table linen—been in the family more than 200 years."

Mary Wellborn: "You needn't worry. I won't tell anyone, and it looks as good as new, anyway."

A small boy leading a donkey passed by Teachers College. A couple of students wished to have some fun with him.

"Why are you holding on to your brother so tight for, sonny?" asked one of them.

"So he won't go to T. C.," the youngster replied.

Leo: "Honestly, now, do women like egotistical men as well as the other kind?"

Eleanor Rose: "What other kind?"

A girl who spent a year at this college gained twenty-two pounds. Publishing such news will discourage new students from attending.

"They say Sandy MacPherson bought a suit on the pay-as-you-wear plan."

"Yes, and it's hung in his closet for twenty years."

Sandy and Andy were having dinner together. Sandy helped himself to the larger of the fish and Andy said,

"Fine manners you have, Sandy. If I had reached out first, I'd have taken the smaller fish."

"Well," Sandy replied, "you got it, didn't you?"

"Why do Scotchmen always go out with Mary?"

"She's the kind of a girl who always gives herself away."

A Scotchman in a great state of agitation phoned a doctor. "Come at once," he said. "Ma wee bairn has swallowed a sixpence."

"How old is it?" queried the doctor.

"1894," was the reply.

A Spaniard, an American, and a Scotchman were discussing what they would do if they awoke one morning to discover that they were millionaires. The Spaniard said he would build a bull ring. The American said he would invest in government bonds. The Scotchman said he would go to sleep again to see if he could make another million.

A Scot was engaged in an argument with a conductor as to whether the fare was five or ten cents. Finally the disgusted conductor picked up the Scotchman's suit case and tossed it off the train, just as they passed over a bridge. It landed with a splash.

"Mon," screamed Sandy, "isn't it enough that you try to overcharge me, but now you try to drown me little boy?"

A FEW TIPS

A Scotchman shop-keeper went to London to pick up a few tips. He found them under the plates in the restaurants.

TOO LATE

An Aberdonian died and went to Heaven. He could not find the Golden Gates; a fellow-townsmen had been there before him.

A QUESTION OF ECONOMY

Tammas Gordon had just "papered the parlour" and asked a neighbor in to see his handiwork.

"An' whit dae ye think o't?" he asked.

"It's nae sae bad," replied his friend, "but wey ha'e ye fastened it on wi' tacks?"

"Ye surely dinna think I'm gaun to live here a' my days, dae ye?" replied Tammas.

AN ABERDONIAN IN PALESTINE

An Aberdonian on holiday in Palestine came to the Sea of Galilee and on inquiring of a boatman, found that the hire of a pleasure craft was 3/6 per hour.

"Three an' saxpence," he exclaimed—"we can get a boat in Aberdeen for saxpence."

"Ah, but this is Palestine," said the boatman, "and these are the waters on which our Lord walked."

"Nae winder He walked," replied the Aberdonian—"Look what ye chairge for a boat."

A GOLDEN WEDDING

Tammas was invited to a Golden Wedding and on making inquiries found that he was expected to give a present made of gold. He solved the problem by presenting the worthy couple with a bowl of goldfish.

THEY WOULDN'T GIVE

A visitor to Edinburgh saw a penny lying in Princes Street, and put his foot on it till a policeman came along, when he asked him to pick it up for him.

"Why can't you pick it up yourself?" asked the man in blue.

"Because," was the reply, "I'm wearing a pair of suspenders I bought in Aberdeen, and they won't give."

IT WON'T SHRINK

An Aberdonian's New Year Resolution is to the effect that he will fry his bacon in Lux so that it won't shrink.

I MUST HAVE BEEN DRUNK

An Aberdonian charged with being "drunk and incapable in the precincts of the Railway Station," pleaded "Not Guilty." In the course of the evidence it came out that the taxi-driver who drove him to the station admitted receiving 6d. over his legal fare. "That's done it," exclaimed the prisoner, "I must have been drunk!"

HE'S DELEERIOUS NOO.

An old Scotchman lay dying. His wife and friends gathered around his bed—presently he whispered:

"Jean—are ye there?"

"Ay, what is it, John?"

"Tammis Gordon owes me L50. See that he pays you."

Turning around to her friends she said:

"Oh! he's conscious noo. I houp ye a' heard what he said."

After a while, he called again:

"Jean—are ye there?"

"Ay, John, whit is it noo?"

"I'm due Weelum Blair L100."

"Ah!" said his wife, "He's deeleeerious noo. Dinna tak any notice o' his wanderin's."

SHE'S THE LASS FOR ME!

A Scotchman on holiday, head over heels in love with a girl he had left behind, could stand the suspense no longer, and telegraphed a proposal of marriage. In case of a refusal, and with true Scottish caution, he did not prepay the reply, but kept calling at the Post Office at intervals during the day. Night arrived and at last a telegram came in. With feverish excitement he opened it, to find she had accepted him. Overjoyed at his good fortune he told the girl at the counter all about it. "And," she replied, "has she kept you waiting here all day for an answer? I should think twice before marrying a girl who would treat me like that!" "That's whaur ye're wrang, lassie," replied the happy man, "you see she's been waiting for the reduced night rate—she's the lass for me!"

A HOLE FOR A PRESENT

An Aberdonian and his daughter took up golf. At the close of one of their games the father was laid a dead stymie while the daughter had one to play to win the match. Turning round to her he said:

"Jeannie, isn't the morn yer birthday?"

"Yes, father."

"Ah, weel," he said, "I'll gie ye that hole for a present."

THE POCKETS WERE GOOD

A Scotchman on ordering a new suit of clothes from his tailor said: "Will you allow me anything on the pockets o' the breeks I've on, because they're as good as new?"

SAVING THE GAS

A Scotchman went to the dentist to get a tooth extracted. He got gas and when he came to himself, discovered that all his teeth were out.

"Whit wey did ye dae that?" he asked.

"Oh," replied the dentist, "I gave ye over much gas and didna like to waste it."

ECONOMY AT THE FUNERAL

A Scotch dentist died and in order to save expenses at the funeral, his widow used his doorplate for the nameplate on the coffin.

THE AMERICAN VEESITORS

A menagerie had been visiting Aberdeen and on the day after leaving the City, one of the gorillas died. Instead of burying it they threw it over a dyke by the roadside. Later on in the day two Aberdonians passed. They noticed the gorilla. "An' wha'll it be, think ye?" asked one. The other examined the corpse. "It's over big for a MacPherson; it canna be a Gordon for it has nae kilt; judgin' by its e'en I'm thinkin' it's ane o' thae American veesitors."

GOD'S OWN COUNTRY

A Scotchman and an American were standing together watching a procession of unemployed passing along a street in London, when the American remarked: "I guess we wouldn't allow that kind of thing where I come from." "An' whaur dae you come frae?" "God's own country," replied the American. "Is that so?" observed our friend, "ye've an awful puir Scotch accent!"

NOW BEING BORN IN LONDON

We have it on reliable authority that whereas in the old days Scotchmen emigrated to London, they are now being born there to save the expense of railway traveling.

WHUSTLE IT BACK

Tammas was out walking with his dog, and in passing a butcher's shop, the dog helped itself to a sausage and made a bee-line for home. Out came the butcher and addressing Tammas, asked:

"Is that your dog?" "It was my dog," replied Tammas, "but it's daen for itsel' noo." "Whustle it back, then," replied the butcher, "it's awa' wi' a sausage." "Whustle yer sausage back," replied Tammas.

THE BIGGEST DREAM

An Irishman, an Englishman and a Scotchman lost themselves in the mist on the hills. For the sake of safety they decided to shelter in a cave overnight, but as they had only a small drop left in the bottle they agreed to keep it till the morning and present it to the one who told the biggest dream. When morning dawned the Englishman said he dreamt he saw a turnip as big as the world. The Irishman went one better by stating he dreamt he saw a goblet to boil it in. "Now what did you dream?" they asked the Scotchman, who replied: "Oh—me! I dreamt I was thirsty and rose and emptied the bottle."

THE FALL OF MAN

The sermon had been about the Fall of Man. Two farmers met at the end of the service:

"Weel Tammas," asked Davit, "and what did ye think o' the sermon?"

Tammas replied: "Oh, the sermon was a' richt, but I was just thinkin' what a difference it wae had made to the history of the world if I'd been in Adam's place, ye see I dinna gie a hang for aipples."

I WAD TAK IT

Which reminds me of another story. A drunk man seated in a tramcar, opposite a lady, rather annoyed her by his constant attentions in the way of a smile, a nod of the head, and a "Hu! Hu!" Losing patience, she at length questioned him with:

"Are you married?"

"I am that!" he replied.

"Do you know what I would do with you if you were my husband?"

"No!" he admitted, "what wad you dae?"

"I'd give you a dose of poison!"

"Wad ye tho'," he continued, "and do you know what I wad dae if you were my—my wife?"

"No!" she replied. But she was totally unprepared for the rejoinder.

"I wad take it!"

Professor Pickering has discovered a heavenly body, far off beyond the planet Pluto, but coming this way, and has named it for the time being "P." Cheer up. It may be prosperity.

"Better pass up Plunkville, stranger. Everything there is dull."

"Good. I'm a scissor-grinder."

Another thing mighty nice about old Dobbin was that his value didn't depreciate but about 25 per cent after he'd been driven three months.

"I hear you dropped some money on the Stock Exchange. What were you, a bull or a bear?"

"Neither. Just an ass."

Judge: "Well, what's your alibi for speeding 60 miles an hour through the residence section?"

Victim: "I had just heard, your honor, that the ladies of my wife's church were giving a rummage sale, and I was hurrying home to save my other pair of pants."

A storekeeper surprised his customers by suddenly decorating his window with a gorgeous new blind.

"Nice blind of yours, Sandy," said his neighbor.

"Yes."

"Who paid for it, Sandy."

"The customers paid."

"What! The customers paid for it?"

"Yes, Andy. I put a little box on my counter, 'For the Blind,' and they paid for it."

A warehouse fire which threatened to destroy several million bushels of Kansas wheat was extinguished before it could do much good.—Life.

"Oh, John!" screamed the excited woman driver, "the car is running away."

"Can't you stop it?" asked the worried husband.

"No."

"Well, then, see if you can't hit something cheap."

"That man wants me to lend him some money. Do you know anything about him?"

"Why I know him as well as I know you. Don't lend him a berry, old man."

Little Ethel: "Mother, are you the nearest relative I've got?"

Her Mother: "Yes, dear, and your father is the closest."

Mary Crutcher: "Your steak is like the weather this evening, rather raw."

Landlady: "Indeed. And your board bill is like the weather, too. Unsettled."

Miss Taylor: "The husband ought to have a voice in the furnishing and decorating of the home."

Esther Webb: "Oh, but he does—the invoice."

"Depression," says our economics text, "serves as a breathing spell for business." "Yes, and some of us think the spell will bring us our last breath."

Mr. Gluck: "Your daughter in college ordered these photographs from me."

Mrs. Pickel: "Ah, yes. Well, well, they certainly look like her. Has Kathleen paid for them?"

Mr. Gluck: "No, ma'am, she has not."

Mrs. Pickel: "Hum-m-m. Still more like her."

HOORAY FOR THE COLLEGE LAUNDRY!

Honor the light brigade.
Oh! What a charge they made.
Ten dollars and twenty cents!

Mrs. Bailey has asked that the following notice be posted on all dormitory bulletin boards:

"Any student desiring to attend the funeral of a relative must sign out in the Brackenridge office before 4:00 P. M. on the day preceding the game."

Several drummers were seated in the smoking compartment of the train. They were bemoaning the generally demoralized condition of business as they found it. Finally they turned to the quiet little man in the corner.

"And how do you find things, brother?"

"Never better since I've been on the road."

"For the love of Pete, and what's your line, may we ask?"

"Selling red ink."

The discovery of America cost about $7,000. Considering that as its par value, Queen Isabella should have allowed a little for depreciation.

It's true, of course, that love makes the world go around, but, unfortunately, it doesn't have the same effect on a $20 salary.

Jones (purchasing a new overcoat): "But I can't wear this. It's three sizes too big."

Mrs. Jones: "Remember, dear, it has to go over the radiator of the car in cold weather. That's what we have to consider first."

D. D.: "You complain of my charge for shaving, sir, but you must think of the extra labor."

Prof. Jackson: "What extra labor?"

D. D.: "Well, with the general trade depression, and the universal tightness of money, men's faces are longer."

A live-wire salesman rushed up to the home of a doctor in a small village about 3 a. m. and asked him to come at once to a distant town. The doctor cranked his flivver and they drove furiously to their destination.

Upon their arrival the salesman asked, "How much is your fee doctor?"

"Three dollars," said the physician in surprise.

"Here you are," said the salesman, handing over the money. "The blamed garage keeper wanted $15 to drive me over when I missed my train."

An illusionist performing in a Northern town put a woman into a box in which there was no apparent outlet, and shut the lid. When he opened it again there was nothing inside but a couple of rabbits. After the performance a Scotchman went to the illusionist and asked him if he could perform the same trick if his (the Scotchman's) wife were to get in the box.

"Why, yes," answered the illusionist. "But are you anxious to get rid of your wife?"

"Weel," answered the Scot, "it's no sae much that, but wee Wullie got me tae promise him twa rabbits for his birthday!"

PATIENT RESEARCH

A party of tourists were enjoying the wonders of the Grand Canyon.

A native passing by was asked by the driver of the car:

"I say, neighbor, can you tell us what caused this terrible gorge?"

"Well, they say a Scotchman once owned a ranch near here, and one day he lost a golf ball down a gopher hole."

Scotchman (struggling in the water): "Help! Help!"

Man Ashore: "Shall I throw you a life preserver?"

Scotchman: "Hell, noo. Get a derrick. My rowboat nearly sank, and if you dinna hurry, I'll ha' to let goo o' the anchor."

Nearly half the people in Scotland live in one and two room houses (which is certainly tight quarters).

Sandy (noting price tag on antlers in window): "Hoot, Mon! Them's awfa' dear."

Bystander: "Wotcha think they was offa, a giraffe?"

A THANK YOU

to Sir Harry Lauder for his selection of the beauties and for his kindness to the DAEDALIAN staff. May he, who has made more people laugh than any other man in the world, continue to march, singing his song, "Keep Right On to the End of the Road."

*Yours sincerely
Harry Lauder
1933*

"The man must be Scotch! An admirer asked Sir Harry Lauder to tell his favorite story on his countrymen when he arrived today on his latest 'farewell tour.' 'I'll tell tha' in my show,' countered Sir Harry. 'Ye'll ha' to buy a ticket!'"
—Fort Worth Press, Jan. 12.

Anxious mother (whose son has just been saved from drowning): "Are ye the man who saved our Angus? Where's his bonnet?"

—From "Wee Drappies"

by SIR HARRY LAUDER.

THE GOOD OLD TIMES

THEN:

"Everybody worked hard; they saved their money and bought homes; they had big families, went to church, chewed tobacco, and voted. If they went any place at all, they walked or drove a horse. They took in "Uncle Tom's Cabin" once a year, ate ice cream at the Sunday School picnic. Beer was a nickel a glass, and the butcher gave away the liver.

"There was an ingrain carpet on the parlor floor and a hanging lamp with a red glass shade. Men wore long trousers and a boy wore short pants, and a wood stove made red flannel underwear and feather beds popular. If a man wanted to take a drink, he took it and wasn't a criminal. They never saw a policeman, and they didn't know there was a sheriff. They didn't have to have a license to do anything. If they got sick (which was seldom) they either died or got well and it didn't cost ten or twelve hundred dollars either way, but generally they lived to a ripe old age and died at home with some of the children around who didn't expect the county to take care of the old folks."

NOW:

"Few work, none save, some go to church, about half vote, and if you don't drink, you are a social outcast. The unfortunate have large families and the children are orphans from birth. If they all grow up, they stay out late, and nobody understands them. Women paint, smoke, drink, cuss, drive cars and fly. If they break a leg, they stay at home a while where they would starve to death if they lost the can opener.

"Everything is licensed, taxed, inspected, or prohibited. We have high taxes, Volstead, racketeers, farm relief, athlete's foot, crooners, and everybody owes the finance corporation."

Dumb Freshman: "I desire no remuneration for this poem. I merely submit it as a compliment."

Editor Jouvenat: "Then kindly allow me to return the compliment."

HIGHER MATHEMATICS

"What will the girl of eighteen be in ten years' time?" asked the reformer. Twenty-one!

Margaret Hughston: "We're having a three-piece orchestra for the dance at the Lodge tonight."

Bertha Kain: "Three-piece?"

M. H.: "Yes, piano, player, and stool."

THE MASCULINE CREDO II

That if a man refuses to change his mind, it shows determination.

That if a woman refuses to change her mind she is stubborn and pig-headed.

That a woman cannot drive a car because she is too nervous and frail.

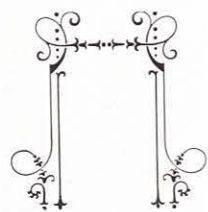

That women are meant only to be wives, and that men know life and are the ones to make decisions.

That women get better marks in college because they exercise their feminine wiles on the instructors.

That women have no sense of humor.

SEVEN AGES

1. Kindergarten pupil—wonders what it's all about.
2. Grade school pupil—doesn't care so long as it lasts.
3. High school freshman—must be worth while.
4. High school senior—sure the world waits for him.
5. College sophomore—knows it's all about him.
6. College senior—still sure the world depends on him.
7. College graduate—wonders what it's all about.

PURE WATER

Full certification of Denton water
by the United States Health Department means that the water is approved from a mineral as well as a bacteriological standpoint. Few cities in Texas have full certification of water, and Denton is extremely proud of its water supply.

Municipal ownership of the water and light plant enables Denton to have more street lights than other cities not owning these utilities.
Oakland Avenue, along the west side of C. I. A., is one of the best lighted streets in Texas. Extremely low rates are charged for these services.

"AROUND THE CORNER —

AND UNDER A TREE
THERE LIVED THE MAIDEN, PROSPERITEE!"

Ah, yes, and that was a nice story, but we never saw the maiden. Either she wasn't in, or she had one of those headaches. Moreover, living there among all those Unpaid Bills, and with that accursed shadow of ours, Depression, always upon our heels, we are forbidden to write, "and they lived happily ever after." Here we are; we have reached the end, and Prosperitee, that lovely maiden, is still unknown to us.

But things are looking up, and, although we are not a partisan publication, we are still hoping, "that President Roosevelt's middle name will bring us luck and that Prosperitee will Delano longer in turning our corner."

THE END
