

FORFWORD If, between the covers of this, the 1921 ~ Davdalian, you should chance to find a grain of campus dust~an atom that carries with it all the thrills, the weeps, the yells and laughter of your Alma Mater, a reminder that brings more freshly to your memory the incidents of one of the never-to-be-forgotten years you spent in College then we shall feel that we have compiled enough of reminiscence to warrant this volume's taking its place with the other three, to complete your record of College life.

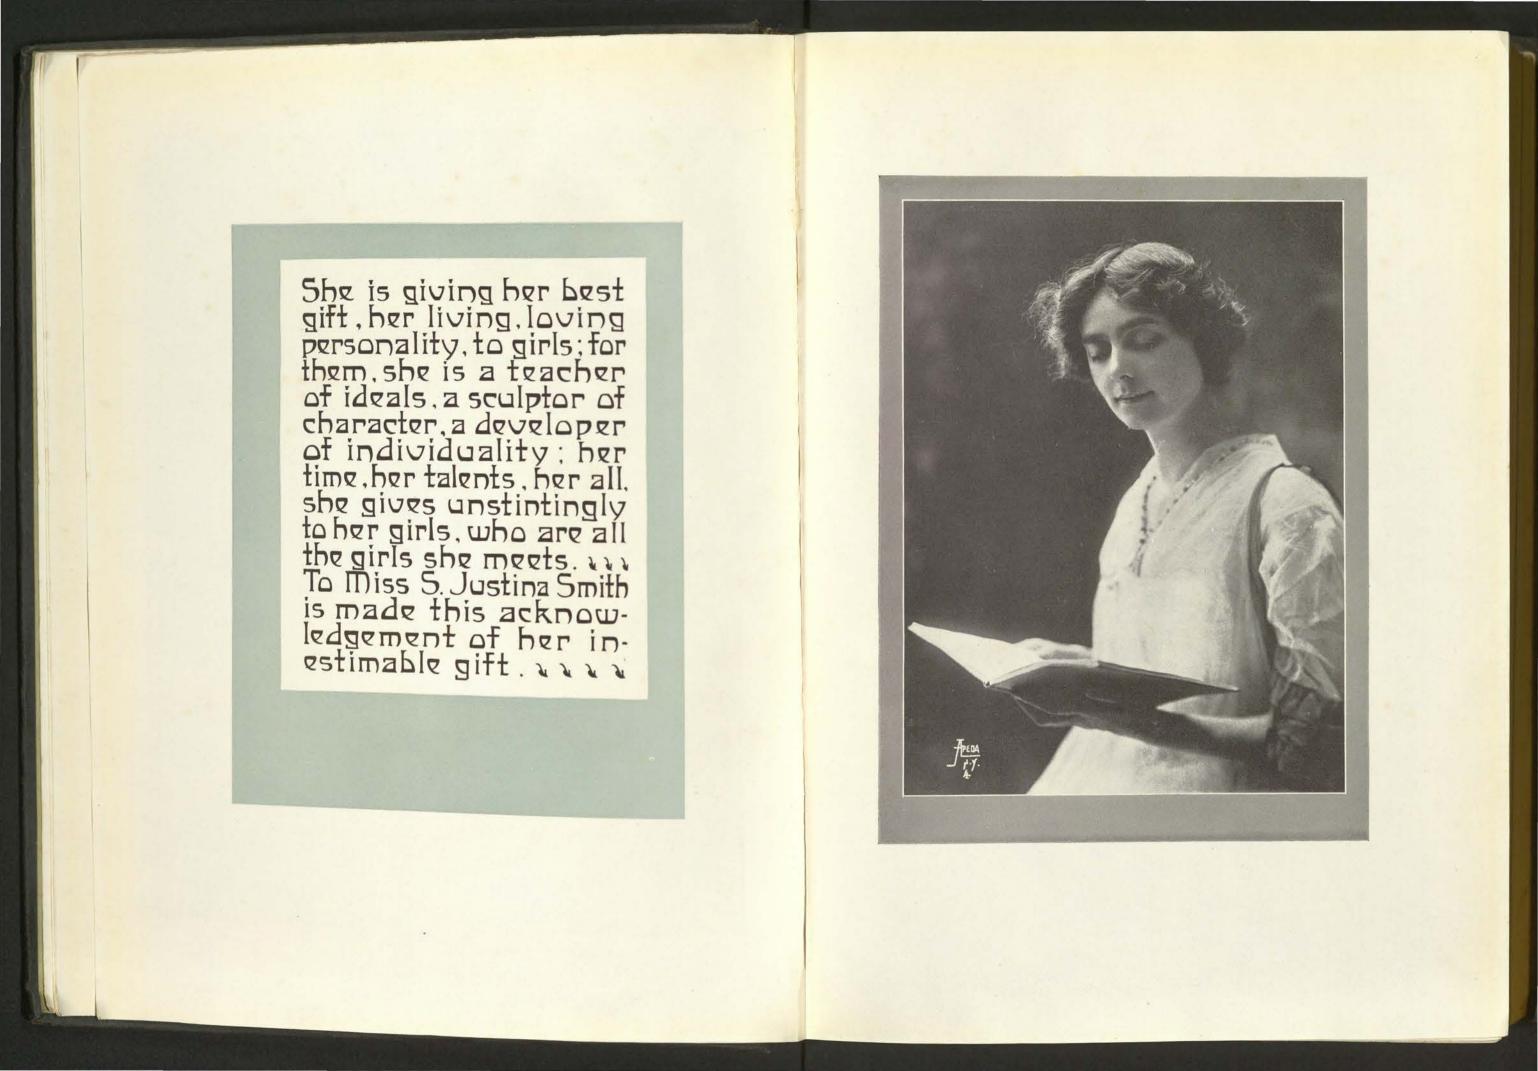

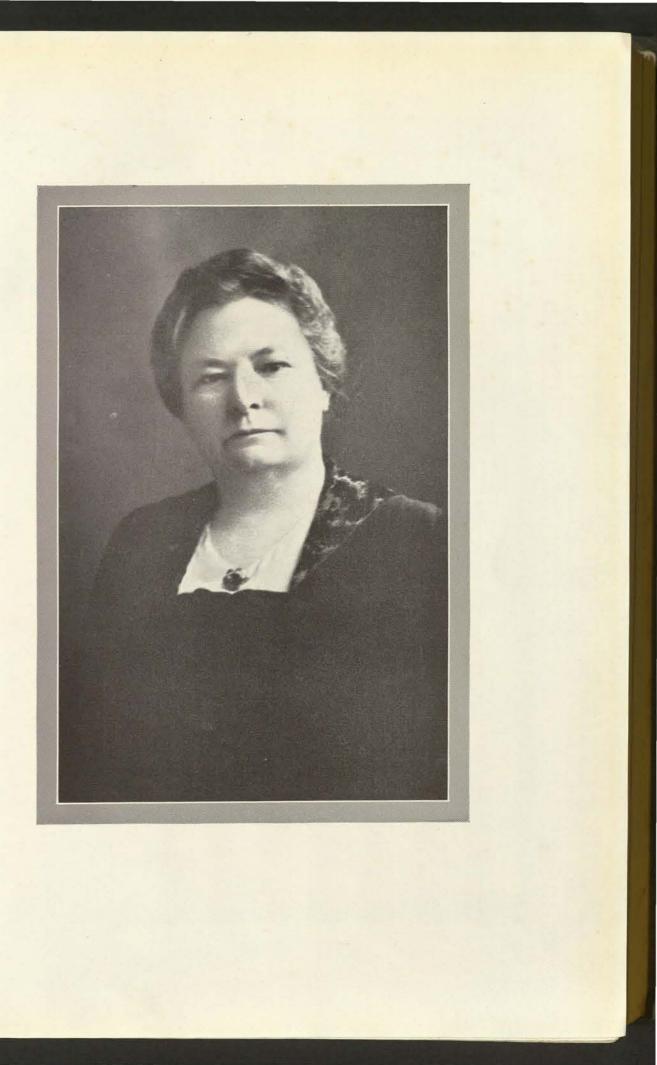

DEDICATION

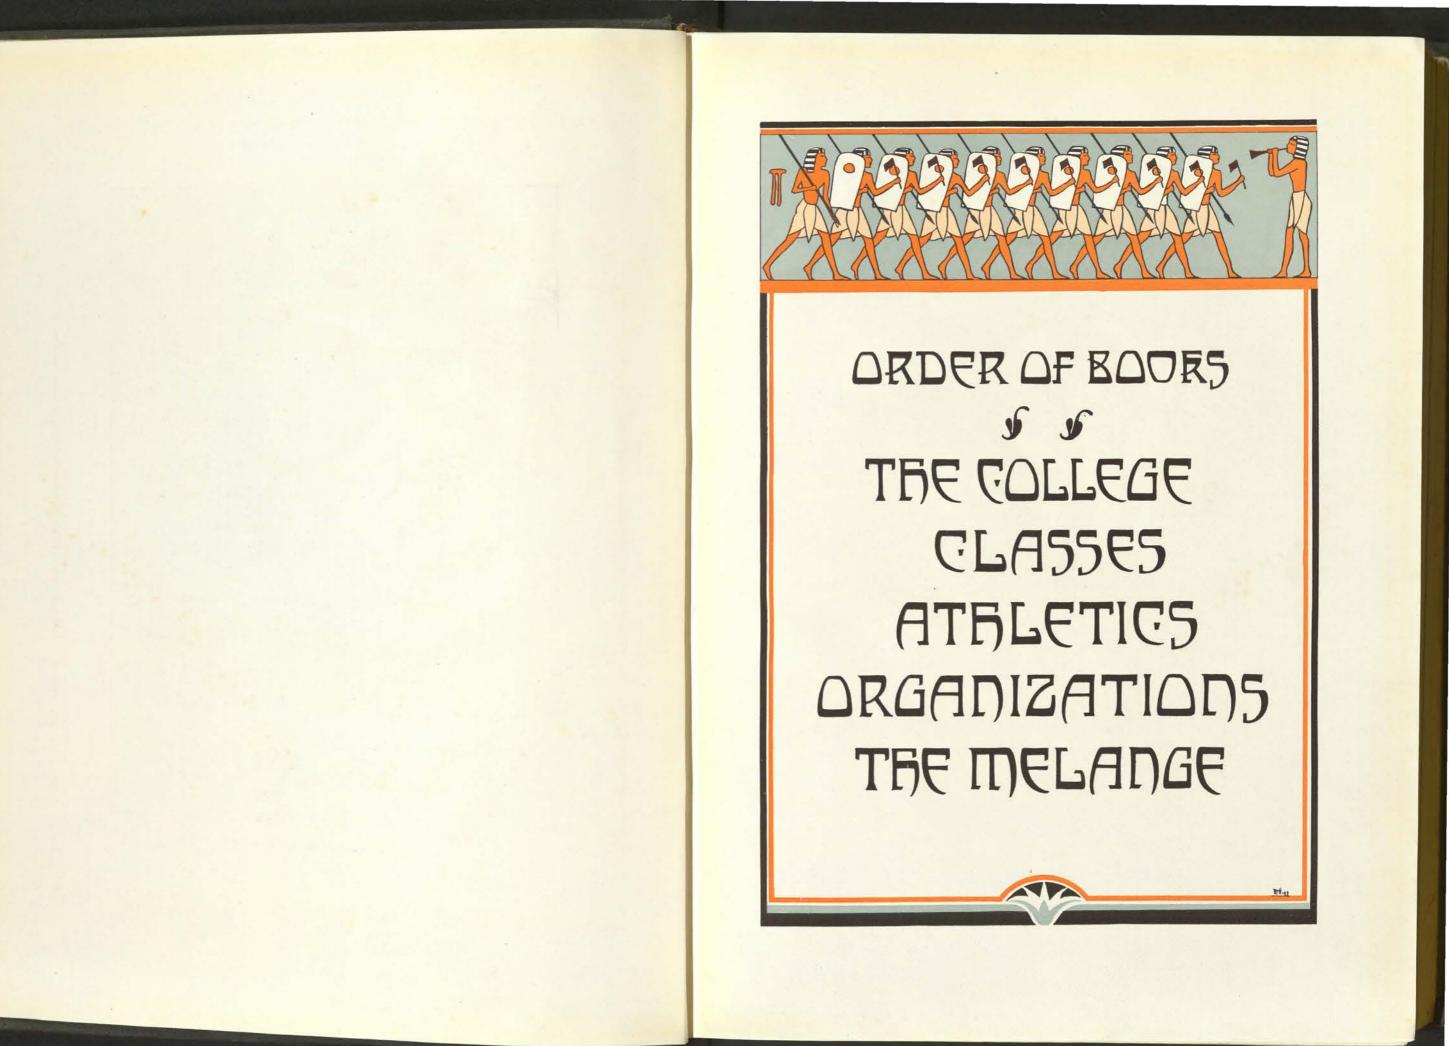

She has given herself wholly to the uplift of others, always pre-serving a gentle kindliness and an undying faith in humanity; she has advanced the cause of

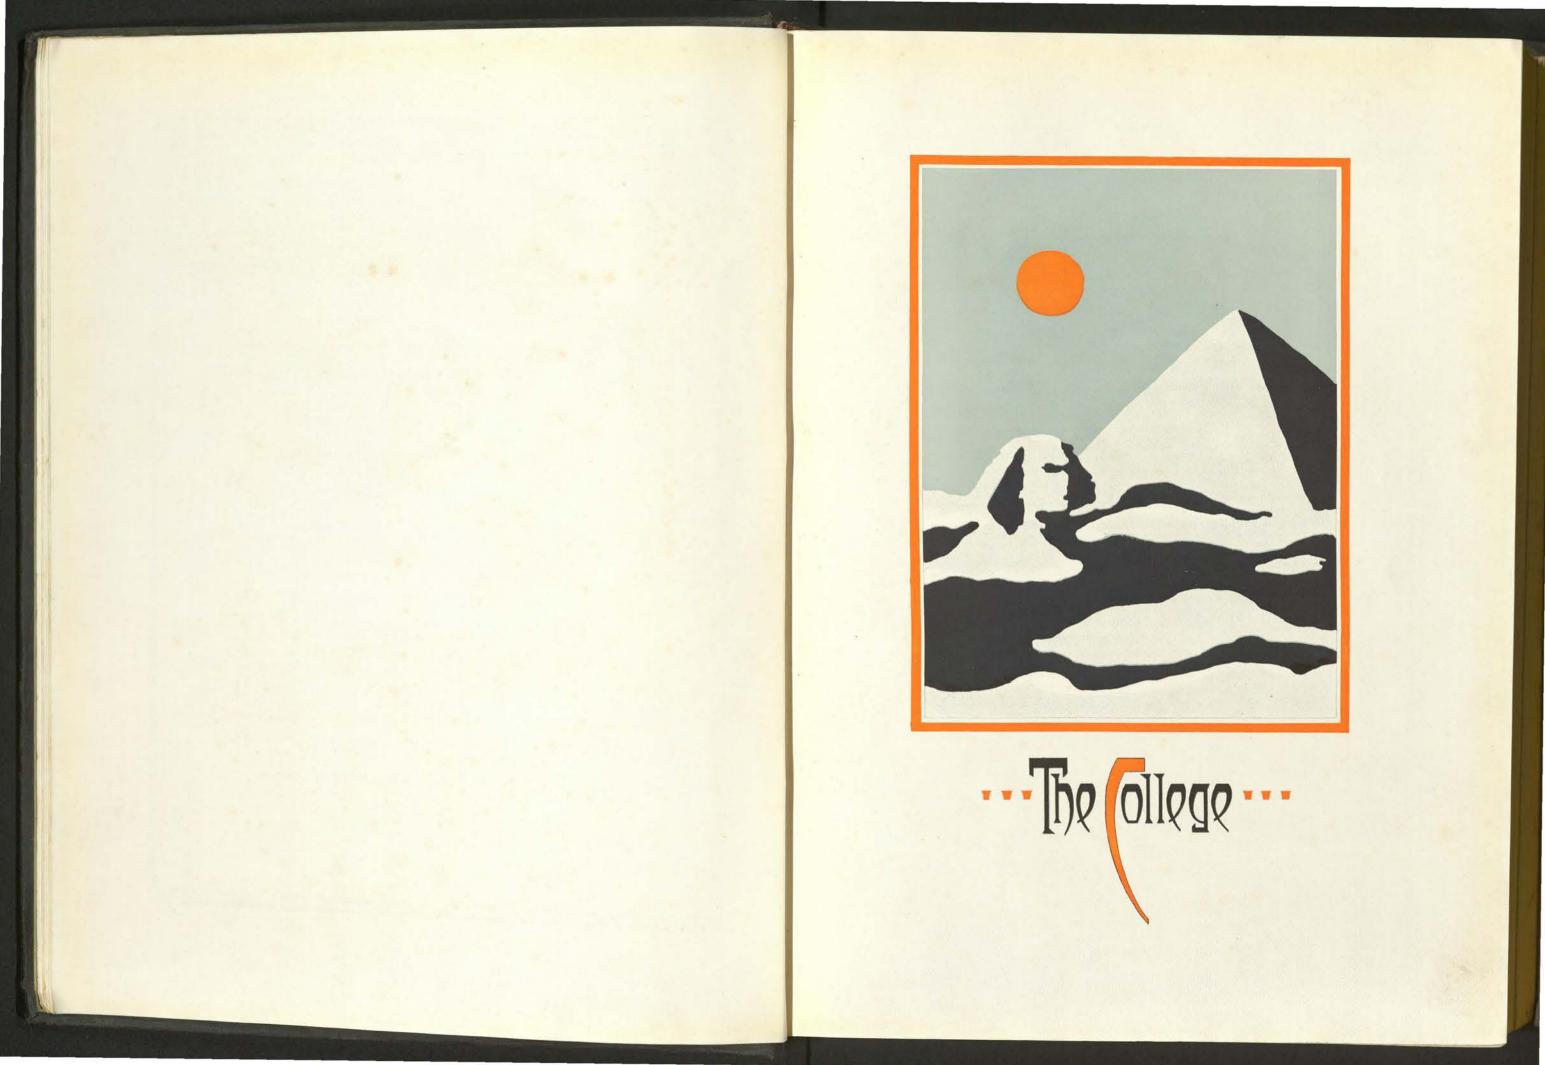

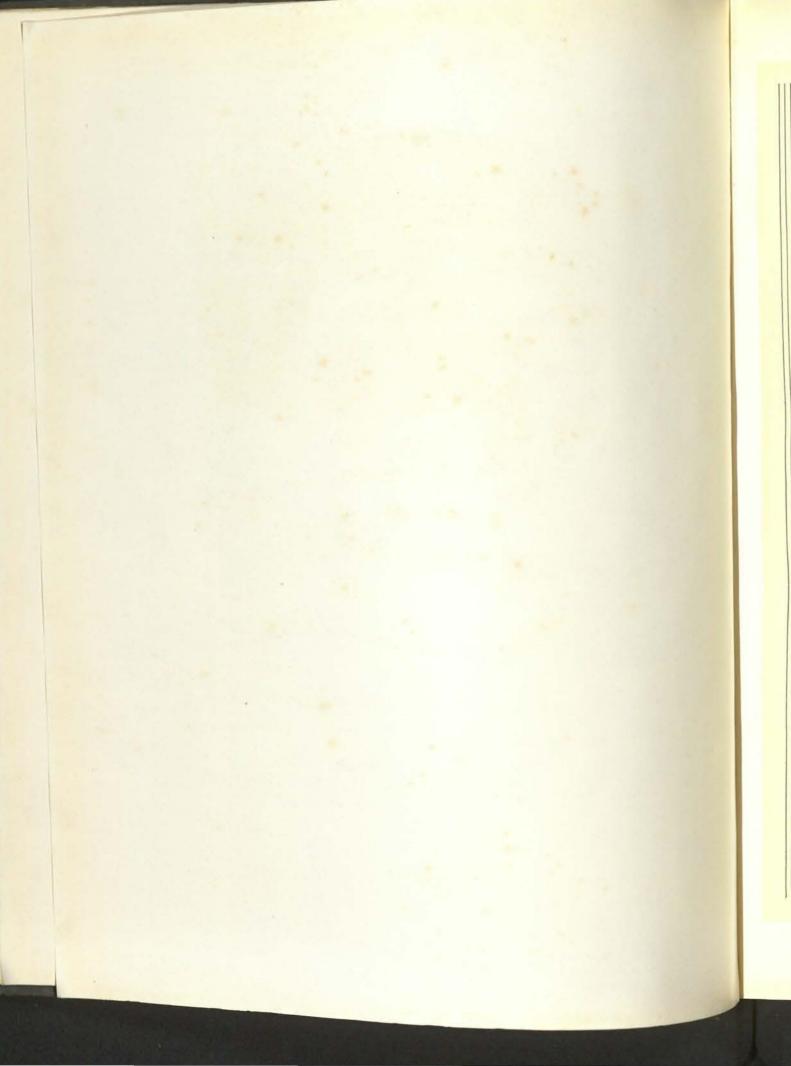

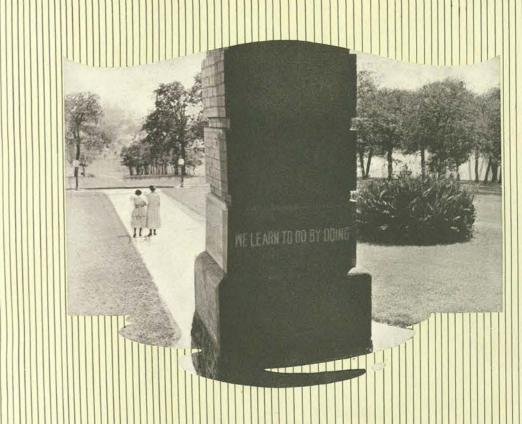

To one whose presence creates order and cheerfulness, whose genial, unfailing smiles are ready for all alike, whose genuine understanding of the others of the human family never fails to raise the ideals of those around her, to this loved Scotswoman, whose unique personality will always stand out in the memory of her friends, to Miss Marian F. Long do we offer our sincerest appreciation and love.

The Passing of the Class of '21

IE BANKS of ferns and flowers, quiet rustlings of our mothers' and aunties' new summer frocks, strange, frequent whiffs of cigar smoke, that are mute testimony to the presence of our fathers; in our consciousness, a jumble of crowded house, and the unwonted dishevelment in our rooms, where corded trunks divide honors with new spring suits; a mixture of faces, familiar, yet unusual in the old auditorium that we know, in our sort of dazed, detached way, will soon be made into eight classrooms and laboratories; and then we hear the sound of someone speaking —oh, yes; that is our Commencement address.

Without, a summer morning; sunshine; some bird sings fitfully, breaking the June stillness; again, someone speaks, and this time we hear Mr. Lowry begin calling the names—half through the A's—he is coming to us! There is a rustle as the procession starts; a burst of applause greets each black-gowned senior, as she makes her way across the thirty feet of platform that divide school from The World. Can these girls, who bow as they receive the significant white roll from the hand waiting to give it to them, be the same ones we remember, back in the fall of 1917, when we first looked around at the rest of that class of seventy-five, in Mr. Turrentine's education room? Surely we did not sit across the aisle in the balcony from that capable person who is even now receiving her ovation from the audience! And still, we have some sort of hazy dream about standing in line at Miss Perlitz's office between those two self-sufficient young women who have just gone by.

And we don't have to matriculate again. With a start, we realize it; no more coming back in September; no more staying home just one more day at Christmas; no one to check our empty chapel seat—we don't have a seat!

Yes, it is all over; the Class of '21 has run its four years, and is gone.

TIS said that GENIUS deviates between THE HIGHEST heights and the DEEPEST depths, MAME is proof of MAMES is proof of IT. SHE is the feminine COUNTERPART of the JEKYLL-HYDE duality; SEE her with FEVER blisters, and SHE's the DEMONIAC Edgar-Allan-POE. AGONIZINGLY forlorn, OVERWORKED Senior PRESIDENT, and the VICTIM of PRACTICE Teaching. AGAIN ECSTASY seethes; the ERSTWHILE Rocky MOUNTAIN COIFFURE yields to a SOFTLY natural wave; CERAMIC vestiges are ABOLISHED, slipper bows WIDENED, and Somebody's FIANCEE EFFER VESCES, dreams TWO-PASSENGER SUN-PARLORS and PAINTS the most WITCHING of GREEN WICH water COLORS.

NOT an only CHILD; just the little SISTER of two ADORING brothers and THE daughter of an AMERICAN consul who WRITES her every week. DR GRONERT says she LIKES her own way. WELL, she does, but OTHERS like that WAY of hers, too. NOT spoiled, but ONE of those RARTIES who has a VERTEBRAE with STARCH in it. On the STUDENTS' Council, BUT still she's not ALWAYS run over. DOESN'T she impress YoU as the IDEAL girl to reform a PREACHER'S son? Well, SHE'S at it. TO her the last word in EVERY THING is Miss HAMILTON. SHE'S not the "Teacher's PET" kind, though. AFTER a term of practice TEACHING, Doris has DECIDED that grocery BUSINESS is preforable: "IT's my daddy." TRADE for me!" she wails. ABSOLUTELY lost since ROOMY left her ALONE in the WORLD. In MINEOLA there's a MUCH neglected BUICK crying for her RETURN. SHE is one of those DAINTILY girlish GIRLS that we DREAM of often and SEE sometimes.

JUNE HARKRIDER President, Fall and Winter so many pictures on the wall. Most of them I recognized as my classmates of yesterday. Not a word was spoken-I saw the girls wince as the long knives pricked their time-worn chambrays, yet not a sound did they utter. They seemed resigned to their fate; they were fit only for experimental purposes.

Unable to contain my curiosity any longer, I ventured to ask one of the tall, important looking butchers the meaning of these barbarous acts. He calmly assured me that the operations, though quite painful, were not at all serious and that by the close of the year not a scar would remain. The girls were JUNIORS, better known as the Class of '22; they had accumulated excessive privileges and were now in the process of having them removed.

ND the little fairy waved her wand again. Then I, insignificant crystal gazer that I am, stood in awed silence. How different this picture was from all the others.

- TVVVVVVVVV

It was a room in the land of beginning again; across its entrance the words "Experimental Laboratory No. 22, College of Industrial Arts," glared at me in letters of red and blue. The fairy turned the knob and we entered together. On the inside there were numerous professors with their able assistants; but what were they doing? The little fairy moved closer and I held her hand more tightly in mine, as I realized the grimness of it all. There were girls dressed in blue chambrays, bound hand and foot, and strung like ORTUNATELY for C. I. A., it has a Sophomore Class—the class which, in her infancy, gave such promise of portending powers and brilliance that the entire faculty bowed in reverence before the shrine of knowledge, and the Class of '21 became her espoused comrade and help-meet.

So gently and courageously did the Class of '23 set out, unaided and alone, to prepare her trousseau of nile green Chemistry and blush pink English that the love of Mr. '21 grew out of all proportion, and in September he persuaded the fair lady that she was ready to embark upon the Sea of Matrimony. Accordingly, the nuptials took place October 2, 1920, amid the general rejoicing of friends and relatives. This fortunate union has been the exception, which proves the rule that "True love never runs smooth."

Encouraged by her auspicious beginning in the new life which she has taken up, Miss '23 has proved to the "catch of the season" that he has every reason to be proud of her as his life partner. In every field of activity which has presented itself, she has revealed her superiority. There are very few so fortunate as to possess the combined ability, talent and charm displayed by Mrs. '21, nee Miss Soph, '23, in every undertaking of the last two years. This fact, together with the great love she bears him, has made Mr. '21 the envied man of the campus.

The Evolution of Fanny Fish

ALICE JOHNSON President, First Term

Sept. 14. Diary Mine: My self-re-spect has been trodden upon; my dignity has been trampled and crushed beneath rampant pedagogical heels. I have been subjected to humiliation by these arrogant, supercilious and pedantic discipline-invested individuals whose appreciation of my erudition and Twentieth Century enlightenment has been indicated by no other signs than glances of annihilation and abjurgation.

Oct. 2: Can you imagine the Spartan youth who silently, heroically and stoically endured the pangs of the wolf at his breast? Can you imagine Joan of Arc in her sublime heroism, unflinchingly watching the devouring flames about her feet? Imagine, if you can, but before your emotions are exhausted, Diary Mine, reserve a portion of your compassion for me.

Dec. 5. Diary Mine: I have pondered over the theory maintained by my fellow-classmen that the august pedagogues are individually possessed of human attributes and vulnerabilities. They further maintain that ingenious and tactful overtures may successfuly surmount the austere barriers and reveal these accessibilities. It is my firm and unaltered conviction that I, too, should diplomatically resort to these superficial subterfuges.

April 16. Today, D. M., must always be a red-letter day in my calendar. A Senior, out of the profound depths of her generous heart, allowed me to manicure her fingernails for the banquet!

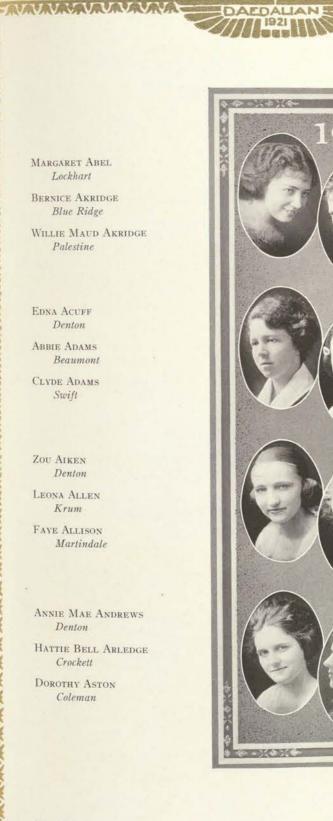

June 4. D. M .: The gamut of my animosity for my fellow-classmen and pedagogues has long been spent. Exams are receding into the dim and distant past, and I, Fanny Fish, am a Sophomore!

MARY LOU MCCULLUM President

Why is a Prep?

HE EXISTENCE of Preps in C. I. A. is explained by reasons various, sundry and amusing.

Perhaps she arrives at our Hon. College with full Frosh expectations, and all characteristic verdant greenness, but after talking it over with the Dean, she decides to postpone her Freshman career for three hundred and sixty-five days or so.

Usually the main reason a Prep is, is because she is premature enough to be able to persuade her dad and mother to let her come to C. I. A. before finishing high school.

Sallie Shoestring, her old pal in ante-date days, has just returned from a "bo'ding school up no'th," with a vocabulary in which the r's are conspicuously absent. That blase "How do you do," accompanied by a high nose, lingerie clasp expression, is extremely effective. Our gonna-be Prep Studebakers home with vaguely formulated plans to go off to school and come back doing likewise. So she comes to C. I. A. (But let us hope she does not go back "doing likewise.")

By an almost unanimous vote of the students of the College, membership in the Athletic Association was this year made automatically a part of the registration as a student; a blanket tax, paid at the time of matriculation, gave every girl membership in the Association and a year's ticket to all the games and contests held under its auspices.

GOODRICH Running Center

General dispenser of cheer, encouragement, advice and orders mixed with what gossip can be obtained concerning the strength, et cetera, of the opposing team. The Captain, large of heart. Is going to hit the trail for Grand Opera, hoping not to land in vaudeville. The modern St. Cecelia!

HEACOCK Guard

LEE Forward

Is Thelma's understudy in longness. Almost reaches the height of the former. Official giggler and appreciator of Helen's wit. "Watch the animal feed" is Anne's slogan, in and out of training. Kept in the straight and narrow way only by the will power of her side partner. She hasn't ceased to grieve over the untaken Abilene trip.

Jumping Center

Mary comes to C. I. A. from Sweetbriar's team. "Oh, 'doncha know!' has bridged many crises. She hopes she looks as well in uniform as out. Can't understand the necessity for train-ing. Some people can play, and some can't, is her argument— and she is one of the ones "as can."

OL OF DAEDALIAN COM MAN

LIPSCOMB Jumping Center

The longest center in captivity. She exudes good will and friendship toward everyone in speaking distance—especially toward upper-classmen. However, she condescends to be a Fish, since such a state is a stepping stone to future greatness. Thinks often of the glory she and two other "finnish reelers', brought her class by making Varsity.

Rising at five a. m., even for a basketball trip, affects Wilma strangely. She doesn't know where she's going, but she guesses at Dallas. Can testify to the fact that there will be "a star in your crown" if you happen to be playing in C. I. A.'s auld Gym "when at evening the sun goeth down." One of the faithfuls, who missed the sunset during the entire basketball season.

Elizabeth is one of our "big" girls. She does more play-ing than talking, but, though she talks little, she makes her presence felt. She has never been known to exercise the power to any great extent, but her co-stars in balldom suspect a great deal of latent talent for "squelching" people.

POLLOCK Guard

The appellation "Little One" carries with it the suggestion of swiftness and agility. Such is the case with Marion; her agility has won for her the rep of assuming the most unique posi-tions of anyone on the floor. Handsprings, toe-stands, back-slides, follow each other in rapid succession, but Marion always emerges and regains her normal position of the man with the ball.

JESSIE MCELRATH Editor, Alumnae Review

The Alumnae Association

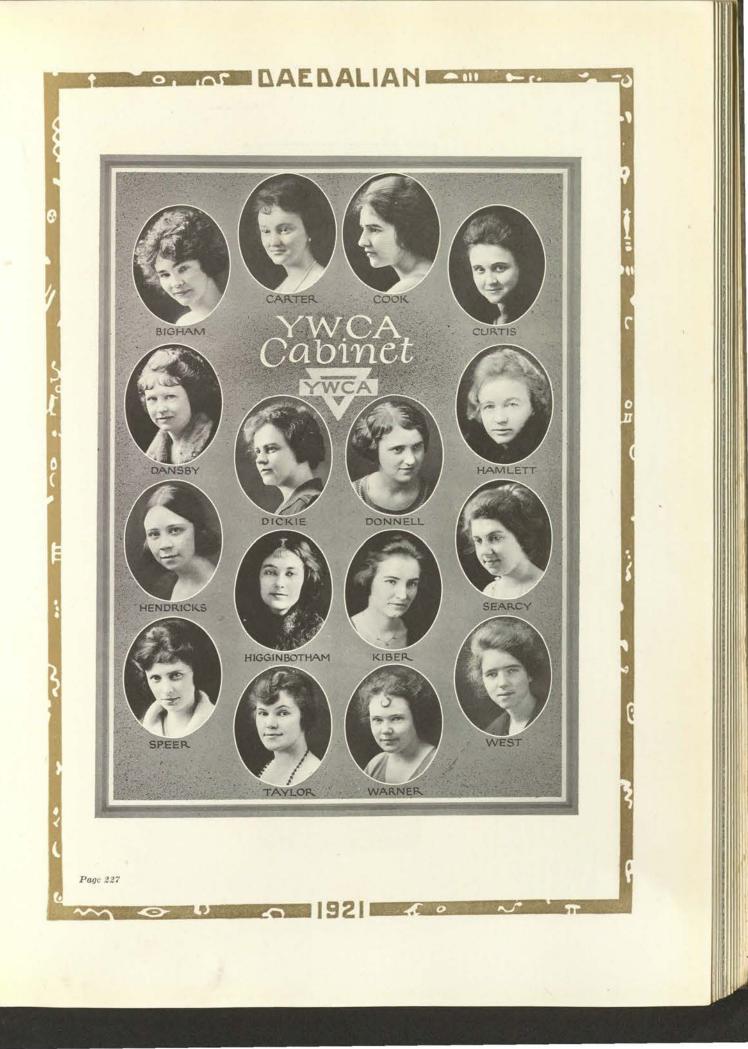

OF DAEDALIAN POR

The Alumnae Association of the College has been, since it was organized in June, 1905, an active, loyal factor in furthering the interests of the College. Since the founding of the College in 1903 approximately twelve thousand students have been in attendance, of which more than twelve hundred are graduates. The number will be increased to something like fifteen hundred at the close of this summer's commencement exercises.

Two business meetings are held yearly: one during the spring commencement exercises, at which officers for the ensuing year are elected, and on which occasion the annual banquet is held; the second at the meeting of the Texas State Teachers' Association, at which time a luncheon is given for the alumnae and their guests. The publication of a quarterly magazine, started in 1918, containing news of the graduates, their work and activities, and of the general progress of the College, has had no small part in preserving the unity of the organization.

DAEDALIAN -

MRS. WILLIE BIGHAM Sales Manager, 1921.

THE STUDENT LOAN SALE.

Provisions for an annual student sale, to be held each year during the week succeeding Thanksgiving, was made at the close of 1919, in the form of an amendment to the constitution of the Students' Association.

Myrtle Dickie, '21, was elected Sales Manager for 1920. Proceeds from the sale of that year amounted to $875, exclusive of expenses.

Mrs. Willie Bigham was elected Manager for 1921; net profits for the second year totaled $935.

This fund, increased by the annual sale, is available in the form of loans without interest, to students of the College in need of financial assistance.

The Athenaeum Club is one of the two honor clubs in the College. Membership in it means the recognition by her fellow students, of a girl's superior scholarship, and commendable application.

Organized in 1917, the Club has ever since endeavored to promote culture in all its forms; regular study courses are pursued throughout the year, and educational programs alternate with social good times.

THE MARY ELEANOR BRACKENRIDGE CLUB

Fifteen years ago the Sophomores organized a literary society that was the beginning of the big, live Mary Eleanor Brackenridge Club, which is federated with the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs. In accordance with the desires of the beloved sponsor, Miss Brackenridge, the Club moulds its policies along the lines of usefulness. A permanently established loan helps several deserving students each year; the adoption, by individual club members, of little orphan children in a Waco home, brightens the Christmas for both giver and recipient; the beneficial study course for each year spurs every member to a wider sphere of social activity.

The Chaparral Literary Club

The "Chaps" compose the oldest club in the College, for it was organized in 1904, just one year after the founding of the College of Industrial Arts. It is a federated club, and each year has sent a delegate to the state convention. A serious purpose directs the activities of the club into worth-while channels; a study course is nominated and pursued throughout the year at the regular meetings. Chaps are noted for the good times they enjoy, chief among which is the annual dance.

HISTORY OF THE AGLAIAN CLUB The call for volunteers to form a new club was made by Sue Nelson, and eighteen willing and hopeful M. E. B.'s decided to give up active membership in the club they loved to become honorary members, and to be charter members of the new club. It was finally arranged after several weeks of discussion, and the club is proud to own Aglaian as its brilliant title.

The 1921 Daedalian

The 1921 Daedalian is Volume Twelve of the yearbook series, which was inaugurated in 1906, under the title of Chaparral. After the second volume published in 1907, the annual was discontinued, to be reinstated as the Daedalian in 1911. The numbers have appeared consecutively each spring since that time.

Sept. 14-Many Fish and Emma arrive in Denton. Emma takes them all under her wing. The climate becomes humid by noon. Miss Perlitz and Miss Hefley endeavor to house the "young ladies." One girl, coming up the drive, wishes to know "which of the buildings is C. I. A.?"

Sept. 15-Emma meets all trains, shades and complexions Wednesday. A few old students arrive in the afternoon. Discover the station has been painted a screaming orange. Big sisters begin to look around for marks of identification, as promised in letters. Emma enlists a corps of assistants. More Fish arrive. Girls begin to demand trunks. Forty-three girls request to change roommates. Nineteen freshmen decide to go home to mother, boo-hoo! Fish buy pennants at Little Store. Some purchase M. E. B. stationery and write home. Mr. Mac sells some memory books.

Sept. 16-Old students arrive. Exchange mutual compliments on slimness. Violent greetings take place. Fish still standing in line. In library, faculty hair nets begin to show age. Many old students matriculate after noon. Many more arrive on four o'clock train, and try. Spaghetti and tomatoes for supper, as usual; all old studes feel at home. (Shades of Hominy!) Dr. Ellison dreams he is trying to make Pullman reservations for twenty-five girls for a sixteen-day trip.

Sept. 17-Classes begin; chambrays appear. 1921 Seniors wear their new uniform.

LD studes look with patient horror on Fish not in uniform. Juniors and Seniors discover Government 230. We have a new elevator boy (too young to be interesting; girls are allowed to ride with him unchaperoned). Old girls go to classes; new ones do their best. Miss Mac wages war on the comma splice; Mr. Whitmore enters into his five-times-a-week Chem without the aid of a catalytic agent. Lass-O office shows harrassed editor; Mr. Baldwin wishes half the copy not later than yesterday noon and the other half last night at six. Editor desires Hammer Hits; decides to publish a list of the faculty instead. First College Assembly is held. Dr. Bralley states that the C. I. A. is the third largest women's college in the U.S., and perhaps in the world. Maude Holt applies for Bible at Sept. 18-Saturday: Second College Assembly; Fish begin to wonder if Mr. Shultz is engaged. Lass-O is distributed. Board of Regents present; Miss Brackenridge speaks to the students. A Fish applies to do practice teaching, after hearing Miss Smith's announcement. Annual Y. W. party features men. Girls simply eat them up! They are nuts! 1200 bottles of "pop" imbibed at the picture show.

the Bookroom.

Sept. 19-A portion of the contents of Blue Serge Hill hie themselves away to church to create a good impression. Mr. Donoho prepares to organize a large class. Old studes warily try to enter co-ed S. S. classes. Back-seat acquaintances with Methodist ushers renewed. Quiet hour is experienced. Paper bags ensue in the natural order of things.

Sept. 20-First Mass Meeting is held. Emma speaks words of cheer to the teary ones; Maude Holt tells graphic freshmen experiences of prune diets and mailing her letters in the trash can. Some Fish think her hair is red. Myrtle Dickie speaks wisely of the folly of extravagance in the young. Other old students contribute words of warning. Jack Briscoe leads yells with characteristic vigor.

Sept. 21-Things get to going; Little Store bills growing. Dr. Gronert's bulletin board shows illuminated manuscripts.

Sept. 23-Studes caper joyfully about Prexy's house and indulge in songs andyells.

HE unbelievable: a car ride is arranged, sanctioned, and even materializes! Punch flows freely at the Baptist Church, while the Methodist lawn is the scene of generously dispensed ice cream. (Most students proselyte.)

Thirteen hundred girls attempt to occupy the same twenty square feet south of the Ad Building, where the Denton Band compliments them with a concert. Lessons in tickle-toe are gleaned from two talented youngsters. Long quivers of shoulders and profound, shivery reminiscences are provoked by "When My Baby Smiles at Me."

Sept. 27—Press Club wisely decides to enjoy picture show party before initiating new members; eight Seniors go forth, stiffly starched.

Sept. 28—Myrtle discovers that she has lost two of the juiciest of Vic's late epistolary creations. She adopts the posture of the hero in DeMauppasant's The String. Visits Miss Hefley in order to pave the way; cautiously quotes a few paraphrased sentences, carefully peeling off the sugar coating.

Sept. 29—Miss Hefley starts off the Fish in the way they should go, with a meeting. Dormitory girls enjoy a house meeting. Cops are nominated. Some girls "dem."

Sept. 30—Mr. W. C. Edwards of the Denton Record-Chronicle tells of possibilities for women in newspaper work. Linotype laboratory course needed at the College.

Oct. 1—Dr. Bralley states that he is proud of every girl in the College. Eugenia takes some kodak pictures for the annual. Some Fish decide to take athletic dancing.

One stude—"And Sis Hopkins is coming." Fish E. M.—"Who is she?" O. S.—Laughter. Fish E. M.—(Indignantly)—"Well, I've heard of her!"

Oct. 2—Wedding of Miss Soph, '23, and Mr. Senior, '21. Orchestra plays "Believe Me, if All Those Endearing Young Charms." Marian Thomson exhibits her manly tendencies as grocm and Dana Fairchild looks the blushing bride—that forgot to blush. (Scandal! They have been rooming together a month before the wedding!)

Oct. 5—Juniors observe the day in honor of Fish. Junior President formally renounces such frivolities as privileges, ring, etc., since the Faculty Council has already done so. Co-operative Juniors!

Oct. 6-Mr. Walther's smile broadens; they name her "Mary Louise."

Oct. 7—The haunting suggestion of honah bahs is again introduced by Mr. King. The ornaments are still shrouded in mystery. Dr. Bralley announces the Fair prospect for Oct. 16.

Oct. 9—Rev. Mr. Conant of Chicago speaks in College Assembly, and his singer gives us a solo. Studes celebrate with a wienie roast in the evening. Mr. Turrentine and Dean White are culinary celebrities; Dr. Jessie Louise doles out marshmallows instead of uniform pills. Eugenia takes some pictures.

Oct. 11—Annual get-up-pep-for-the-Fair meeting held. Miss Massingale teaches "You're-rah-rah! C. I. A!" etc.

A 144 8

Oct. 13-Girls begin to fatten up; the "Great Hunger" asserts itself. Mattie Ruth arrives for a visit.

Oct. 14-Mr. Donoho announces the Fair special trains in a paternal tone born of long supervision; contends that we will get to Dallas if the train does.

Oct. 16-The gala day. It is marked early by the wakening of the lethargic stay-at-homes in what seems to them the stilly watches of the night by the six o'clock rising bell. It is marked still earlier by the tuneful pattering of potential Fair-ers' feet in hallways, by the muffled (too late) giggles and exclamations, by much taking down of rolled-up locks. (The Beauty Parlor-C. I. A. Chapter-just couldn't marcel all of us!) Much final dusting of street hats and camouflaging of smuggled attire; breakfast-a breathless mixture of oranges and bacon, pitying glances at those scattered chambrayed ones from the eyes of the possessors of inordinate starchedness of collar and combedness of hair. The stay-at-homes, just a little wistful now, are not permitted to nibble their toast and bacon-in company. They are hurried away by their exuberant companions to assist in last minute complexion rites, and then left! The freedom of the entire campus is theirs; desire is voiced at every dorm piano to be "carried back to Ole Virginny," there to indulge in picturesque agricultural callings but no supernatural power intervening, the left-behinds live through pine-apple salad and paper bags at Lowry and compose a committee of welcome at -? o'clock. And in Dallas, oh, boy! It's a good thing the Dallas Union has such large, roomy dressing rooms.

Oct. 17-Dem life begins to get strenuous. Eugenia takes some pictures of the future wives hard at it.

Dr. Bralley delivers annual chapel address on Artist Course etiquette.

Oct. 18-We get serenaded; very happy over it. Oct. 19-House meeting: lessons on the way young ladies receive such ovations.

A stopy without words.

THE GALA DAY We wore our hats, and didn't have to march!

Oct. 20-Merle Alcock brings dazzling evening dress and contralto voice to C. I. A. Ruth West and a few Fish collect autographs. Wonder why pianists are always bald?

Oct. 21-Miss Perlitz, the dearly-beloved, gives us all the slip and amalgamates herself to a husband. Miss Hefley explains how, why, and all the details at Cabinet meeting. Lass-O writes up the wedding in that "dear departed" tone. Students and faculty buy pearls for her.

Oct. 23-Chaps and M. E. B's. initiate, and the floods descend. Mr. Wal-ther makes screaming hit with Butterfly Dance. Mr. Donoho and thirteen lucky (!) ones go to Brownwood convention.

Oct. 24-New M. E. B's and Chaps appear at Sunday breakfast decorated with red-ink noses and black C's, respectively. After breakfast impromptu shine parlors are opened in all corridors; new M. E. B's whose noses faded in the matutinal ablution are re-decorated by persevering old members.

Oct. 27-Dr. Claxton, Commissioner of Education, addresses students on ratification of amendment. Many girls promise to write letters-not the usual lovin' variety -----and a few are written.

Oct. 28-Lucyle Hook, alias Gov. Cox, and Maude

Holt, alias Sen. Harding, debate in College Assembly. Vote proves that twelve hundred representative women voters-potentially speaking-are still Democrats. Dr. Bralley gives his annual invitation to timid occupants of back seats to rise and join in the singing.

Oct. 30-Dr. Mobley of the Chautauqua Forum takes students on a psychic tour.

Oct. 31-Hallowe'en returns to C. I. A., as was expected. Annual dinner party, interspooked by efforts of Margaret and Mattie Mae and their assistants, is huge success. Five courses!

Nov. 4-Dr. Bralley states that every girl's problems should be hard.

Nov. 6-The "Teleological Hylozoism of Spinoza" is subject on which Miss Stiti Thornton extemporizes at Press Club initiation. Dr. Ellison produces ravishing strains from a comb, in front of the girl he loves best (Eugenia, Mrs. Ellison). Dr. Gronert impromptus during the entire evening. Much food is consumed. M. E. B's. have dance; new ruling on faculty dancing made.

Nov. 9-Dr. Herrick gives one of the annuals on health. Advises extensive use of aspirin and Coca-Cola.

Epsom salts as tooth powder. Nov. 15—Mr. Shultz gives recital; his devotees, arrayed in fresh "innocents," with flowers in their hair, clamor for front seats. Nov. 16—Eddy Brown gives violin program. Seniors are invited to faculty reception in his honor. Senior guilty of securing autograph. Nov. 22—Mr. Thomas G. Winter visits College; speaks in chapel; wears a stylish hat. Mr. Watkins makes many pictures for the annual. Nov. 25—Thanksgiving, according to the calendar, the Y. W. edition of the Lass-O, and the recumbent turkeys that grace each table. Sale starts in Rural Arts Building. A. & M. gets beat; C. I. A. sends telegram of condolence. Many admirers on the Hill lose candy, cigars, uniform, etc. One has to clean out the closet. out the closet.

Dec. 4-Jewell Scales is aquitted of charge of libel brought against her. Annie Neal is shown to have been guilty of bribing Dr. Gronert for a grade. Hon. John Adams of Fort Worth tells students that the homes they will build will empty the divorce courts. Prolonged applause.

Dec. 14-Exam schedule comes out. Ohs and ahs.

Dec. 16-Dr. Bralley announces the coming advent of one Dr. Roger Gephart. Many wonderings. Timothy Twist flowers into verse in the Lass-O.

Dec. 17-Miss Hefley and Miss Gleason are star characters in a student farce aimed to illustrate how not to go home. Some pellets of wisdom concerning the yew-ne-form are dropped.

Dec. 18-Tolstoi describes difficulties of traveling in Russia. He looks up to the expectations of girls who wish to see actual count. He and the Countess are at the Cottage.

Jan. 4-The library again becomes Mecca. Everyone is vastly sleepy. Colds and yawns have precedence over chapel and classes. Dr. Herrick succumbs under the storm. (Perhaps she did not wear enough underclothes?) Temperate roomies don gas masks while sniffy ones anoint selves with Musterole.

Jan. 5-All go to College Assembly, in body only. Mr. Shultz sings "Hail, Alma Mater, Hail!" Most everyone gets scheduled for something and unpacks her bed for slumber. 1267 girls each have the "most wonderful time in the WORLD, absolutely" and are willing to talk it over with people.

Jan. 6-We are told that New York's latest decrees calls for concealed knees.

Jan. 8-Board of Regents meets at College (with something up Prexy's sleeve). Miss Brackenridge unable to come.

Jan. 9-Mr. Walther, in Ed. 321, donates the last straw; insists on uniformity in study!

Jan. 26-Entire campus is sanitized more stringently than ever. Doctor Bralley mentions some of the needs of the College.

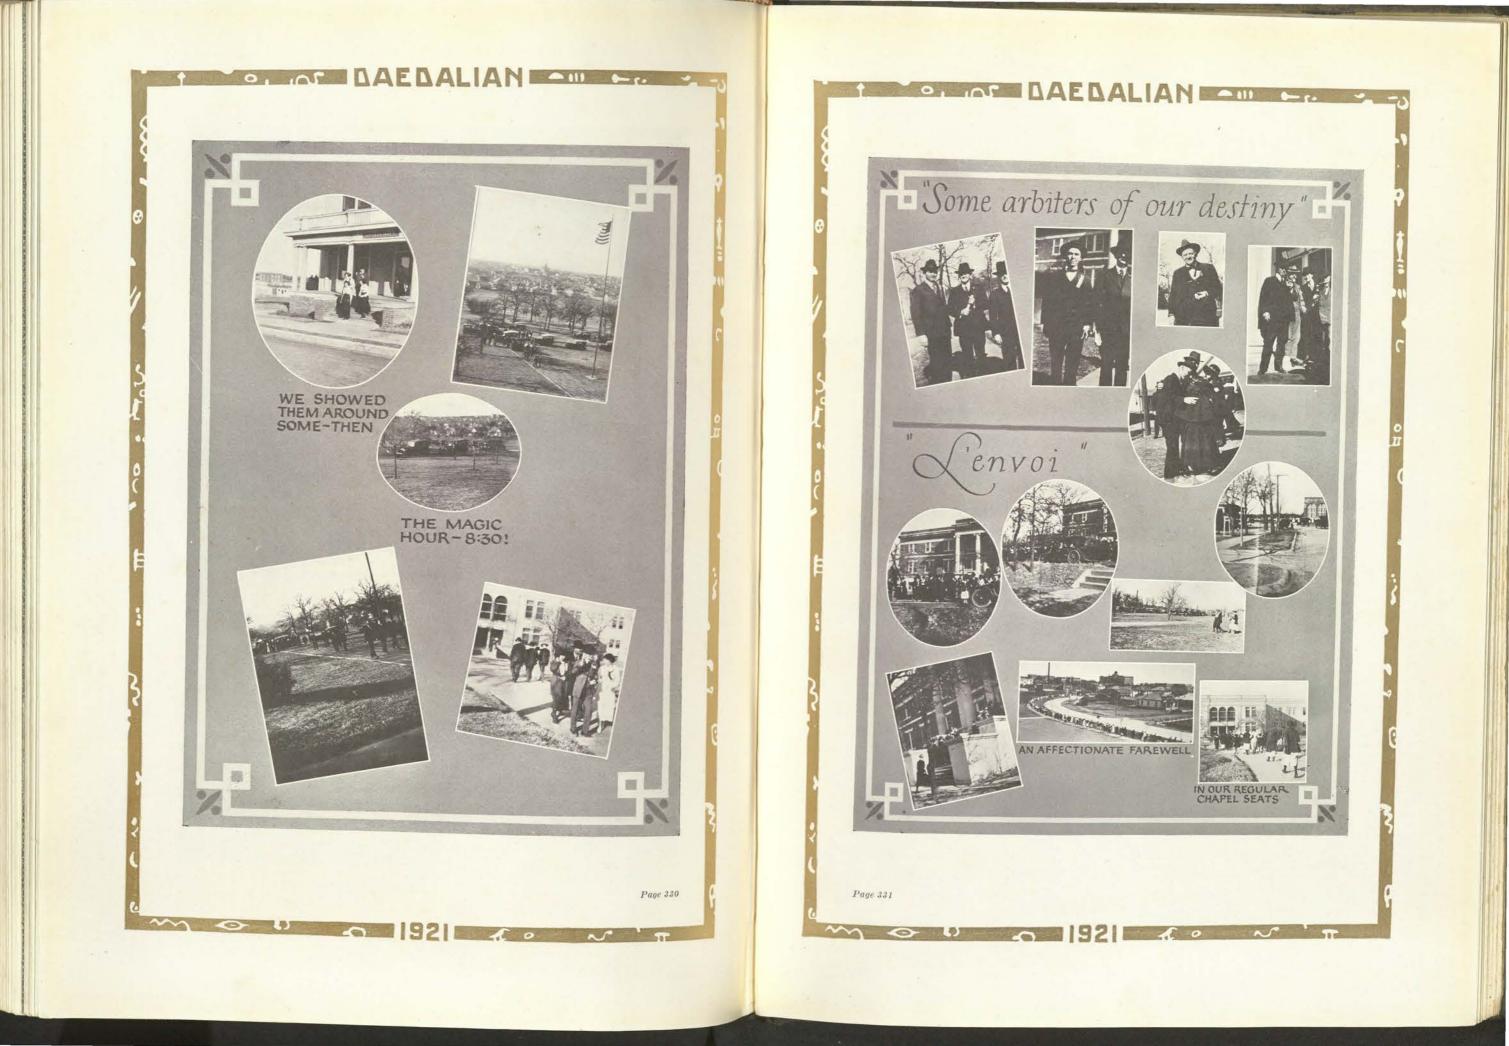

Jan. 27-Mr. Turrentine's tie even farther askew; Mr. Yerby visits Miss Hefley concerning a peanut shell he saw north of the Ad building.

Jan. 28-Excitement runs high; all girls clean their rooms. Dean White plans a guide system to show the legislators around. Girls roll up their hairand hose. It doesn't rain.

Jan. 29-The Day! The orchestra plays. Unmarried members are spotted; flags are waved; Prexy smiles out loud. Legislators make tremendous hit; studes make tremendous noise. Future wives and mothers hear eulogy with ever-deepening facial control. A few lucky "nieces" dine with them at Brack and visit at the Normal with a body guard. C. I. A. finally has to resign them to the Normal; makes an elongated army of herself, and yells to the point of hoarseness.

In the afternoon the faculty members have open house at the club. Sighs, naps, a sand storm fill up the vacuum of the rest of "a perfect day."

Feb. 15-Basketball season opens with a 47-6 victory over San Marcos Normal team. Gym considerably shaken by air-waves started by vociferous C. I. A. rooters. Dr. Tagore reads some of his poems in the evening.

Feb. 19-State U. Glee Club appears at C. I. A. Full house; Miss C. I. A. shows which kind of music she likes best. Seniors have right of way with the visitors, but after the Brave Things invade the group around the piano, the same seniors show unusual friendliness for the Fanny who knows one of 'em.

Feb. 18—C. I. A. basketeers score second victory in playing second game. Defeat S. M. U., 48-18, on the latter's court. M. E. B's. get out the Lass-O.

Feb. 22—One of the holi-days nominated in the catalogue, and looked forward to-only the third flash happens at ten, as usual.

Feb. 24—Juniors observe their bereavement, occasioned by the loss of June as President. Much crepe is worn. (June buys white shoes and a carton of pol-Even Marcellus got ish.)

Feb. 25-Chaps have edition of the Lass-O. S. M. U. defeated again in our gym. Score 36-12; fifth victory.

March 1-The long advertised Faculty Stunts at last materialize. Skeptics are made believers.

March 4—Mrs. Forbes-Robertson Hale speaks energetically to the stu-dents and faculty. Mr. Turrentine fears she is a "new woman."

March 5—Students celebrate Prexy's birthday; at ten till eleven Emma inquires tartly: "Do you want to make your speech now?" Poor Prexy is wordless. (Sighs of—). Press Clubbers pic-

March 6 — Prexy is surprised with a 'smoker;'' the Fish candy is eaten.

March 7—Students observe "Friendship Day" in honor of Miss Brackenridge.

Ernest Hutcheson makes glad the hearts of the music faculty. They take a few pictures of and with the Lion.

March 8—Dr. Bralley finally expels the lecture that has been so long brew-ing on "Texas Schools"—or something like that. Great relief.

March 11-Students' Council get out Lass-O, dedicated to Miss Bracken-ridge. Grand rush-it contains the exam schedule.

March 12-Dean Turrentine (sometimes known as Durn Teantine) delivers lecture on "How to Study Scientifically." Three students try it.

March 16-Edith Wynne Matthison and Charles Rann Kennedy read to C. I. A. audience.

March 21-Reinald Werrenrath proves himself another favorite of C. I. A. platform. Little Flossie visits College; helps Ed. and B. M. write up Seniors.

March 23-125 students go all the way to Dallas to "see Lohengrin." Myrtle falls down and pulverizes the Business Manager's knee.

March 26-Lass-O contains Little Flossie's notebook.

March 27-Eugenia attempts to climb the dome of the Ad Building to get bird's-eye view of the campus for Myrtle. The Ed. seeks to uncover the hidden pasts of some Seniors in order to print in the annual.

March 28-Marked on everyone's calendar; Mr. Parsons, the inimitable, comes back to enshrine his personality in the hearts of C. I. A. He throws another kiss-yea, two or three!

March 29-Still noteworthy, Mr. Parsons remains. More so, because Miss Perlitz is here. Her dress is so cute and short!! She states in chapel that "the shortest speech ever made in her life was the most important." Ear-splitting and affectionate cheers from girls.

March 30-Still red-letter: Carrie Goodrich returns to her old haunts; hasn't grown any-or any hair, either.

March 31-Election day. Not a shot fired!

April 1-Annual wienie roast, to insure good behavior. Mr. King is very good. Little stores make much money-and bills.

April 27-Thirteen novices taken into the Press Club at its first spring initiation. Ruth West extemporizes in poetry. Aileen Folliard and Margaret Wiley indulge in boxing matches with two of the Ph. D's. April 4-The rains fall and the floods descend; Dr. Herrick and Miss Hefley forget themselves beyond belief; allow girls to wade with unclad feet in the ditch west the Heating Plant, resulting in mental hydrophobia of faculty members and their outraged dignity.

April 1. Weenie Roost Mr. King has such a dainty appetite!

April 7-Night classes in all the halls on Spring Styles and Summer Fashions.

April 8-Nothing snappy.

April 9-Something snappy! Soph Stunts! Miss H. says all "men" must wear coats over their friends' trousers to and from the auditorium.

April 10-Daddy's daughter begins to feel publicly the demoralizing effect of the Soph Stunts.

April 11-Womanless Wedding solemnizes itself for the second time in the C. I. A. auditorium. Evidently spring has not came; we feel like this-

April 12-Prexy delivers Mothers' Day oration. Sophs make candy for the A. & M. boys who stayed in bed while their "sisters" had some stunts-and some trousers.

April 14-Seven Press Clubbers depart for TIPA, after having successfully borrowed all the clothes on the Hill. Fortunately, some sewing students had already made organdie dresses as their first problem.

April 16—The Senior Banquet! Naps are taken; much decoration is done by Seniors; Corsages arrive in droves; men, in like numbers. Some Seniors wear tams all afternoon. Sophs are correspondingly excited.

April 17-The unprecedented, unbelievable, unimaginable, just-simply-cannot-be really happens! Seniors go driving without, sans, minus chaperones!

April 18-Senior week begins. All seniors go to breakfast; all seniors wear uniform; are privileged to choose between chambrays and whites.

April 19-Brack girls stage spectacular drama. Some attribute it to the banquet potatoes; others insist it must have been the ham. Some daring seniors go to the picture show.

April 20—Will makes several gallons of tomato soup for the convalescents.

April 21—Miss Best announces that all borrowed hot water bottles should be returned.

April 23—Fish stunts, something long to be remembered.

On Going Home

BY MARY HIGG

AIR reader (in a girls' school one is always safe in saying "Fair reader," and a little flattery at the beginning always puts one in a good humor), Do not let the title "On Going Home" mislead you. This expatiation is not about the lucky roommates' going home, but the one left behind. Yours truly knows all about it; she speaks from experience. Having suffered three days of said torture, she can give enough advice on the subject to stop an alarm clock, to convince Gabriel that it is time to blow his horn-yea. take the leading part in an argument with Miss Hefley.

On the eventful day when your dear pals are about to

Knocking down seven or eight teachers leave, you run all the way from the Ad Building to the dorm, knocking down seven or eight teachers on the way, enter the third story window a la fire escape, and arrive on the scene at the crucial moment when the jitney is honking, a forgotten skirt has to be rescued from the laundry, and suit cases have to be sat on to get shut. Of course, it is hard to locate that new powder puff that Sis got at town vesterday afternoon, and for some unknown reason has disappeared from her sweater pocket to an inconvenient spot impossible to locate, but after frantic searches, skidding from this side of the room to that on your new rubber heels, the hiding place of the so-necessary article is at last discovered and it is carefully havened in the soft satin wrinkles of her new bag. Everything is at last ready, or, in other words, the jitney man refuses to wait any longer, so with a flow of crocodile tears streaming down your "Oh-how-I-hate-to-see-you-go" countenance you bid them farewell, making various promises to write them specials, so the folks at home will think the Denton boys are crazy about them.

After waving good-bye to your departing sidekicks you wend your lonely way back up the steps, draw a sigh of relief, open your door, and-!!??! But it is just the clothes they left lying around that makes the room appear so-well, er, miscellaneous, as it were. It is all in the attitude, though. You rescue a Judge from the debris, and a few jokes bring your disposition back to the point where you don't feel quite so much like a martyr after cleaning the room.

If you are lonesome a good plan is to get out all the pictures of your old beaus. Your roommate's dresser and also the chiffonier can be used for this display. Drape yourself luxuriously in the least uncomfortable chair in the room, assume a facial attitude one-half concentration, one-half meditation. Let your mind reminisce back to that moonlight night when you and Jack were sitting in the porch swing, the scent of lilacs was in the air, and he etc., etc. At least an hour can be passed away in this manner.

OF DAEDALIAN COM

One often feels in a letter-writing mood at times like this. So, after writing to your Mother and Dad, your best beau, and a few of your less best, you might have all your friends give you names of the cutest boys they know and write to them. The said boys probably won't be any more bored reading the letters than you are writing them. It won't tax your brain too much, because if you write to four boys, for example, you don't have to compose four letters-write one and copy it for the others, changing the salutation, of course.

If none of these things affords you any consolation, as a last resort there is always the bathtub one can jump into and end one's troubles. I have heard that quite frequently bath-tubs have been used for drowning purposes. Let me suggest, however, that you first turn some water in the tub, letting it run as full as possible, for one would feel rather foolish, I should imagine, trying to drown oneself where there is an entire absence of water. Either hot or cold may be used, depending on the presence or absence of hot water in the pipe, and also upon the individual taste of the drownee. Just before diving in be sure to pull out the stopper; this will give you ample time to receive all the drowning sensations without serious consequences. On second thought, though, there is really not much need to remove the stopper, because some nosey girl will be sure to happen along, hear the liquid drowning gurgles and rescue you from a watery grave. She will be hailed as a feminine hero, given a medal consisting of an honor bar or a sq-top with a gold tassel, and both of you will probably get your names in print, which is indeed something worthy of drowning oneself to achieve.

All-Saints Day

ON TOP DAEDALIAN

HE College of Industrial Arts is the State College for Women, and enrolls annually more than 2,000 girls from the best homes of Texas. The College gives thorough and comprehensive education and training in literary, vocational and industrial subjects, (1) to graduates of high schools who are qualified to enter the freshman class, (2) to girls who have done work of college rank elsewhere and wish further to pursue their college studies, (3) to girls who have completed three years of work in unaffiliated high schools (who will be placed in our teacher-training school, which corresponds to work of the fourth year in a standard high school), and (4) to young women of maturity and serious purpose whose previous education does not meet college entrance requirements and who will be admitted to one-year practical vocational courses the better to qualify themselves for earning a livelihood and for home life.

There are in the Faculty 110 women and men, educated and trained in the best colleges and universities of this country and in Europe, whose sympathetic encouragement, friendly counsel and scholarly attainments are always available for the benefit of each student of the College. The atmosphere of the College is wholesome and contributes to the happiness of the student body. The social and intellectual opportunities are of the very best type, contributing to the accomplishment and to the educational welfare of all students. The College of Industrial Arts is a College of the first rank, and under the new certificate law teachers' State certificates of all grades are granted without examination on work done in this College and are issued by the State Department of Education.

The regular four-year groups of courses lead to baccalaureate degrees, while the three-year groups, two-year groups and one-year groups of courses lead to diplomas and certificates. In all groups of courses there are prescribed the fundamentally necessary literary subjects. The following indicates the various groups of courses from which students may choose their college work:

Four-year groups: (a) literary group, (b) home economics group, major in foods, (c) home economics group, major in textiles and clothing, (d) home economics group, general home economics, (e) vocational home economics group, teacher-training course, (f) industrial pathological group, (g) industrial chemistry group, (h) fine and applied art group, major in commercial advertising, (i) fine and applied art group, major in costume design, (j) fine and applied art group, major in applied design, (k) fine and applied art group, major in drawing and painting, (l) fine and applied art group, major in interior decoration, (m) fine and applied art group, major in teacher-training in art education, (n) manual arts group, major in woodworking, (o) manual arts group, major in mechanical drawing, (p) manuals arts group, (s) violin group, (t) voice group, (u) reading group, (v) commercial arts group, including shorthand, typewriting and related subjects.

Three-year groups: (a) commercial advertising group, (b) costume design group, (c) applied design group, (d) illustration group, (e) interior decoration group.

Two-year groups: (a) public school music group, (b) kindergarten group, (c) physical education group, (d) piano group, (e) violin group, (f) commercial arts group, including shorthand, typewriting and related subjects.

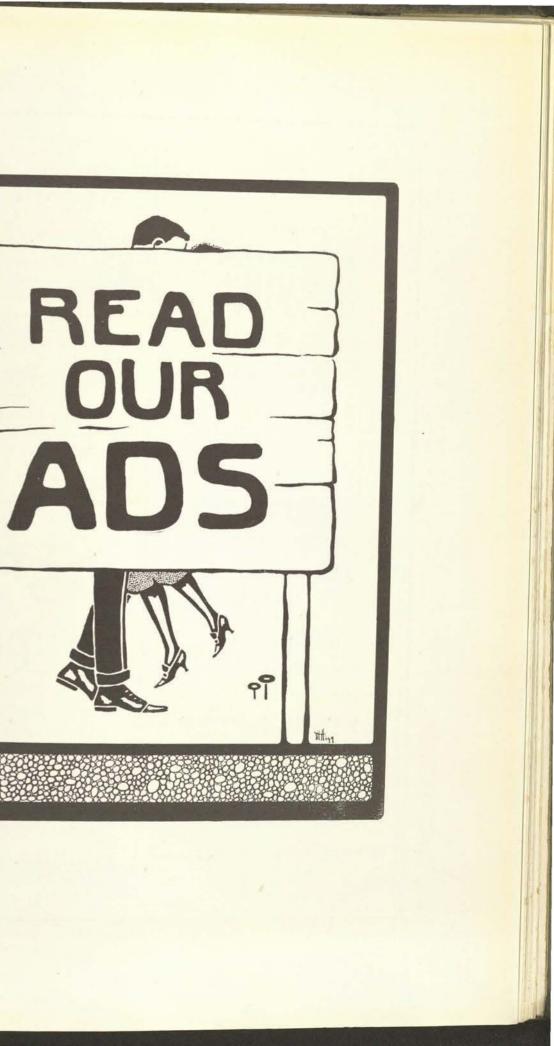

One-year groups in vocational subjects for students of college and of non-college standing.

Greetings! To Every Alumnus

ORMER students, dating back to the first term of the college, will connect this store in reminiscences of their school days in Denton. We believe they hold memories of our having been of some use to them.

There's a certain sentiment we hold for those former students who honored us with their patronage and we recall our business relations with a great deal of pleasure. They have inspired us to greater effort in their behalf from time to time, as is evidenced in our store of today as compared with the year the college was first opened. In other words: we have grown in a way that has to some extent kept pace with the growth of the C. I. A.

We intend to grow and to serve student trade in the years to come in the best possible way we know. Constantly borne in mind will be our life-long policy of desirable and dependable merchandise at fair prices.

All mail-orders and requests for samples or any information will receive our prompt and most careful attention, we assure you.

RECOGNIZED RESPONSIBILITY

We, as merchants, serving the public for over a quarter century, have found that in order to succeed we must offer quality goods and service.

If an article or brand of merchandise proves unsatisfactory to the customer, not only will it be practically impossible to sell her a second, but she will partially have lost confidence in the store.

We go into the best markets of the country and select merchandise that we know by our own intelligence and training will give the most service and best value.

By reason of this accepted responsibility we are known to hundreds of students over the State of Texas as merchants supplying goods of lasting satisfaction reasonably priced.

We are continually receiving mail orders from exstudents for goods that cannot be found in their home towns and mail out hundreds of packages yearly to those wanting uniform materials to makeup during vacation.

SUCCESSORS TO WILSON-HANN COMPANY

Students and ex-students of the College of Industrial Arts are always welcome at our Store. Courteous attention and fair treatment have made our store famous as a standard for service. We have been remarkably popular with the College Girl because we recognize the exact need and specialize on C. I. A. requirements and shoes with a little more life than the ordinary run.
