BERRY NAMED INTERIM VP FOR ACADEMIC AFFAIRS

Dr. Carol Surles has announced the appointment of Dr. Wilkes Berry (academic affairs) as interim vice president for academic affairs. Berry will assume those duties effective Dec. 19, 1994. He replaces Dr. Patricia Sullivan (academic affairs), who will become the first woman chancellor of the University of North Carolina at Greensboro on Jan. 1, 1995.

"A national search for the position of vice president for academic affairs at TWU will begin immediately," said Surles. "Dr. Janice LaPointe-Crump, professor of dance in the department of performing arts, will chair the search committee, which will include a broad representation of the university community. I am hopeful that a new vice president for academic affairs might be named by the beginning of the fall 1995 semester."

Berry, who came to TWU in 1981 from Texas Tech, previously served as provost of TWU's Undergraduate General Divisions and dean of the College of Humanities and Fine Arts. A native of Fort Worth, he attended the University of Texas at Austin and Texas Christian University. He earned a bachelor's degree from Abilene Christian University in 1960, and his master's and doctoral degrees from Rice University in 1962 and 1964, respectively.

Berry was a professor of English, director of graduate studies in English and chairman of the department of English at Texas Tech University before joining the administration at TWU. An honorary Woodrow Wilson Fellow at Rice, Dr. Berry is chair of the National Conference of Academic Deans; chair of the Texas Committee for the Humanities; a member of the executive board of North Texas Public Broadcasting, Inc.; Governor's representative for Rotary District 5790; and past president of the Denton Rotary Club.

TAKE A TREK THROUGH AFRICA

Faculty, staff and students are invited to attend a free presentation, "Out of Africa," on Wed., Dec. 7, from noon to 1 p.m., SC 006-007. The program will feature the travels and experiences of the Rotary International District 5790's 1994 group study exchange to southern Africa. Mary Ann McDuff (academic affairs) was one of six team members who traveled to Malawi, South Africa, Swaziland and Zimbabwe from April 23 to June 6. The program is sponsored by the divisions of student life and academic affairs and will be hosted by Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc. For more information, call ext. 3601 or ext. 3310.

Others who traveled with McDuff on her journey included: Ernie Dover, associate professor of political science and public administration at Midwestern State University in Wichita Falls; Nancy Estes, deputy chief of police at the University of North Texas; Tony Marvray, professional engineer and engineering supervisor for TU Electric at the Comanche Peak Nuclear Power Plant; and Mark Bishop, the group's team leader and an industrial property manager and broker in the Dallas/Fort Worth area. Dover, Estes and Marvray will speak with McDuff about their experiences.

GET TO KNOW ACADEMIC SUPPORT PROGRAMS

What is academic support services? Who works in that office, and how do they help TWU? "Our goal is to facilitate learning and teaching," said Dr. Emily Harbold, associate dean for academic support programs. That office, which began functioning in August 1994, includes the following programs, services and people who make it run smoothly for everyone else.

■ Academic support programs -- Kathy Roberts, secretary, ext. 3950.

■ Academic Advising Center -- Lana Woods and Joyce Parmentier, Jones Hall 228, ext. 3850; academic advising, TASP test information, University 1000 (student success skills) and faculty advisor training.

■ Disability Support Services -- Tricia Hurter, SC 206, ext. 3628; assistance and advocacy for students with special needs; support for faculty in developing teaching, learning and testing accommodations.

■ Learning Assistance Center -- Dr. Ruth Caswell, CFO 106, ext. 2046; study skills workshops; TASP test preparation; assistance with reading improvement; test proctoring for students registered with the office of disability support services.

■ Science Learning Resource Center -- Dr. James Johnson and Susan Phillips, SCI 212, ext. 2553; self-paced instruction and tutoring for entering students in biology, chemistry and physics; mathematics and science placement testing.

■ Writing Laboratory -- Dr. Dean Bishop, Betsy Head and Carol Johnson, ASB 301, ext. 2341; tutoring, TASP test preparation and writing placement testing.

"Developmental education at TWU is under the auspices of the associate vice president for academic affairs," said Harbold. "In addition, the Science Learning Resource Center and the Learning Assistance Center are affiliated with the College of Arts and Sciences and the College of Education and Human Ecology, respectively. Inquiries and suggestions from students, staff members and faculty members are welcome."

SAVE THOSE TREES!

TWU faculty, staff and students have worked hard to recycle office waste paper and corrugated cardboard as of October 1994 -- 241,288 pounds of paper and 5,440 pounds of cardboard for an overall total of 246,928 pounds...or 123.464 tons! Dr. Harry Meeuwsen, chair of the conservation and recycling committee, has reported that the university-wide effort has saved 2,098.88 pulp trees or 304.85 cubic yards. "This means that we kept 18 garbage trucks full of paper from ending up in a landfill," said Meeuwsen.

During a Nov. 14 meeting, the committee decided to change the acceptable paper criteria in accordance with information that the group received from Weyerhaeuser Paper Company, which collects office waste paper on campus. The new guidelines, outlined in a Weyerhaeuser brochure are listed below.

What does work (for recycling): white and colored office paper; computer paper (green-bar type is acceptable); carbonless forms; envelopes (with or without plastic windows); coated papers; chemically treated papers (facsimile); file folders -- manila or pastel only (no labels); and staples and paper clips are okay.

What doesn't work: pressure-sensitive glue (labels); brown craft papers; waxed or plastic-coated papers; paper ream wrappers; newspapers, magazines or telephone books; carbon; or trash.

"Faculty, staff and students should be aware that pressure glue labels -- those that do not curl with time -- should be torn off of envelopes before the envelopes are recycled," added Meeuwsen. For more information about the new criteria, call Meeuwsen ext. 2589 or contact him through e-mail at F_meeuwsen.

HOUSTON CENTER RECEIVES DEVELOPMENT AWARD

Dr. Sandra Goodnough-Hanneman (Nursing, Houston Center; research office) has received a $140,508 grant from the National Institutes of Health, Extramural Associates Research Development Award -- EARDA) for a project titled "Texas Woman's University Research Development Plan." The federal grant period began Sept. 30, 1994, and ends Aug. 31, 1996.

"The TWU Institute of Health Sciences Houston Center requested EARDA support to enhance the Houston Center's progress in promoting biomedical and behavioral research activity among faculty and graduate students," said Goodnough-Hanneman, who will direct the enhancement plan's development and who participated in the Extramural Associates Program in 1992. "Over the three years of grant support, the plan provides for strengthening the administrative infrastructure for research and for increasing the quality of faculty research projects." The goal of the plan is to have a sufficient number of faculty externally funded by fiscal year 1998 to support successful competition for pre-doctoral fellowships.

Goodnough-Hanneman outlined six methods that the research office will use to achieve the plan's goal:

- releasing the extramural associate from day-to-day management responsibilities so that she can enhance her effectiveness as the institutional focal point in promoting research activities;
- hiring a half-time research administrator to supervise the daily operations of the office of research;
- adding data entry support capability;
- providing methods consultation for senior investigators;
- providing research development for junior and senior investigators, and doctoral students; and
- supporting faculty pilot projects.

With guidance and support from the EA advisory committee, Goodnough-Hanneman has the institutional authority to implement the research development plan. Evaluation of the plan will be done on an annual basis with the use of existing and new tracking systems.

DEADLINE FOR GRADUATION APPLICATIONS ARE FIRM

The office of the registrar has begun an effort to strengthen the deadline for receipt of graduation applications in order to plan for and accommodate students at commencement. Information about application deadlines will be distributed through a number of outlets to tell students that they must apply by the second week of a given semester for graduation that semester. "We want to let advisors know about the deadlines, as well as students -- particularly graduate students who may be involved in internships, clinicals and other activities that keep them from visiting the campus," said Amy McDonald (registrar). The list of deadlines will be published in a number of campus outlets, listed on CRIS, and provided using several other methods to communicate the dates to faculty, staff and students.

The deadline to apply for graduation in the spring 1995 semester is Feb. 3, 1995; the registrar's office will not accept any applications after that date. Additional application deadlines to note for next year include June 8, 1995, for summer commencement and Sept. 8 for the fall semester. For more information, call McDonald at ext. 3012.

NEWSBRIEFS

Alexandria's Ragtime Band will perform for the holidays during lunch on Tues., Dec. 6 from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m., SC. All faculty, staff and students are invited to enjoy the free performance.

Reminder: TWU President Carol Surles would like to invite all faculty, staff and students to holiday gatherings that celebrate the season of friendship and giving. She will host two events on different days so that everyone on campus has an opportunity to enjoy one another's company before the campus closes for the break and 1995 begins. A holiday coffee will be held from 8 to 10 a.m. on Wed., Dec. 7, in the southeast room of Hubbard Hall. The next day, on Thurs., Dec. 8, Surles will host an afternoon reception from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. in the same location.

Reminder: The date for filing grievances under the TWU faculty grievance policy for occurrences between April 1 to Nov. 1, 1994, has been extended to 90 days after Nov. 1, 1994.

GLISA members would like to thank faculty and staff who supported the Graduate Library and Information Studies Association used book sale on Nov. 19. The sale brought in approximately $750 for the group's scholarship fund.

Reminder: TWU Theatre '94 will present an evening of drama that will satisfy a wide range of tastes during an evening of theatrical performances titled "Stix and Stones." The final night of the showcase in Redbud Theatre will be Mon., Dec. 5, at 8 p.m. "Stix and Stones" is a collage of theatre ranging from monologue collections to a one-act comedy to a multimedia event. General admission tickets are $3 per person and will be sold at the door before each performance. For more information, call the theatre box office at ext. 2020.

Christmas poinsettias will be sold to interested university employees on Wed., Dec. 21, from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. in the southeast room of Hubbard Hall. The poinsettias are being offered at a discount following their use during the Celebration of the Season coffee and reception, plus commencement.

For Friday Update readers: The Denton Community Orchestra and the University of North Texas Men's Chorus will present "An Outdoor Overture Rhapsodie for Alto Op. 53 Capriccio Espagnol" on Fri., Dec. 2, at 8 p.m. in MJPH. The cost to attend is $5 for general admission or $3 for students, senior citizens and supporting members. The orchestra, conducted by Gabriela Diaz-Alatriste, will feature alto soloist Lori Kindler; the UNT Men's Chorus will be directed by Robert Austin.

Note: Any department or office that has not received a media list from the human relations committee should contact Dr. Glenda Simmons (student life) at ext. 3601.

The Wellness Center is offering a holiday special -- the "Fresh Start and Nutritional Counseling combo" -- to students at a cost of $50 per person and to faculty, staff and Wellness Center members for $65. This special offer includes one and one-half hours with a personal trainer and one hour with a registered dietitian. For details, call ext. 2900.

The Division of Student Life invites the campus community to attend a holiday open house on Tues., Dec. 6, from 12:30 to 2 p.m., SC second floor.
