Texas State College for Women will celebrate its annual FOUNDER'S DAY Saturday, February 12, with radio broadcasts from the stations listed on the Saturday, February 12. Radio broadcasts from the stations listed on the left are scheduled for Friday, February 11, however, because more satisfactory time is available that evening than on Saturday, February 12.

It is our sincere hope that all Alumnae who can possibly do so will listen to the broadcast in which students, faculty, College officials, various alumnae, and Alumnae Association officers bring a few minutes of TSCW into your homes.

We believe the inspiring facts concerning TSCW will thrill you; that you will rededicate yourself to your great university for women as you hear of its important development and future plans.

And we want this letter to be considered as a personal message to each of you to visit your Alma Mater soon. Many of you have not been back on the campus for a number of years. We urge you to do so now.

One of the very important ways for you to express the gratitude, affection, and pride you feel for your College is to assist the TSCW Foundation with your influence and your contributions.

The money is used to finance the work of your Alumnae Association (which has eliminated dues as a requisite for membership), for student scholarships, for promotion of the College, for research, and other urgent needs which cannot be met in any other way.

I urge each alumna to have a continuous, active part in these vital efforts. Send your contributions to the TSCW Foundation, Texas State College for Women, Drawer A, TSCW Station, Denton, Texas.

For an up-to-the-minute story of TSCW, with emphasis on its departments and colleges, I recommend the latest Careers for Women Bulletin. Write the TSCW Foundation for your copy now so that as many school girls as possible can read it.
