Strong ties of friendship true
Bind us to thee.
Hours spent with thee are dear
To Memory.
With Loyal love a-glow
Sing we our song
Hail! Let our voices glad
The notes prolong!

On broad and rolling plains
'Neath Texas skies
There, crowned with majesty,
Thy buildings rise.
Thou hast with purpose new Lighted our way.
Hail! Alma Mater! Hear
Our Song today.

FOREWORD...

It was a June evening in 1903. Cree T. Work, first president of what is now Texas State College for Women, sat on the front steps of his little rented cottage in the small town of Denton, Texas.

A man approached on horseback, dismounted, and presented himself as Judge Bryant of Cedar Hill, Dallas County.

"Is this the new college I have heard about?"

Judge Bryant asked, pointing to the new building not yet under roof.

"Yes, sir, that is the beginning of it," Work answered.

"When will it be ready to open? I see the roof is not yet finished."

"It will open September twenty-third."

"How many students will you have?"

"I cannot say, for I do not know."

"How many students have promised to come?"

"None, to date."

This small prep school, later to become the largest womens residential college in the world, opened with an enrollment of 186.

TEXAS STATE COLLEGE FOR WOMEN
DENTON, TEXAS

DEDICATION . . .

"It is gratifying to realize that Texas State College for Women, from the day it opened its doors forty years ago, has been a leader in the important phases of technical and liberal education. So much is this true that the college has found it necessary to make only minor changes in its curriculum to meet the exigencies of war."

—PRESIDENT L. H. HUBBARD

TSCW students are getting an education for a strong, perpetual democracy—both in war and in the victorious peace that is to follow. To this principle and the efforts exerted by the faculty, students, and those desiring to perpetuate a field for higher learning for women, we, the staff, respectfully dedicate this book.

Hugh Fitzgerald; Sayers, freshman hall named in honor of a former governor of Texas; (right) Capps, one of the oldest freshman halls and the first on dormitory row; Austin, a comparatively new freshman dormitory named for Stephen F. Austin; Brackenridge, a junior dormitory which also has a dining room accommodating about 500 students.

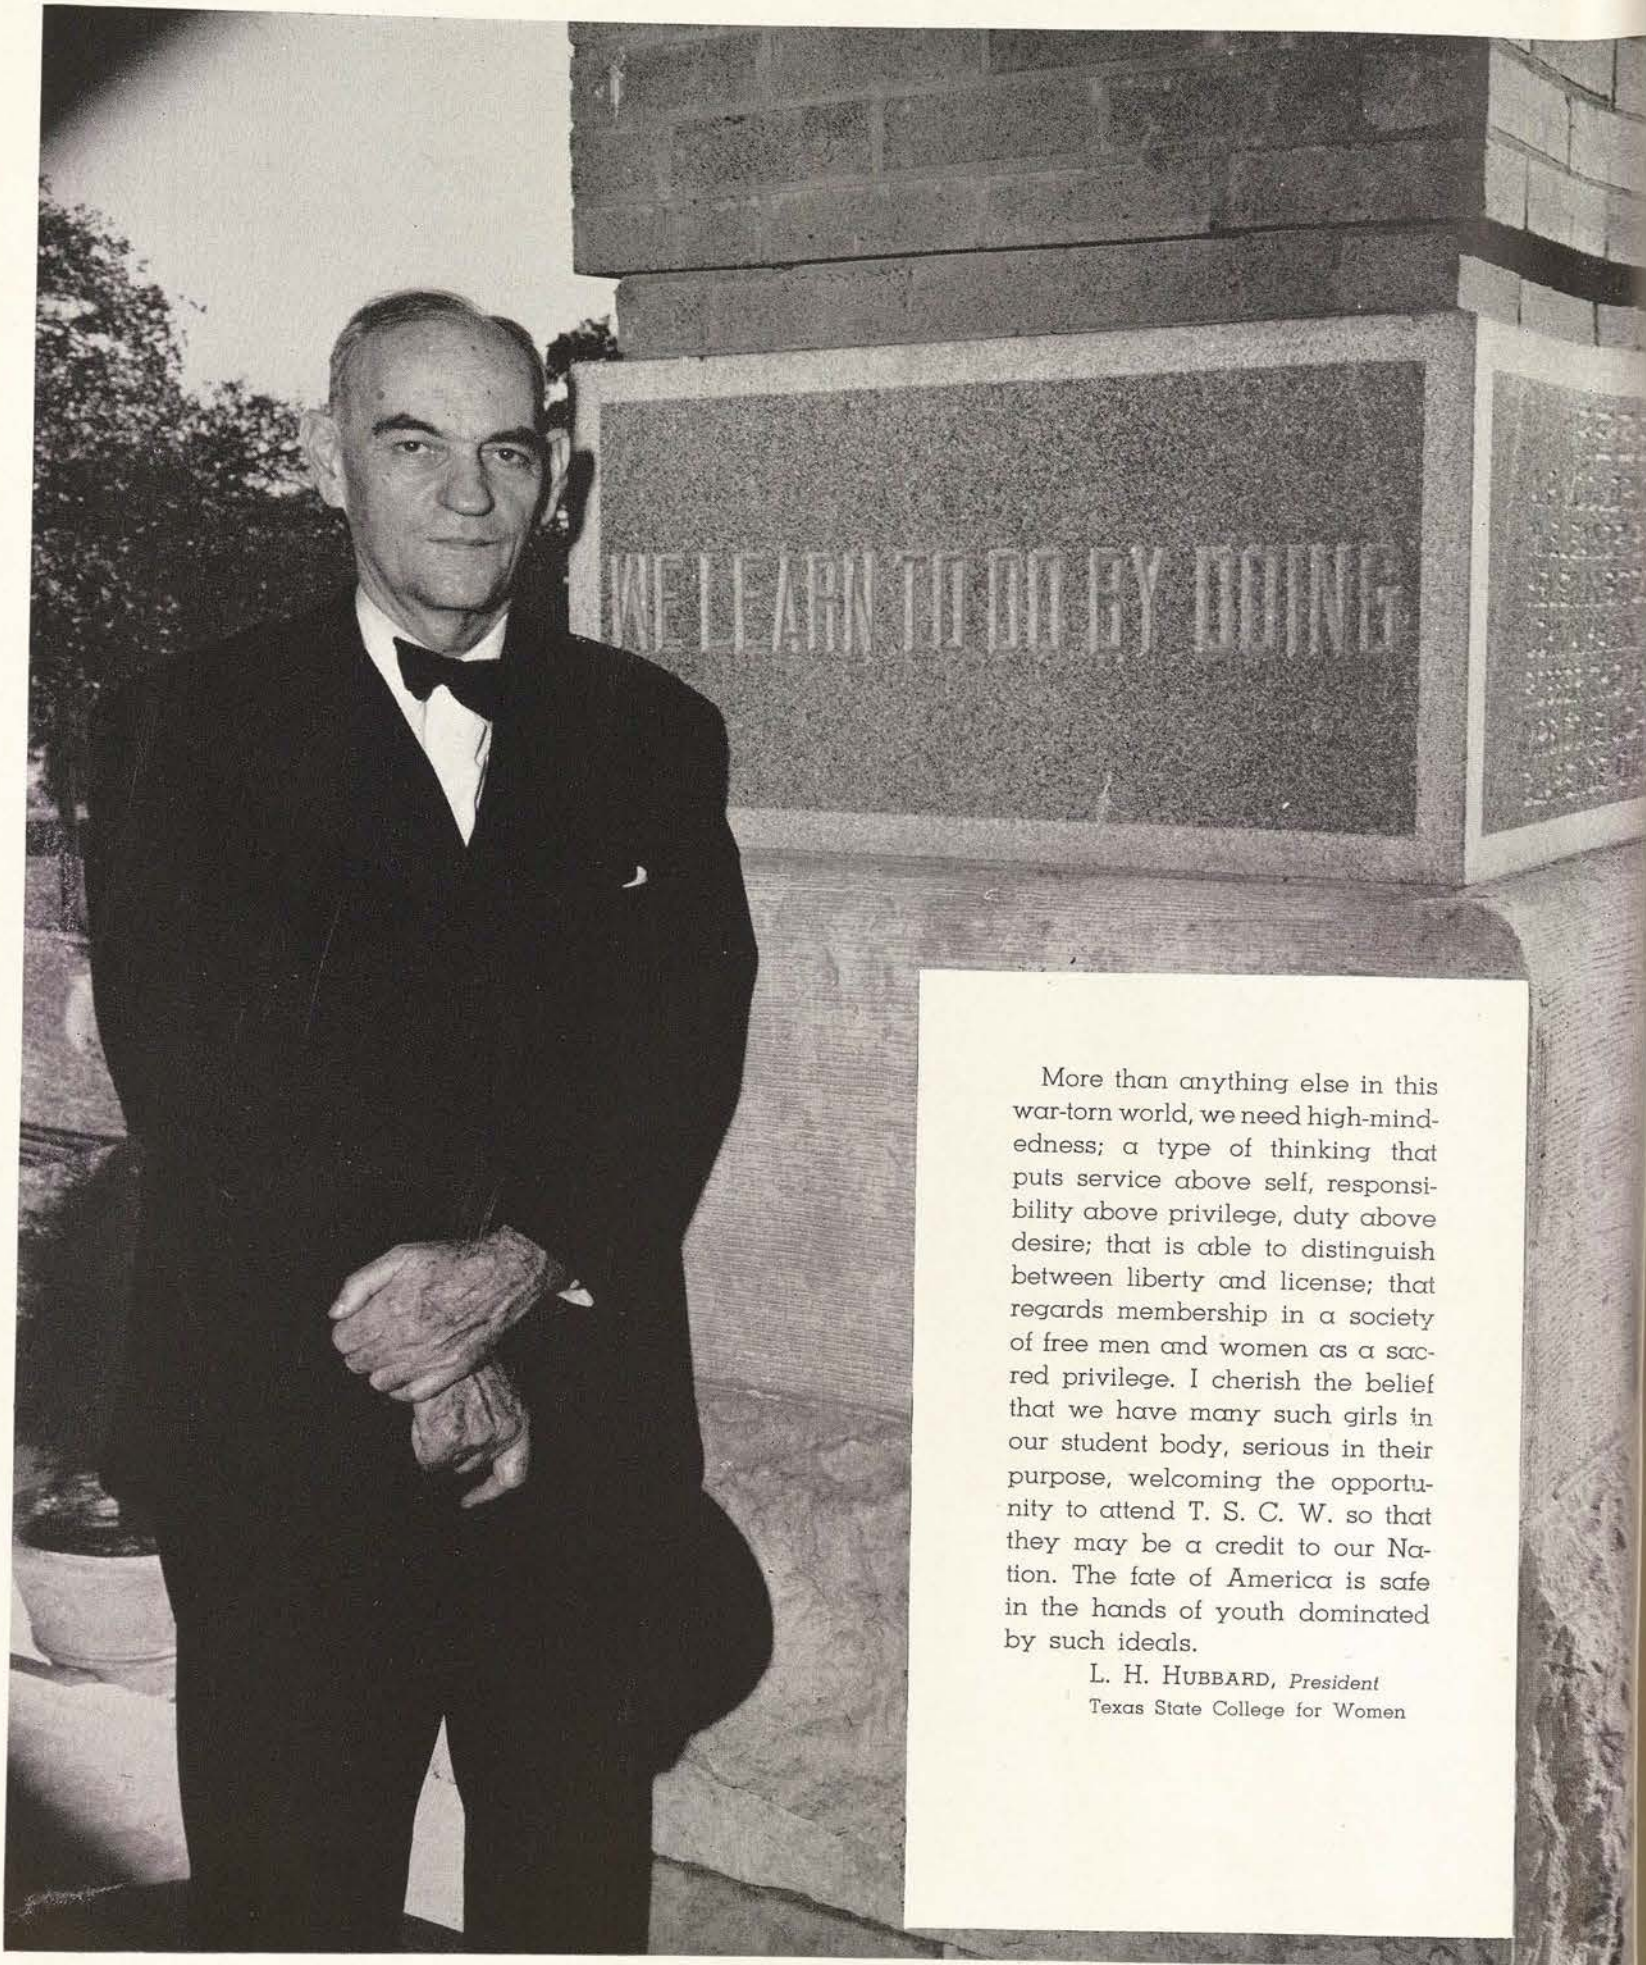

The Co-operative System... Life in the "co-ops" is very popular with students because of its democratic and home-like atmosphere. Each hall is built as a private home where the girls do their own cooking and housekeeping in small groups. ADMINISTRATION

... DR. L. H. HUBBARD, President

More than anything else in this war-torn world, we need high-mindedness; a type of thinking that puts service above self, responsibility above privilege, duty above desire; that is able to distinguish between liberty and license; that regards membership in a society of free men and women as a sacred privilege. I cherish the belief that we have many such girls in our student body, serious in their purpose, welcoming the opportunity to attend T. S. C. W. so that they may be a credit to our Nation. The fate of America is safe in the hands of youth dominated by such ideals.

L. H. HUBBARD, President
Texas State College for Women

E. V. WHITE, Dean of the College...

Possessing just the correct amount of dignity and poise that a college dean should have, Dean White takes time out now and then to tell one of his many original jokes and to make his own predictions concerning the war situation. A friend to each student, he is admired by one and all.

DR. JESSIE H. HUMPHRIES
Associate Dean of the College

After 40 years of faithful service to this college, Dr. Humphries continues to be ever popular with students and faculty alike, keeping alive all of the beliefs and ideals created at T. S. C. W. Cultured and sincere, our associate dean is always ready to render helpful advice to students.

DR. MATTIE LLOYD WOOTEN
Dean of Women

Displaying a spirit of interest and friendship to all, Dr. Wooten has played a vital part in the life of each student on the campus. Aside from being an inspiration to spur us onward, she has won the respect and loyalty of us all.

MARGARET KING, Vice-President

The Department of Art

Specialization in the field of art has permitted a T. S. C. W. student to choose a particular branch of the field, such as applied design, art education, art in advertising, ceramics, costume design, interior decoration, and painting. Graduate work, leading to the degree of Master of Arts has been provided for in this department since the summer session of 1929-30.

Right, the camera does not bother members of the painting class in the Art Building. The Art Department offers advanced painting courses in both water color and oil.

Dr. William T. Rouse, director, and Miss Mildred E. Hudgins look at a map of Jerusalem.

Department of Bible

Having been established since the summer of 1917, this department has always remained popular with students who are trained for Christian service, such as pastor's assistants, religious work directors, Sunday school leaders, choir directors, church secretaries, and other forms which are non-sectarian.

Right, Dr. Rouse has the undivided attention of all members of this Bible class, which meets on the first floor of the Administration Building.

Department of BIOLOGY

The Biology Department was one of the original departments of instruction in the Texas State College for Women. Its work has always been closely allied to that of home economics. Especially is this true of physiology, bacteriology, and other courses bearing directly upon the subject of health education.

Department of CHEMISTRY

Students wishing to teach, continue with graduate study in chemistry, or seek employment in commercial laboratories, major in chemistry. There is a great demand at the present for trained chemists in our defense program.

Department of Economics and Business Administration

Combining a thorough training in business with a broad study of literary subjects, the Department of Economics and Business equips the T. S. C. W. graduate with all of the advantages of living in our twentieth century business civilization. General secretarial work, accounting and bookkeeping, teaching, assisting in statistics, and business machine operation are some of the fields open to majors of this department.

Department of EDUCATION, PHILOSOPHY AND PSYCHOLOGY

Here students receive professional training required of prospective teachers in the public schools of Texas. The demand for teachers with four years of training is many times greater than the supply. Student teaching is done in the Demonstration School under experts in this work. Students are taught to be recreation leaders, to teach in adult schools, and to supervise in public school systems.

DEPARTMENT OF ENGLISH

In spite of the fact that the practical arts predominated the curriculum in the early days of the College, this subject was given due prominence from the beginning. This department has had large numbers of students who voluntarily chose English as a major or minor despite the requirements of two years English in all degree groups. At the present time, this department has the largest enrollment in the College.

DEPARTMENT of EXTENSION

Miss Lillian Humphries, assistant professor and director of extension.

Keeping alive the aim of the college to keep in touch with the daily life of people and to help in promoting every forward-looking movement which serves the interest of the state, the Extension Service assists through its cultural programs and gives to the people practical, usable information. This information has been assembled through the faculty, libraries, and laboratories.

Marion Carew, Louise Johnson, and Joyce Adams, office assistants, check over a mailing list as Miss Humphries looks on.

DEPARTMENT of FOREIGN LANGUAGES

One of the original departments of the Texas State College for Women is the Department of Foreign Languages which was known in 1903 as that of "Modern Languages and Latin." Degrees in the major subjects of Spanish, French, Latin, and German have been offered to students. Majors in this department are taught to teach, translate, work in publishing houses, and to do research work.

DEPARTMENT of GOVERNMENT

Students majoring in Government at TSCW will find themselves acquainted with the structure, function, and problems of American, State, and Municipal government. Special emphasis is placed on comparative government, international relations, political parties, and local government. More women are serving in government positions today than ever before and the demand is rapidly increasing.

Department of HEALTH AND PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Interested primarily in the total fitness of our nation, this department has developed a broad program of health, physical training, and recreation, in direct accord with the programs of Health and Physical Fitness recommended by our government. Courses in this department also aim to prepare teachers and supervisors of health and physical education in schools of elementary, high school, and college levels, and recreation leaders on public playgrounds, in summer camps, and in clubs.

Department of HEALTH SERVICE

At right is Dr. Eva Strahan, school physician and director of health service.

Students attending TSCW never lack medical care or supervision, because the college maintains a complete hospital staff who give their entire time to safeguarding the health of the student body. Office hours are held daily for consultation. The present Hygeia Hall was erected in 1935 and the approximate cost was $40,000.

DEPARTMENT of HISTORY

The first World War stimulated an interest in the field of history, especially in the modern history period of the world. Graduate work with a major in history, leading to the degree of master of arts, has been offered since 1929-30. The subject, appealing to the interests of young women, has always enjoyed a wide degree of popularity. The purpose of this department is to give the students an understanding of the development of modern nations, how western civilization came about, and to prepare students to teach in schools.

Top left picture, left to right, Mrs. Mary Anne Duke, Miss Mary A. Mason, Dr. Ercel S. Eppright, director, Miss Florence Langford. Opposite, Miss Elizabeth Louise Sutton, Miss Ruth Fehr Steidinger, Miss Eloise Trigg Johnson. Lower left, Miss Ruby Lee Simpson, Dr. Johnie Christian, Miss Delta A. Neumann. Opposite, Mrs. Charlotte Kyle Clarke, Miss Charlotte Halgrim, Miss Grace R. Bailey, Miss Nell Morris, Mrs. Eleanor Barnes, Dr. Grace M. Augustine, Dr. Laura McLaughlin. Lower right, Miss Helen A. Bray, Miss Hazel Rennoe, Miss Gladys McGill, and Miss Laura Breihan.

Offering great cultural as well as vocational advantages, this department was founded primarily to extend knowledge about food and its nutritive values. It has developed into a science including a large body of technical knowledge about textiles and clothing, child development, housing and management, and relationships of the home.

DEPARTMENT of JOURNALISM

Extensive newspaper practice is available to TSCW journalism students in writing, editing, and advertising in this department. Students publish the college weekly newspaper, the Lass-O, the DAEDALIAN yearbook, and the Daedalian Quarterly, the latter in coordination with the English Department. Adequate instruction is given in publicity, supervising school publications, and home economics journalism.

Left, reporters, Rose Mooneyham, Dolores Wortham, Mona Joy Armstrong, Ruby Letz, and Dorothy Anderson click off stories to meet the weekly deadline.

DEPARTMENT of LIBRARY SCIENCE

A college course which includes a good background in English, the social sciences, public speaking, business training, and office management, is that of library science. TSCW is accredited by the American Library Association for the training of librarians.

Students majoring in this subject are trained for administrative work, work with the public either at the circulation desk or in the reference department, book selection, technical processes, and office work.

Though the subject of mathematics is not one that appeals universally to women, there has always been a reasonably large group who chose it as a cultural subject, or who took it preparatory to the teaching of the subject. Many graduates of the College have made and are making successful teachers of mathematics in the public schools of the country.

DEPARTMENT of MUSIC

This department, with its faculty of fifteen members who have studied in London, Paris, Berlin, and New York under noted musicians, has instilled into students the capacity and willingness for interesting but arduous work toward a single objective—knowing and becoming skilled in the music profession. The college has a symphony orchestra composed of eighty selected students, a choral club, a trained choir of thirty-six, and the most recent group to join the campus is the college band, composed of seventy members. These groups make frequent trips throughout the state and broadcast programs regularly over the radio. Students may specialize in piano, voice, violin, organ, orchestral music, and music education.

At right, in the brass section Martha Hylander is trombonist, and Marilyn Witt, Georgine Cuchener, and Dortha Hollingsworth are trumpet players.

Department of PHYSICS

Originally combined with that of chemistry and photography, this department, now separate, has been a valuable service to other majors, especially to those majoring in home economics. Courses in photography, astronomy, meteorology and navigation, physics and radio are included in this department. Photography has been closely interrelated with courses in the art department.

Department of SOCIOLOGY

Students become acquainted with some of the basic principles underlying the behavior of people in groups in this department. Demand for social work, social research, and for the teaching of social sciences has greatly increased in the past decade. Sociology majors may secure positions as social case workers, child welfare workers, government employees in child welfare, social science analysts, and social research workers in both private and governmental capacities.

At right, Mrs. Bean reviews the project of Betty Jo Zachary while Marjorie Anderson prepares a report.

During the past ten years, TSCW has graduated one hundred and fifty speech majors; with rare exceptions all have found jobs in this field. Training in speech includes the production of full length and short plays, recitals, participation in choral speaking groups, debating, and participation in producing a local radio program.

The Library Staff

The first library opened on January 1, 1904, and contained 460 volumes. No system of cataloging was in vogue, no librarian in charge, and no reading room was provided. Those now in authority recognize the fact that an adequate library is essential to the development of a college and that a school without a library is not a college. At the present time the library contains approximately 55,000 volumes, exclusive of public documents.

In the registrar's office, Francis W. Emerson, registrar, checks a student's record with Miss Zou Aikin and Miss Mary Nell Jenkins.

ADMINISTRATORS

In the auditor's office are W. E. Loveless, Joe E. Reed, auditor, and Miss Maxine Lothholz.

Back row, left to right, Mrs. Lorena Moses, Mrs. Adline Denman, Mrs. Frances Stallworth, Mrs. Alice Worth, Mrs. Mildred Phelan, Mrs. Lita H. Boyd. Seated, left to right, Miss Elberta Martin, Miss Reba M. Bucklew, Mrs. Mattie Lloyd Wooten, head of residence; Mrs. Belle Staniforth, and Mrs. Lura Hollingsworth.

Led by Charlotte "Pinky" Calvert, the senior class of '44 proved this year that four years of college hadn't dampened anyone's enthusiasm. Could anyone without what it takes put on a super stunt like that? The two highlights of the year were, of course, the Christmas formal and the spring formal. All activities were put into shape by Pinky; Vice-President Ruth Tilley; Secretary Margaret McAdams; Treasurer Margaret "Mott" King; and Representative Dorothy Bentinck, better known as "Ditty." The class has many fond memories to take away . . . winning the stunts sophomore year . . . contributing the Aggie Day Sweetheart every year . . . things like that make for pleasant recollections.

Junior Officers

The 1944 Junior Class was characterized by students who liked fun, but who realized the importance of the part they played in the world of today and that of tomorrow. Their aim was to do their utmost toward winning the war in addition to college studies and activities. Evidence of that is the fact that juniors in Brackenridge Hall sold more than $1,000 worth of bonds and stamps in one night.

Entertainment highlights for these juniors were a formal dance and a camp fire. They kept before them the serious purpose for which they came to college.

Sophomore Officers

Leaders of a war-time class preparing to be leaders in a peace-time nation. Under their guidance, a balance has been maintained between traditions of normal times and conditions of less normal times making possible many class activities, including the annual sophomore formal and Harvest Moon Picnic.

Dear Carol, as this dear year, I guess I can now say it's been with spending it with you,
and so, with the rest of the gang,
I guess I'll always remember those Sunday & hope with snacks and naidette shoes, and will be spending lots more loads of happines, I'm wishing you for always, for you deserve it. Always remember,
Frances

FRESHMAN CLASS

VIRGINIA CARROLL, Vice-President

MARY BETH FOSHEE, President

PAT YOUNG, Secretary

NAN BRADBURY, Treasurer

Freshman Officers

With the cooperation of the entire freshman class, these officers sponsored a series of interesting activities throughout the year. A special assembly program, a dance, and stunt night were included in this year's calendar. Congratulations to the officers for leading the freshmen through a successful year!

Dear Carole,
Well I don't know what to say. We have had a lot of fun together this year on Saturday night. I hope you have all the luck and happiness in the world.
Always,
Elaine

Dear Carole,
We have had such fun together this year, and I hope you have more good times to come. I am a person who always
I smile at everything I see you,
the best I wish you,
I hope

Dear Carol,
 It's been a real pleasure knowing you this year. I hope I can be in some of your classes next year. Best of luck!
 Love, Pat Pope

THE AGGIES

Traditions and customs have played an important part in the growth of what is known all over the world as the Spirit of Aggieland. These traditions have come to mean a lot to all Aggies, and to the student at T.S.C.W., they have meant just as much because, after all, the Aggie Spirit is shared by Aggies and Tessie-ites alike. "Once an Aggie, always an Aggie" is the phrase that characterizes the men who have left school to serve in the business world. Now war has come, and those Aggies of years past are in battle areas all over the world. The Spirit that was theirs during their "Fish, soph, junior, and senior years has not left them. On the campus of Aggieland in this year of 1944, the Corps is a mere portion of what it has been in the past. A majority of the 6,695 Aggies in 1942-43 have joined in the big battle against the Axis powers, and they won't be back until the war is won.

Real traditions never die, and, although World War II has changed many things about A & M, the Spirit of Aggieland is still ever present. Of the many traditions that are still in existence, the "sister and brother" relationship of T.S.C.W. and A & M is one that every Aggie will fight for to the last breath. This tradition is imbedded deep into every Aggie; the same being true of the Tessie-ite. Many memories of the four years spent at Aggieland will linger for years after graduation, but no thought will be so pleasant as that of remembering what T.S.C.W. and Tessie-ites have meant to the Aggies and the Spirit that is Aggieland. Spending week-ends in Denton, attending Corps trips with a Tessie, going to Corps Balls in Sbisca, dancing in the T.S.C.W. Union Building—all of this will be remembered always, never to be forgotten. It is a great thing to be so closely allied with you girls of T.S.C.W., and it is hoped that this tradition which has helped make the Aggies what they are will continue throughout the years.

"REV" . . . Mascot for Fourteen Years

Reveille, famous mascot of the Aggies, died this past winter after having served faithfully on the campus for fourteen years. Occupying a soft spot in the heart of each Aggie, she was honored and admired over the entire campus.

Preparing for camera lights and stardom, Rev is signed to a contract by Universal's Jack Rollings.

In 1941 the Aggies sent their football team off to New York in good style.

All-college night, one of those nights Aggies never forget. Here the master of ceremonies speaks from a platform in Sbisa Hall.

In 1939 the Aggies beat Tulane 14 to 13 in the Sugar Bowl Game. At left is a scene of the A & M band formed in the shape of the Lone Star State.

The Night Before the Corps Game

Excitement ran high on the A & M campus as well as that of TSCW before the Corps game in which the Aggies beat TCU 13-0. At right are shown some anxious Aggies helping build the traditional bonfire as a good send-off for their team.

Below, Tessie-ites join in the cheering led by an Aggie on Brackenridge Hall stones.

Aggies Choose Their Sweetheart

After the difficult job of selecting one girl to be Aggie Sweetheart was over, the nominees and the Aggies relaxed and had fun in the College Club.

Right, Flanagan, on an off-tackle play, skins, evades two tackles and struggles with two more for a gain of nine yards.

Our Aggie Sweetheart and her attendants sit in the front stands, ready to cheer their brother college.

Sweetheart of the Aggies

While the band played "Let Me Call You Sweetheart" and the TSCW "Alma Mater," Lena Marie (Cissy) Adams, class of '44, was presented between halves at the A&M-TCU game last fall as official Aggie Day Sweetheart. Ushered by Sumner Hunter, president of the A&M junior class, she was honored with a large bouquet of deep red and white chrysanthemums.

Four Years the Winner

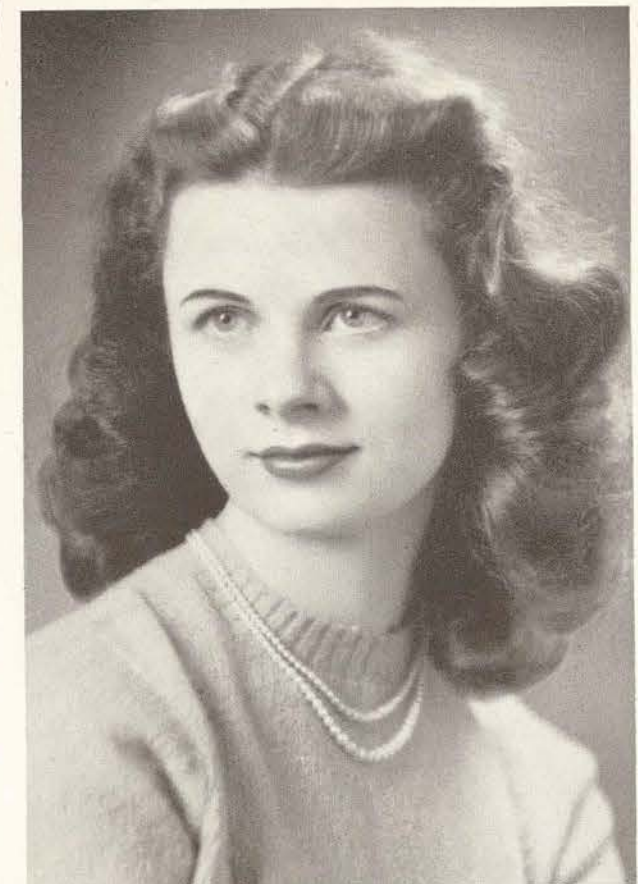

They didn't win the stunts four years in a row. They didn't give the college but one Redbud Queen. But to the Class of '44 goes the distinction of providing the Aggie Day Sweetheart—not once, but four years straight.

Aggie judges selected freshman MARY MARGARET McCARTHY to be their sweetheart in 1941.

Then, in 1942, sophomore ANNA RUTH ASHE was chosen from representatives of the four classes.

RUTH TILLEY did the honors when the class was in its junior year in '43.

Beginning of a Much-Awaited Week-End...

Come Saturday noon, when classes are out and Aggies forget temporarily that they are leading a military life, a large percentage of them turn their thumbs toward Dallas, and eventually "Tessieland."

LEAD

CHORUS

WORDS & MUSIC BY Jack H. Littlejohn

I'D RAT-HER BE A TEX-AS AG-GIE A MEAN SO AND SO THAN BE FROM RICE OR TEX-AS AND BE ROLL-ING IN OLUGH I'D RAT-HER BE OUT ON THE HIGH-WAY A THUMB-ING A RIDE THAN HAVE MISS GRE-TA GAR-BO FOR MY BLUSH-ING BRIDE FOR I AM TRUE TO THE COL-ORS OF MAR- OON AND WHITE IF WIN OR LOSE OR IF THEY'RE WRONG OR RIGHT

A favorite standby for corps trips and social get-togethers in the past, songs like this one are now sung all over the world by Aggies who are out there to see that the job is well done.

LOSE OLD PAL YOU'LL AL-WAYS HEAR ME SAY LE-T'S GO SOMEWHERE AND DRINK OUR CARES A-WAY I'D RAT-HER BE OUT ON A CORD TRIP NO DINE TO MY NAME TH-AY
HAVE MY PIC-TURE PAINT-ED IN THE HALL OF FAME JUST RAT-HER BE A PLAIN OLD AG-GIE NO SHIRT OR NO TIE I'LL

There isn't an Aggie alive, or a TSCW student either, who hasn't joined in cheerfully to sing this song. The words were written from the humorous viewpoint, but nevertheless the true feeling of loyalty to A & M is expressed.

STUDENT LIFE

Dearest Carol,
Hon, It really has been fun
knowing and being with you this year.
I think you are really swell.
I have the best of everything always. I hope to see you in class next year.

B. W. COOK

Queen of the Redbuds

Possessing the criteria for the ideal girl of TSCW, Ruth Tilley, senior, was crowned Queen of the Redbuds at the annual festival. Lovely, friendly, interested in many phases of college life, and possessing that quality referred to as charm for every occasion, our Queen is pictured on her throne smiling after she has been crowned.

Lower right, following out the yearly tradition, President Hubbard places the crown on the Queen's head.

Redbud Princesses

An expectant tenseness hung over the entire auditorium as the girls passed back to their seats on the stage. Here are pictured the group who had a certain amount of charm, who were lovely in appearance, and who were worthy of being called princesses on the campus.

The Nominees

The Judges

The judges were a group of Senior Aggies who made the trip up to Tesseland for the purpose of selecting a Round-Up Sweetheart.

WHO'S WHO
In American Colleges and Universities

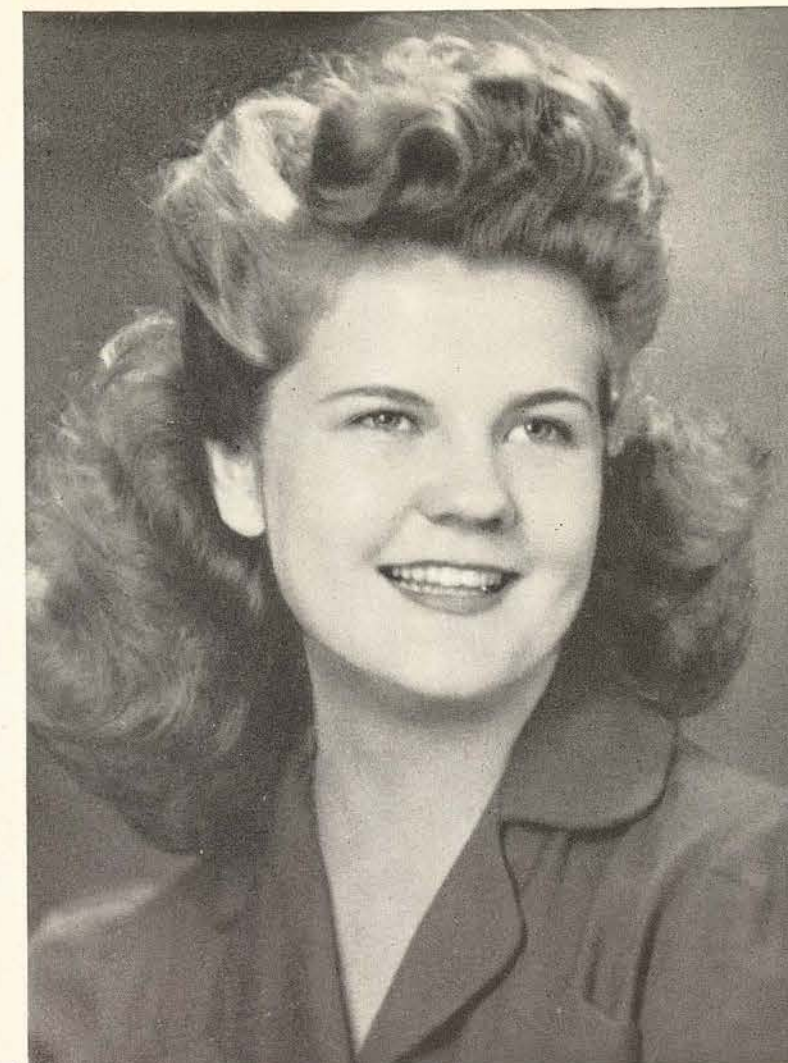

Jean Barnard

Deeply interested in campus social life, JEAN BARNARD is president of the Round Table and also L'Allegro Club. Majoring in secretarial studies, Jean plans to go to New York with roommate, Ruth Tilley, following graduation and do advertising work. Gaiety, merriment, and responsibility are three nouns which apply to this enthusiastic leader from Bryan, Texas.

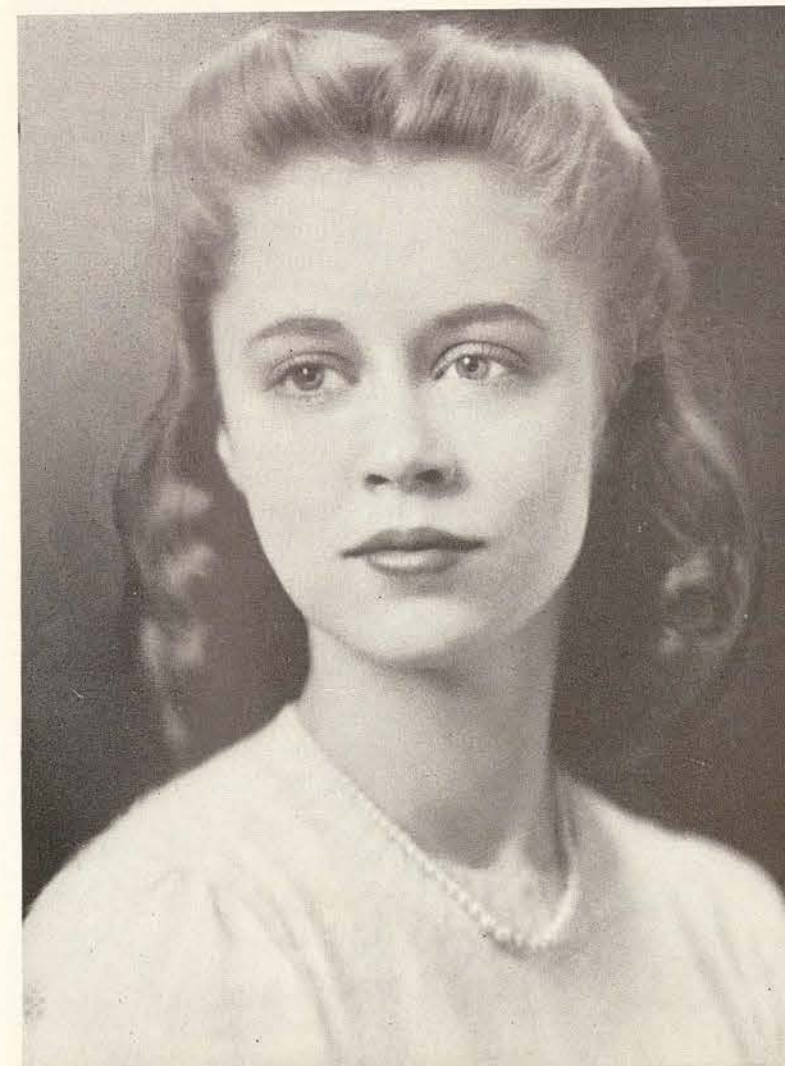

Margaret Clough

... ready with a smile for every occasion, is an institutional management major and her home is in Dallas. Margaret has been quite active in campus affairs, having served as president of the Dallas Club, vice-president of Phi Upsilon Omicron, and historian of Philomathia.

Jean Buchanan

Aside from acting in College Theater productions, this college government supporter, JEAN BUCHANAN, is secretary of the College Government Association. Jean is a senior from Grapevine, Texas, and is majoring in speech. She was sophomore class representative and has been an indispensable member of Chaparral Club for two years.

Sadie Lu Davidson

Devoting her energies to seeing that other students are advised scholastically, SADIE LU DAVIDSON is president of the Student Advisory Council. A speech major interested primarily in public speaking, she won first place in an impromptu speaking contest in a Louisiana meet when she was a freshman. Last year she won the annual TSCW Extemporaneous Speaking Contest. A member of Alpha Lambda Delta and Alpha Chi, two honorary scholastic organizations, Sadie's after-college plans include teaching.

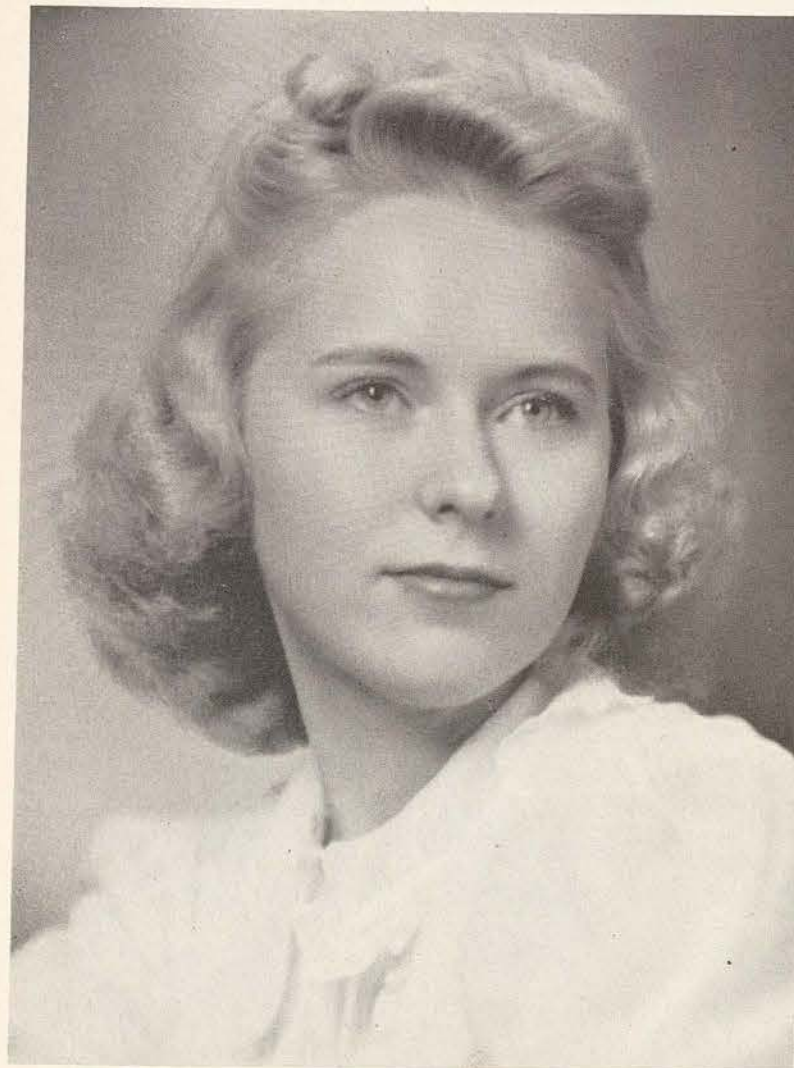

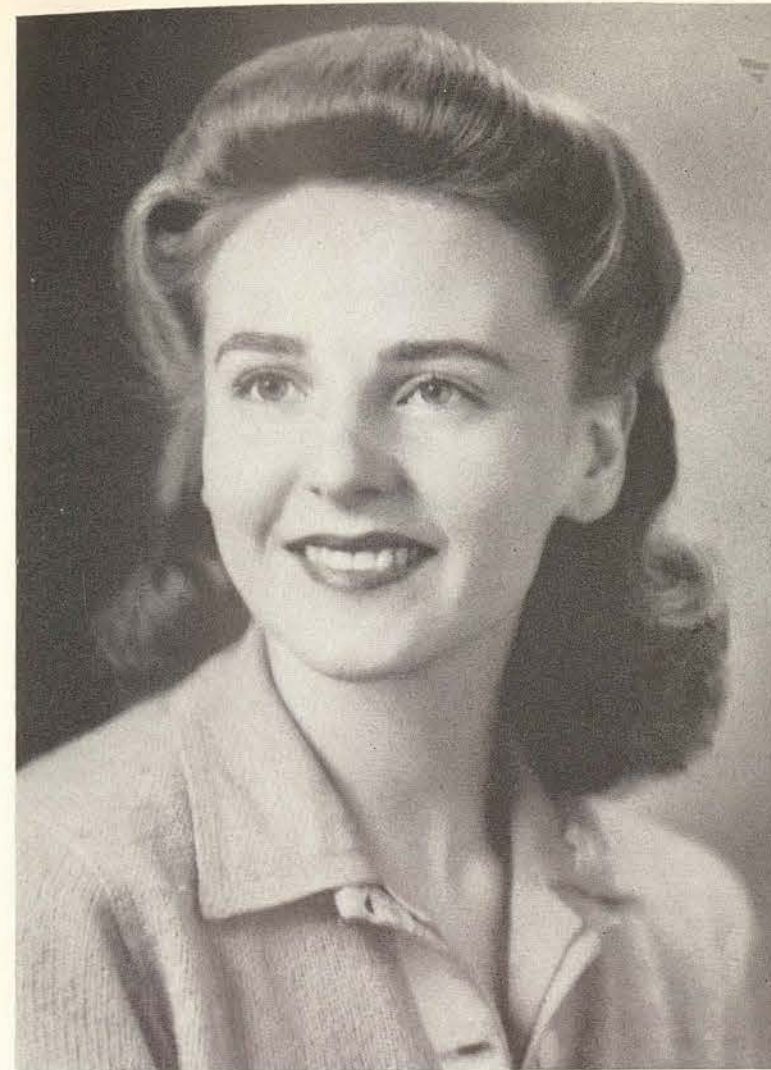

Peggy Dietze

... a dependable campus leader, is president of the Student Finance Council and a member of the Phi Upsilon Omicron and Mary Swartz Rose Clubs. A home economics major, Peggy has served as president of Sayers Hall and councilor in Brack and Sayers. She comes from San Antonio.

Cornelia Fleeman

... petite blonde senior who is majoring in home economics, hails from Fort Smith, Arkansas. She has been quite helpful on the Student Advisory Council, of which she is vice-president. She is a member of Chaparral Club and Mary Swartz Rose Club. "Corny," by the way, is getting married graduation day and will live probably in Memphis, Tennessee.

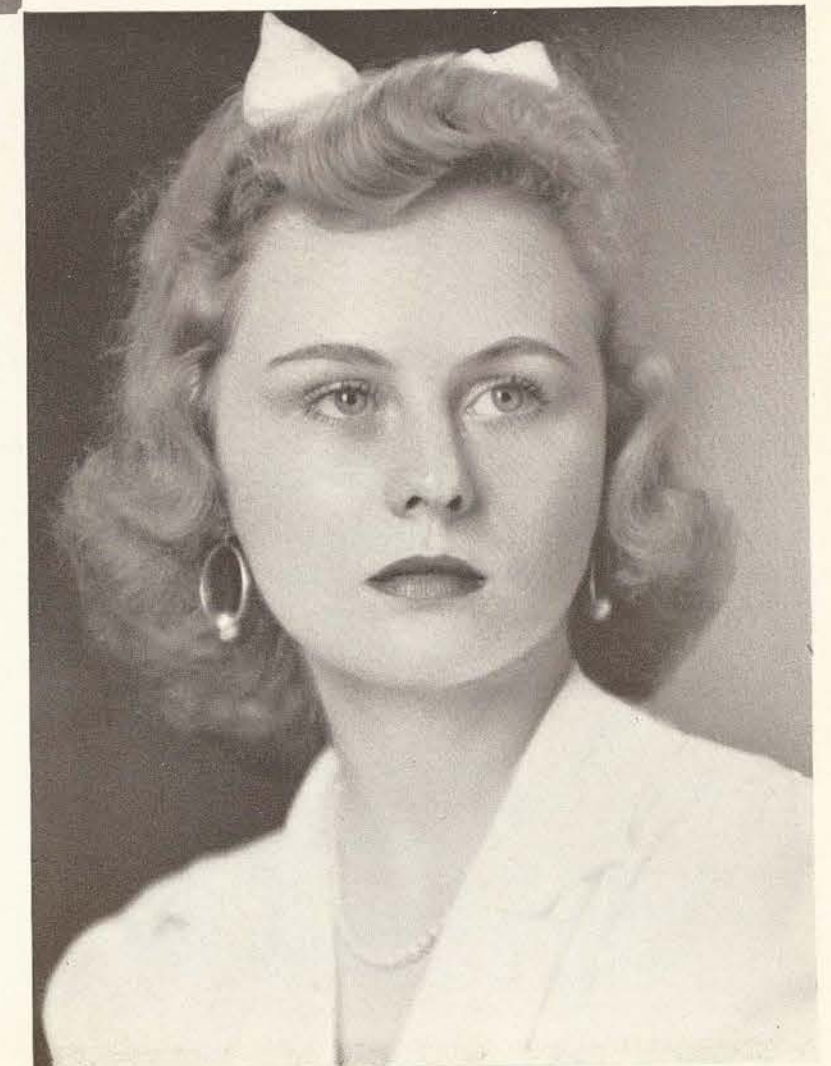

Doris Dowdell

An earnest student and persistent worker, DORIS DOWDELL has shown genuine ability in her major subject, foods and nutrition. Hailing from Dallas, Texas, this blonde, blue-eyed lass has taken an active part in clubs on the campus, being vice-president of L'Allegro Club. She is also president of Stoddard Hall, the senior dormitory. Doris, a red bud princess last year, plans to be a hospital dietitian when she completes college education.

Margaret Fox

Being a writer of poetry, MARGARET Fox is well qualified for her position as editor of the Daedalian Quarterly. Self-confident, Margaret is a past president of the Press Club, a member of the Journalism and L'Allegro Clubs, and Theta Sigma Phi. She is also senior editor of the DAEDALIAN Yearbook. A journalism major from Fort Worth, she plans to go into journalistic work or aviation in South America after graduation.

Joy Johnson

Serving as president of the junior class, Joy JOHNSON has taken the initiative in the difficult planning of class dances and socials. Majoring in foreign trade, brown-eyed, blonde Joy wants to get into that field of work and ultimately work for an exporting and importing firm in South America. Gay and energetic, this junior from Terrell is a member of Philomathia Club, Business and Professional Women's Club, and is one of the two representatives of the business department on the Student Advisory Council.

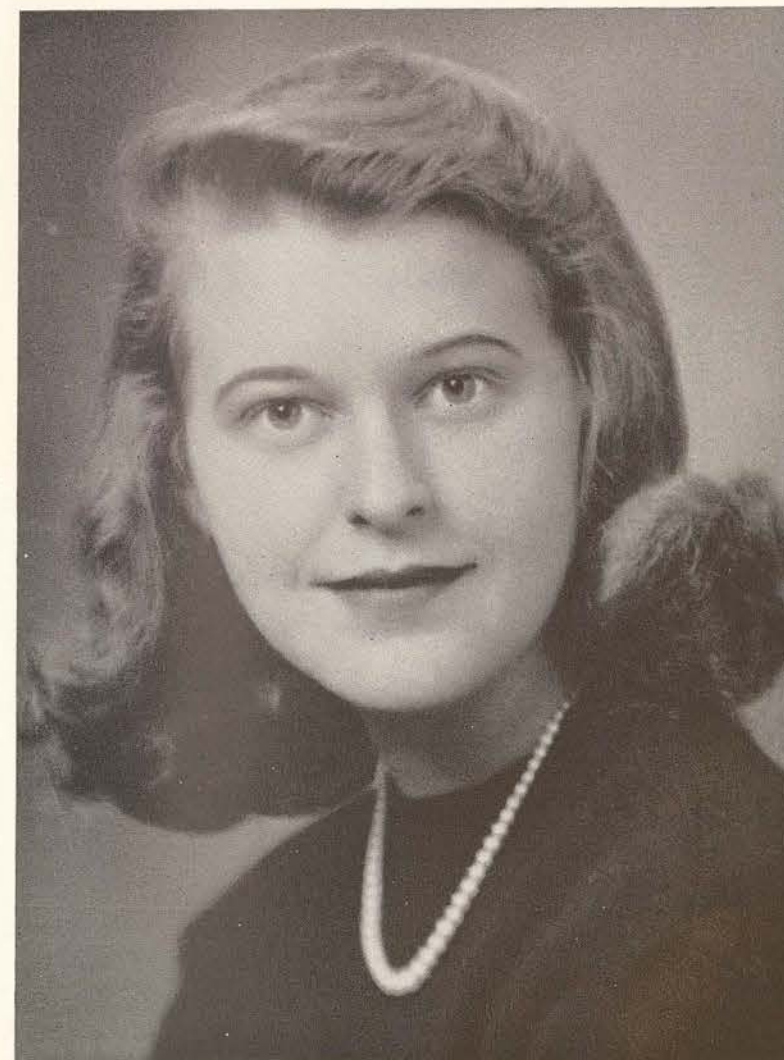

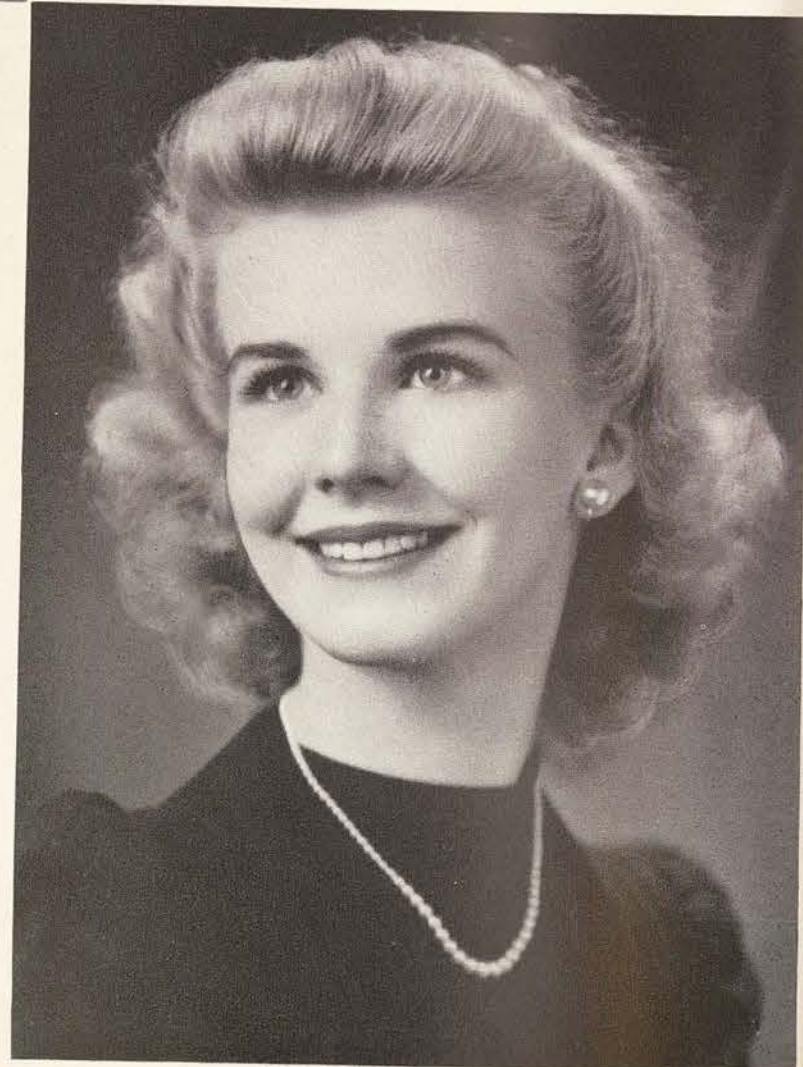

Elizabeth Maxwell

... affectionately dubbed "Liz," made other students take notice when she carried the lead in Thornton Wilder's play, "Our Town." She is a member of Mary Eleanor Brackenridge Club, and is also active in the Daughters of American Revolution chapter on the campus. Liz, a local student, is a senior majoring in speech.

Margaret King

Blonde, blue-eyed MARGARET KING, known to her friends as "Mott," is vice-president of the college government association and of the senior class. From Washington, D. C., and majoring in vocational home economics, Margaret plans to teach when she finishes. She is a member of the Philomathia Club and president of the Mary Swartz Rose Club.

Mary Jane Richardson

An efficient president of Philomathia Literary Club, MARY JANE RICHARDSON is a wide-awake, energetic student and a member of two honorary organizations on the campus, Alpha Kappa Delta and Alpha Lambda Delta. Coming from Little Rock, Arkansas, Mary Jane has been quite helpful on the Student Advisory Council. She is a sociology major.

Flo Saenger

President of the summer College Government Association, was FLO SAENGER, a major in music education. From Kerrville, Texas, this girl with the brown hair, sky-blue eyes has served as president of the Professional Music Club and Stoddard Hall, secretary of the Mary Eleanor Brackenridge Club, a member of the Student Council of Religious Activities, ensemble and choir, and was a red bud princess last year. Graduating in February, Flo will teach a short time and then take training as a link trainer instructor.

Rose Samsel

Quiet, efficient ROSE SAMSEL is one of the main reasons there is a Lass-O every Friday, and as long as she is its editor students know there will be. From Evanston, Illinois, this green-eyed brunette has been active in fields other than journalism, having been finance chairman of her hall while in Houston and Brack, vice-president of the Journalism Club last year, and secretary of her junior class. She is also a member of Theta Sigma Phi, and the Mathematics Club. She was junior editor of the annual last year and was a member of the War Council.

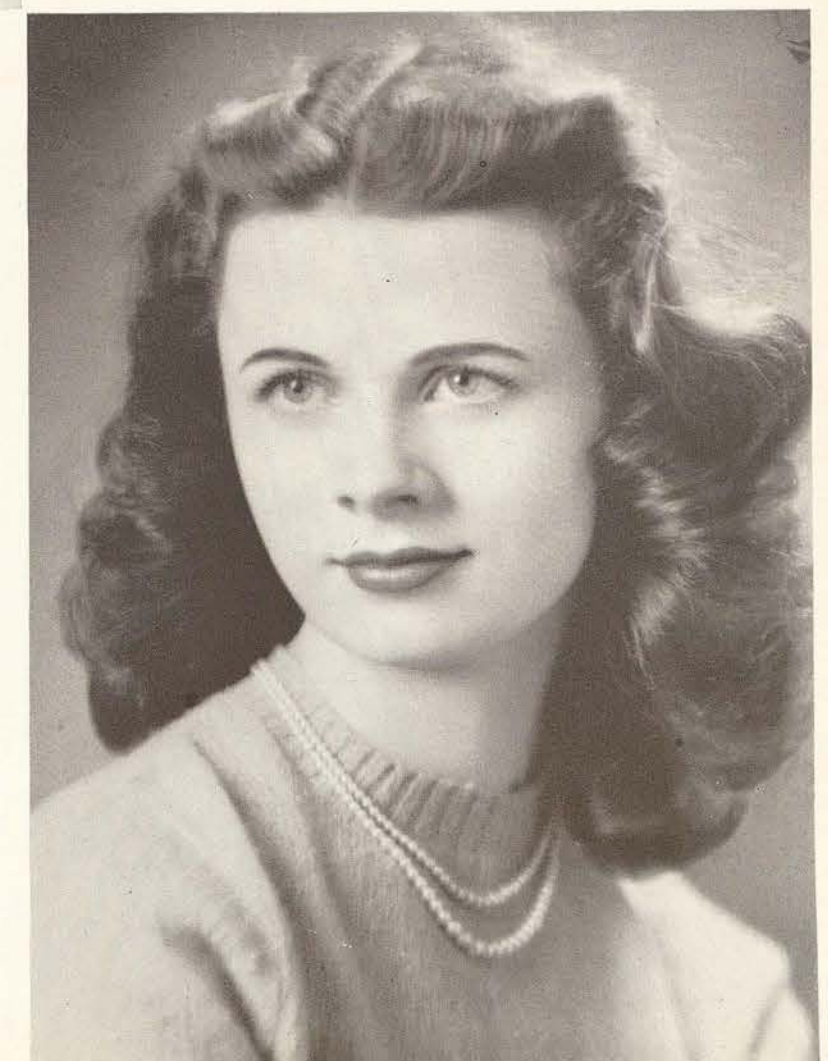

Mary Frances Stubblefield

... is the first sophomore ever to become a member of Who's Who on the TSCW campus. President of the Student Council of Religious Activities, this brown-eyed brunette is a speech major from Gorman, Texas, and is preparing to teach after graduation. Studious, serious, Mary Frances has promoted campus interest in the SCRA with her own interest and work.

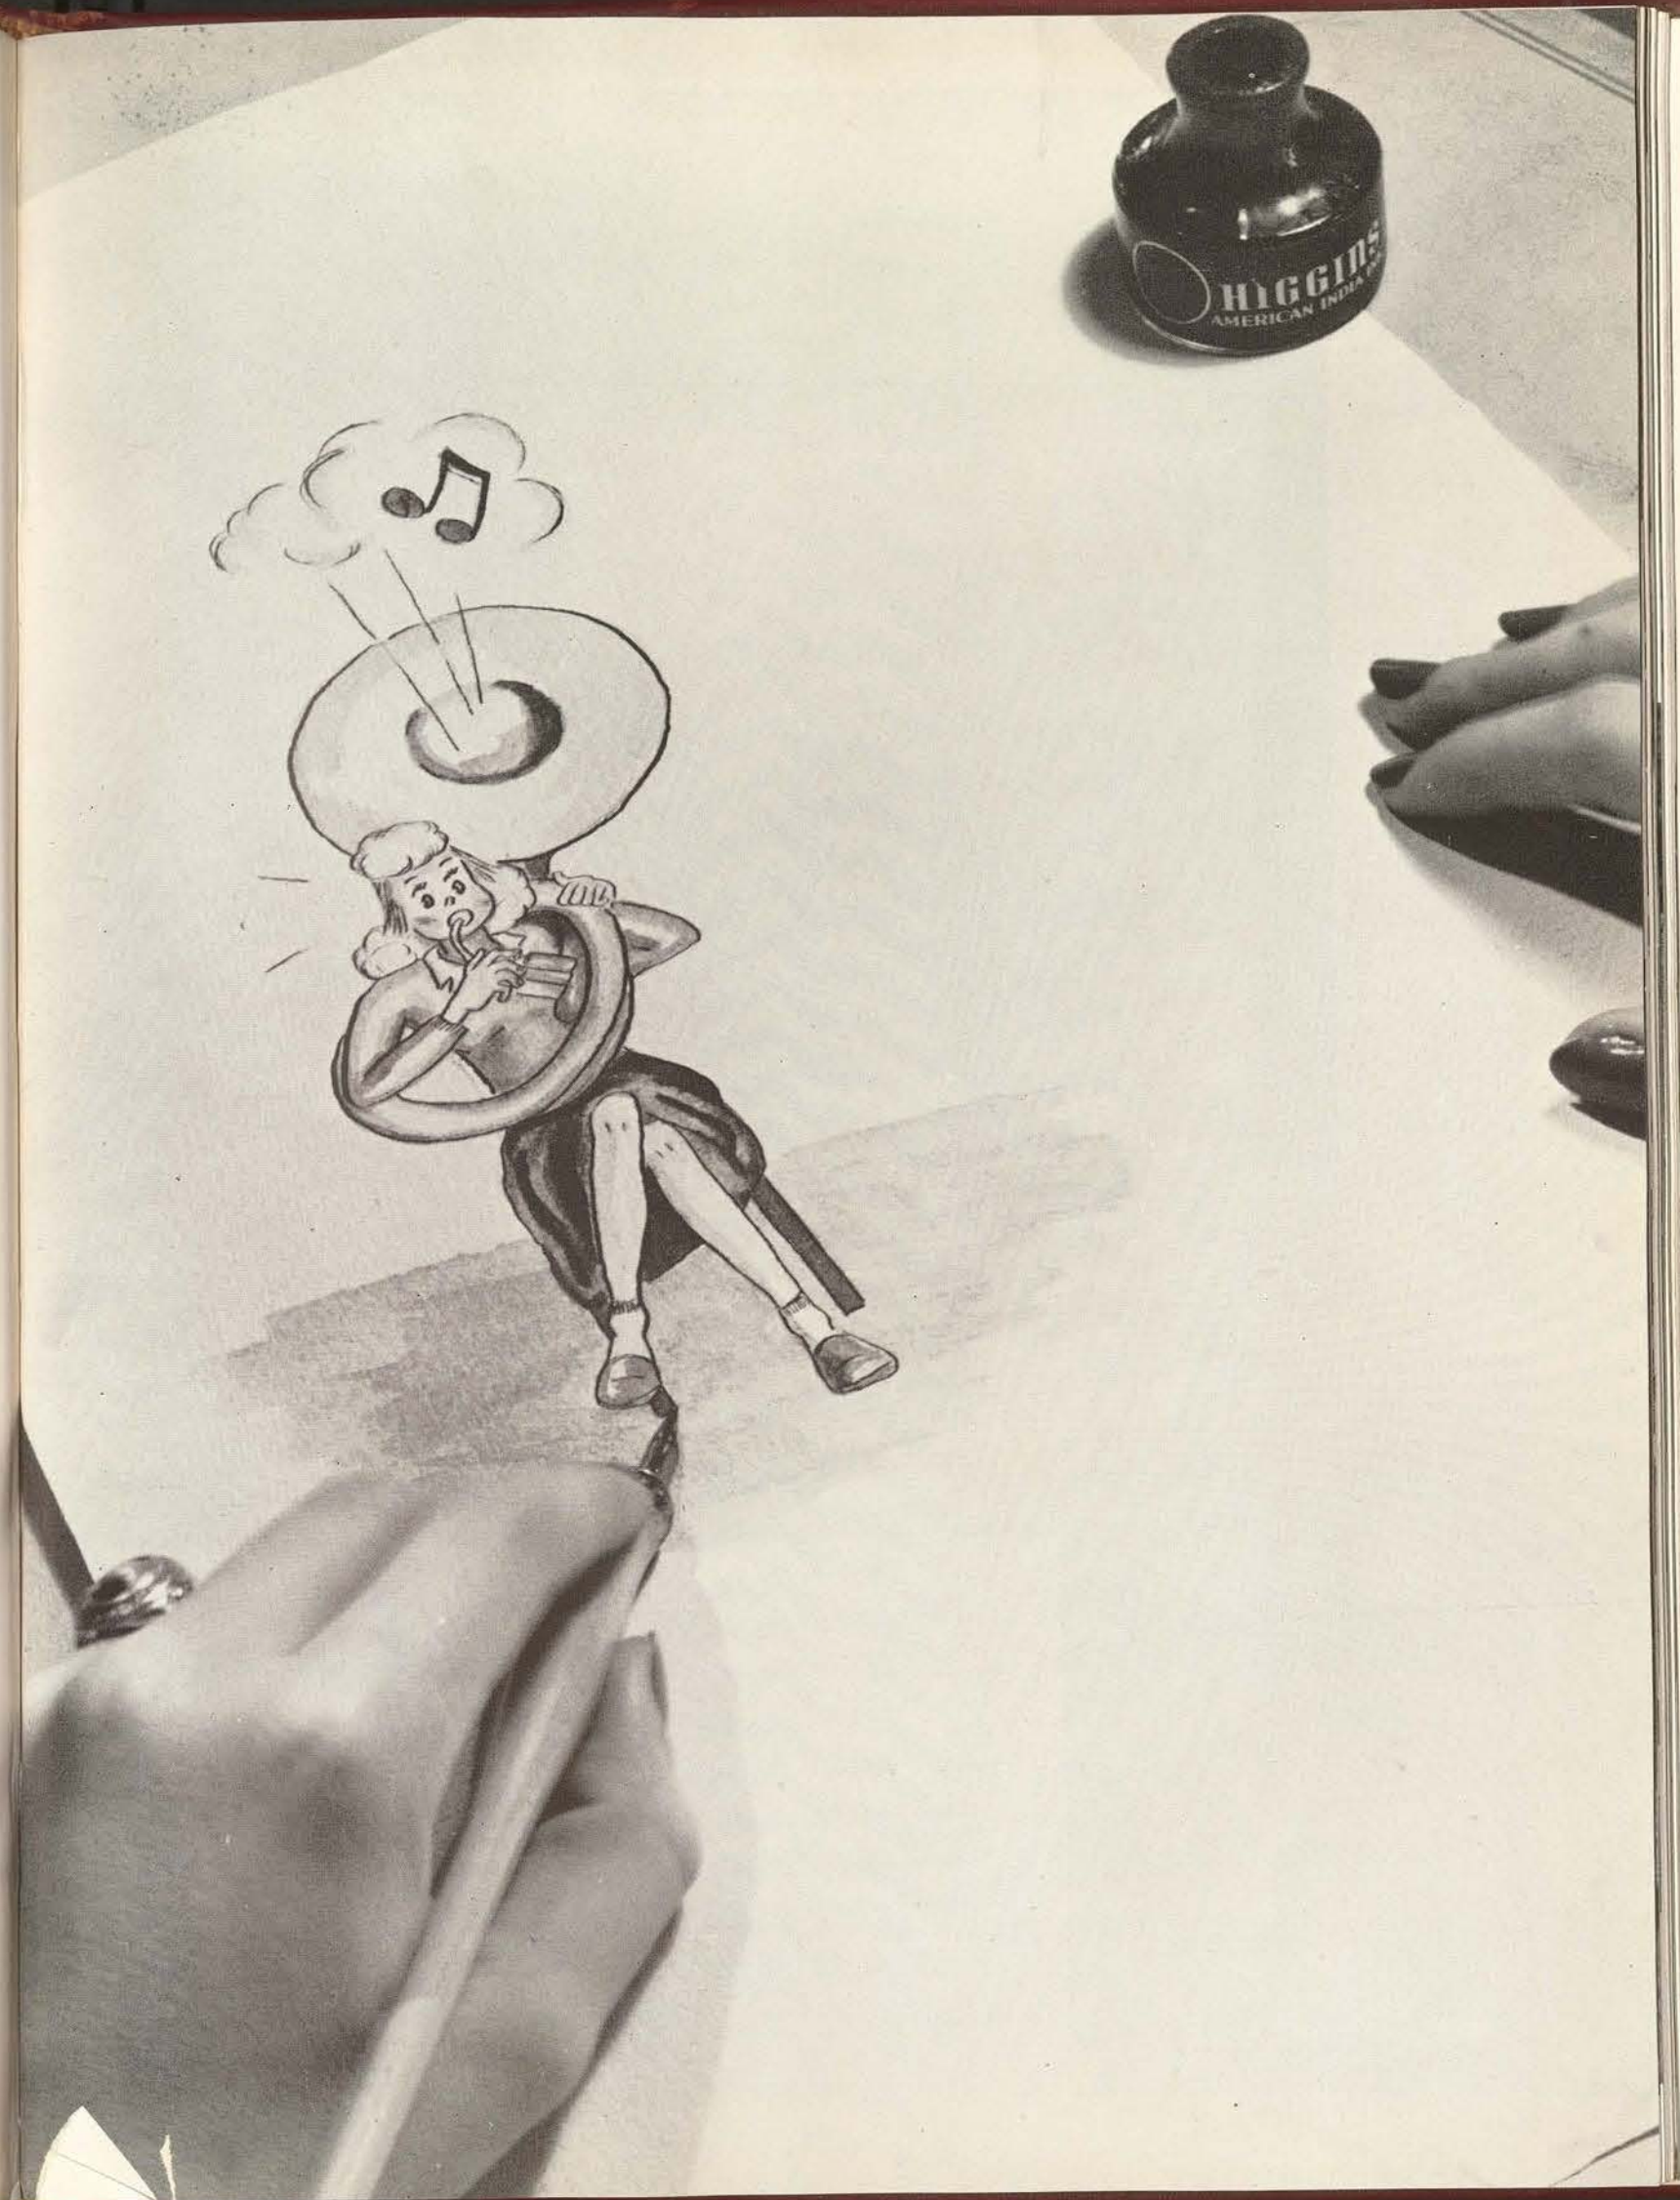

Ruth Tilley

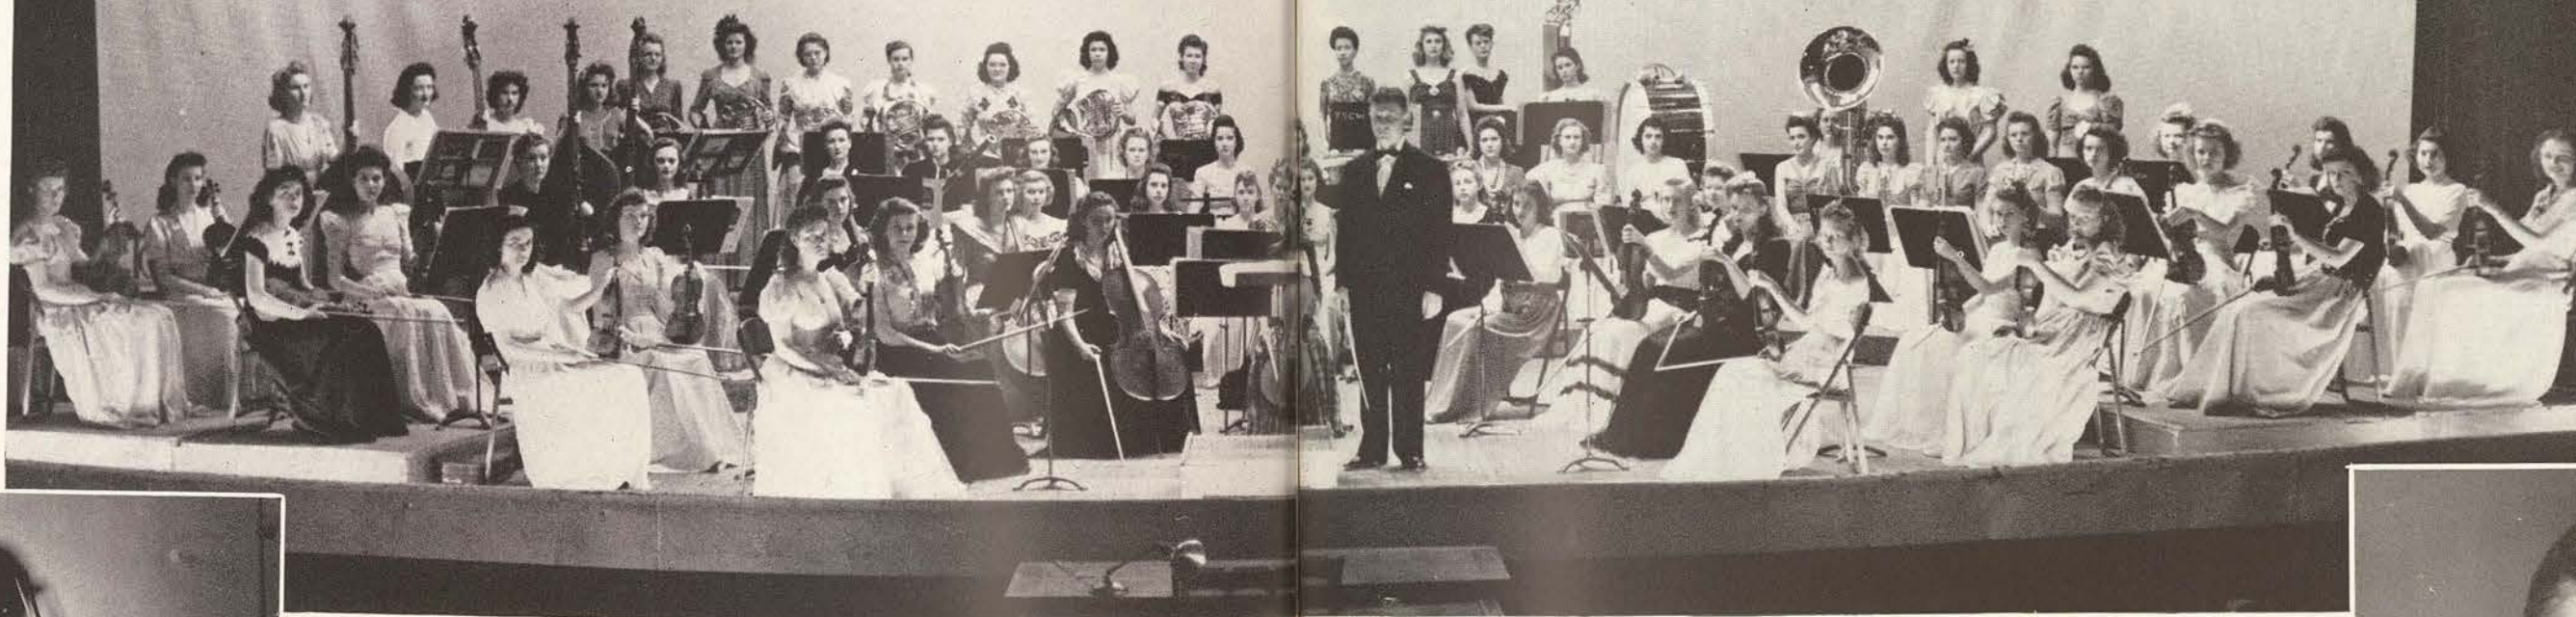

Distinctive beauty, sweet disposition, and brains combine to make up RUTH TILLEY, last year's Aggie Day Sweetheart. Majoring in sociology and double minoring in government and history, Ruth Plans to go to New York and do social work following graduation. She is a member of the Sociology Club and the Chaparral Club. She is vice-president of the senior class.

★ Not pictured but automatically a member of Who's Who is EDITH ELLISON, who was included in this list last year.

Four Violinists

... who contributed much to the Symphony Orchestra concert were, left to right, Dorothy Hart, Gladys Mack, Emerald Zgourides, and Miriam Marston.

Concert mistress for the second semester was Murl Dean Hancock, at right.

The Modern Choir

Dearest Carol,

You, my dear nut, are a very sweet nut, but you are so cracked. But may I wish you all the success and happiness in the world while you raise Jimmy Jr., Mary Nellie, Caroline, Francesca, and Elizabeth Ann. All kidding aside, you are lots of fun and I've enjoyed being with you so very much this year in college. Keep your smiling face, and sparkling personality (when it's polished) and be very happy.

Love
Betty

Mr. Pim Passes By

Concluding action in "Mr. Pim Passes By," first College Theater production of the fall season, finds the affairs of the Marden household running smoothly once again, with a "and they all lived happily ever" impression. Left to right are Dinah, Mr. Pim, Olivia, George, and Brian.

THE CAST

Anne	{ LYDA MERCHANT MARY JANE HURLEY	Brian Strange	MARIAN KERN
Mr. Pim	{ PAT INGRAM BARBARA ANN MURPHY	Olivia Marden	MILDRED WOOLEY
Dinah	{ MARY JANE HURLEY LYDA MERCHANT	George Marden	RUTH JOY ALEXANDER
		Lady Marden	SUZZANNE SELLERS
		Director	MISS MARY K. SANDS

Helping supply romance for this gay comedy were Brian Strange, the modern artist, portrayed by Marian Kern, and Dinah, lovely daughter of a rather strict father, played on alternate nights by Mary Jane Hurley and Lyda Merchant.

The typical English gentleman and his not quite so conventional wife were portrayed by Mildred Wooley and Ruth Joy Alexander. Entire action takes place in the morning room of Marden House.

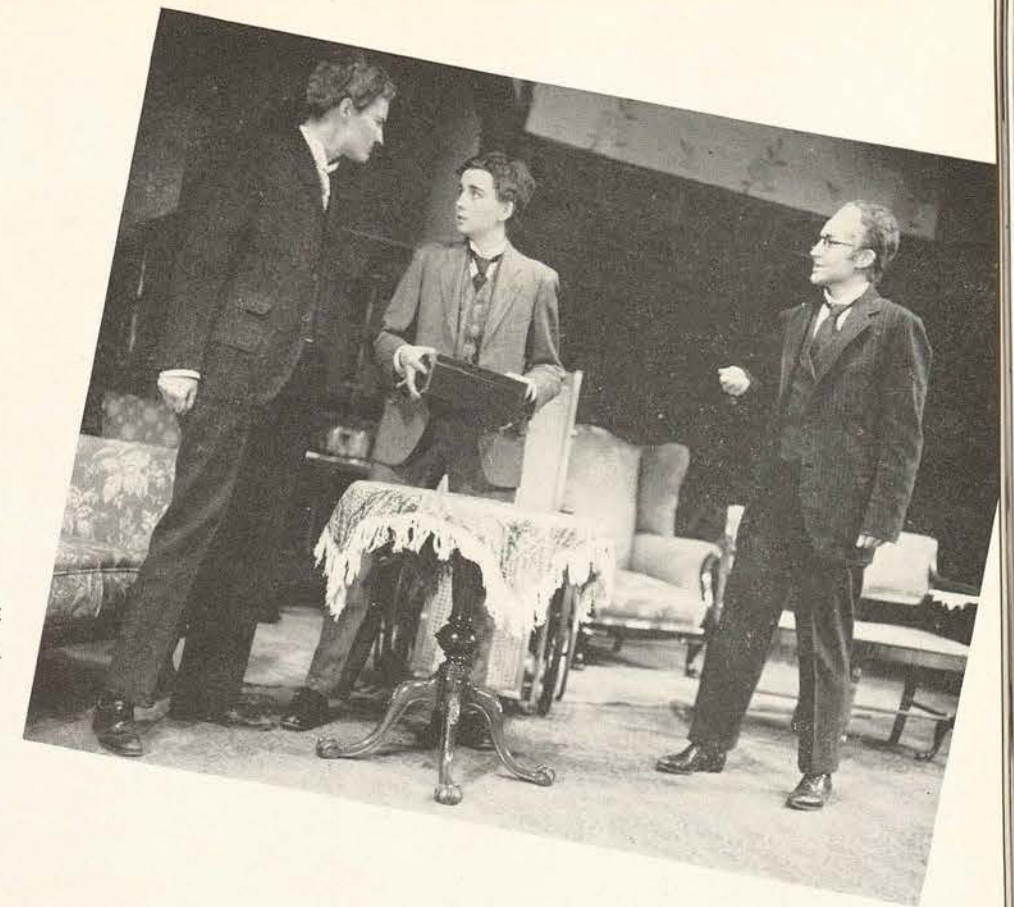

THE LITTLE FOXES

This highly dramatic play revolves around a girl, Regina, and her two brothers who try to exploit the South. Above is a scene portraying the family meeting after Horace has first come home.

THE CAST

		Director	G. CHARLES NIEMEYER

Leo brings the stolen cash box home after he has spent the bonds.

Horace and Regina have an argument after he refuses to promise any money to the "cause."

Horace begs Regina to get him the medicine.

The Emperor's New Clothes

Freshman speech students presented this comedy of an emperor's foolish love of clothes plus two rogues, Zar and Zan, who posed as weavers in a search for adventure. The clothes Zar and Zan wove caused much excitement in the royal court. Above, the emperor is shown on the Street of the Royal Weavers after he has come to have his clothes woven. The "rogues" are telling him how fine they will be.

Dancers sway to weird oriental music, a feature of this presentation by the Children's Theater.

The Nativity

In December, 1936, the first performance of "The Story of the Christ Child" as written by President L. H. Hubbard was presented on the TSCW campus. Since then more than 30,000 persons have seen this simple, yet awe-inspiring play. Portraying the Virgin Mary in the eighth consecutive production was Mildred Wooley, left.

White robed Angels appear at the beginning of the Pageant to announce its purpose to be "to capture the spirit and meaning of the Savior's birth, the beauty and symbolism of this far-reaching drama." At center left, Mary reveals the Angel's announcement that she is to bear the Christ Child to Miriam, portrayed by Jeanne Denman in one of the most beautiful of the nine scenes of the play.

Mary and Joseph, played by Mary Alice Putnam, below, kneel before the new-born Child in the adoration scene. The combined efforts of the departments of Music and Speech make possible the annual traditional Pageant.

The Verse Speaking Choir

CELEBRITIES

SIGMUND ROMBERG appeared on the Concert and Drama Series to combine truly classical music with popular numbers and pleased one of the largest audiences of the year.

MISS MARY BECKER, violinist, drew the attention of the audience with her ability to handle intricate violin numbers.

An over-all aspect of the war and what's to follow was given by UPTON CLOSE, NBC commentator, in March when he spoke on "Where We Stand in the World Today."

LOUIS BROMFIELD, author of such novels as "The Rains Came" and "Night in Bombay," spoke on "Winning the War on the Home Front" before a student-faculty audience this spring. His recent articles on the economic situation in this country have brought notable comment.

Known for his scoops on national issues and accuracy of prediction, FULTON LEWIS, JR., stopped here long enough last October to give us the "straight dope" on what was happening in Washington. At left the popular radio columnist stops for an "off the record" chat with Lass-O editor Rose Samsel.

Ranging in his selections from strict classics to modern compositions, ISAAC STERN, concert violinist, captured the attention of his audience with the sweet tones of his instrument and the almost incredibly deft movements of his fingers.

"Carmen"

Presented by the Philadelphia Opera Company, "Carmen," portraying the tragedy of a peasant girl and her soldier sweetheart, received one of the largest audiences of the year. At right in the tavern scene are shown Carmen, played by Alice Howland, and Escamillo, Toreador, played by Floyd Worthington, who show more than a mere attraction for each other.

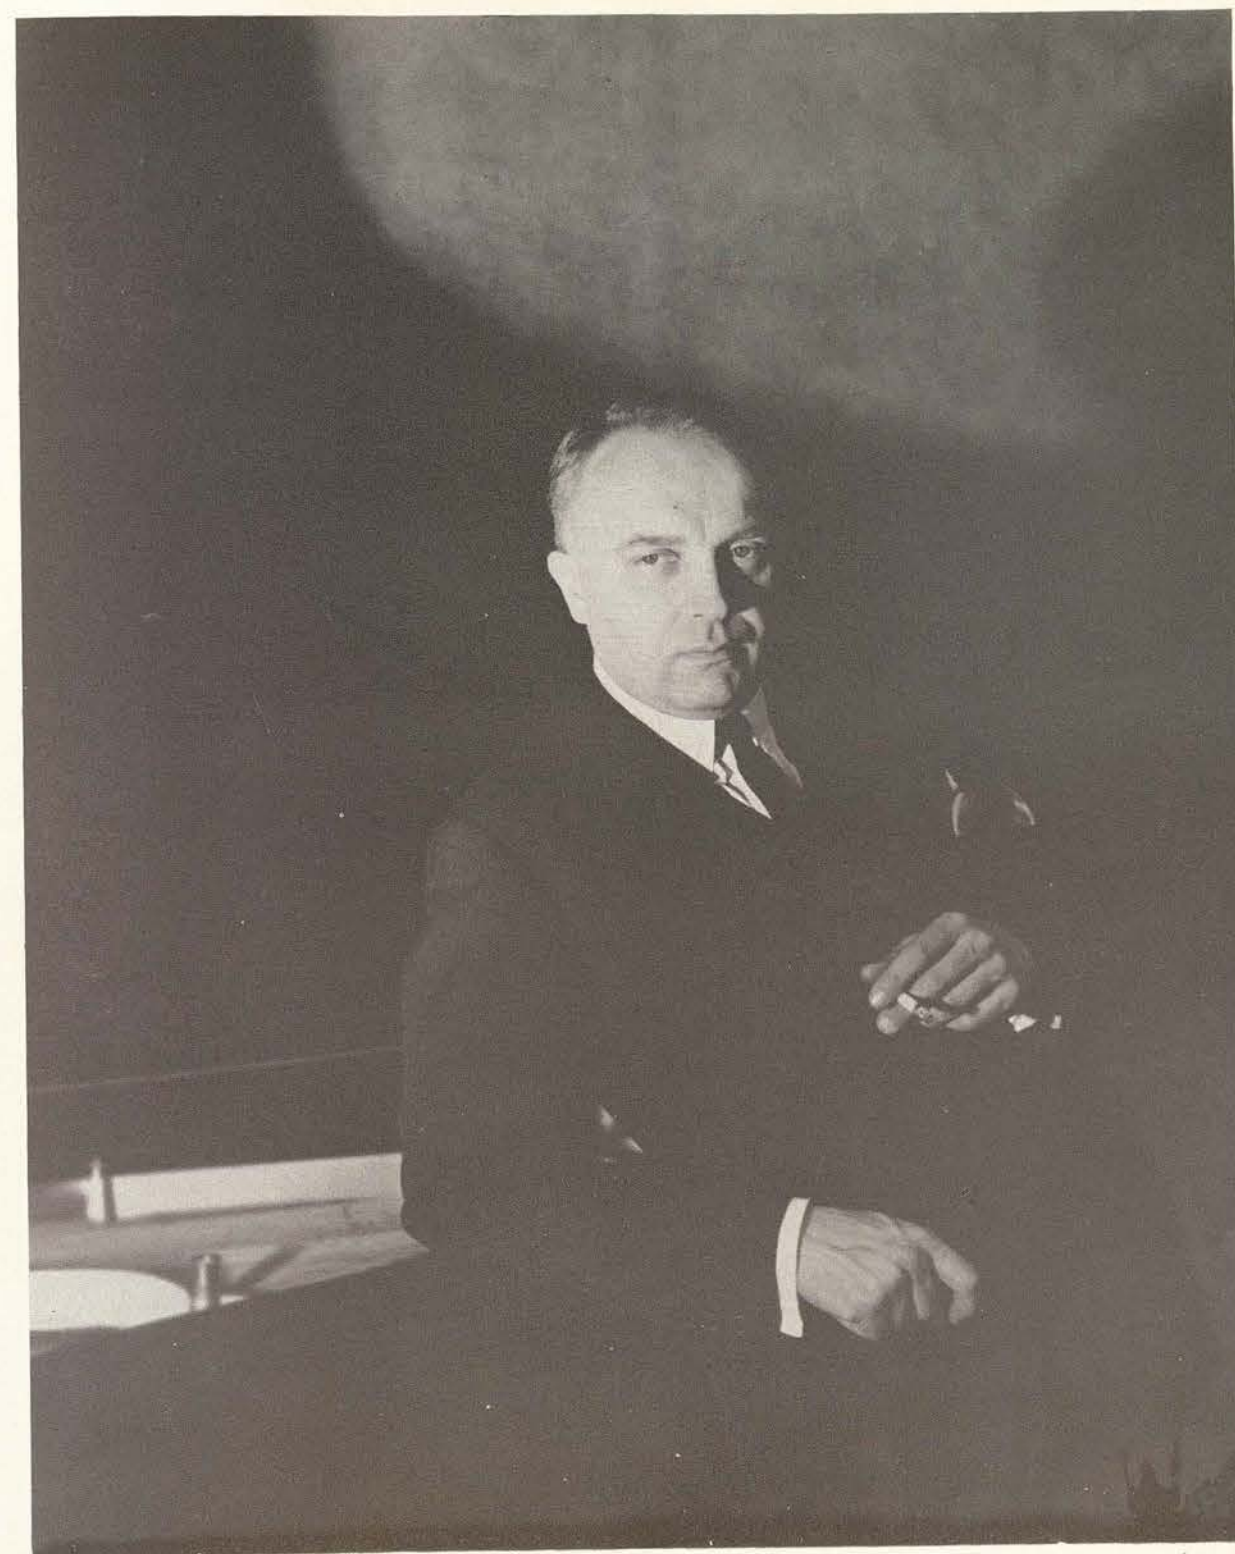

Below are shown all the members of that scene. Escamillo stands on the table to drink a toast before leaving with his admirers.

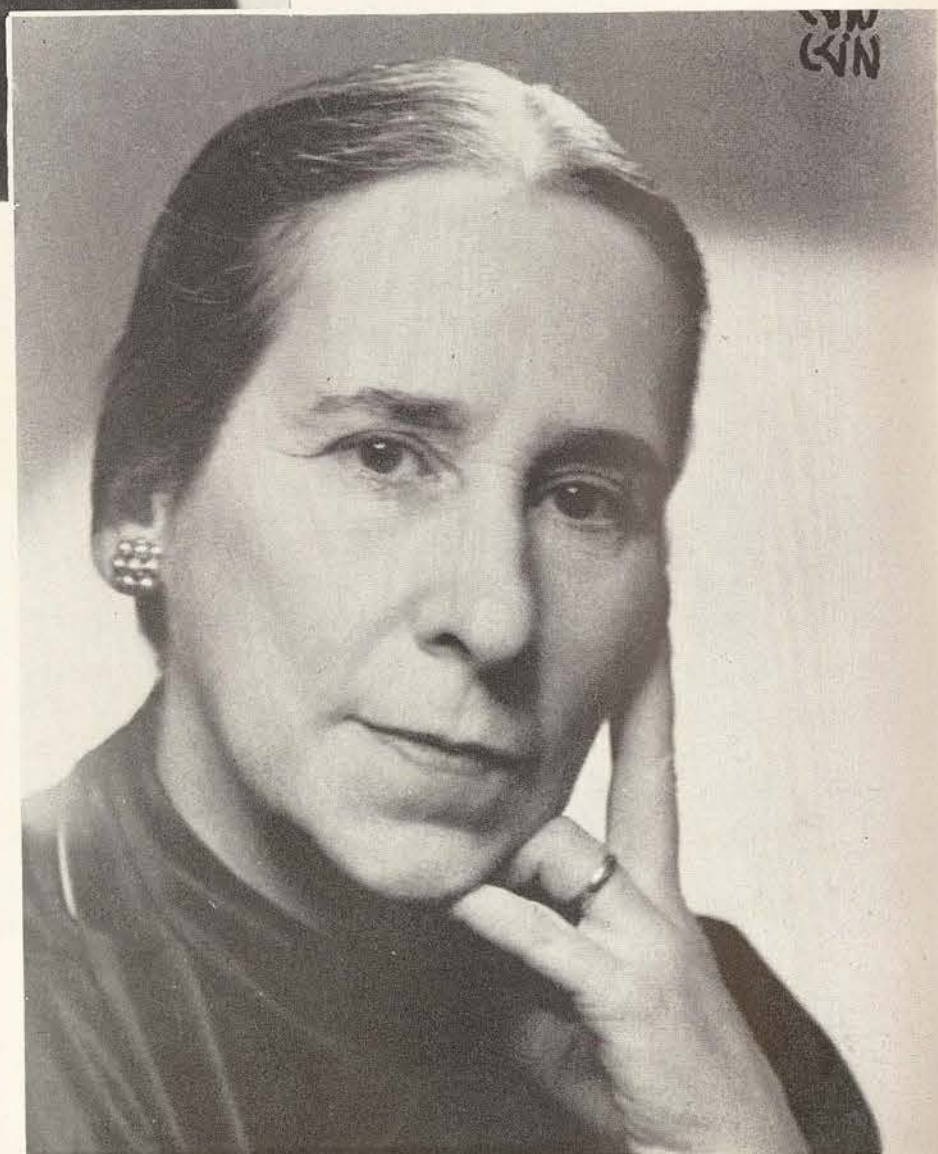

Thrilling TSCW students with her rich, full voice this spring was MISS HELEN TRAUBEL, dramatic soprano of the Metropolitan Opera. Smiling and gracious, her program included negro spirituals and non-classical numbers as well as selections from Wagner, Beethoven, Schubert, and Strauss.

ROBERT CASADESUS, renowned French pianist, soloist, and composer, gave a technical and exceptionally brilliant program in a return engagement to students and faculty in February. He is a member of the New York Philharmonic-Symphony.

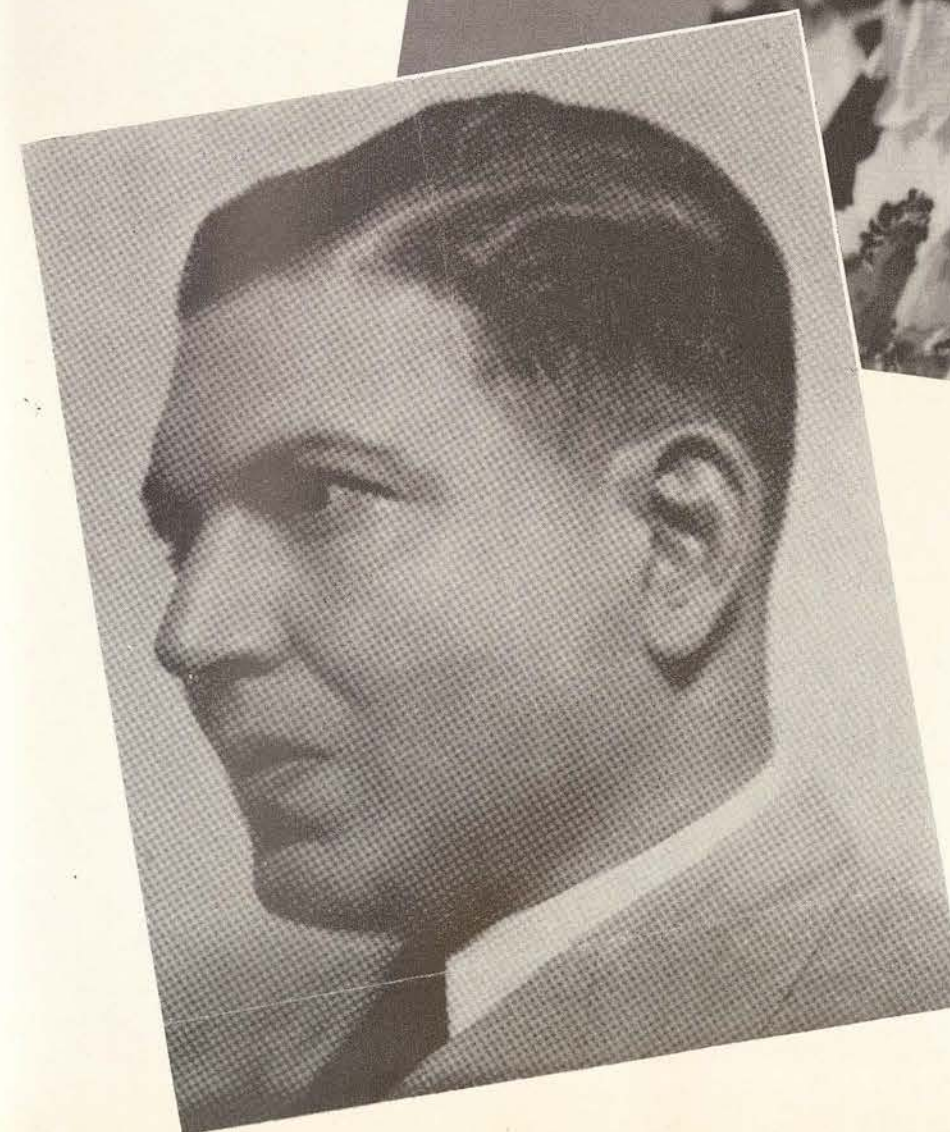

ALEXANDER SCHREINER, American organist, who formerly played in the Salt Lake City Tabernacle, appeared before a large audience in April. He made other appearances at the University of Texas, Wichita Falls, Marshall, and San Antonio after coming to this campus.

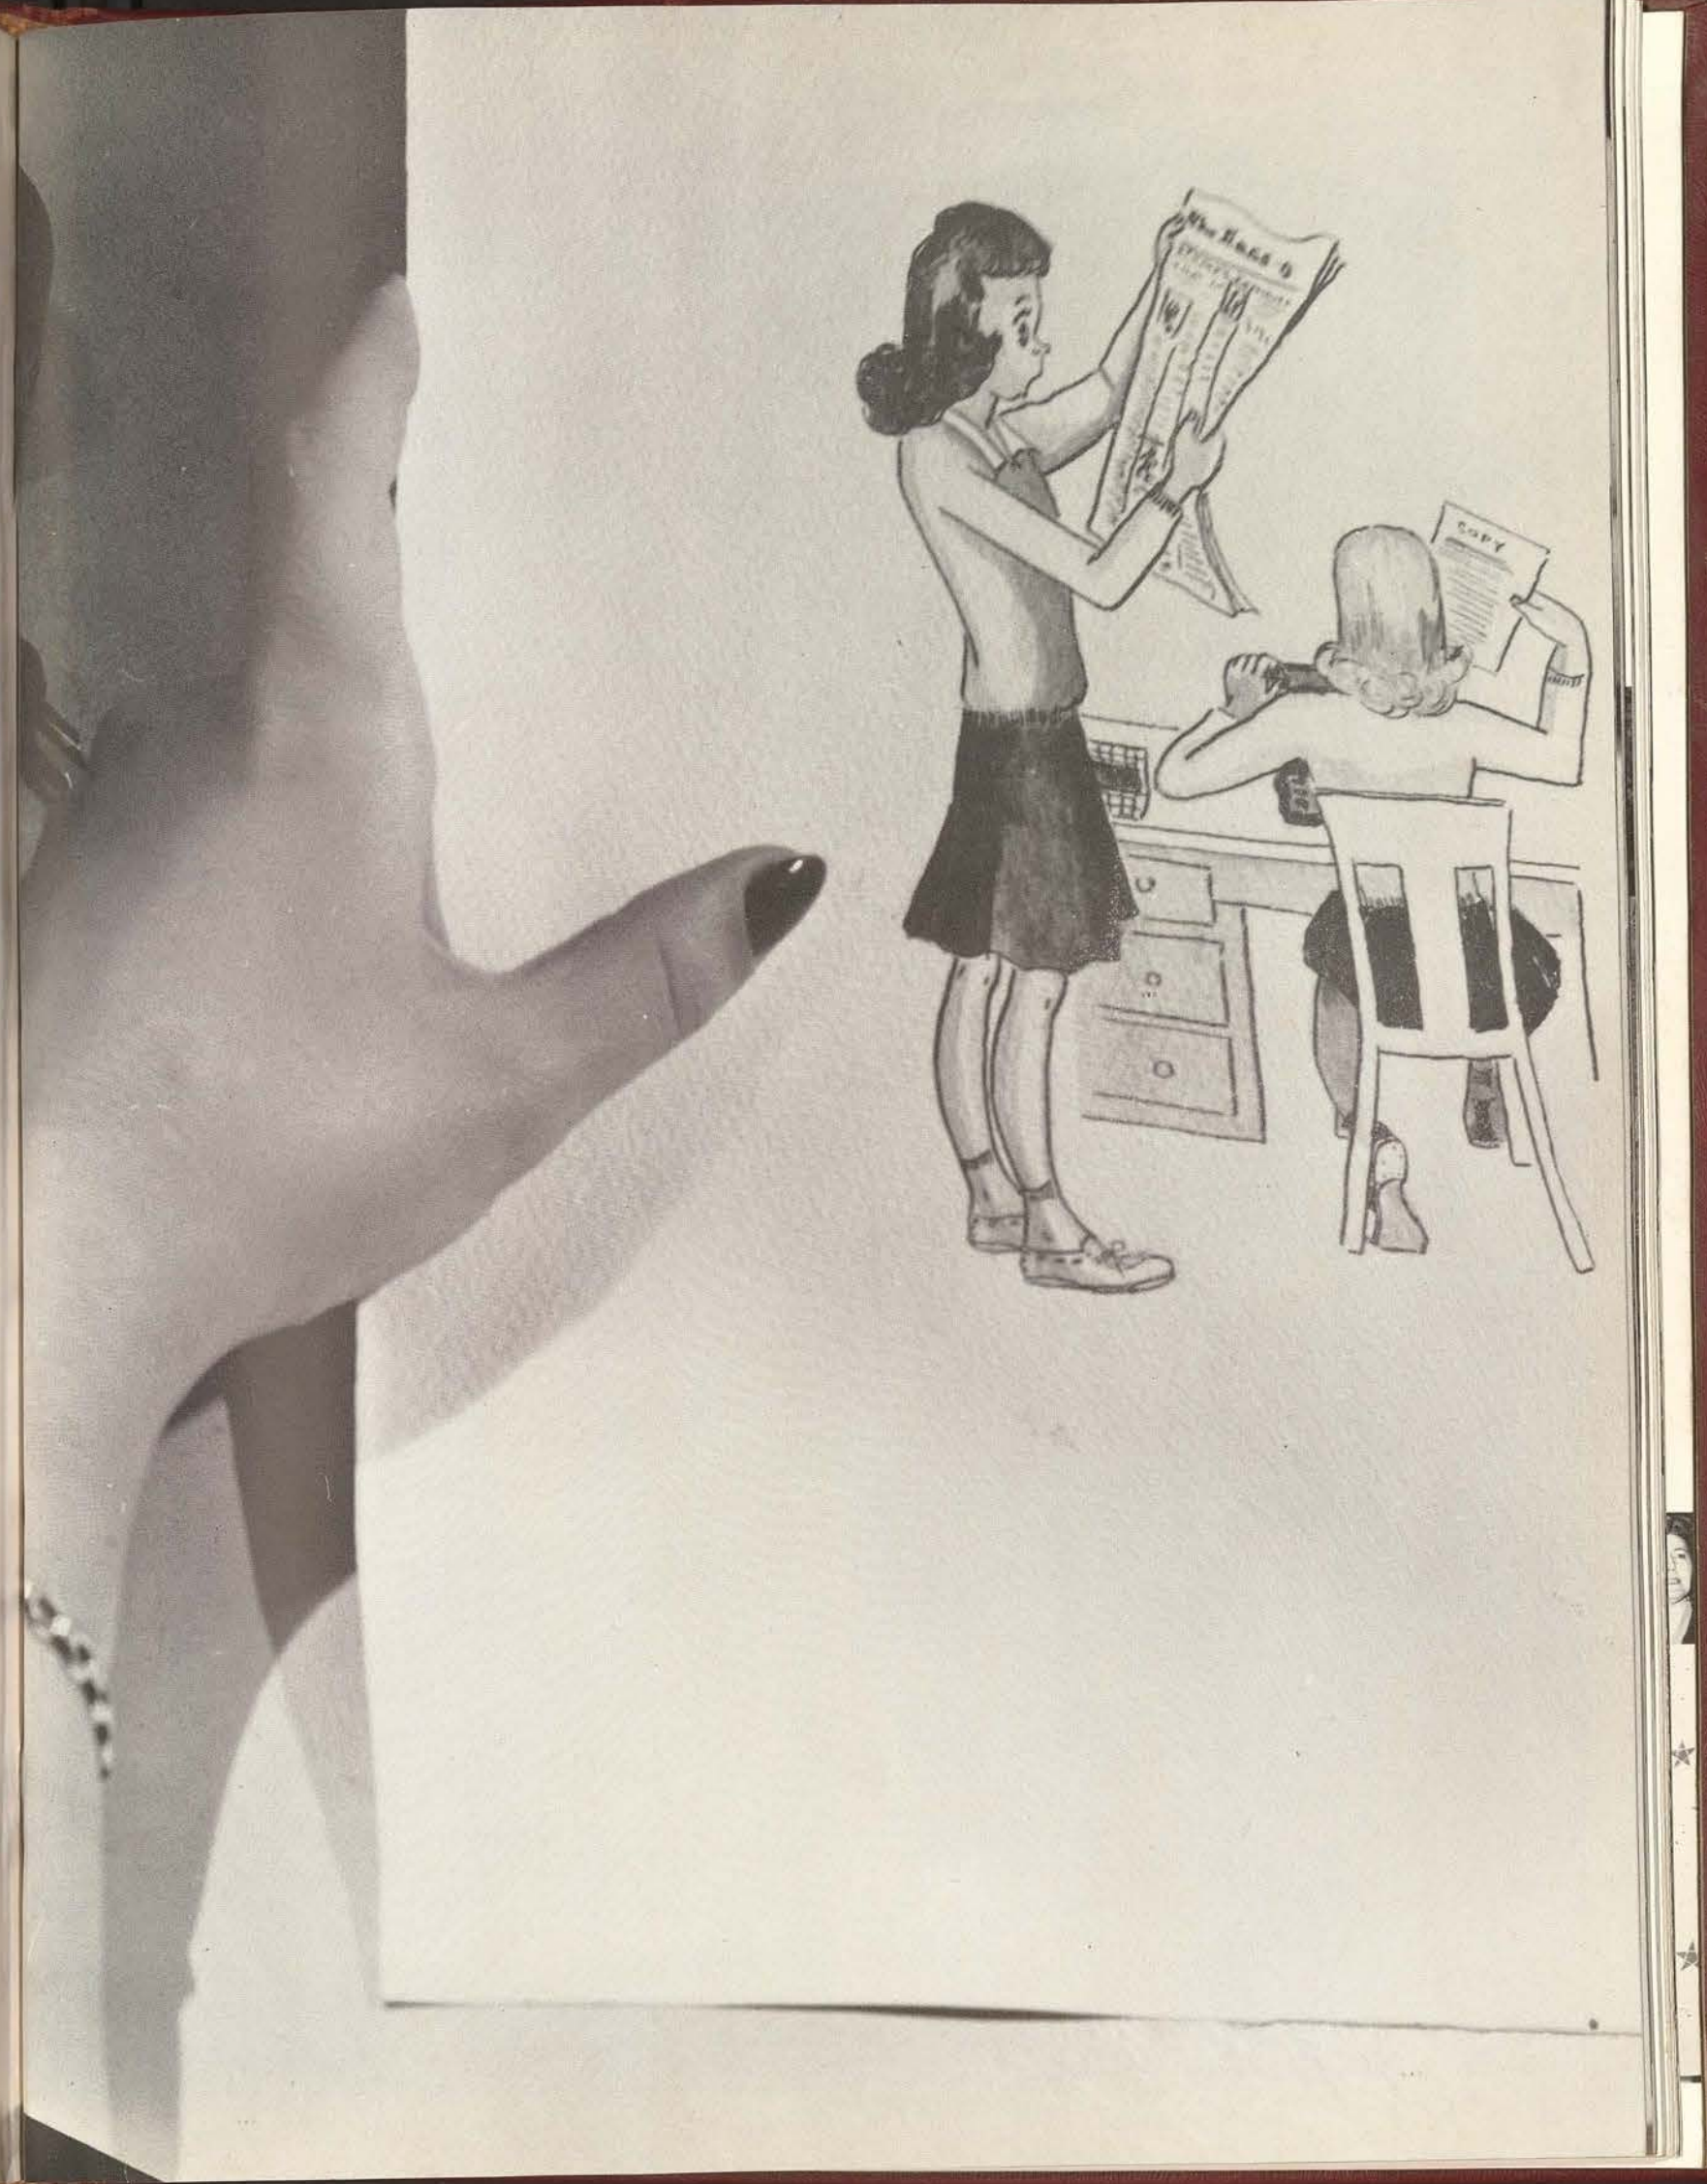

Senora ISABEL de PALENCIA told the "Truth About Spain" in a lecture here in March. The famed Spanish author, diplomat and lecturer is one of the foremost leaders of modern and progressive education in the world.

Scheduled to appear on the Concert and Drama Series was Madame WELLINGTON KOO, authoress and wife of the former Chinese ambassador to the United States.

That India should have independence now was the side taken by DR. SYUD HOSSAIN, noted world affairs interpreter, traveler, and observer, in a debate with Count Byron de Prorok, authority on international affairs, this spring.

PUBLICATIONS

The Lass-O

Each Friday journalism students can be found darting around in the print shop to make sure that the Lass-O reaches students in good order. Meanwhile, the editor-in-chief, having become satisfied that there will be a paper this week, begins work on next week's Lass-O by giving various reporters assignments. Shown at left doing just that are Johnnie Shawver, associate editor, and Rose Samsel, editor-in-chief.

The DAEDALIAN Year Book

Throughout the past nine months members of the DAEDALIAN Annual staff have attempted to compile all of the highlights and memories students will recall with joy in later years. They attempted to portray everyday life on the campus in a book for today, an informal remembrance for tomorrow.

Left, Dorothy Anderson, editor, takes a look on the calendar at the fast-approaching deadline for copy.

At right in circle, Business Manager Mary Frances Jamison checks over the DAEDALIAN Yearbook's account.

The DAEDALIAN Quarterly

Checking the finished product is Margaret Fox, editor-in-chief of the Daedalian Quarterly. In its thirtieth year, the quarterly provides publication for creative writing of short stories, poems, and experiences.

In the making, Quarterly proof gets checked by Louise Goble, literary editor.

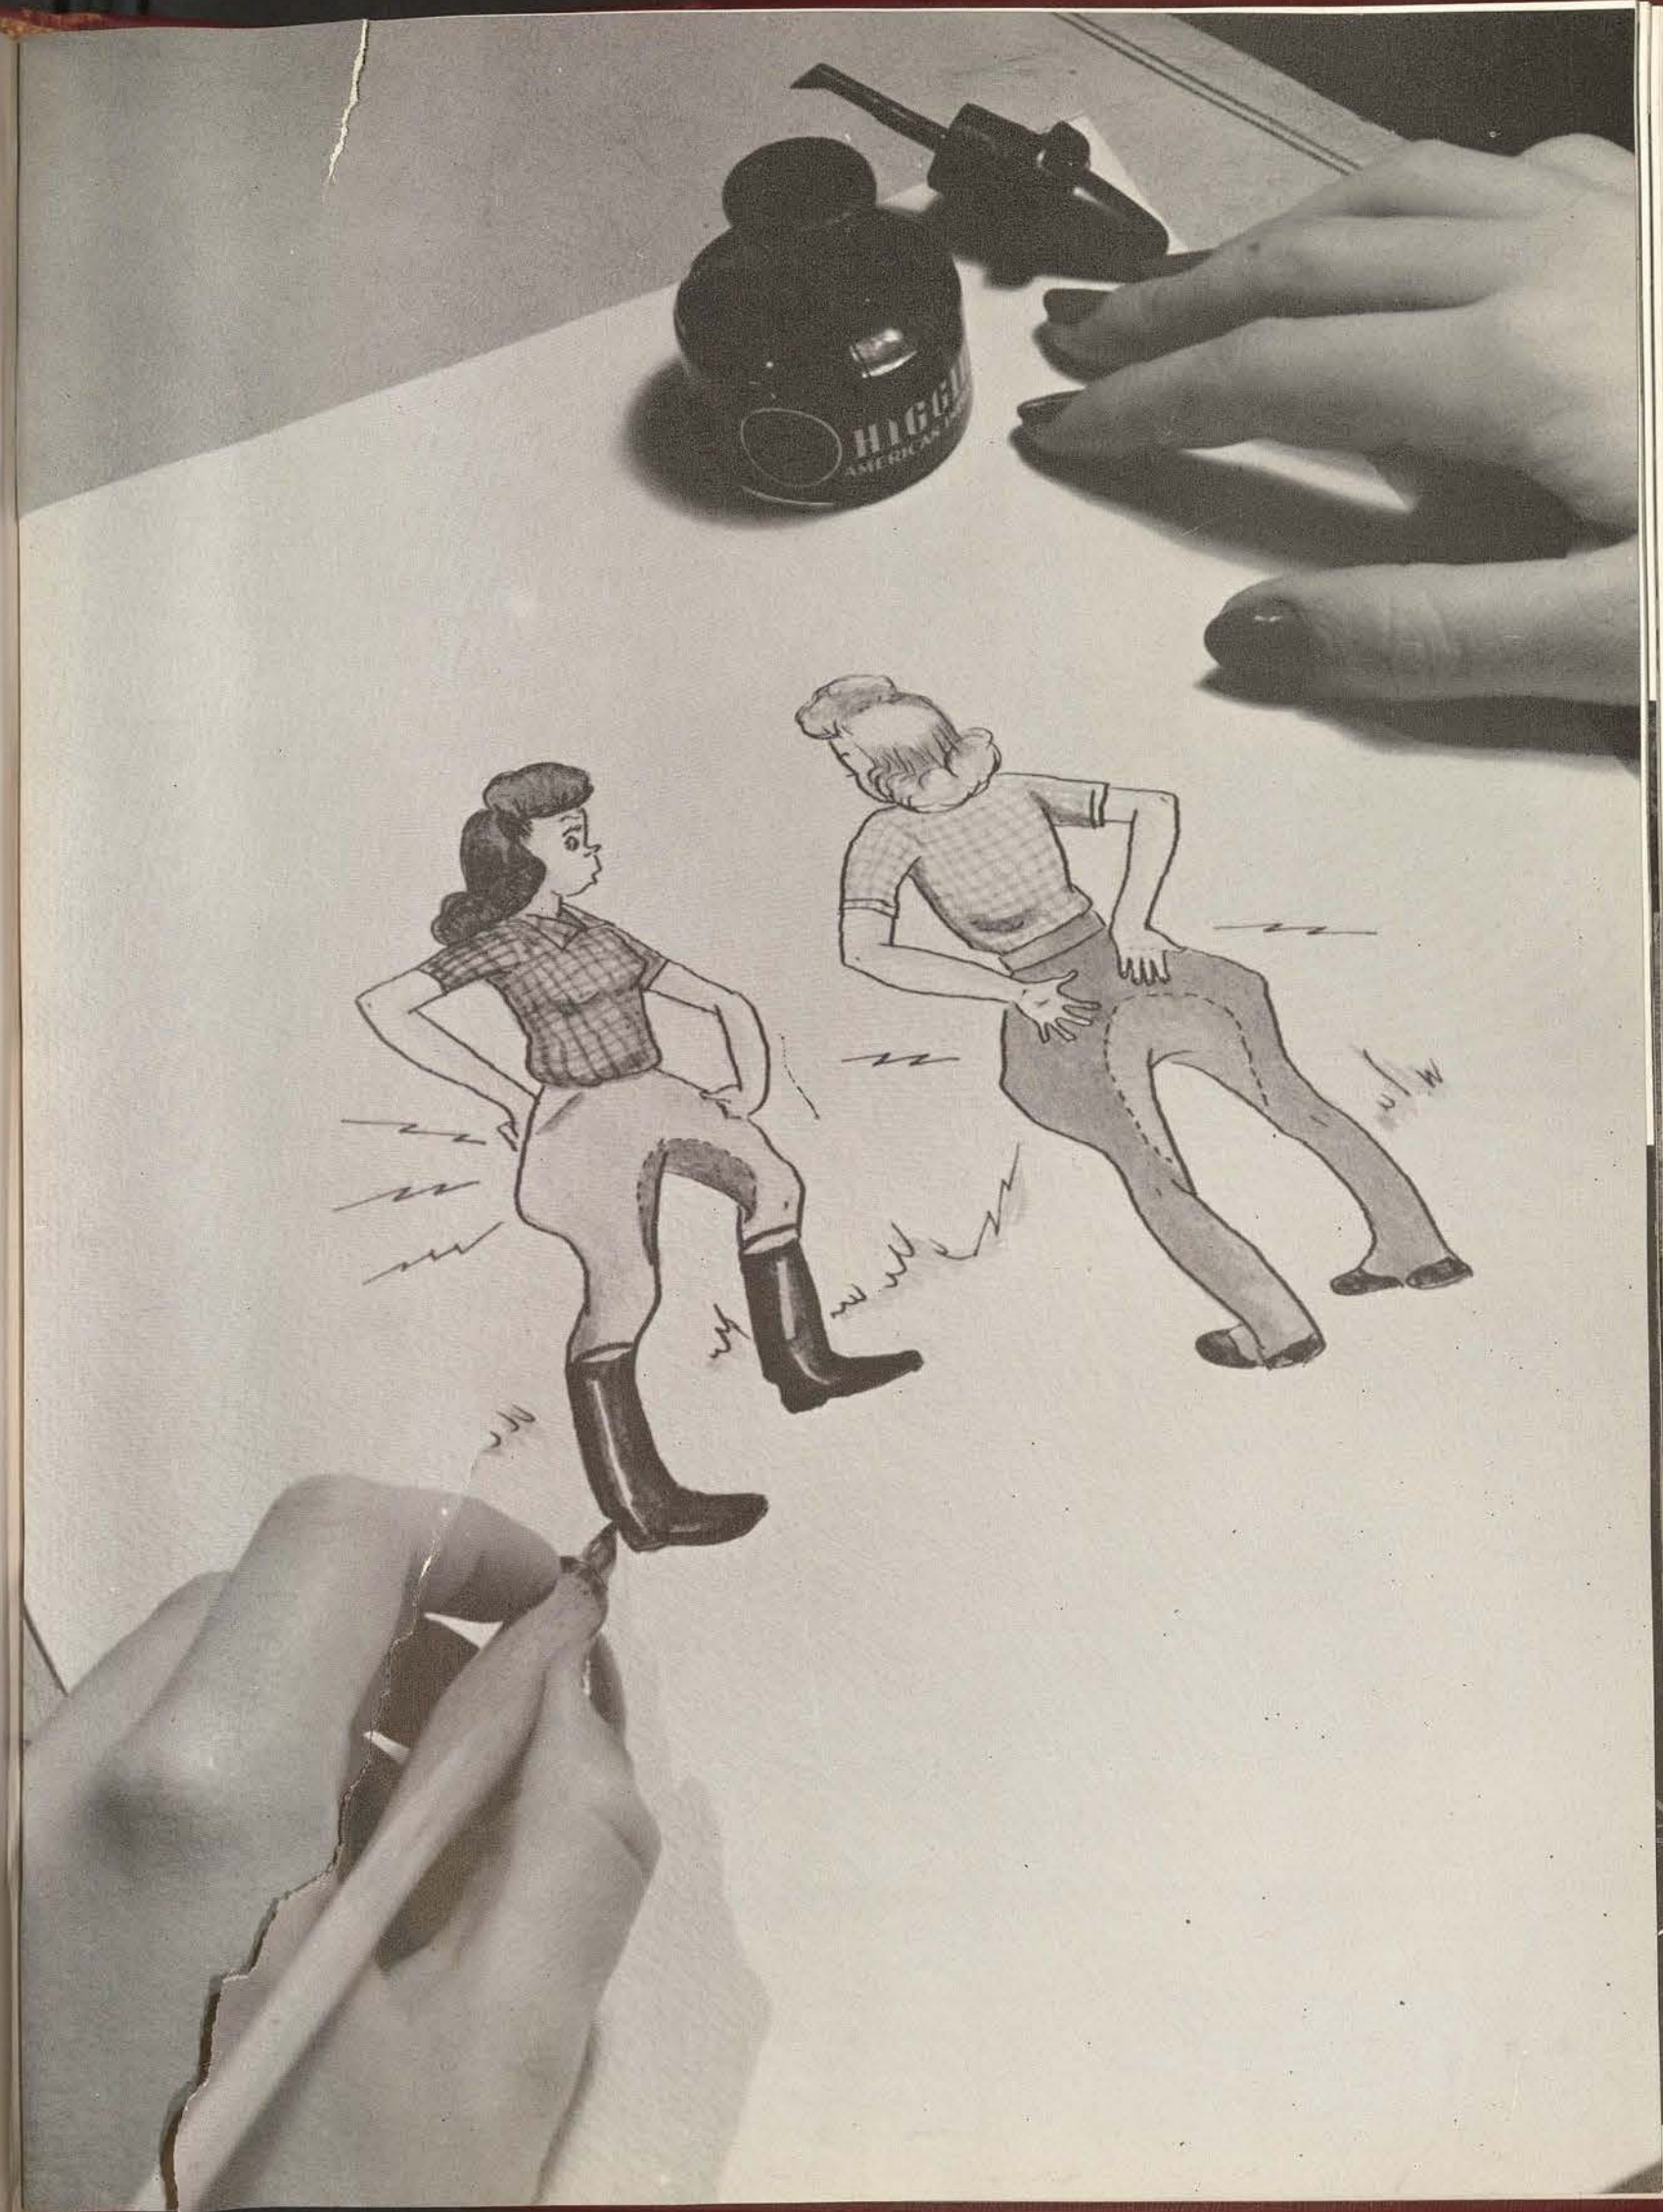

Art Editor Pattilou Germany makes last-minute decisions on the cover, which illustrates some familiar campus scene.

It's larger now! . . . The three editors together compare the size of the new Daedalian with the old.

S P O R T S

Tumbling

Demonstrating forward roll over two bodies, this girl in the tumbling class "tumbles" too fast for the camera. Other members of the class look on, except the "bodies" who oddly enough, seem quite cheerful about the whole deal.

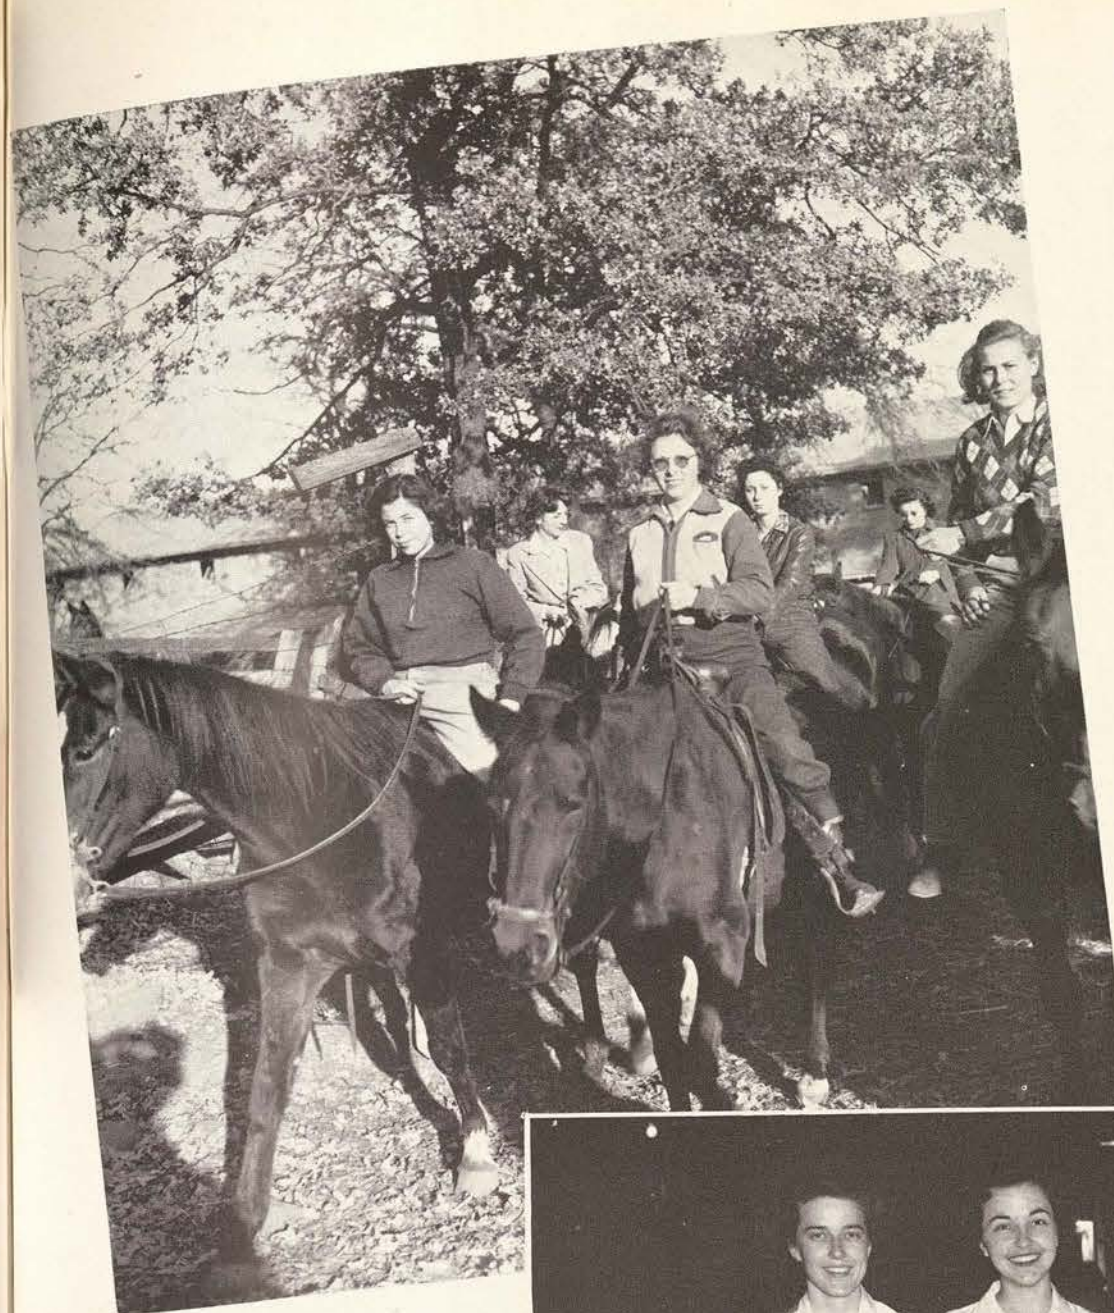

SKATING

Here two skating enthusiasts play train on the sidewalk by the gymnasium, with only an engine and a caboose.

More skaters enjoy the slab. This form of recreation was so popular this year that it was necessary to limit the classes.

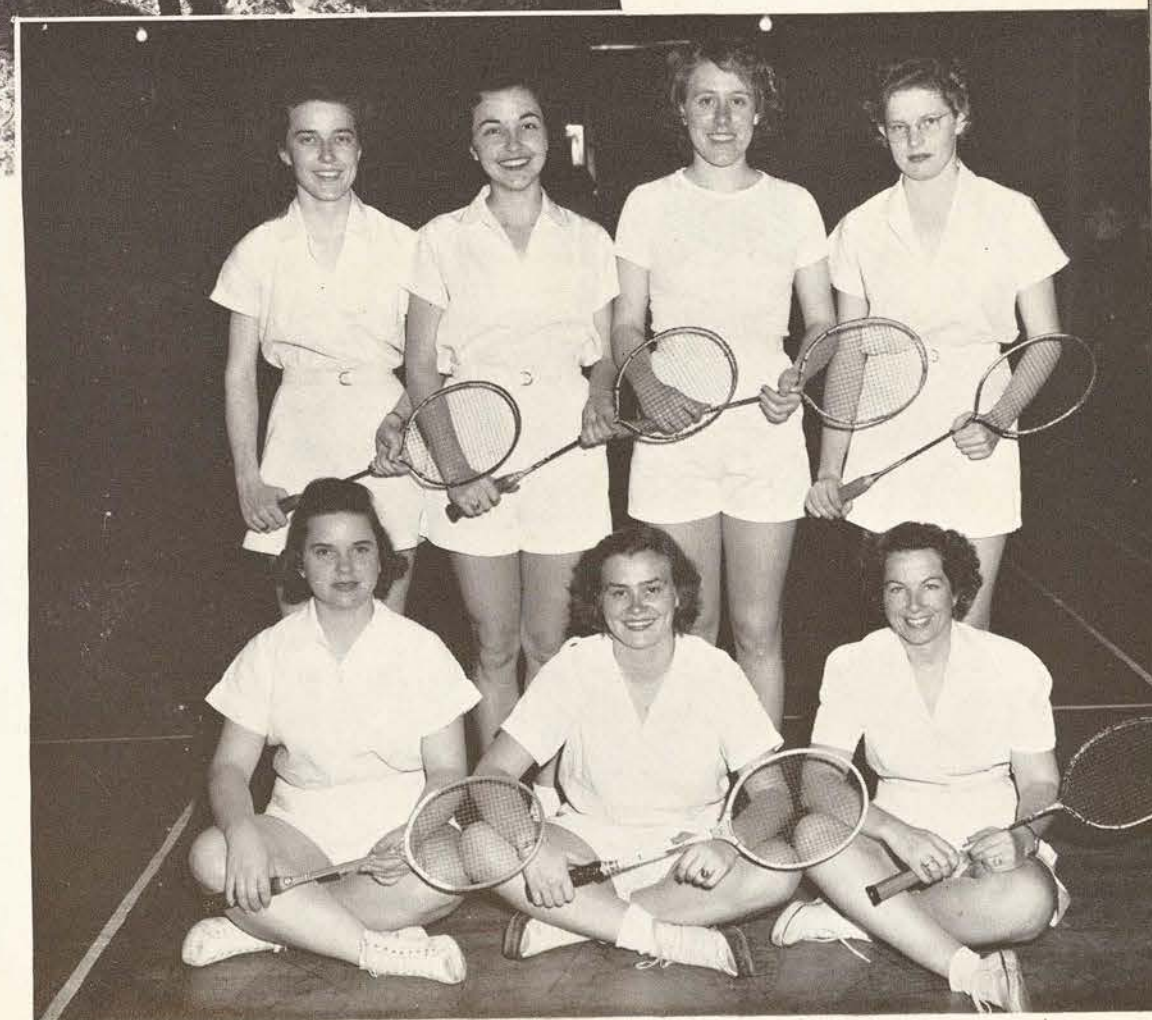

HORSEBACK RIDING

Badminton

MODERN DANCE GROUP

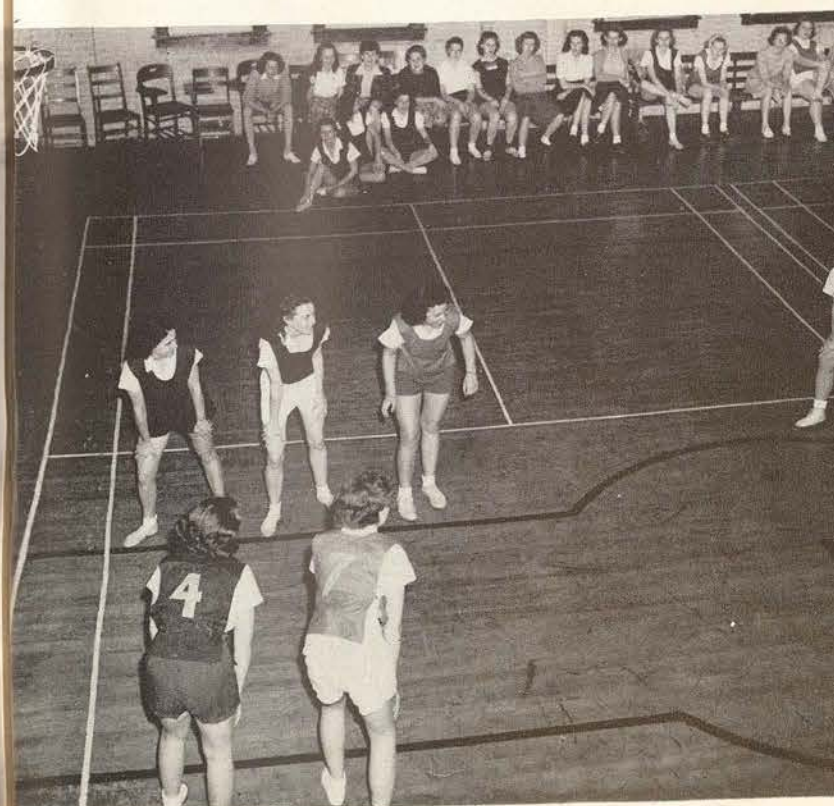

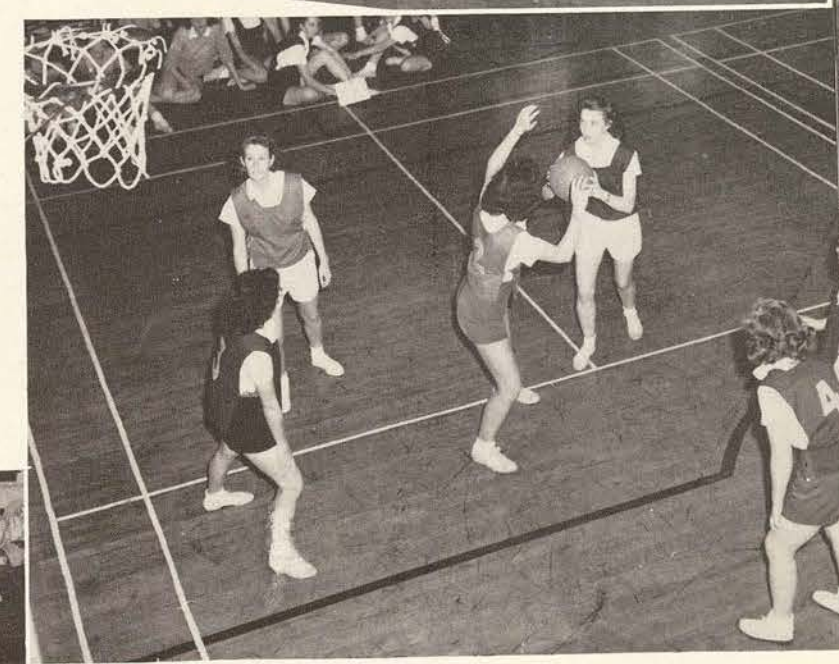

Showing a representative pose from one of their dance sequences, the sixteen members of the Modern Dance Club are favorite entertainers of the students when they appear on special assemblies. Pictured with the group are its sponsors, Miss Anne Schley Duggan and Miss Jeannette Schlottmann.

Basketball

Dormitories and classes become rivals when the basketball tournament begins. Each dorm is represented by a team composed of any who are interested and want to play. Top right, Agnes Talley, referee, gets set to toss the ball into the air for the center jumpers.

"Shoot, shoot!" cry spectators while a junior guard attempts to prevent just that.

"Personal foul, No. 5!" shouts Referee Talley and two goal shots are given.

Hockey Teams Compete

Giving a successful prophecy in the annual score-foretelling version of the A & M vs. Texas University football game, TSCW hockey teams competed Nov. 25. At left, the winning team representing Texas.

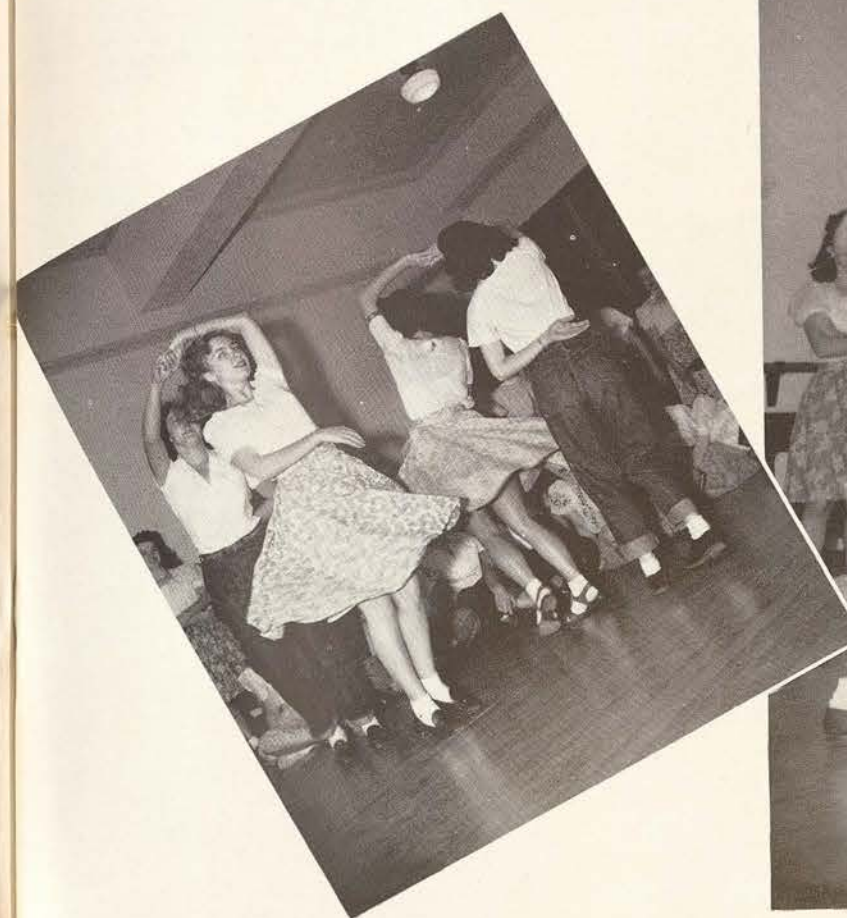

Aggieland was represented by the girls at right in the Turkey Day prediction. Score was 4-2. The Kyle Field classic come out 27-13.

Dancing

The Caperettes, tap dancing group, provide entertainment for college programs as well as out-of-town shows. At right they are shown in a patriotic tap routine at Sheppard Field.

All types of dancing are taught at TSCW, but perhaps one of the favorite types is that of folk dancing. An exercise in which anyone can participate and have fun, these physical education majors, below, learn the "correct" way to do it in a classroom of the Student Union.

Swimming

TSCW students learn to dive in the outdoor swimming pool. . . . Swimming is one of the most popular sports in the spring.

TSCW-ites Take To the Water

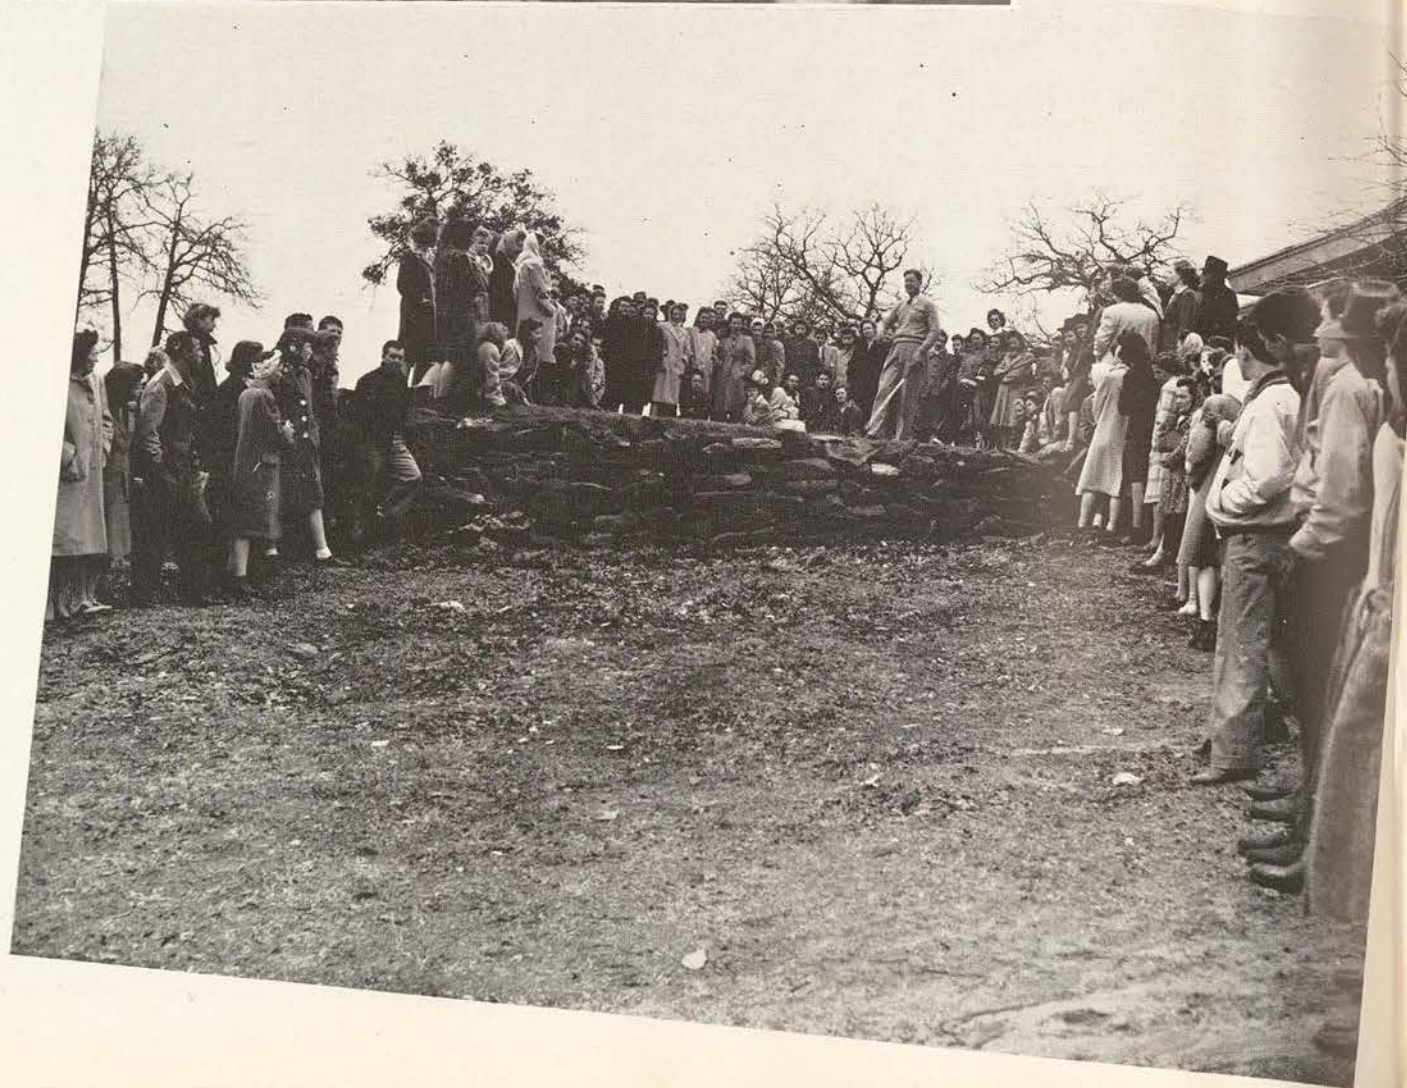

Swimming is one of those all-year-round activities of which students never grow tired. Posing prettily for the camera before the plunge are some of TSCW's bathing beauties. Classes in swimming are taught through the day with the pool in the gymnasium open to all students in the latter part of the afternoon.

This young miss finds Lake Dallas and the college cabin there a perfect place to spend the week-end any time. The lake is excellent for surf board riding in the late spring and early fall when the water is still warm.

Golf

Interested golfers stand around to watch "Lord" Byron Nelson demonstrate the correct way to tee off.

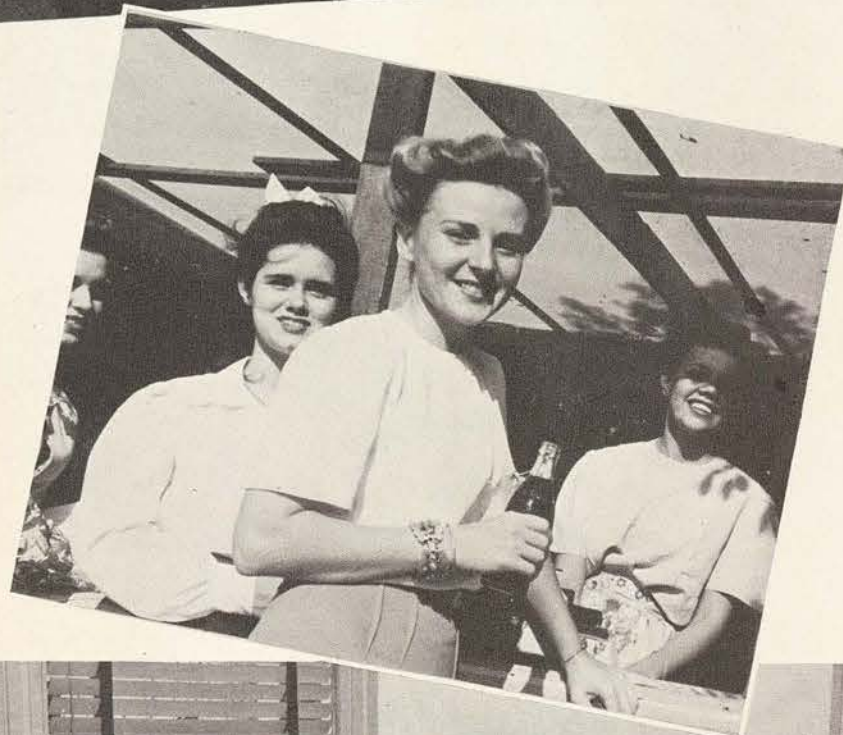

FEATURES

Registration Day . . . the day of new and old faces mingling in the crowd, tired feet, faculty signatures, and long lines of long waiting . . . a day few will forget which begins officially a busy year of crowded schedules and college atmosphere. At left, students Rosemary Beckman, Mary Holler, Mary Bovell, and Suzanne Sellers are assigned faculty advisors by Dr. Madison Marshall, Miss Autrey Nell Wiley, Dr. Spencer Stoker, and Dr. Constance Beach.

Cornelia Fleeman takes time out for the "pause that refreshes."

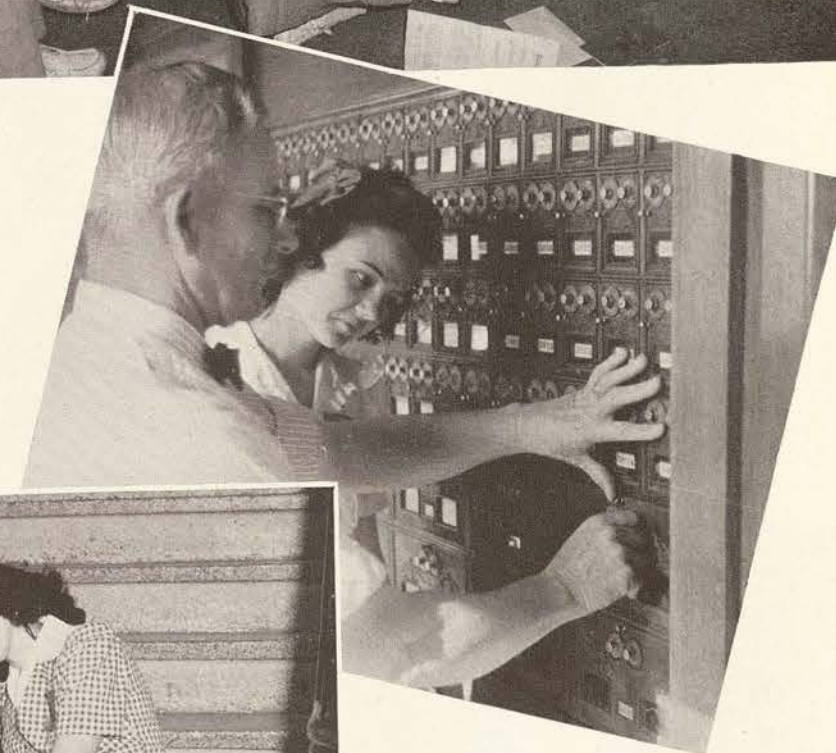

Seniors wait to see Dean White to have their program approved.

Registration Day

Lines and more lines! Betty Lee Martin and Bonnie Barsi exchange mutual freshman concerns as they wait in the book-room.

Bonnie and Betty Lee reach Sayer's steps at last. . . . Whew!

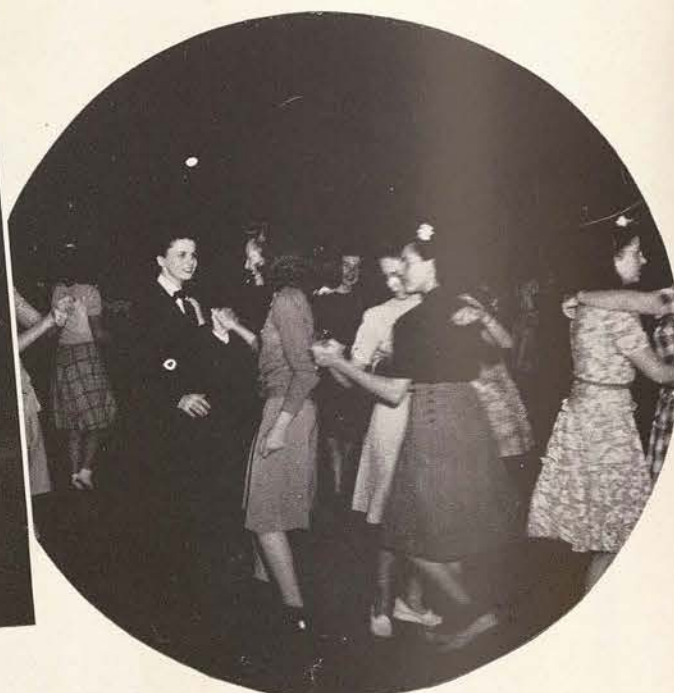

All-College Night

When Mrs. I. M. Wondering began to wonder about TSCW as a suitable institution of learning for her daughter, Prexy Edith Ellison and her Student Council decided to illustrate the various phases of campus life for her and all newcomers.

Top left, playing like it's self-development week are Margaret King, Margaret McAdams, and Mar Gwen Ball, who give Barbara Cook a good rub down.

The Lantern Parade

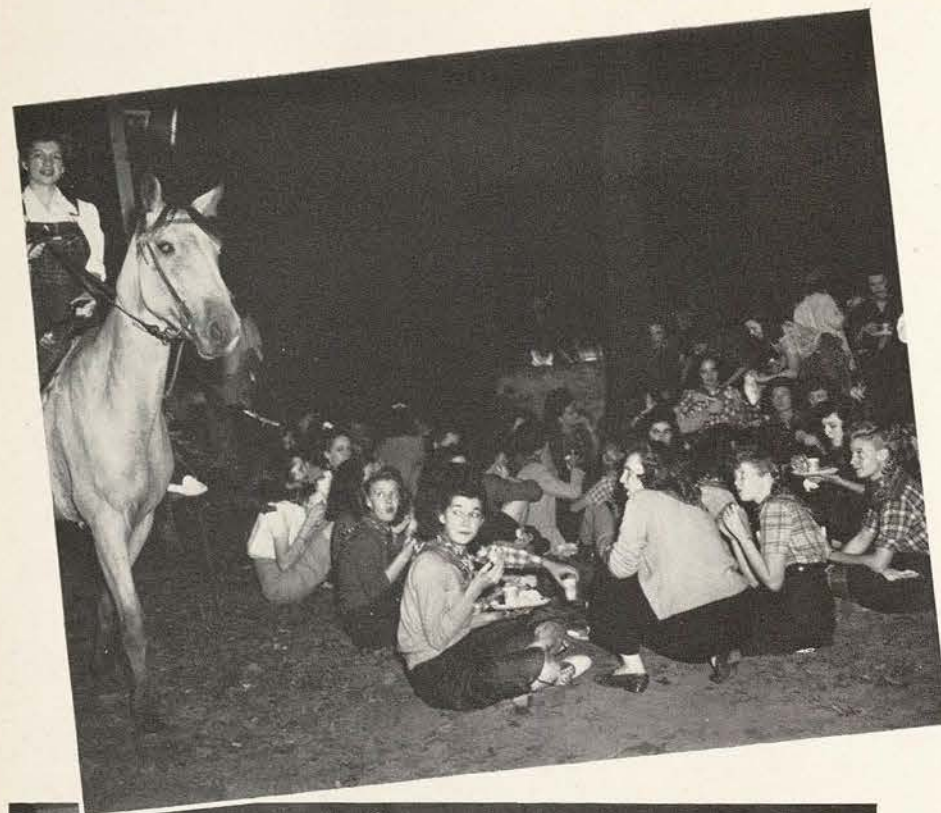

One of the traditional events of the beginning of each school year is the Lantern Parade, where big sisters show little sisters the beauty of the campus by candle light. Here's where new students meet and learn to know their advisors — here are memories in the making. At left, old and new students sing "Moonlight and Roses" and "Alma Mater" upon arriving at the auditorium to see a movie.

Edith Ellison, president of the student body, faces the "mike" to greet all from the steps of the Music-Speech Building.

Students line up in front of Stoddard before the lanterns are lighted and the parade begins.

Rush Week For Literary Clubs

Striking originality pervaded over all the rush parties given by literary clubs last fall. The Chaparrals, pictured at left, entertained with a western party, including a real covered wagon, a bonfire, and Margaret McAdams on a horse.

Lowly Pledges Go Into Action

Pledge Week—a week of the most unexpected scenes on the campus, strange noises, imitations, and duties. It is a week when new pledges learn obedience to older members, but more important still, they get to know better those persons who are to be their fellow club members. . . . At left, Chap pledges, Jean Wilson, Mary Jean Durham, Lou Blakely, Peggy Echols, and Margaret Kirby show imitations of birds, clouds and an air attack.

Frances Brown, president, and Jo Ann Webb, treasurer of the MEB Club, watch lowly Louise Applin and Nancy Simpson go through their paces. Lower right, pledges of another literary club bow down on their knees and "praise Allah." Lower left, Lowry Club pledges play leap frog.

Food... Fights for Freedom

An all-out drive to conserve food under wartime restrictions resulted in many unusual and hilarious scenes in the dining halls. Trying the power of suggestion, Nora May Koerner, on the step-ladder, and her Philomathian Club sisters root for rutabagas in the Brack Dining Hall.

Students look over the food posters and bulletins which were placed on exhibit in the library for the week.

This Chaparral cheering section spurs the Brack diners on to eat more squash to win the week's contest in minimum food waste.

All-Campus Food Drive Advances

Food's been fighting for freedom here on the campus this week. Everyone who eats in the dining halls will readily agree to that. What with songs, yells, poems, and signs advertising the merits of unpopular foods such as carrots, greens, squash, rutabaga, and haddock, the social clubs have been busy trying to popularize unpopular calorie containers. Bugs Bunny was among those present on the campaign for carrots, and Sherlock Holmes snooped around with his glass to check on the disappearance of greens from plates.

But the Food Fights for Freedom program is not confined to the dining hall.

Classes in English during the next few weeks will use foods as the subjects of themes, discussions, and open forums.

Student Teachers Cooperate

Home economics majors are leading discussions in several sophomore English classes. In some of the freshman sections girls who live on farms will speak on the food situation from the standpoint of the farmer.

Miss Johnie Christian, director of home economics education, has announced that the student teachers are asking in their high school classes that students measure the food wasted in their homes over a period of one week. Home economics education students are placing posters relating to the program in all of the Denton Schools. An assembly meeting dealing with the food problem was planned in cooperation with the PTA and presented in the Senior High School Auditorium.

Miss Nell Morris, college dietitian, is measuring the food wasted in the dining halls and is going to compare it with the amount soldiers waste.

Army Rations Displayed

An interesting and attractive display of books and pamphlets, concerning food and the war, have been on display in an alcove in the library. Illustrations of army field rations were also on display showing the compact and highly concentrated foods eaten by the fighting

Everyone joined in the fight to "popularize" unpopular foods in the dining halls. Above, L'Allegro members insist on students eating greens. At left, Delian Club members stand on the steps in Brackenridge dining hall and demonstrate the improved appearance of a student after having eaten a square meal of squash.

Yuletide Season

Despite busy days before the Christmas holidays began, TSCW-ites remembered boys they had met and dated from a nearby army camp by buying gifts and wrapping them to be sent to the servicemen as an extra Christmas surprise. Campus clubs helped in the drive, led by Jean Barnard, president of the Round Table, Cornelia Fleeman, and Margery Brewer, who are pictured at right.

Senior Christmas Formal

Seniors pinned on corsages and donned formals for the annual Christmas Dance which was held in the ballroom of the Student Union. At left, couples, led by Edith Dinsmore and her date, ascend the stairs leading to the ballroom.

Punch servers greet the host of dancers during intermission.

The photographer takes a close-up — Sadie Lu Davidson looks cunningly at her date while they "sit this one out."

Louise Johnson, Doris Dowdell, Marilyn Maxey, and Mary Lou Kesterson pose for a picture after the Christmas Party in Stoddard.

Students and faculty members pause between classes to sing carols on first floor of the Administration Building. The World War II service flag is shown in the background.

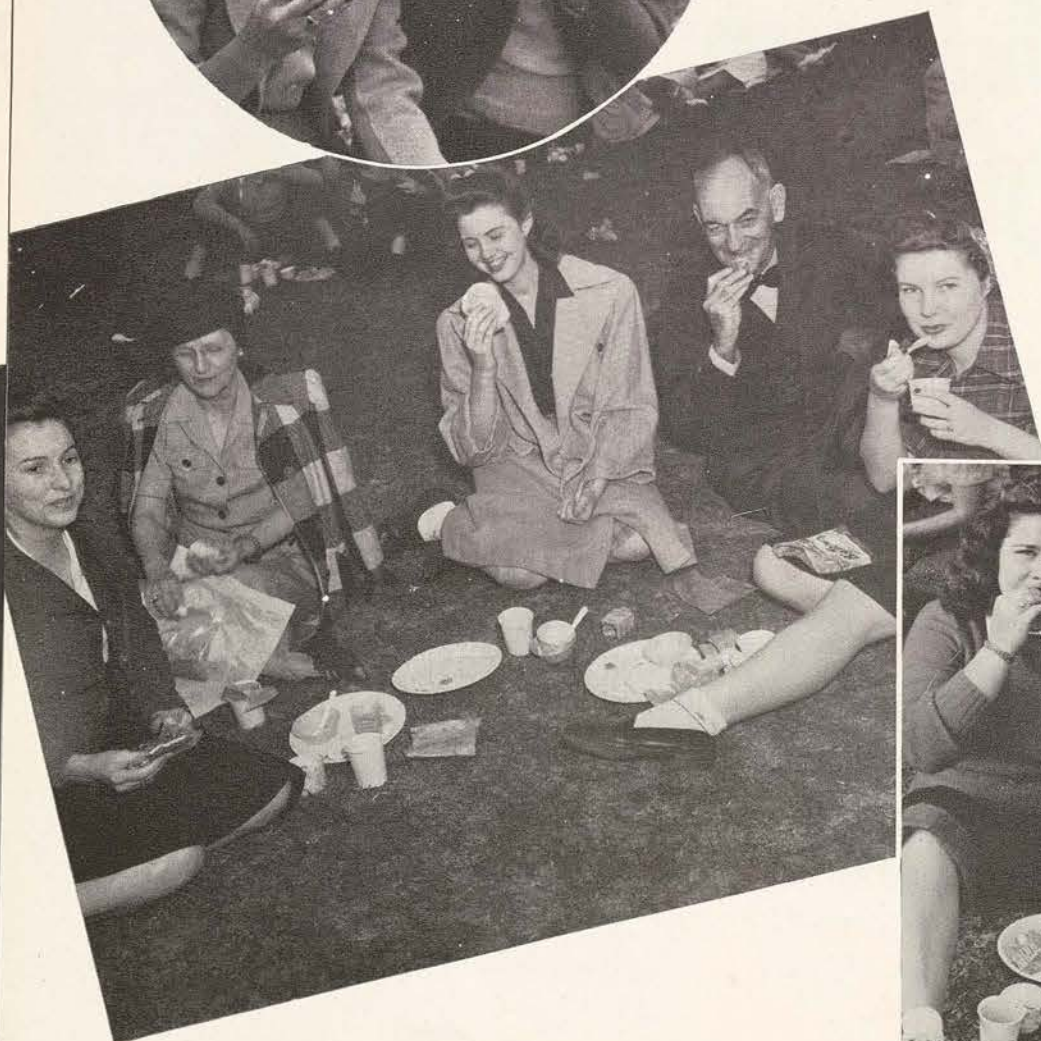

IT'S A Picnic IN LOWRY WOODS

Come fall when the leaves begin to turn and the first hint of winter is in the air and everyone—students, faculty, and administrative force . . . stops long enough to head for Lowry Woods and the traditional picnic. Going down the food line at left are Miss Jeannette Schlottmann of the Physical Education Department, and Jack Hester, assistant cashier in the college bank.

About to take another bite, but stopping to laugh at the cameraman, are Della Stoutes and Jo Anne Willis.

Among the groups that form to eat, laugh, and talk are President and Mrs. Hubbard, left below, with three senior girls.

Betty Jo Zachary and Ann Crook take last bites before joining some game, which might be anything from leap frog to bridge!

Senior Breakfast

Sleepy but happy seniors arose early for the annual senior breakfast which was given in the back of Virginia Carroll Lodge. Shown at right are President and Mrs. Hubbard leading the long food line.

Three tables were laden with all kinds of breakfast food as the early risers stepped forward to receive their share. At left, three peas in a pod, Frances Brown, Betty Pate, and Jean Barnard, find a place to sit and eat in peace.

SALTILLO SUMMER SCHOOL

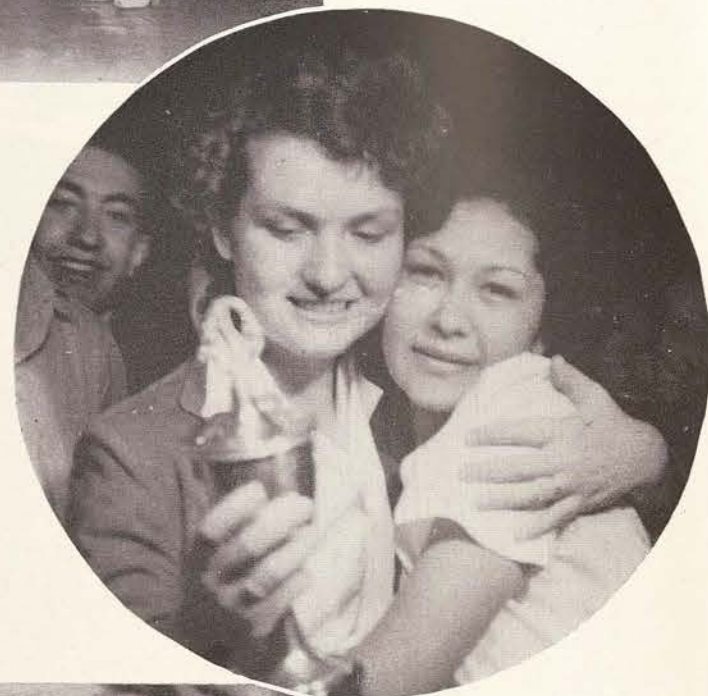

Highlights of the TSCW college student do not end at the end of the regular school term, for a special attraction, the Saltillo Summer School in Mexico, lasting six weeks, has proven popular and profitable for many. Students leave from Laredo in a group, accompanied by several college professors. They study Spanish in a Spanish speaking community, learn customs of Mexican people, and the inhabitants of Saltillo become acquainted with the girls from the United States. Shown at left are the TSCW girls being greeted on the Patio of Casa Colonial. President Hubbard shakes hands with Senora Villarreal, mother of Carmela Garcia who stands behind President Hubbard, and sister of Ricardo Villarreal, proprietor of the hotel where the students stay.

At right is a scene from Charro Fiesta which was given honoring our group at Los Alamos, a ranch near Saltillo.

Shown in the circle are a TSCW girl and the captain of the Ateneo Fuente volleyball team embracing each other after the cup has been presented to our group.

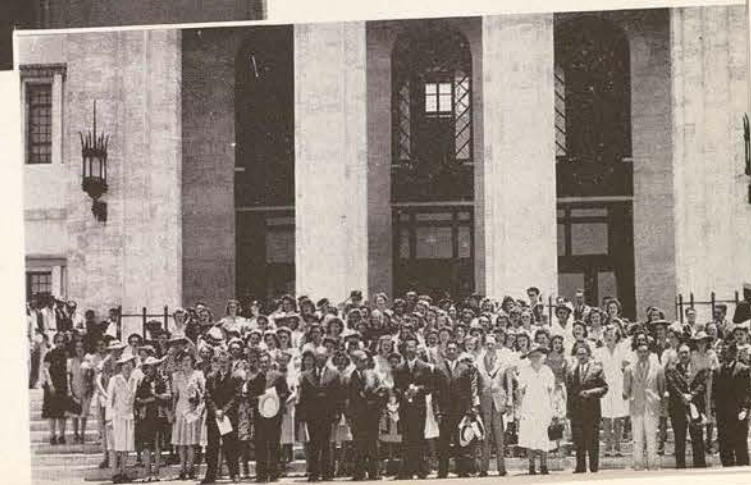

Last fall Saltillo professors visited our campus and were greeted by President Hubbard, extreme left in the picture at left, and Dr. Switzer, director of foreign languages, extreme right. The professors are, left to right, Alejandro V. Soberon, Senor Professor Berrueto Ramon, Senor Lic. Eduardo J. Hernandez E., and Senor Lic. Evelis H. Gonzalez Trevino.

Three students enjoy the warm, refreshing water of a pool which is part of a private school up the hill from the hotel.

At right is a picture of the entire Saltillo group in front of the auditorium of the Ateneo Fuente College in Saltillo.

Dormitory Antics

Who said a dorm was the place for study? Well it is, . . . some, but most students will agree that study is only one of the many activities going on at the end of a busy day. At left Midge Wooley and Scottie Quarture entertain guests with cokes, crackers, and a card game.

Sudy Hooper and Marilyn Maxey settle down to study—well, it's a good pretense job, anyhow.

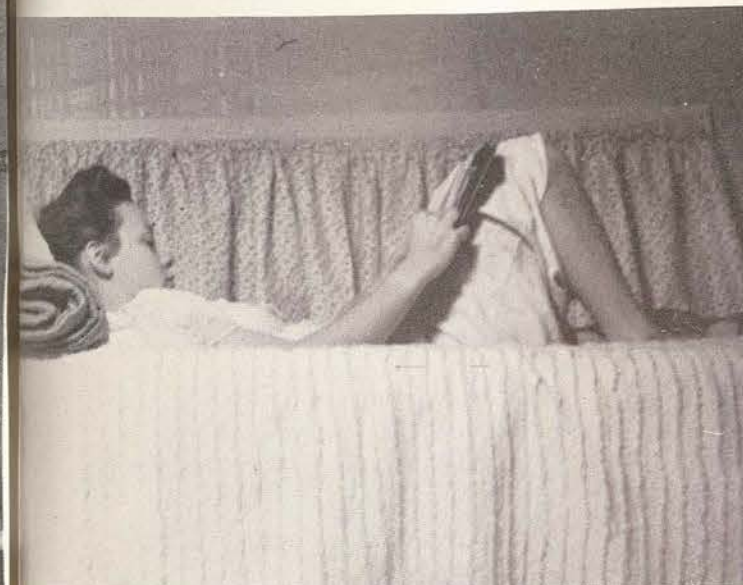

Ah, seniors! Well, after all one can't be dignified all of the time. At right Marilyn Mallory, Kathryn Turner, say good-night to Secretary Bobby Haynes.

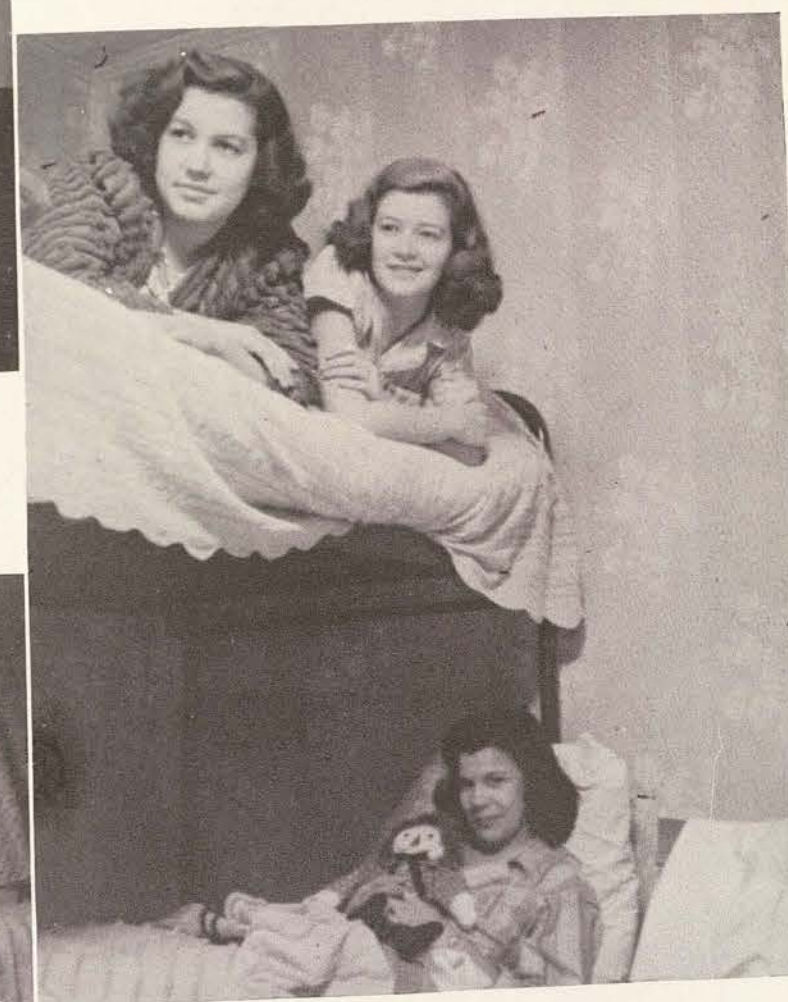

A pleasant room is nice in the daytime, too. At right, Margie Miller and Marguerite Young relax between classes.

Aren't double-deckers wonderful? These students in the "co-ops" think so.

Kay Kyser? Students at left living in Houston Hall aren't particular, just so the record gives out with the jive.

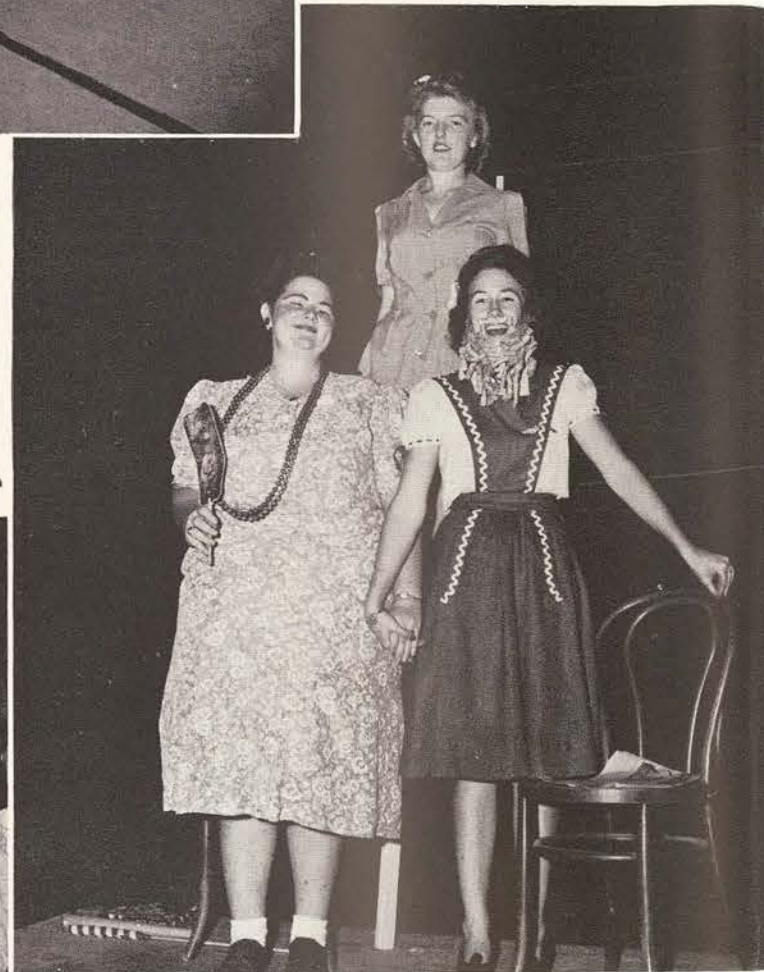

At left, a tired senior gets into a comfortable position to read Chaucer.

WRA Carnival Gets Under Way

BINGO! Mary Jo Morgan, Ann Crook, and Jane Ward call the lucky numbers and flaunt the winner's prizes for apprehensive players around them.

At right, the inevitable freaks of the sideshow, TSCW's fattest, tallest, and bearded ladies for the evening, Gwen Ross and Marilyn Maxey. They are "backed" by Iris Doyle.

Such an interesting backdrop! Seniors pause to "refresh" in front of the faculty babies picture booth.

A Little of This and That

Ruth Tilley serves as an appropriate model for a wedding dress to be sent to England. She stands at the altar in the Little Chapel.

Martha Hickman becomes engrossed in the making of pottery in art class.

THE TSCW BOOKROOM

Betty Mae and Lena Lowrey pause momentarily in their room from "house cleaning" for a chat.

Alecia Willet, Betty Mae Olson, and Mildred Hayes relax in the living room after dinner.

GLEASON COTTAGE

... is one of the two cottages on the campus in which all home economics majors live for a period of 48 days. Learning to be successful managers, hostesses, as well as economical cooks and dietitians, these girls plan meals, prepare healthful diets, and manage other household affairs. Miss Mary Mason, faculty supervisor, lives in the cottage with the girls.

Making slaw is one of the duties for the day for Virginia Scoggin and Mildred Hayes, temporary cooks.

Beauties Go to Dallas

Excitement fairly beamed one Sunday morning when a college bus took TSCW's most beautiful girls to Dallas to be judged and photographed. Accompanying the group were Mr. Rigler and Mr. Loveless. Shown at left is the group just after the arrival in Dallas.

Kathryn Turner, left, senior beauty nominee, puts the last dab of powder on her nose before facing the judges. At right Barbara Cook, junior nominee, places the final bit of lipstick on her lips and gets ready to face the camera.

Being beautiful doesn't keep one from getting hungry. Above, nominees dig into the appetizing box lunches as they wait their turn to be photographed.

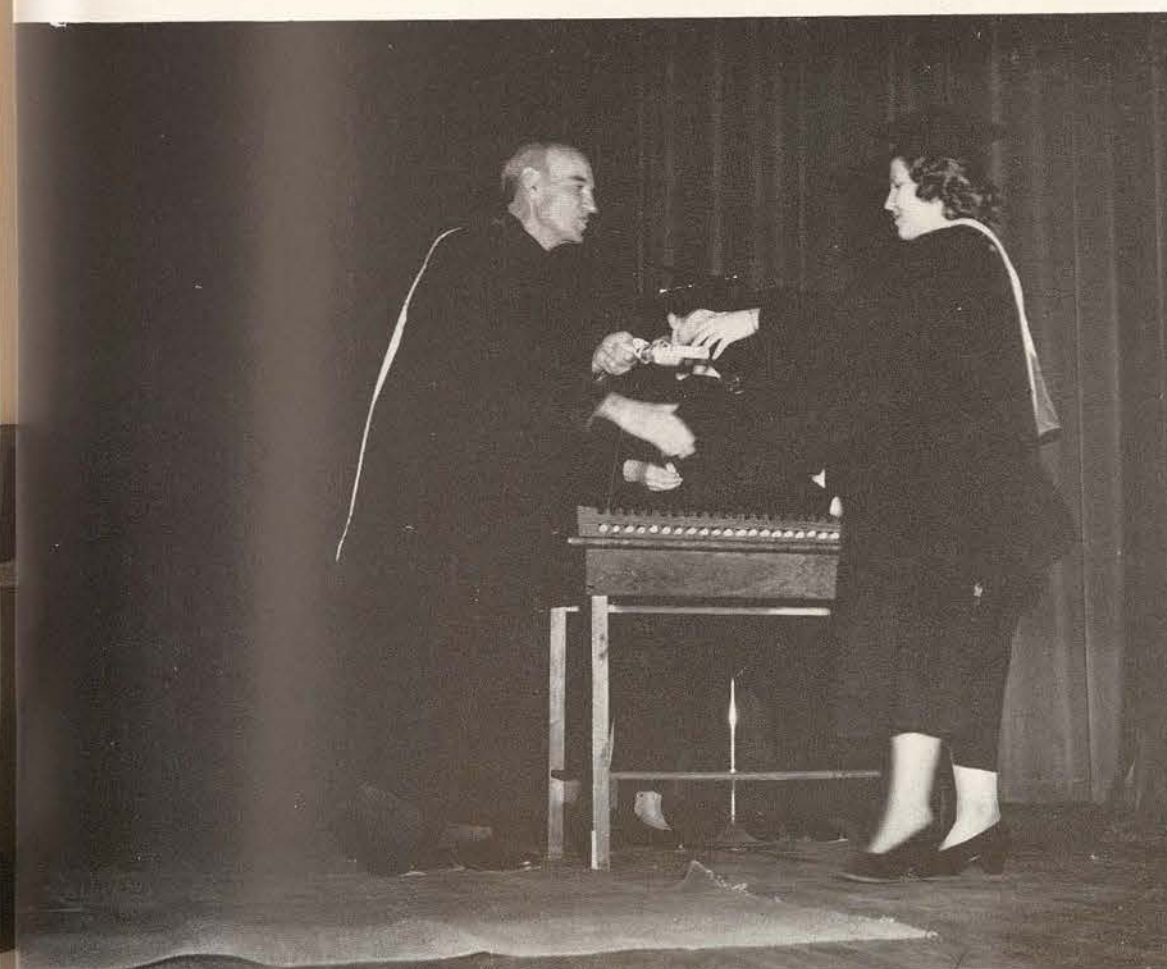

"Just a little this way," says Mr. Calvin Wheat photographer, as he prepares to focus the camera on Kathryn.

Graduation

Seventy Seniors received degrees in February in a faculty-student assembly at 11:00 o'clock on registration day. President Hubbard addressed the group and presented the diplomas upon the recommendation of Dean E. V. White.

Dr. Hubbard commended the spirit of the faculty and students for the University of Norway, saying that much could be learned from this country in the hands of the enemy. The Rev. Oscar Ellison of the Denton Church of Christ gave the invocation.

Here Dr. Hubbard confers a degree on one of the graduating seniors. Fifteen received bachelor of arts, fifty-five bachelor of science, eleven both degrees, and one a certificate for the Administrative Course for Student Dietitians.

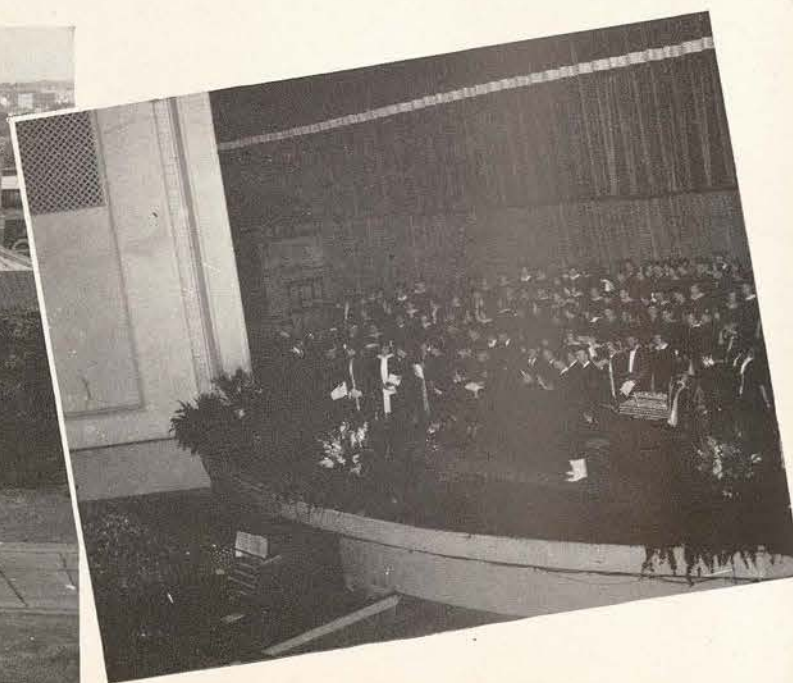

Formal Convocation

A day when faculty members march solemnly into the Main Auditorium and take their places on the stage before the observing eyes of the student body . . . a day when students, having returned to college, realize that they are ready to get down to work and assume the duties given them by their teachers.

Dr. Gus W. Dyer, professor of economics and sociology at Vanderbilt University, was the speaker at the annual convocation services in October. Subject of his address was "The American Constitution and Christian Ideals."

Upper left, Dr. Turrentine and Mr. Emerson check the program before assembly. The middle and lower left pictures show the faculty procession from the Administration Building to the Main Auditorium. The entire faculty are shown on the stage in the robes and colors of their schools in the lower right picture.

One of the most distinguished visitors on the campus this past year was our own Governor Coke Stevenson, who spoke at a special assembly. Vieing for the honor of putting a rose in his lapel are seniors, Ruth Tilley, Frances Brown, and Lena Marie Adams Mallard.

Champe Takes Exams

These hyar pictures were taken the weak week after Dead Week. Namely Examination Week. Which should also be called Dead Week . . . or "Praise the Lord and Pass the Composition" Week. Or any other name that might suggest torture. Not that finals affect anyone. Or infect them. Or defect. Etc.

Here you see that even the most beautiful girl on the campus is somewhat concerned. Here you see that darling, adorable p-r-e-c-i-o-u-s Champe Philips (copy written by Champe. Naturally.) returning from the first day of exams.

Then the third day. (My mother won't like that.)

Below, the fifth day.

At left, the last day. (Being the best picture because it conceals and reveals. Reveals agony and despair. Conceals face. Champe's face. (Thunderous applause).)

DINING HALL

Mary Beth Foshee, freshman president, heads the line in Lowry.

Lunching together are Dottie Wahlquist, Lou Blakely, Betty Samsel, and Mary Nell Bishop.

Flying High

Nineteen-forty-four marks the year that TSCW's first women for wings took out parallel rulers and protractors to plot their courses, and took off from Harte Flying Field as the pioneer women that they were in their field. At right, Mr. Douglas, CAA instructor, explains the horsepower of the Cub's engine to Carol Shook, Othene MacGaffery, and Eva Echols.

Right, Dot Hill swings hard on that stubborn prop, while she still cannot figure out why she must crank it the opposite direction from the way the engine turns it.

Ready for that triumphant solo take-off with the assistance of all hands who know their time is coming, Dot pauses while air-minded photographer Aydeen Auld snaps a picture to record the date. Switch on! Blocks away! Take it over. You're on your own! Happy Landings!

Tallest Corn in Texas at the Corn-Huskin' Bee

That great day when sophistication, sequins, and formality are stowed among text books, and Emily Post hangs her head in despair, TSCW girls come down out of the hills and cut loose at an evening of hill-billy folk-dancing, corny singing, hog calling, and "act-in'!" Where there's corn there are plaid shirts. And where there are five-mustached villains, there is bound to be a hero and a gal—two in this case.

Pictured at right are the winners or the winning cast from Stoddard Hall which touched the hearts of the judges with "Oh Give Me Three Grains of Corn, Mother" in the dormitory skit competitions.

In true hill-billy fashion, Dorothy Calame and Ruth Gillen slave away making shucks fly while the men sit in the background all dressed up and holding their hands.

Just because this is a girl's school, it's no sign that masculinity never touches the campus. Through the assistance of Jean Barnard and her Date Bureau, and aided by Margaret King, many a soldier and Tessie have gotten together for a pleasant evening. Right, Martha Bagby, Mary Jo Pearce, and Joyzelle Tysinger arrange for these Camp Howze soldiers to have dates.

Dates FROM THE DATE BUREAU

Jeannette Bush and Lieut. Will Crawford of Montgomery, Alabama, having met through the Date Bureau, enjoy a nice evening together at the College Club.

COLLEGE CLUB

Saturday night dancers at the College Club find the snack bar the right place for sodas, cokes, and ice cream. On this night, girls may entertain dates in the club until 12 o'clock.

Shoot the Jap, pool, and table games are only a few of the many things provided to help the couples have a good time. These girls and their dates play a fast game of ping pong on one of the many tables in the recreation room.

Sandwiches and chocolate rolls fill in for the intermission when the automatic juke box is changing records for these couples. The most popular entertainment offered at the club, dances are held every Saturday night for couples and at any time until 8:00 o'clock for girls to go.

CLASS STUNTS

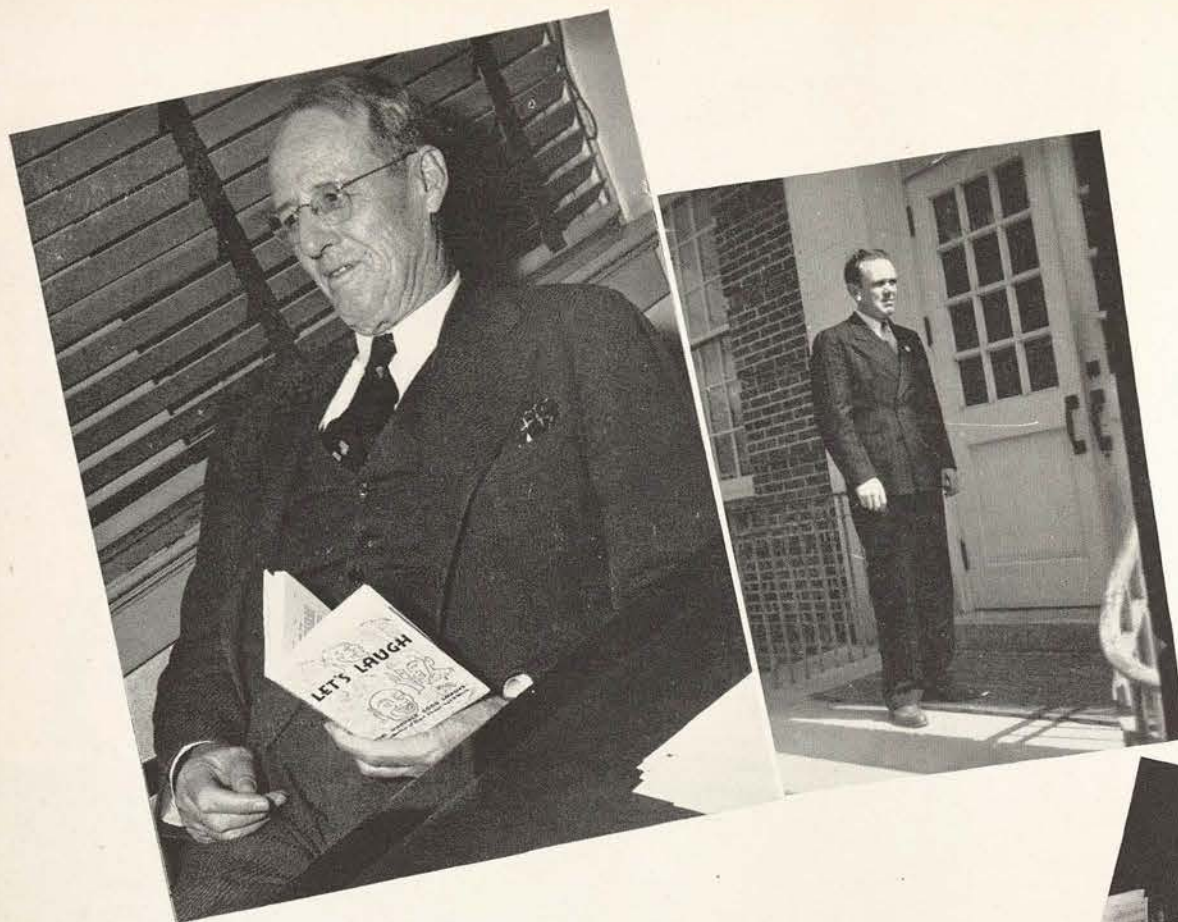

Miss Devil, (Betty Taylor), smiles triumphantly as she overlooks the Hell scene presented by the Freshman stunt winners in their picturization of "Helle's Bell." The belles and gruesome skeletons in the pictures create the setting for the sad tale of Orpheus and won the cup for the class. This was the second freshman class in the history of the stunts to win.

'Tain't all love in war and stunts as Joy Johnson, junior, and Champe Phillips, senior, come to temporary disagreement painting the scenery for their class production. The Senior class at the left put Pop in the clink in their show, "How Long Ya Been Here, Pop?", featuring gay nine-ties songs and dress.

The juniors in the lower picture add glamour to the show when they give a peek in the inside of a harem in "No Time for Shieks." The Sophomores traced the history of marriage way back when in the play, "I Take Thee," a take-off on weddings.

Dr. Talley takes one last look at the view of our campus before starting leave of absence to do research work with the Air Corps.

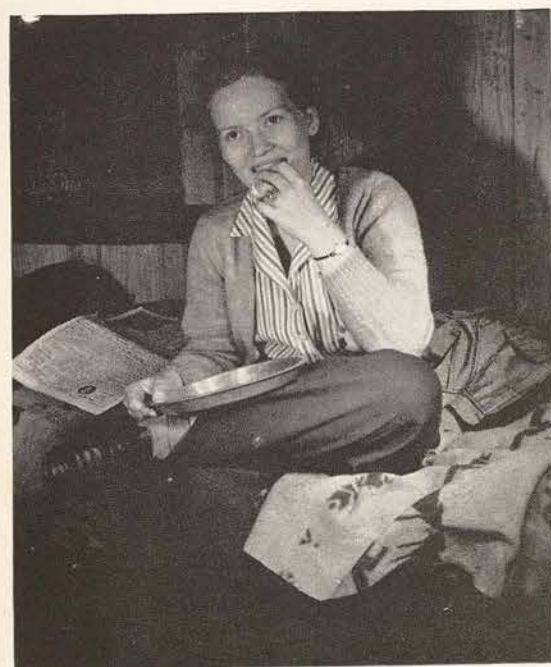

Faculty...off guard

Dean White sets the "at ease" mood for faculty members with his book of jokes and humor.

After working hours are spent with friends, as is shown by Miss Minnie McAuley and Mrs. Denman, at right.

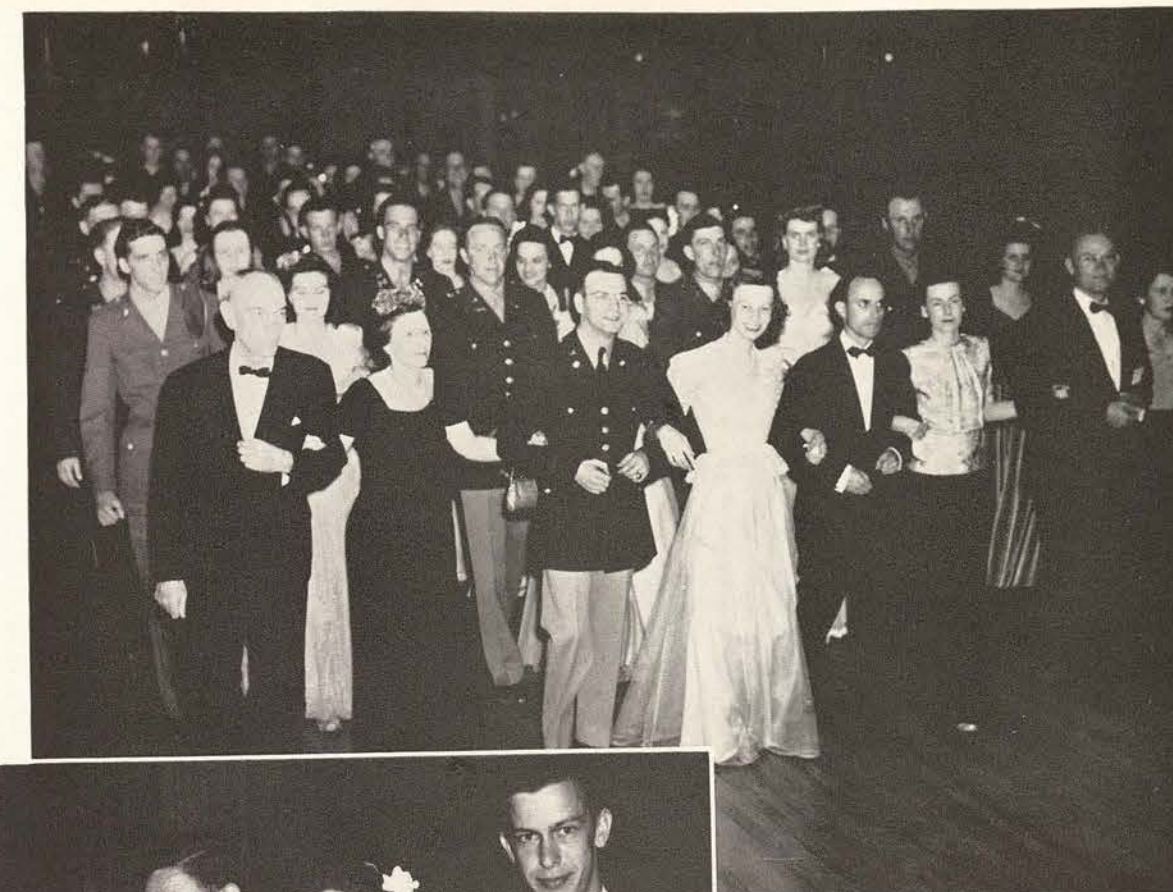

Dr. Wieseman takes a busman's holiday and makes even more music after class hours in preparation for the faculty recitals.

At left, Miss Mabel Pearson hangs onto her "college upbringing" as she eats, laughs, and makes merry in the Cabin-in-the Woods.

ROUND TABLE DANCE

Leading the grand march at the Annual Round Table Dance this spring were President and Mrs. Hubbard; Jean Barnard, president of the Round Table, and her date; Dr. and Mrs. Dade Sparks; and Dr. and Mrs. Paul P. Young.

Wandering to the punch bowl are two student officers and dates during the dance which is given for club, class, and student body officers exclusively.

Dancing to the music of the Campus Serenaders with partners of the moment are Pattilou Germany and Jean Barnard.

Dormitories

Prove Their Patriotism

Dormitories have shown their patriotism in many ways. While girls buy war stamps and bonds each week individually, many dorms as a whole have raised money to buy war bonds that they present to the college.

At left are students from Houston Hall who conducted a thriving grocery store to earn money for a war bond. Clerks and customers left to right are Lucrezia Wilson, Thalia Sasseen, Melba McCormich, chairman, Tiny Crouch, and Ann Gibson.

Students in Austin Hall raised money for their war bond through the indirect aid of boy friends. Army, Navy, and Marine sweetheart's photographs were displayed, with the girls being able to raise their rank only through the purchase of war stamps. Those pictures on the floor represented privates, rank ascending as photos went up.

THE COLLEGE STEAM LAUNDRY

Journalists of the Lass-O entertain members of the Battalion staff from old Aggieland in the College Club.

Peggy Dietz and Edith Ellison talk over the organization of the League of Women Voters at TSCW with Mrs. J. W. Bradner, Jr.

Dean E. V. White starts the day off right by entertaining Carl Hill with one of his original jokes.

"Big negro: 'Boy, you is a liah!'
Little negro: 'If you says dat to me agin, I'se gwina bust yo' haid.'
Big negro: 'Yo' is, is yo? Consider it done already said, black boy.'
Little negro: 'Consider yo' haid already busted, big boy!'"

Candidates for positions on the literary publication's staffs for next year have a friendly get-together at the Journalism Building.

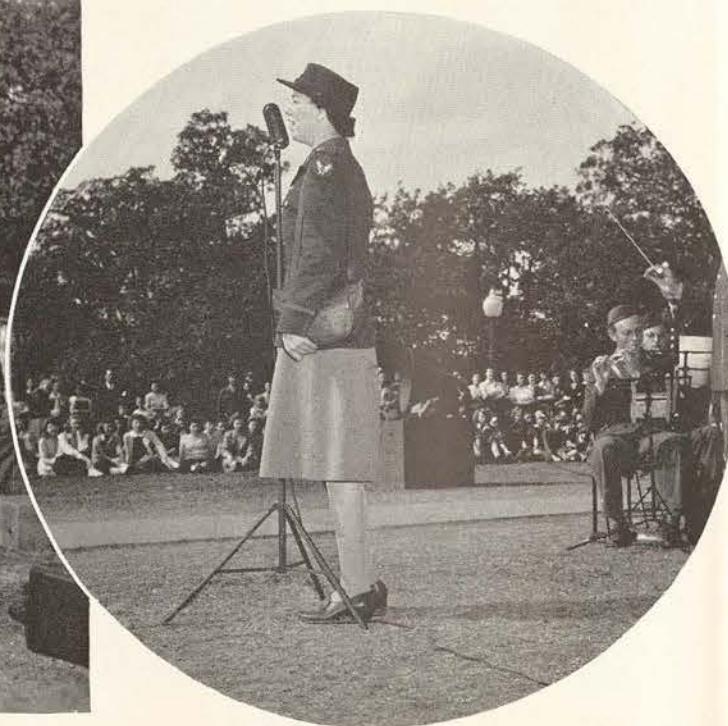

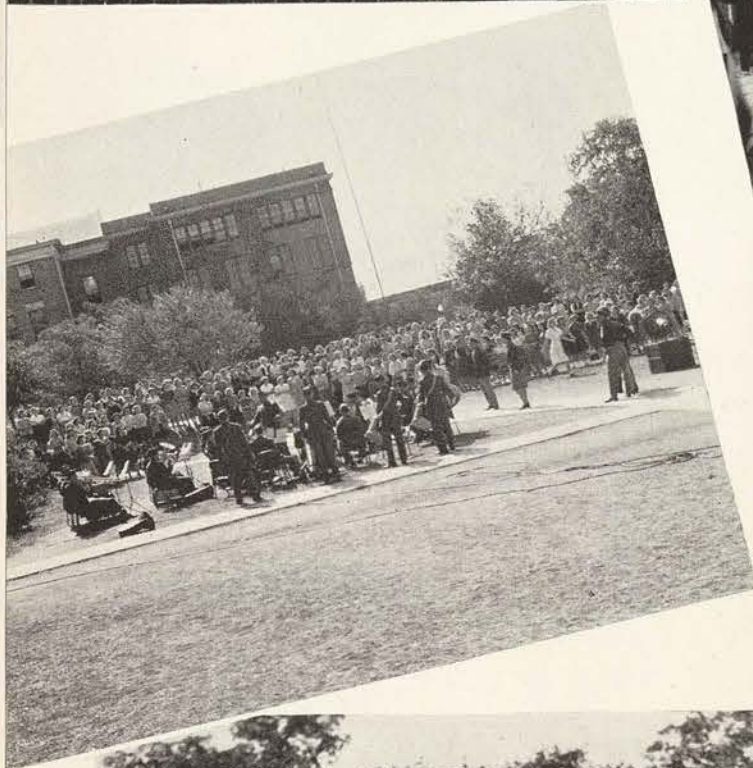

WAC Recruiters Visit

TSCW's call to be the women behind the men behind the guns was made very effectively by the Perrin Field band and WAC recruiters who visited the campus one Saturday and gave an outdoor concert in front of Stoddard.

Below, Maj. C. J. Wall introduces their talented singing and representative WAC, Lt. Van Acken. Sgt. Hyman Charninsky, band leader, smiles in the background.

TSCW Wins the Flag

Peggy Dietze, student finance chairman, expresses the appreciation for the Schools-at-War Flag, which was presented to TSCW when 90 per cent of the student body purchased at least one war stamp a week during the month of February.

Here students gather to watch the raising of the flag in front of the Administration Building, proud that this was the first such flag among Texas colleges.

President Hubbard and Mrs. J. W. Walker display the flag before it is officially raised. Mrs. Walker is the state director of the Schools-at-War Division of the National War Finance Committee.

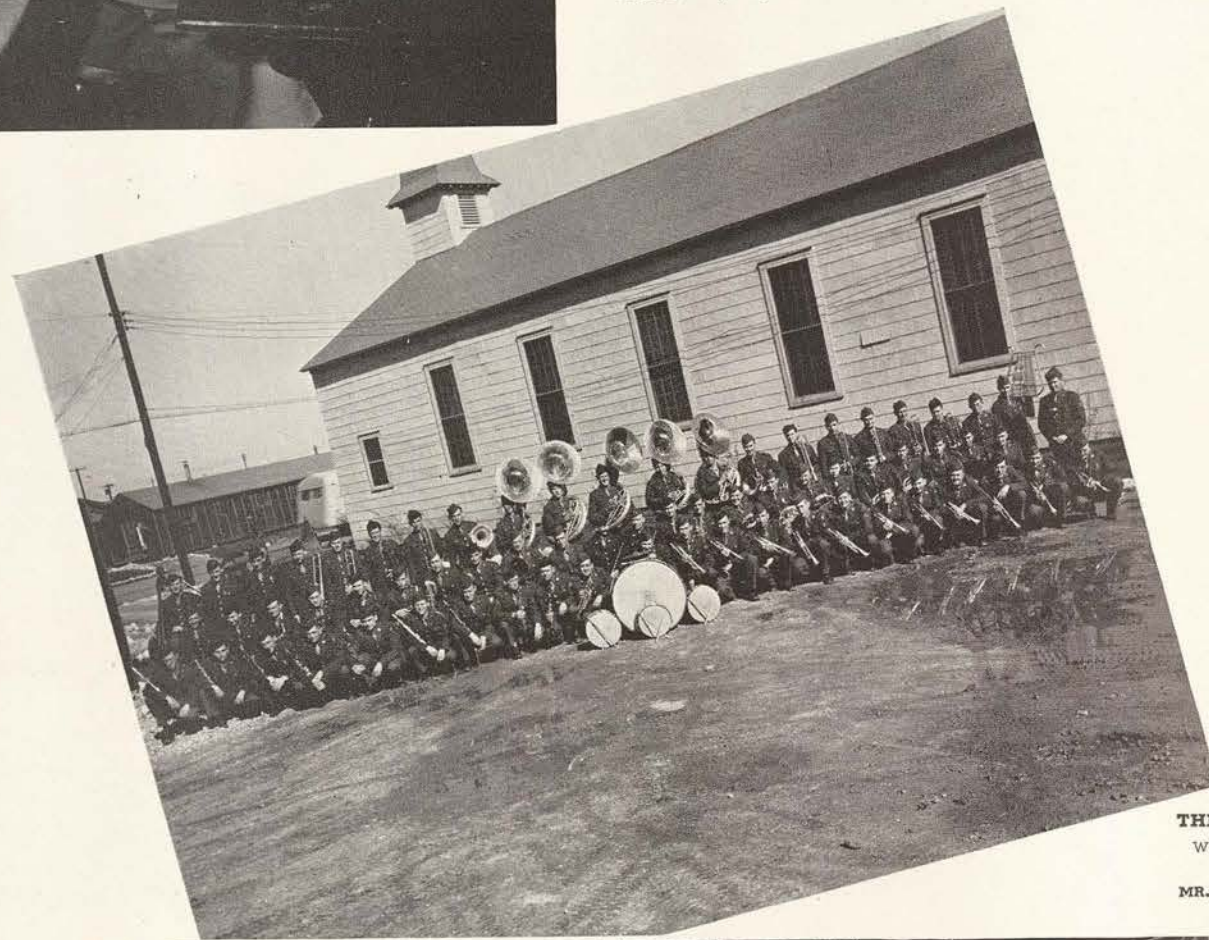

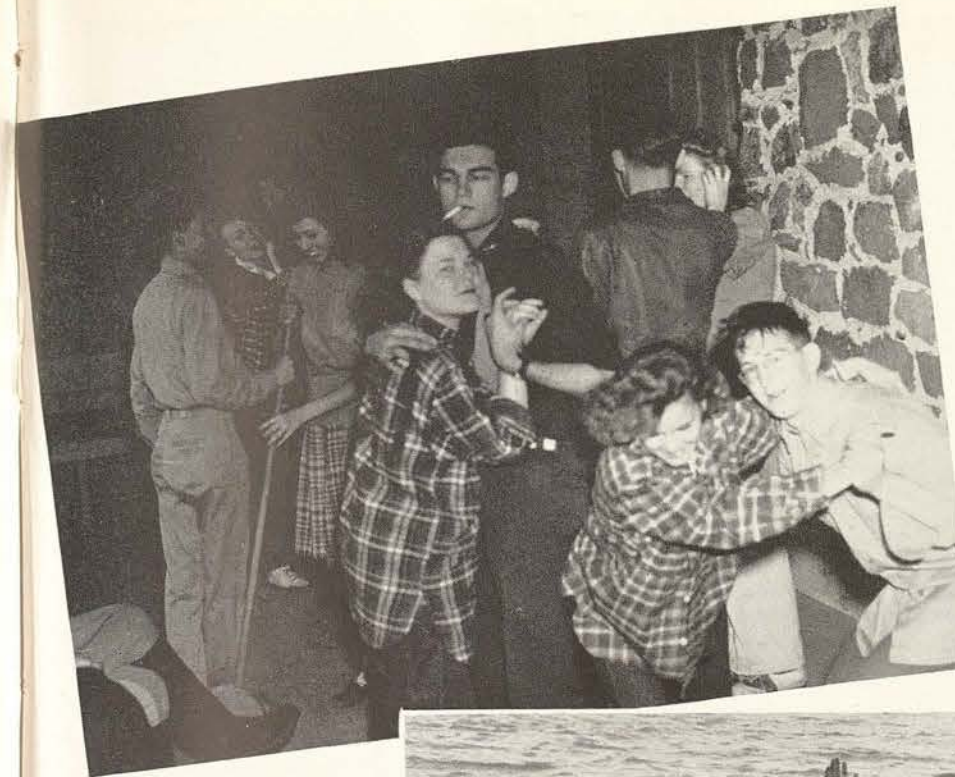

103d INFANTRY BAND

TSCW-ites were not the only morale boosters "around these hyar parts." The 103rd Infantry Division Band, stationed at Camp Howze provided the entire student body with an entertaining talented program. Shown at left is Lt. Oliver Manning, pianist, with the band. He was heard in compositions by Parodies, De Bussy, and Chopin as well as popular numbers.

Ah! Lake Dallas

Oh, for the life of a journalist! A party at Lake Dallas was part of the entertainment planned for the Aggie Battalion staff who paid a visit to Tessieland as the guests of the Lass-O staff one week-end. Of course a paper was edited, but the fun didn't stop there!

Left, Sylvester Boone and Betty Rose Cravens do a "special step" to a recording in the TSCW cabin.

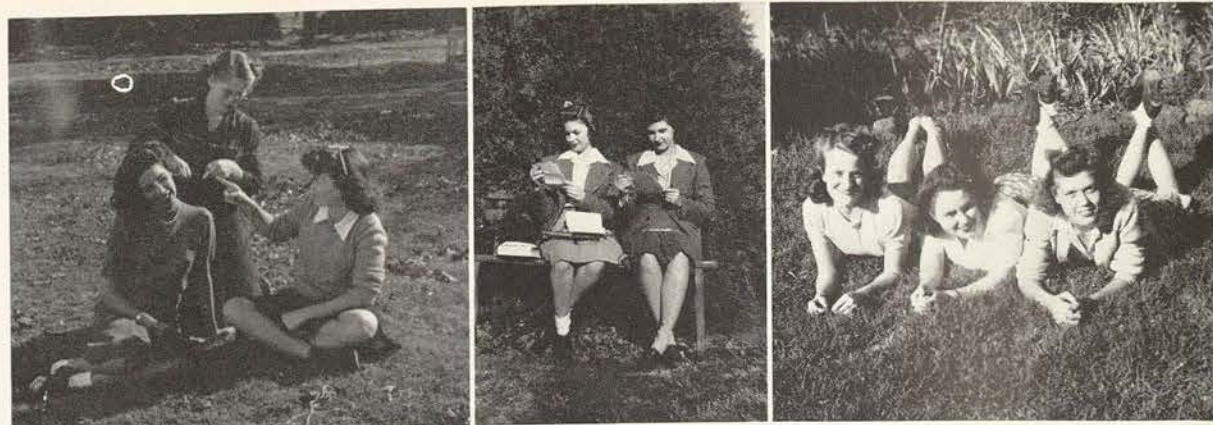

Susu and Betty Rose prove they are water-shy as they go for a ride in the college boat with some Aggies.

Judy McNeill and Bill Garrett practice a "coy" pose for the ever-present camera.

Well, after all, what would a party be without food? Marygene Underwood and Adelle Baker and their dates believe that that question can best be answered by actions instead of words.

Three Tessies spend spare moments trying to concoct a new hair style. . . . Gwen West and Pat Wolfe prove that "mail call" is not just a term. . . . Betty Robbins, Anne McCarthy, and Georgia Yeary relax in the sunshine.

Teddy Reichert, Jean Robinson, and Ruth Butman "feast" after studying for an exam. . . . Seven TSCW-ites consider thumbing a ride!

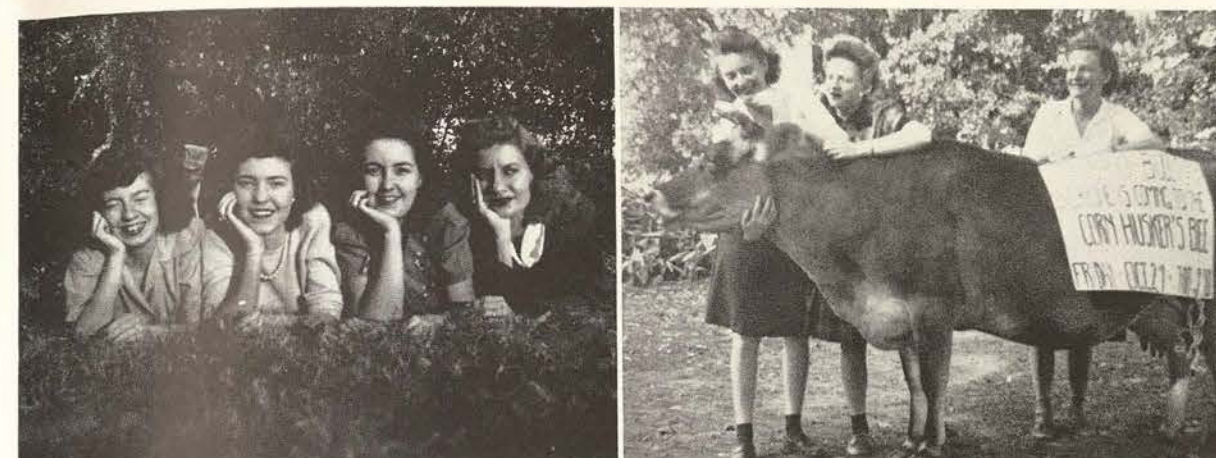

Betty Scamardo, Virginia Scoggin, Joy Savage, and Jamie Beene are all dressed up and no where to go! . . . Imagining what it would be like to be mermaids are Jessie Lee Blake-more, Mary Wilkinson, and Anna Ruth Johnson. . . . Marilyn Grundy and Virginia Kircher "take it out" on a sophomore.

Art students Margie Miller and Marilyn Mailory pretend they are unaware of the camera!

Margaret Davis, Hattie Mae Wood, Jeanne Arnold, Gracie Richey, Billie Clyburn, and Virginia Eldridge are off to Lowry Woods. . . . Nancy Hammond, Billie Clyburn, George Goss Smith, and Betty Chowning concentrate on the aces and jacks.

Oh, isn't it nice to loaf? These four think so. . . . Peggy Gowan, Elizabeth Royall, and Dorothy Harris cater to the "beef."

Virginia Robertson leaves Houston Hall for an 8:15—Sleepy head! . . . Ernestine Ashe gives that "come hither" look to a passer-by. . . . Jane McCarthy displays a smug smile after finding a letter at the P. O.

Annie Hildreth gives with a Tessie smile. . . . Jessie, Mary Frances, and Anna Ruth pretend realistically that they are the three evil monkeys. . . . Joy Savage isn't savage at all—she's camera shy!

Imogene Scott pauses to write a letter home before "hitting the hay." . . . A drink of water—after "lights out." . . . Pat Wolfe can't decide which dog to bite.

Imogene smiles proudly for her "Alma Mater." Sandy Skipwith gives the "rugged" aspect to this page—that's no slam, either! . . . Virginia and her date pose in front of the Little Chapel.

Two gals and a car! Don't they know there's a war on? . . . Betty Martin provides a glamorous smile. . . . Below, Mary Jo and Lorraine exchange—hey! is it that bad? . . . Wouldn't you know it? Melba, Betsy, and Dona apply the beauty treatment.

Jean, Wanda, and Ada Frances recline dreamily. Well, after all, three heads are better than one. . . . Mary Cain and Sue Henderson sit contentedly in front of Houston. . . . Miss Jeannette Schlottmann gives the pretty co-eds competition.

Jean Ann Doores writes a letter to guess who. . . . Louise Hudspeth takes a seat on the "terra firma."

Mary Ann Mitchell and June Steusoff pause a minute after a fast game of tennis. . . . Carol Shook adds to the beauty of the botanical gardens. . . . Six girls and a fence—Thalia Sasseen, Betty Woodrum, Ada Lee Phillips, Winona Bickley, Caroline Bickley, and Margaret Ann Niissle.

Betsy Barton and Beverle Roberts show the Aggie-TSCW spirit. . . . What've we got here? Billie Wilson goes "Hawaiian." . . . Just loafing on the bridge are Lois Sumner, Cecile Lynch, Jeanne Lord, Judy McGinnis, Katherine Rawlings, and Betty Johnson.

Adding appeal to the wave sign is Henrietta Coleman. . . . Linda Lee Thompson and Betty Ginochio brighten up the trash pile. . . . Jo Miller reads a letter while Elmo Brown looks disappointed.

Betty Lou Johnston, Mary Stevens and Katherine Rawlins "picnic" in Lowry woods. . . . Miriam Marston looks wistfully into the sky. Going to rain? . . . Attraction fish? Cecile, Jeanne, Marjorie, Betty, and Judy stop to look from the bridge.

Jean Robinson tries to "stick with it." . . . Teddy Reichert knitting, and she almost dropped a stitch.

Margaret Davies looks for the birdies. . . . Miss Mary Adelyn Race caught day-dreaming. . . . Two gals and a soldier—well, after all, this is war, you know.

Barbara, Nita, Beth, Mildred, and Pat form a pleasing silhouette against the sky. . . . Food, food, food—says this girl pictured at the All-college picnic. . . . Mickie, Katie, and Laurie prop against the tree for a breathing spell.

Gloria Echols and La Fon Lindsay give a romantic view of a soldier and his gal. . . . Jean Wilson snoops into the flower beds. . . . Margie Miller and Marguerite Young dressed for the concert.

Virginia Eldridge looks through the "bars" pensively. . . . Beth Berryhill and Nita Lake cool off their hoofs in the water. . . . Lorena Brooks poses on the Household Arts Building entrance. . . . Eleanor Williams tells Jean Cox some shocking news!

Billie and Mary Beth get a laugh out of that one. . . . Jimmie Earleen Hall smiles for the camera from Lowry Hall stones. . . . Sara Cooley and Bobby Haynes chat with ex-student Nancy Wilkerson.
