LaVonne -
It has really been evening with
you. - You have all it takes every thing. - I almost wish you had flunked so
But then I almost forgot we are going to share an apartment again soon - huh.
Be sweet and don't forget -
Love ya -

DAEDALLIAN

Foreword

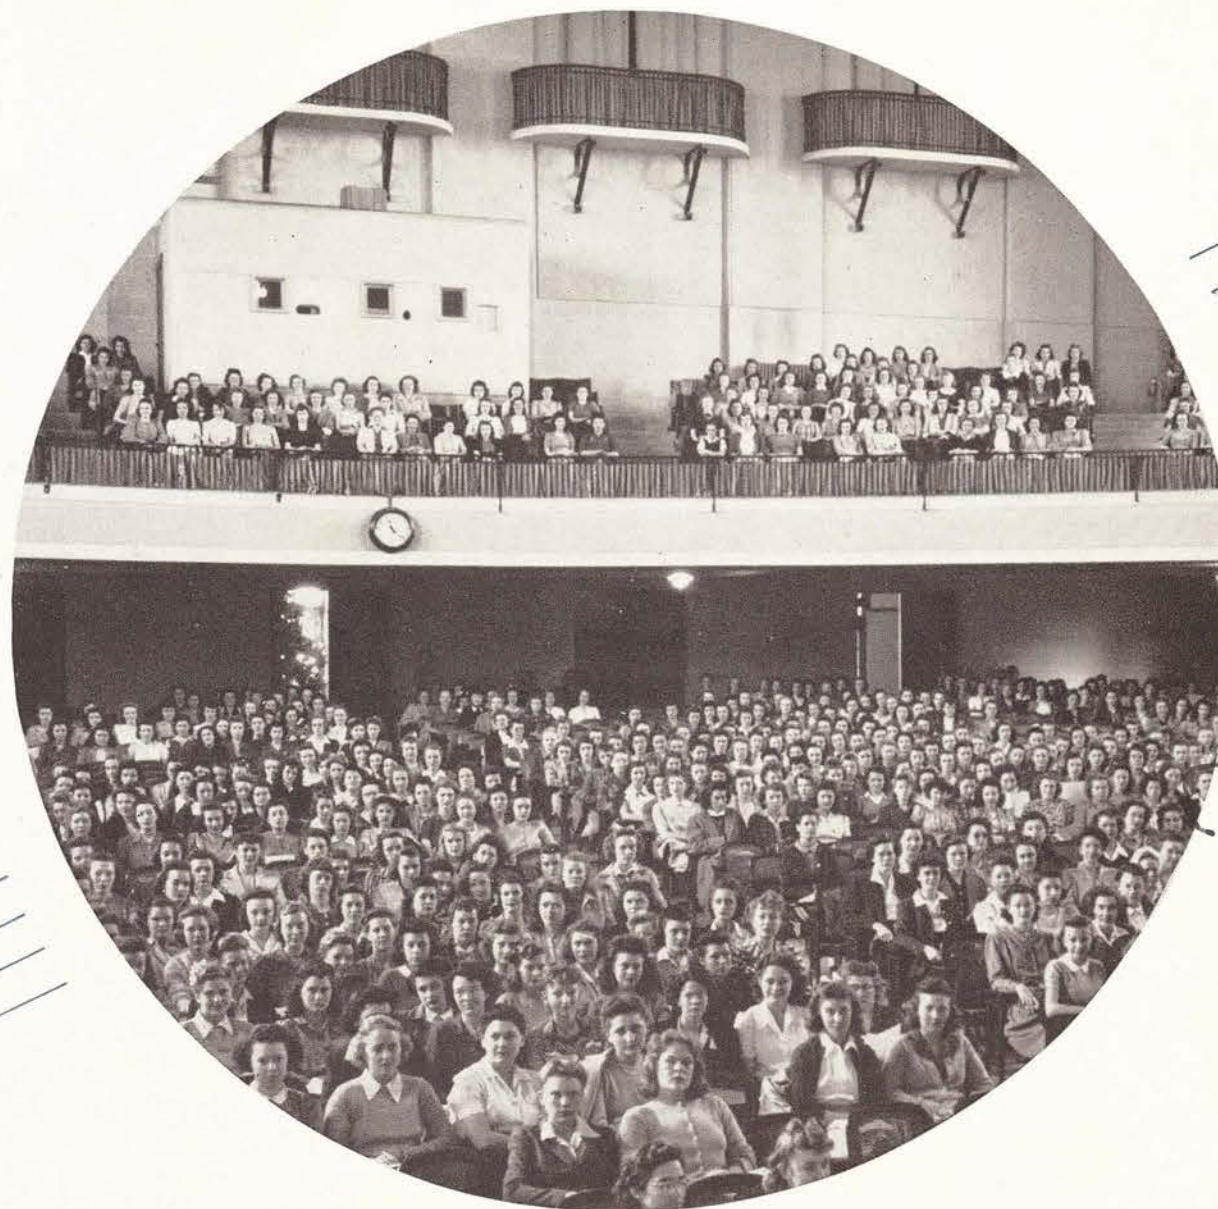

OF THE STUDENTS and for the students, this DAEDALIAN wishes to reflect the unabridged story of 1942-43 and to picture the typical TSCWite in her active routine during the year.

Depicting our campus during the first year of World War II, the typical student is used as its theme to represent the Texas State College for Women and its ideals—patriotism, enthusiasm, charm, and ambition. You are the clay model pictured here. You are learning by doing.

TEXAS STATE COLLEGE FOR WOMEN...DENTON

Around the Campus with E. V. White Dean of the College

Math is one of the Dean's favorite pastimes. Here he explains the solution to a—well, he explains the solution.

Dean White never tires of bragging about his favorite automobile, by which he is standing.

Mrs. Mattie Lloyd Wooten
Dean of Women

B.A., M.A., Ph.D., University of Texas;
University of Southern California; University of Minnesota.

Lending a sympathetic ear toward student problems and giving each individual attention, our Dean of Women is an essential part of the TSCW girl's scheme of living while in college. Her advice, given only after thorough consideration, always turns out for the best.

Miss Jessie H. Humphries
Associate Dean of the College

B.A., Howard Payne College; B.A., University of Chicago; M.A., Columbia University; Lit. D., Howard Payne College.

Kindly understanding and friendliness characterize our Associate Dean. One of the first faculty members, Dr. Humphries keeps a lively interest in students and College developments.

TEXAS STATE COLLEGE FOR WOMEN...DENTON

Music

T. S. C. W. Symphony Orchestra

MILES A. DRESSKELL,
Director of the Orchestra

The College orchestra includes approximately seventy students, and is the only complete all-girl orchestra in the Southwest. Because of transportation difficulties, the orchestra has not given out-of-town concerts this year.

The College Choir

The Choir, directed by DR. WILLIAM E. JONES, gives numerous concerts throughout the year.

A special interest was taken in presentations for army camps this year.

MARY SUE HOOPER
Vocalist

RUTH DOTY
Director

Campus Serenaders

A TSCW broadcast. Harp, organ, string quartet . . . heavenly music by beautiful lassies.

Music Extras

Marathon Blake, Roberta von Grempe, and Mary Evelyn Varnell draw bows across singing strings.

Three trumpets and a trombone gather 'round a mike to make with the music.

Drama

"Night Must Fall"

By
Emlyn Williams

Dan, a murderer played by Evalena Caton, worms his way into a respectable English household through his disarming good humor and boyish lack of responsibility. The plot gradually reveals the depressed state of mind of the killer.

"Heart of a City"

By
Lesley Storm

Presented as the second Little Theater production of the year, the play is based on an actual theater in London and the people connected with it. The true backstage story of 34 pretty chorus girls in the Windmill Theater in London through the worst days of London's air blitz is given.

Left, In the basement dressing room of the Windmill, chorus girls and song writer Ercelle Hardcastle seem interested in a telephone message for manager Anna Catherine Runyon.

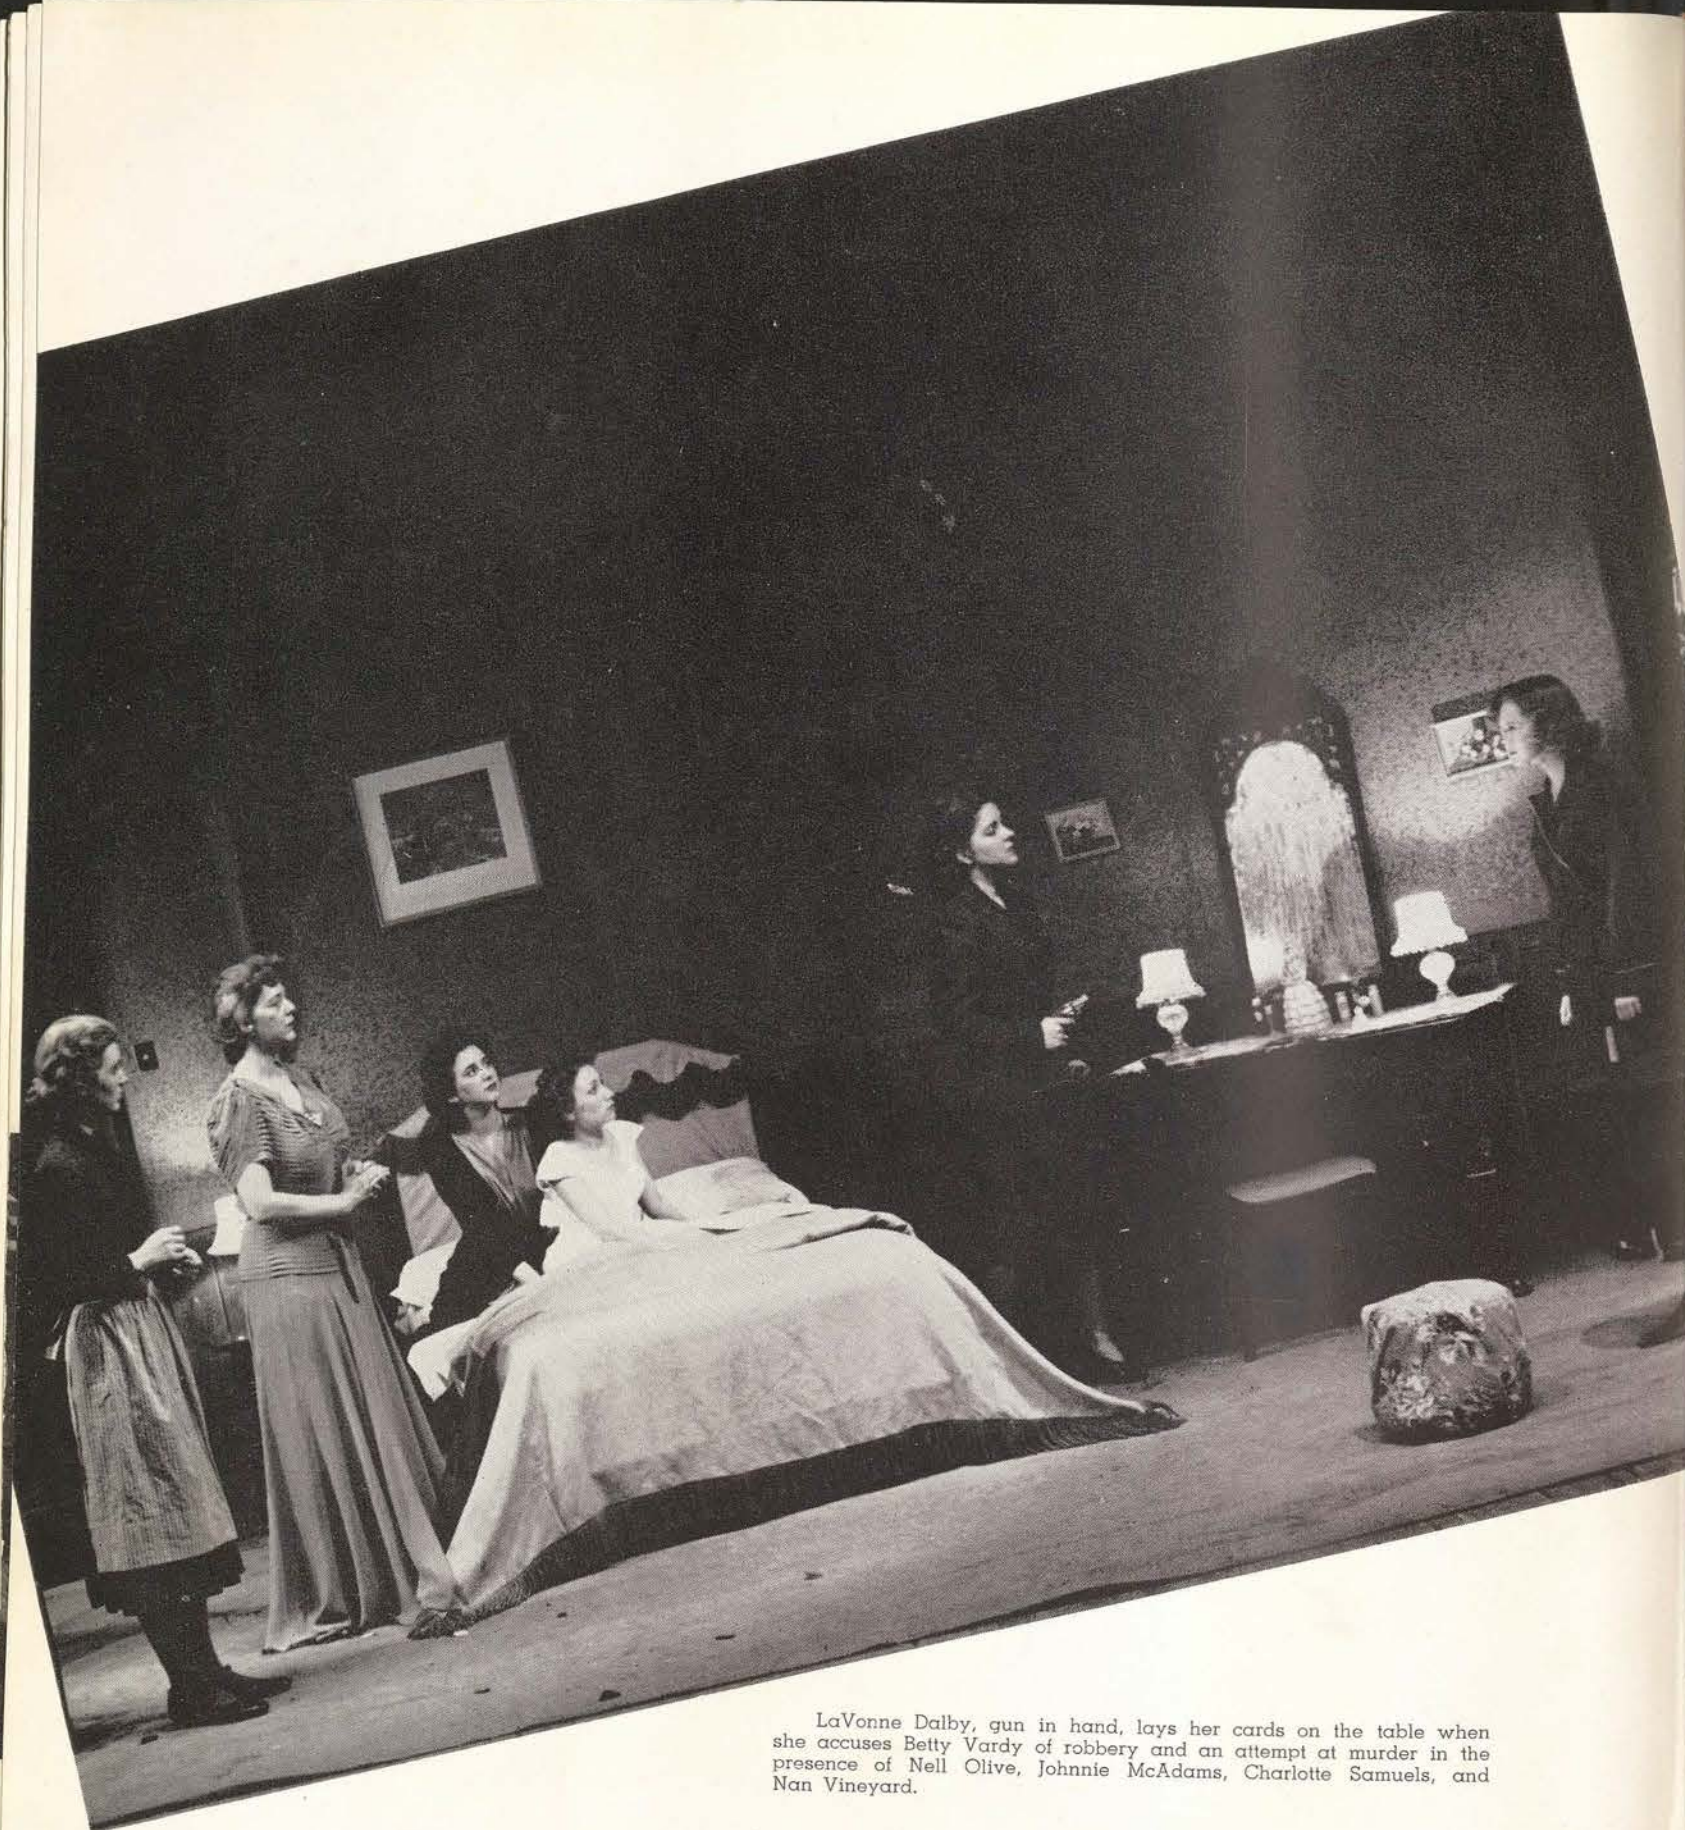

Manager Anna Catherine Runyon and chorus girls Anna Ruth Ashe and Martha Lou Morehead converse with RAF officers Lanelle Leach and Evelyn Cummins at the Bomber Command where the girls are giving a show. Bar maid Mary Frances Storey looks on.

Song writer Ercelle Hardcastle smiles approvingly at chorus girls Charlotte Samuels and Martha Lou Morehead as they await their cue.

LaVonne Dalby, gun in hand, lays her cards on the table when she accuses Betty Vardy of robbery and an attempt at murder in the presence of Nell Olive, Johnnie McAdams, Charlotte Samuels, and Nan Vineyard.

"Ladies in Waiting"

Produced by the College Little Theater under the direction of Archibald McLeod, "Ladies in Waiting," packed full of the drama of Cyril Campion's "A-1 who-dunit," played in Denton January 14 and 15; then loaded props and lights on trucks and took to the road.

Top, There is a moment of tension as Johnnie McAdams as Lady Spate demands of detective Pamela Dark, played by LaVonne Dalby, the truth about the stolen pearl necklace.

Below, Clara Jumper, as Maud, and Nell Olive, as Mrs. Dawson, let superstition get the better of them as they drive evil spirits away from the bed of their mistress.

Verse Speaking Choir

... These girls with lovely voices change words into music. Clarity and precision of these verse speakers blended into unison highlighted many on and off the campus programs.

Celebrities

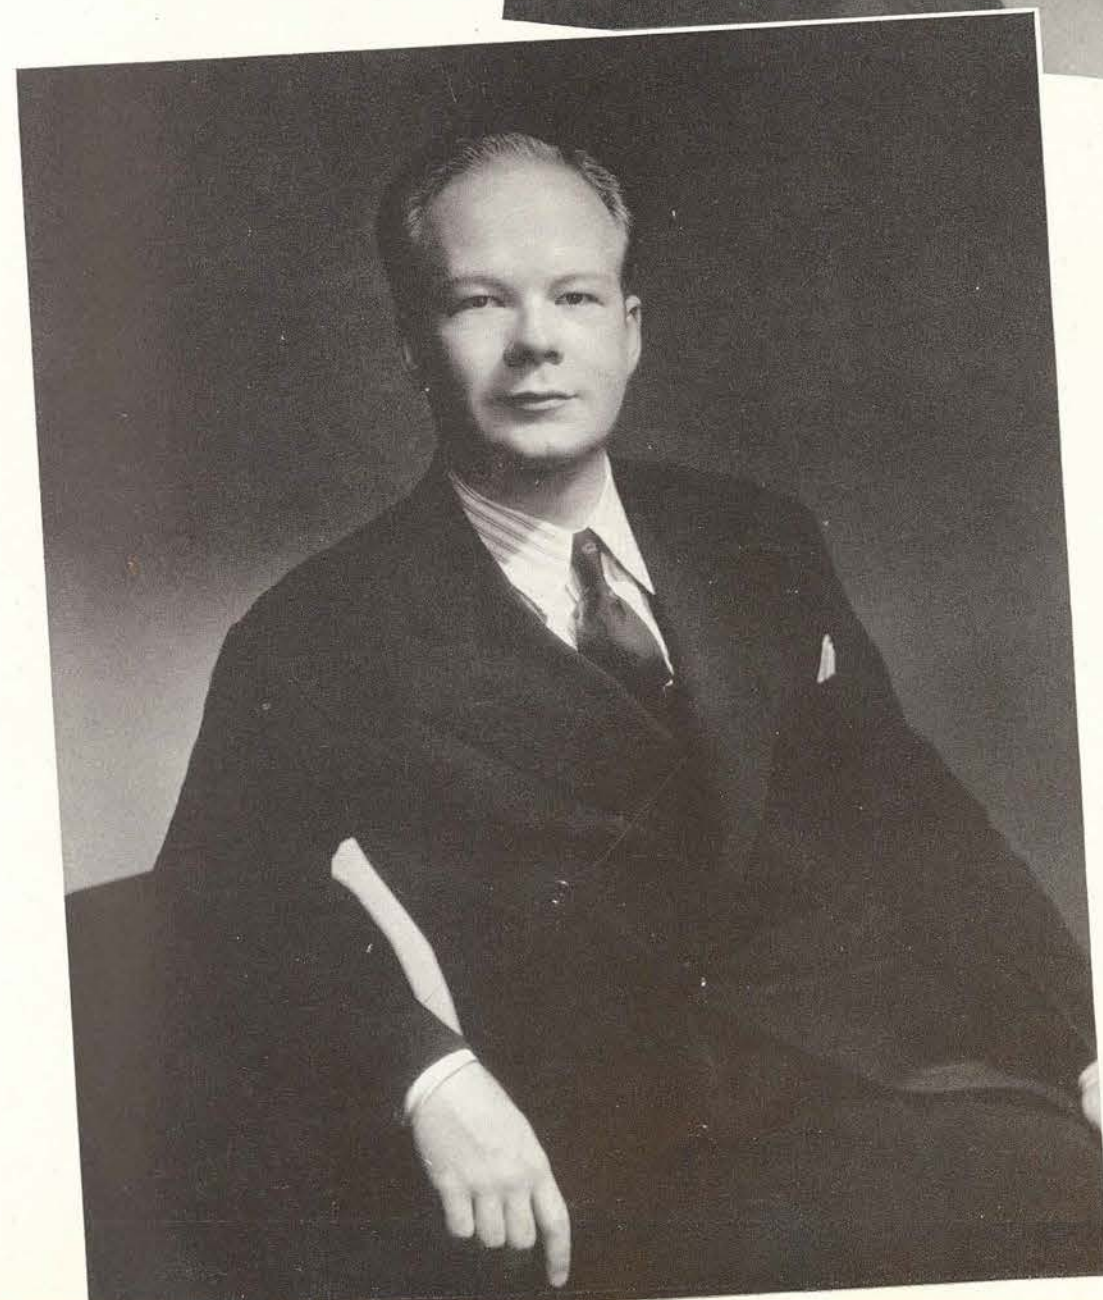

Carroll Glenn

... 22-year-old violinist, has been dubbed "America's own Violinist."

Ruth Draper

... monologist, whose superb performance thrilled the student body.

Mack Harrell

... the young Texas baritone, is now with the Metropolitan Opera Company.

Sergei Rachmaninoff

. . . brilliant composer-conductor-pianist, was scheduled to appear here, but his engagement was cancelled because of illness.

Maurice Evans

. . . great New York actor, presented passages from Shakespeare for the audience.

The grace and beauty of the

Ballet Theater

OF NEW YORK will long be remembered by the TSCW audience.

This all-girl Crusader Concert-Accordion Band played on the Concert and Drama Series in October. Composed of 20 Oklahoma girls from junior high school, senior high school and college, the band has achieved wide recognition in this field.

Claudio Arrau
... famous Chilean pianist, appeared on the Drama Series in March.

A&M-TEXAS U GAME

Above, Pat Twiss is all set and ready to go. Center left, 38 members of the Hockey Club divided into two teams of players and substitutes for the traditional Turkey-Day Texas U-Aggie tilt and prophesied a tie in Austin's Memorial Stadium. Right, Sissy Suba, captain of the Aggies, and Abbie Rutledge, member of the tea-sippers, seem happy at the outcome of the game.

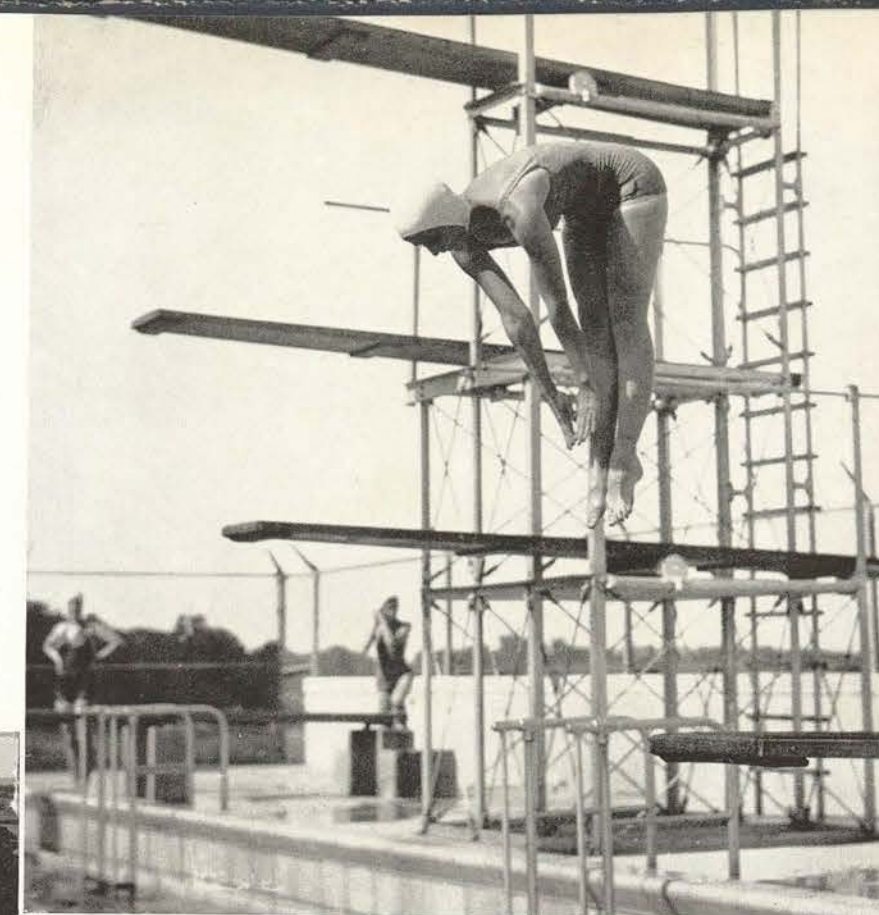

Good posture is indispensable, and to further students in attaining it, the physical education department offers a course in posture correctives each semester.

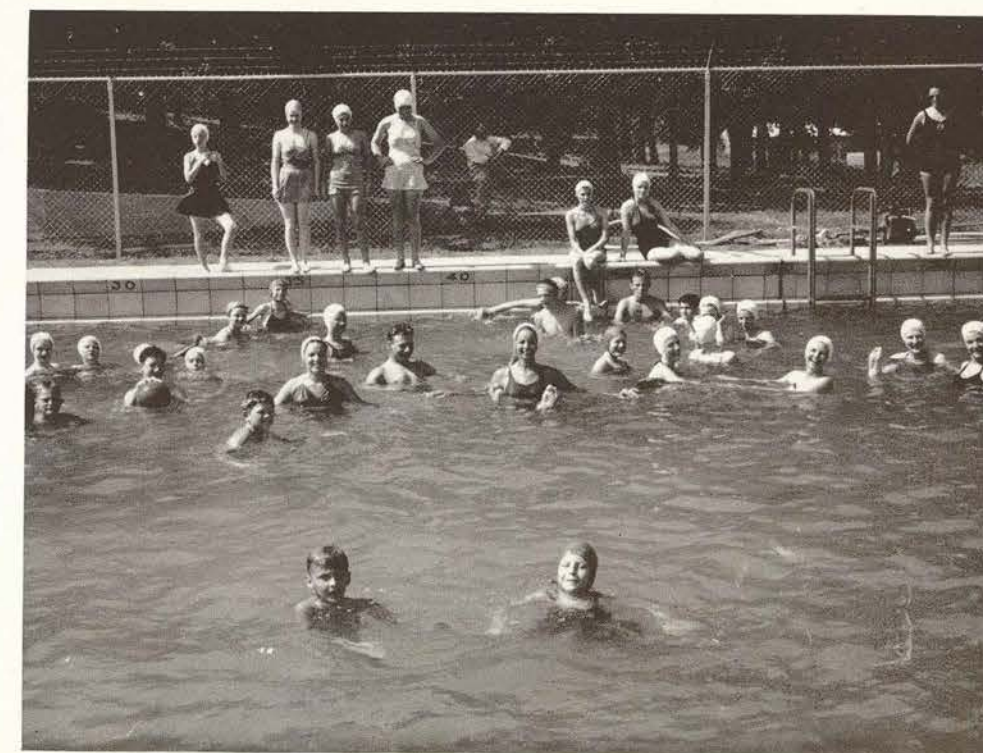

Top, Shirley and Marion help partners get that easy stretch. Center, There's nothing like balancing books to make girls walk straight. Below, a mirror helps correct faults.

The Swimming Pool

TSCW's outdoor swimming pool, which made its debut during the summer of '42, has proven itself the most popular campus spot for students—when the Texas weather permits. Right, A jack-knifer prepares to submerge via one of the lower boards.

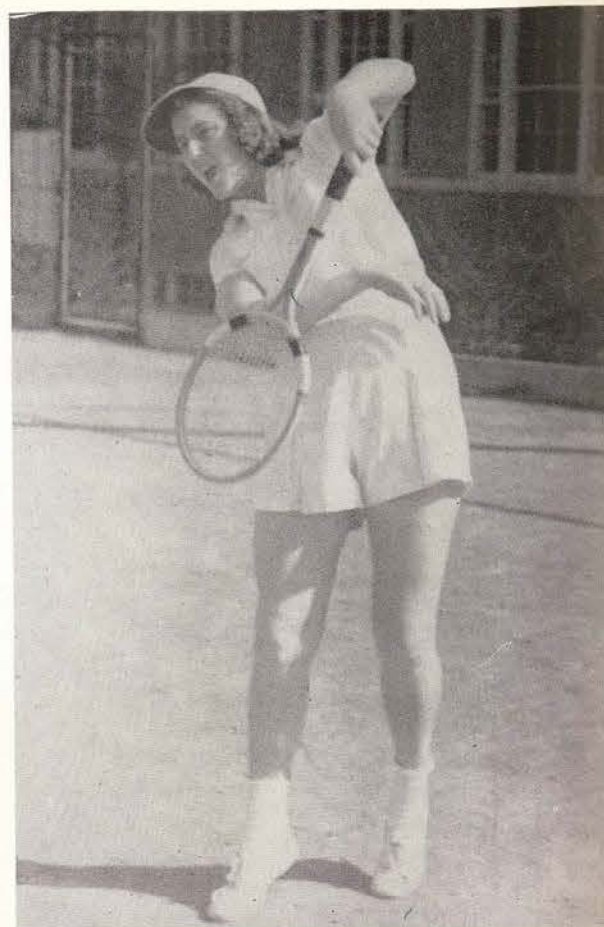

Above, An overall view of the pool shows the sand beach for sun bathers at the right and a bit of the college golf course in the distance. Right, Water-lovers go into a quasi huddle around the 35 and 40 yard lines of ye ole swimmin' hole.

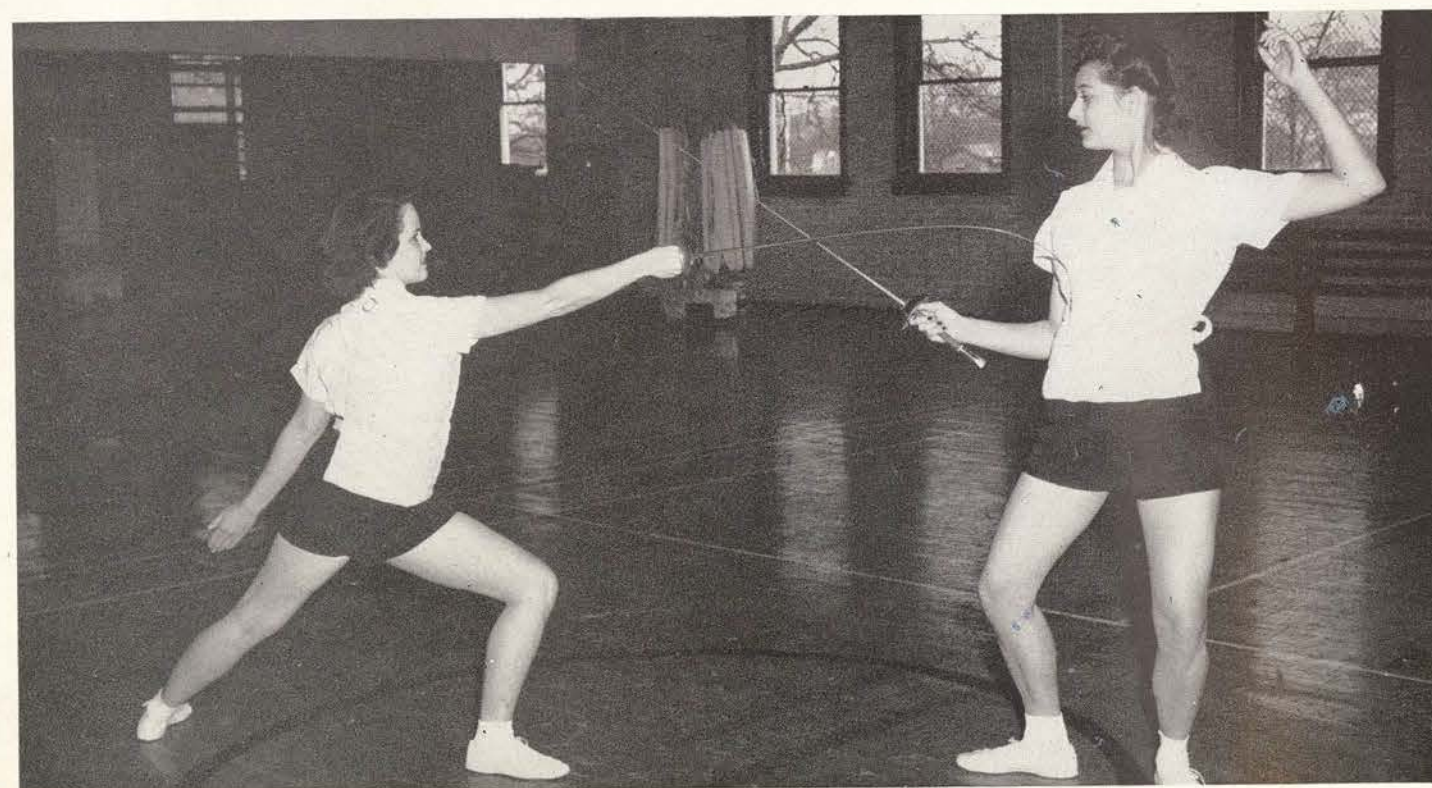

Betty Harvin, Betty Lumpkin, Peggy Dyer, and Evelyn Benson do their daily dozen on roller skates.

Ruth Cady gets the old American twist in her expert service!

Carolyn Thomas and Clare Touhy engage in a fencing duel, the art of attack and defense with sword or foil.

Top, Mr. Sample and Mr. Douglass survey the registration mob. Center, work is just beginning, girls. Bottom, Mr. Welch can smile, he has a chair.

Registration Day

To those who think college is all 8:15's, themes, Saturday night snacks, and the "goose," there comes a rude awakening — those first three days on the campus. Those things come, but they must follow endless lines to faculty advisors, the bank-room, and the last main objective, the book-room (witness the smiles).

Above, Look at those books! Registrar Emerson is under constant bombardment—of questions. Bottom left, That line-up isn't for the front row of the follies—they are filling out those little white cards. Bottom right, Dean White advises the seniors.

All-College Night

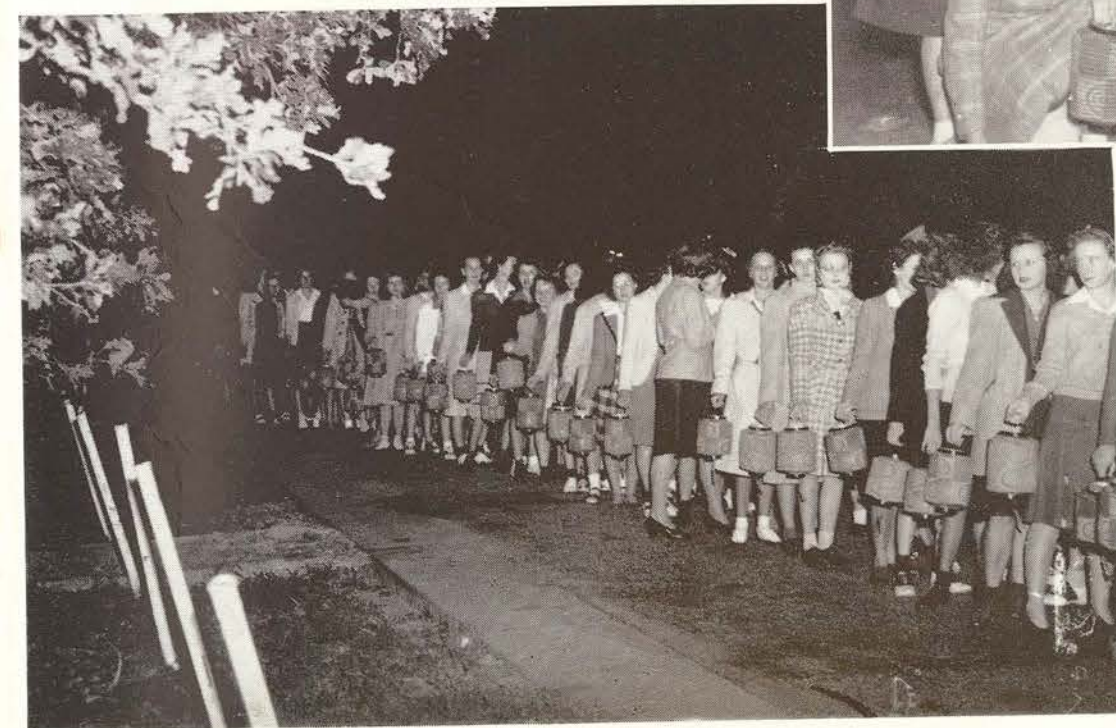

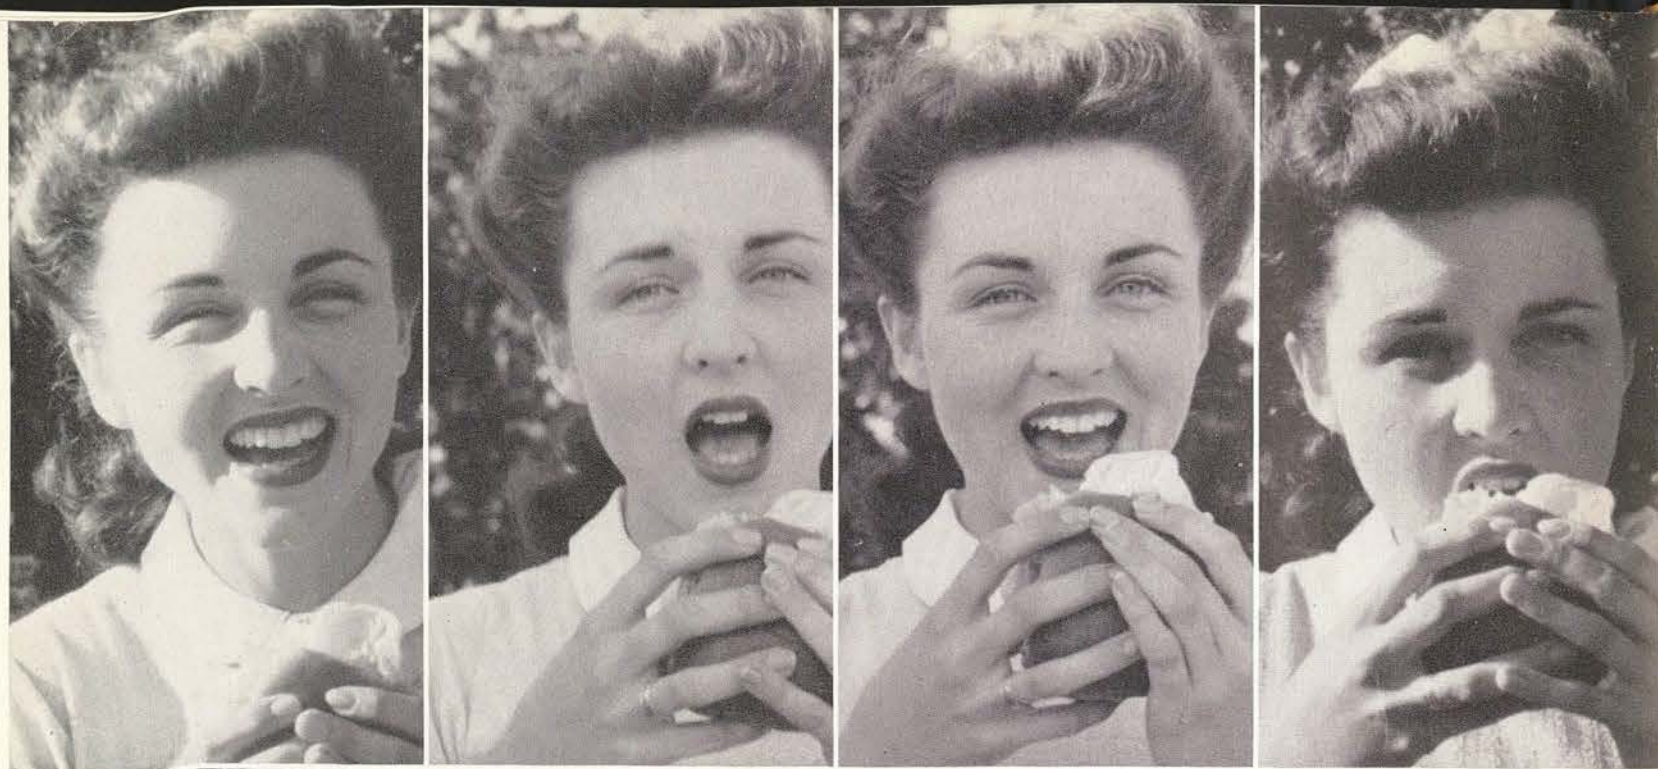

Portraying one of their most carefree roles during the year, campus officers welcome new enlistees at the All-College Night festivities. Margaret Gaines and Ethel Jane Whitson display a bit of Latin American oomph. Lower right, Loraine Clingman and Susanne Winter need not worry about "A cards" as long as cyclist Ida Mae Hadley has two good tires. Upper left, Student Body Prexy Mary Jane Trail and Patricia McCarthy pose with Senators Evalena Caton, Verna Beaver Gray, Johnnie McAdams, and Ruby Guthrie, and visiting service men. Lower left, My word! Lucille Thornton is "gettin' the spirit" from first aid specialists Marilyn Payne, Evelyn Cummins, Claire Nusom, Peggy Lovelady, and Edith Ellison.

Traditional Lantern Parade

Every fall advisers and advisees trip through an evening of lantern parading. An all-college activity, its moving lights can be seen from every corner of the campus.

GOING, G-O-I-N-G, GONE!

The All-College Picnic

There's nothing like food to keep a student body busy. . . . Did you ever see such determination?

SENIOR RECEPTION

Starting off the all-senior activities for the year is the annual reception. This year senior class officers and those of other clubs were introduced to classmates and faculty members from the Auditorium stage. Caton's "Remsky!" was the word of the week.

Above right, adjourning to the punch bowl, Mr. Emerson, sponsor, found himself surrounded by class officers—and didn't seem to mind too much. Above left, Mr. Turrentine and Mr. Phillips also seem to have what it takes—look at their haul. Above center, Dr. Lang partakes of punch. Bottom center, Wonder who said what to Mrs. Hubbard? Must have been amusing.

And getting all those evening dresses into one picture was no small job.

Bless those Juniors for their spirit! Last October they tossed their troubles to the breeze, and prepared for the annual Junior hay-ride. And there was no hay to be had. And no ride to be "rid." But hay-less and ride-less, the Juniors had their picnic, and loved it. What more could you expect, with free food!

Top left, Some kind of sextet swings out with ye ole class song. Almin Curtis, roving bass. Top right, "Pokie" Platzer and Champe Philips lead some rousing cheers for class officers, and the food! Right, Lanelle Leach finds something besides a hole in the doughnut . . . But Jean Remington and Dorothy Krahn understand. Bottom right, "Where there's food, there's . . ."

Each year sophomores celebrate under the October Harvest Moon. They serenade President and Mrs. Hubbard with the all-class favorite "Shine on Harvest Moon," not to mention "Moonlight and Roses." Dormitories also get a portion of this harmony, after which the sophs trek to Lowry Woods for hotdogs around a huge bonfire.

Top right, My, what expressions! Center, a lineup of smiles. Come on gang, get a little pep. The group peeps up by gathering around the piano to do a little rallying. Mr. Kendrick assists.

FORMAL CONVOCATION

Formal convocation . . . the day when the faculty, robed and hooded, march into the Auditorium to the majestic strains of the organ—and students must remain in their seats until they have "passed out" again! Dr. Hubbard is shown with Dr. M. Ellis Sadler, president of TCU, this year's convocation speaker. Above is a portion of the line of teachers as they march, two by two, from the Ad Building to the Auditorium. Below right, a still smaller section of the procession. And below, Dr. Taylor lifts an admonishing fist to Dr. Wiley with Mrs. Whitten and Miss Lemmon as witnesses.

The Sophs Swing Out at FORMAL BALL

Soft music, dim lights in the ballroom, and a November Saturday night—the Soph Fall Formal was in progress. Above, left, Nice dreaming (and a civilian, too). Center, A group of belles and beaux take time out for some punch. Below, Tippy Waddell, soph prexy, keeps soldier friend interested as they sit one out.

Faculty Greets Students at Newcomers Night

Each year the faculty turns out for a big party in the auditorium and at the President's garden to welcome the new students. There's always a program sponsored by the local students, after which everyone meets everyone else.

RUSH WEEK

Powdered noses and corsages, or jeans and pirate costumes . . . it makes no diff. This is the week when club members fete the most promising socialites of the campus with everything from kid parties and treasure hunts to the most formal of teas. Carolyn Eppright sits with three rushees. Top right, It must be one of those tall tales. Center, Four pretty smiles. Bottom left, what's this, the follies? Bottom right, Pirate Caton explains a treasure map.

Pledge Week

Pledge Week is the time when all good pledges wash clothes, clean rooms, memorize poetry, mop the p.o. floor with a tooth brush, or spend long hours measuring the Pioneer Woman with a toothpick.

SENIOR BREAKFAST

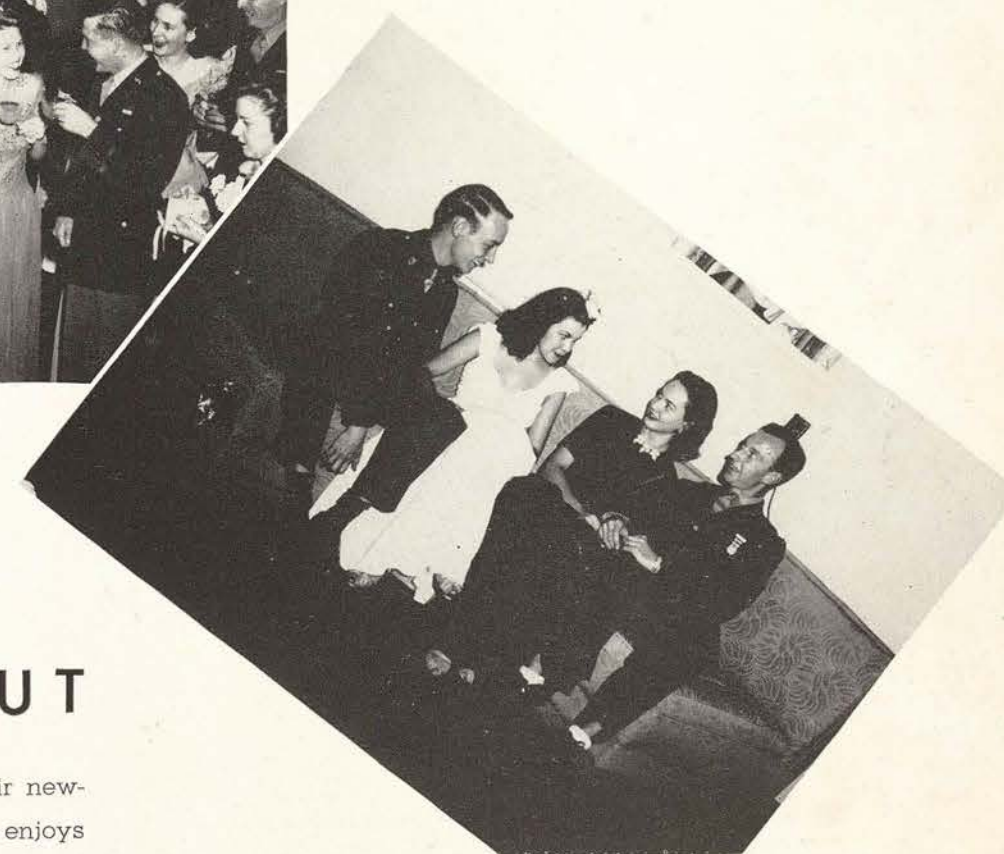

Seniors, remember this morning? Food! This was the morning seniors donned their heaviest coat and remnants of their Spartan hardihood, and breakfasted on the Slab behind Virginia Carroll Lodge before dawn had even cracked.

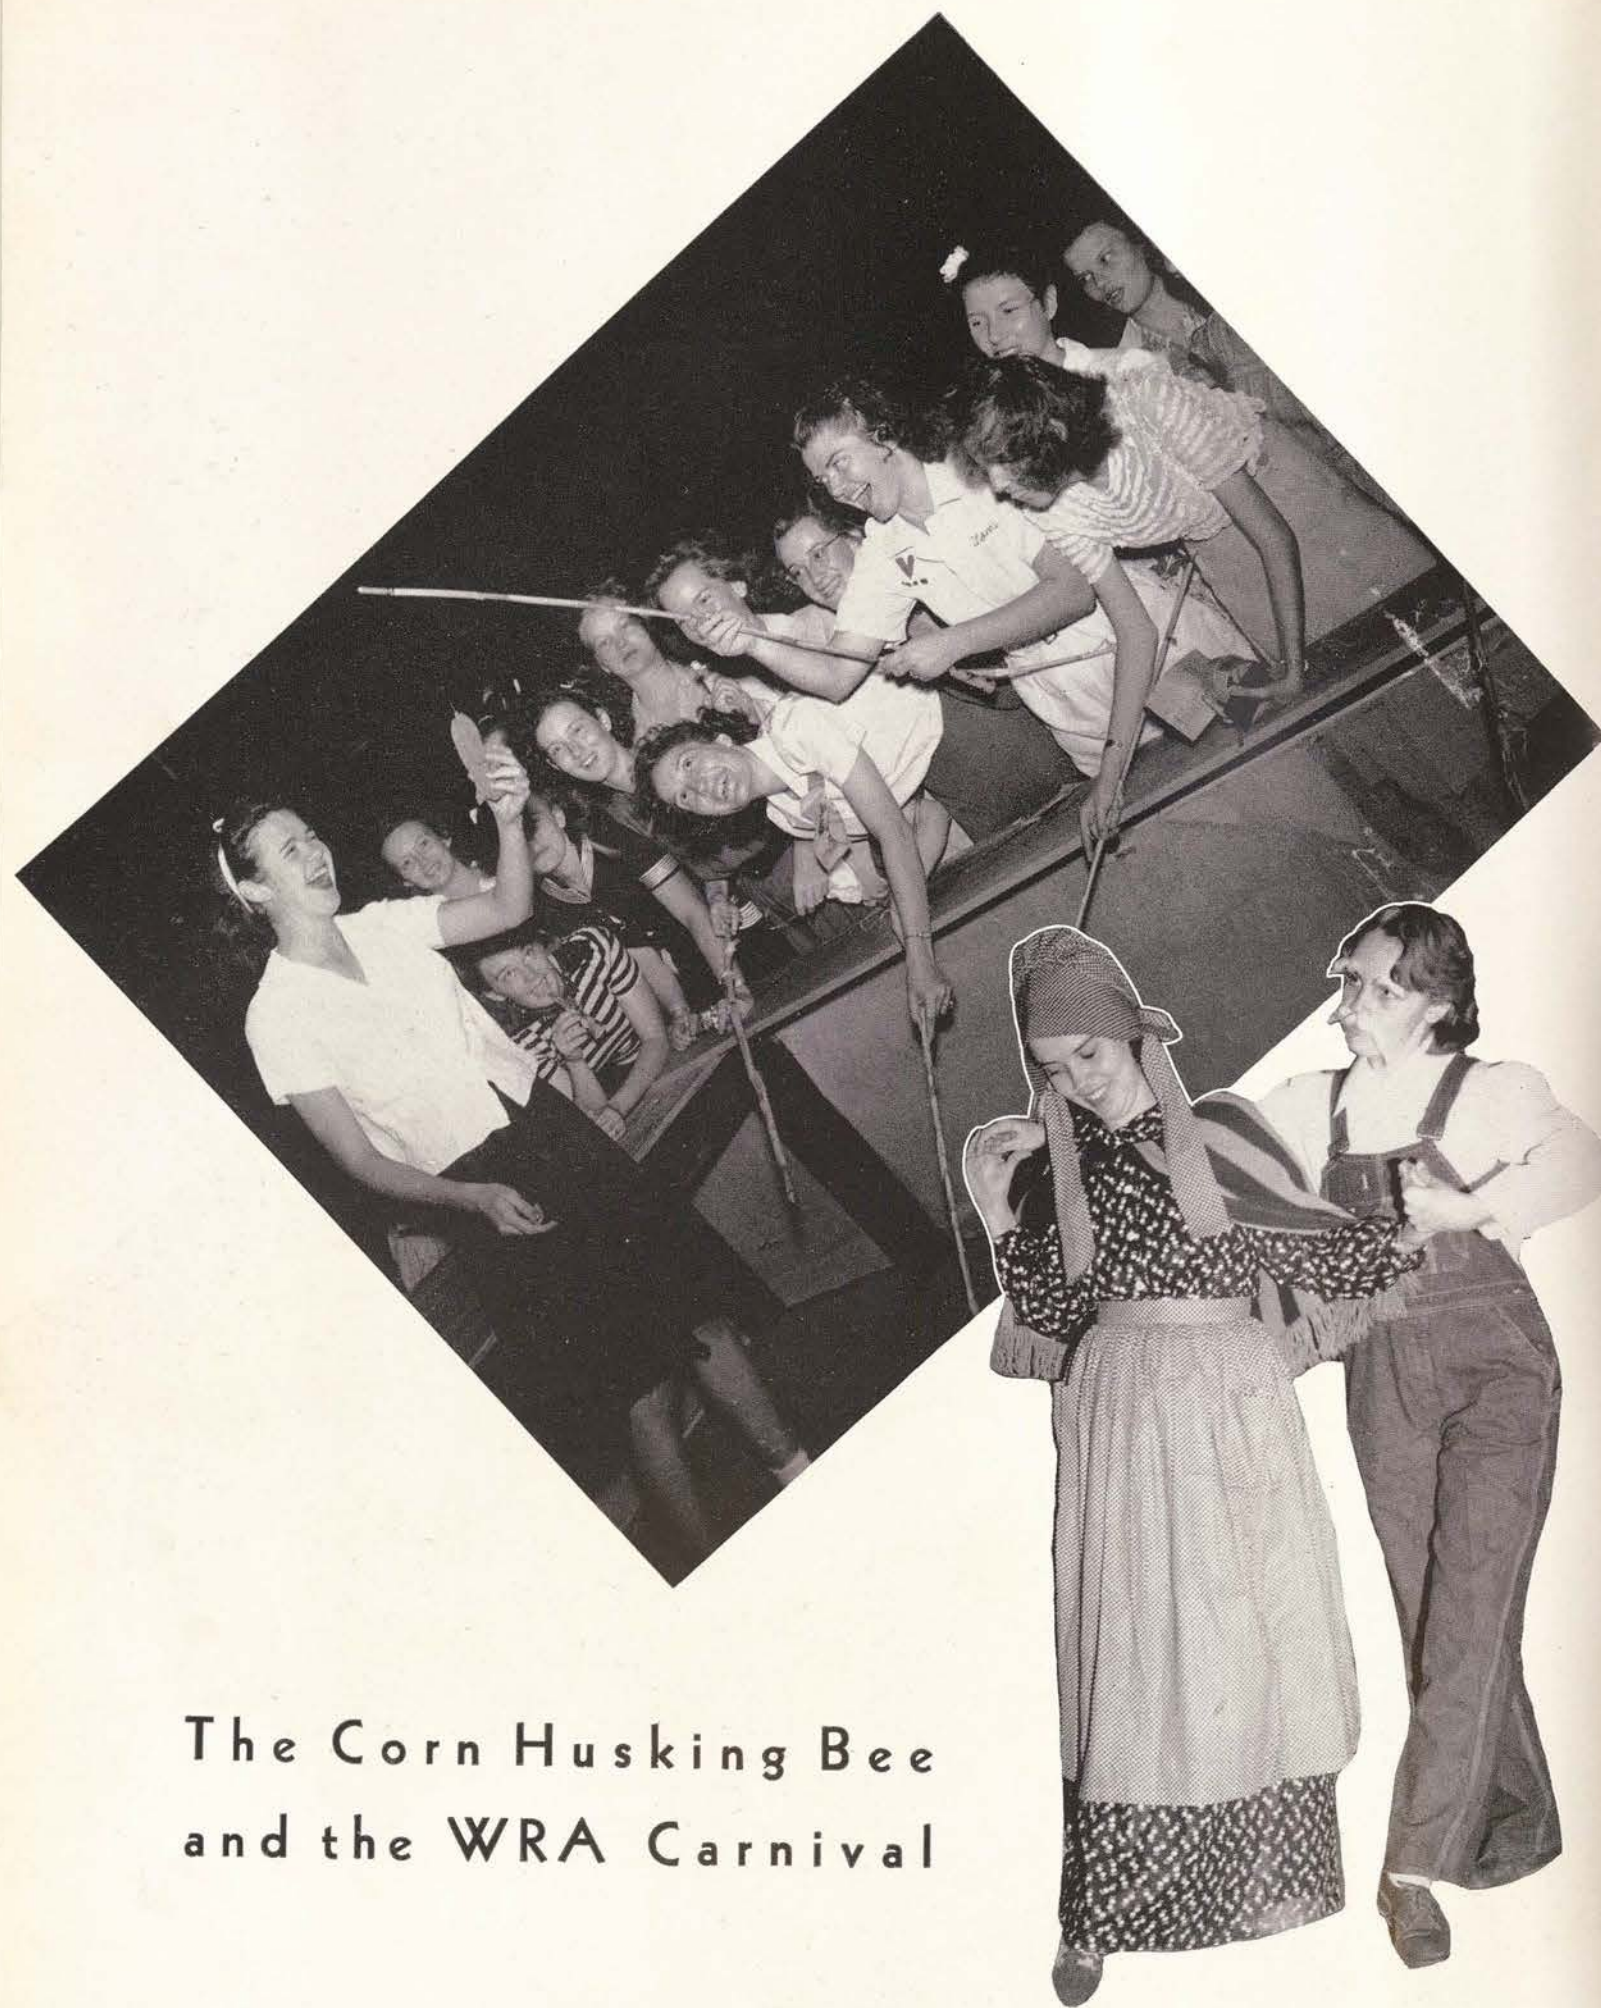

Top right, Serving Girls shivered with a smile. Top left, Peggy Clark, Maxine Crisman, and Mamie Lou Womack are going after that bacon and eggs. Center, It must be the bread line. Bottom left, The hot chocolate can get a refill. Bottom right, President Hubbard polishes off his breakfast surrounded by a galaxy of beauteous damsels.

JUNIORS SWING OUT

The Corn Husking Bee
and the WRA Carnival

The Corn Husking Bee and the WRA Carnival were as "hilarious" this year as ever. Yes, sir, the corn huskers did everything from calling husbands to sooting pigs. Judges mingled with cornshuckers, fiddlers, and some of Podunk's best dressed citizens. Top right, We find Messrs. Russell, Emerson, and Russell, convincingly labeled "Judge." Below, We see Perkins, Weber, and Maisel doing their all for dear old Stoddard in the sing-song contest. Those broad-brimmed hats in the next pictures are eclipsed only by those flashing grins. And in the circle, Maisel and city-slicker friend try to find out if that well really works.

Left page, Watch Pa and Ma swing it! The carnival kids doing a little fishing. Seems as if one of those gals really hooked something.

JUNIOR AGGIE DANCE

Where there's an Aggie and a steak, they'll always get together—result the Junior-Aggie steak-fry and dance. Driven indoors on account of bad weather, Aggies and their "sisters" did justice to the food. Upper right, And who says there aren't men around TSCW—three men and one girl! Upper left, Me and thee and the food, all alone together. Below, Seems that dancing didn't occupy everyone's time—witness the Dead-eye Dicks. Lower left, And just think, those open mouths are destined to be open as long as this book shall last! Below right, It must have been good if they came away with two plates.

FRESHMAN DANCE

Snatches from the Freshman Dance . . . the first fall dance ever held for the Fish. It is one of the most important nights in a freshman's life, and one that will live forever in her memory. Top, The grand march, with uniforms parading with most of the evening dresses. Top right, "We're the couple . . ." Below, A moment of relaxation around the punch bowl. Below right, Three gals and three gobs—looks like fun. Lower left, It's not the freshman prexy's fault that she just can't look at the boy—have you ever faced a flash bulb?

CORPS TRIP

Where there's a fight, there's an Aggie—and where there's an Aggie, there's always a good fight. Ask the Japs. But it takes more than a war to keep "ole Army" from the annual TSCW-A&M Corps Trip. Ask the public!

On November 7, 1942, a solid mass of olive-drab uniforms stormed Dallas territory to have a friendly battle with SMU over possessions of pig-skin—and females in general. And naturally, they took both with ease. Naturally.

Seniors Celebrate at Christmas Formal

Christmas Week

Right, Seniors sing on the Stoddard stairway at their Christmas vespers. Below, A chorus of juniors contribute to the Yule spirit with a candle-light ceremony in Brackenridge living room.

"We've Never Been Licked"...or the Lights, action, camera! This was the week-end a group of TSCWites went down to join their brother school in the "movie of the year." The girls mingled with movie stars Noah Berry, Jr., Richard Quine, Martha O'Driscoll, and Anne Gwynne, just like old troopers.

A&M-TSCW Movie

The Date Bureau In Action

Preview... of Charm Week

Although curtailed in some aspects by the war, Charm Week again served its main purpose—that of helping each student become more charming through consciousness of appearance and actions.

Left, The speech clinic in action . . . posture exercises . . . a helpful hint on posture . . . selecting the correct dress . . . and at the dance. Right, The Redbud Dance in full swing . . .
