EXTENSION SERVICE ANNOUNCEMENT

1931-1932

PURPOSE OF EXTENSION SERVICE

The Texas State College for Women, the College of Industrial Arts, attempts to render the greatest possible service to the greatest possible number of the people of Texas. One of the channels through which the College comes into direct contact with the people is through its Department of Extension. Those who are privileged to attend the classroom and laboratory work of the College constitute only a relatively small proportion of the citizens who have a just claim on the direct services of the institution. Furthermore, the resident students themselves are benefited through extension service, because the close relationship established between the College and the home, creates and fosters a sympathetic co-operative understanding of their common problems and needs, and, therefore, results in an increased efficiency on the part of the College in giving both to its resident students and to the citizens at large, the educational service most needed. The purpose, then, of the Extension Service is to disseminate in non-technical form the practical and assimilable information which it has been able to assemble through the research and investigation of its faculty of experts and specialists.

SCOPE AND WORK OF THE COLLEGE

The Texas State College for Women, the College of Industrial Arts, is a standard college of the first class giving four-year courses leading to the degrees of bachelor of arts and bachelor of science and graduate courses leading to the degrees of master of arts and master of science. The courses of study meet all the requirements of the standard liberal arts colleges and universities, and at the same time they include technical and industrial training which prepares for remunerative vocations and for the more practical phases of life. That it is a fully standardized liberal arts college is attested by the fact that it is recognized by the highest accredited organizations in the United States, including the Association of American Colleges, the American Association of University Women, and the Association of American Universities.

The College offers thirty (30) groups of courses leading to the degrees of Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science. These groups of courses include majors in the following subjects: Liberal Arts, including English, Foreign Language, History, Mathematics, Philosophy and Education, Physical Science, Economics, Government, Sociology; Fine and Applied Art, including Art Applied to Advertising, Applied Design, Architectural Drawing, Ceramics, Costume Design, Crafts, Art Education, Illustration and Painting, Interior Decoration; Bacteriology and Pathology; Chemistry; Education, including Physical Education, Health Education, Kindergarten-Primary Education, Public School Music; Home Economics, including General Home Economics, Vocational Home Economics, Foods, Clothing, Home Demonstration; Business Administration; Journalism; Speech; Library Science; and Music, including Piano, Voice, Violin, Organ.

Beginners courses in Freshman subjects are offered during both the First and Second Semester of the regular session; the Mid-Winter High School Graduates can therefore enter college the Second Semester and secure a full program of College work. This applies also to the Summer Session.

Students having completed certain designated college courses may, without further examination, receive, from the State Department of Education, State Teachers' Certificates.

The College gives adequate training for many of the best vocations now available to women. Through a faculty advisory system assistance is given to each student in planning a program of study especially adapted to her needs.

In connection with the Summer Session of 1932 the College will conduct a Summer Institute, covering a three-weeks period, from Monday, June 13 to Saturday, July 2, inclusive. The purpose of the Institute is to give to the thoughtful women of the Southwest an opportunity to take short practical and cultural college courses consisting of lectures, class discussions, and assigned readings in the College Library. These courses will be non-credit courses, will require no entrance credits or examinations, and no final examinations.

KINDS OF EXTENSION SERVICE OFFERED

The kinds of service offered by the Department have been planned and developed in response to the requests that have come from the people of the State, consistent attempt having been made at all times to adapt the form of the service to meet the requirements of those asking it. The staff of the Extension Service is composed of lecturers, artists, and demonstrators, who are members of the regular instructional force of the College faculty. The following are the different kinds of service rendered:

- (1) Compiling, publishing, and distributing bulletins on subjects of special interest to the home and the community.
- (2) Lectures on the social, practical, educational and literary subjects from the various departments of the College.
- (3) Lectures and demonstrations of important home-making activities given by trained and experienced experts from the Departments of Home Economics and of Rural Arts.
- (4) Music recitals, speech recitals, and illustrated lectures from the Department of Music, the Department of Speech, and the Department of Fine and Applied Art.
- (5) Services of judges for debates and oratorical contests and for contests in Home Economics, Fine and Applied Art, Rural Arts, and for such other contests as are usually held at community, county, and State fairs.

WOMEN'S CLUBS, PARENT-TEACHER ASSOCIATIONS, AND OTHER ORGANIZATIONS

Supplementary to these more formal types of service, the Department of Extension gives co-operative assistance to clubs, civic improvement leagues and other organizations which have community welfare as their objective. The women's clubs of the State receive assistance in the form of year books, outlines of study, bibliographies, and, in a number of instances, material from which to prepare lectures and club papers. The Department also acts as a clearing house for assembling and distributing valuable information and suggestions in response to individual inquiries on concrete problems, and collects data and answers questionnaires in the promotion of educational matters.

BULLETINS

The bulletins issued by the Department of Extension are written by members of the regular college faculty, each author being a recognized expert in his or her chosen field. The subject matter constituting the bulletin has, in every case, a vital bearing on home and community life as is indicated by the titles listed below. The bulletins are distributed free of charge upon individual request for single copies. However, if more than one copy of the same bulletin is desired by any one person, or if the bulletins are to be used by members of a class or club a charge is made of twelve cents (12c) a copy. This pays for the actual cost of the publication. It has been found necessary to make this charge because the demand for the bulletins has far outgrown the ability of the service to finance their unrestricted free distribution. It is suggested that when the bulletins are desired by a class or club, some one member of the organization make the order for the whole number of bulletins required, and that the money be sent in the form of a money order payable to the order of the College of Industrial Arts, rather than in postage stamps.

JUDGING FOR CONTESTS

Expert service is given to schools, or to community, county, or State fairs, in judging exhibits in dairy or poultry products, in foods, textiles, and clothing and in fine and applied art. Judges are furnished also for interscholastic debates and oratorical contests.

The College makes no charge for its extension service, but it is expected that the community requesting such service will meet the local expense incurred in securing a meeting place, in the local advertising of the occasion, and in furnishing supplies for demonstrations. It is agreed by those requesting extension service that no charge will be made for the admission of the general public.

Communities wishing to arrange for demonstrators, lecturers, or musicians, should allow ample time for correspondence concerning the kind of program desired; however, such programs can be arranged for within a week's notice, if necessary.

The Department of Extension wishes to emphasize its willingness to serve the State in every way possible, and cordially invites inquiry for any additional information not contained in this announcement.
