JUDGING FOR CONTESTS

Expert service is furnished to schools, or to community, county or State fairs, in judging exhibits in dairy or poultry products, in foods, textiles, and clothing and in art. Judges may be secured also for interscholastic debates and speaking and one-act play contests.

Although the College does not charge any fee for the services of its faculty members on Extension, the organization desiring such service, must pay the expenses of the trip. The Appropriation Act passed by the Legislature prohibits the payment of traveling expenses to State employees unless on "State Business."

The expenses of an extension trip include transportation, meals, and lodging (if any). If a car, instead of bus or train, is used, the charge will be six cents per mile each way, as authorized by the State. The payment of these expenses should be made directly to the faculty member and will not be handled through the Department of Extension.

The community requesting Extension Service will be expected to meet the local expense incurred in arranging for a meeting place, in giving the occasion local publicity, and in furnishing supplies for demonstration.

Communities wishing to arrange for demonstrations, lectures, or musicians should allow ample time for correspondence concerning the kind of program desired; however, such programs can be arranged for within a week's notice, if necessary.

As indicated previously in this bulletin, the various types of Extension service offered are as follows: Bulletins; individual club helps, such as study outlines, suggestions for programs, and books loaned from the Library; Judges for State and County fairs, or for Music and Speech contests; and Extension lectures made by faculty members. Requests and arrangements for all such services shall be made through the Department of Extension.

The Department of Extension wishes to emphasize its willingness to serve the State in every way possible, and cordially invites inquiry for any additional information not contained in this announcement.

COLLEGE BULLETIN

NUMBER 387

OCT. 15, 1950

Issued semi-monthly by the Texas State College for Women, Denton, Texas. Entered December 17, 1917, Denton, Texas as second-class matter, under Act of Congress, August 24, 1912.

PURPOSE OF EXTENSION SERVICE

In order to make an additional contribution to the social, civic, and community life of the people of Texas, the Texas State College for Women maintains a Department of Extension. The College is interested in the problems of the day, and its aim is to help promote every forward-looking movement which serves the interest of the State. The College believes that, so far as its resources and facilities permit, its services should be available beyond the limits of its campus.

To do this, the Extension Service makes available cultural programs and informational material through lectures and demonstrations by its college faculty members and through various types of publications.

The Extension Service is not to be associated with Extension Courses which are offered in various centers throughout the state, or with the Division of Correspondence through which courses in home study are offered.

KINDS OF EXTENSION SERVICE OFFERED

The staff of the Extension Department is composed of lecturers, artists, and demonstrators, who are members of the regular instructional force of the College. The following are the different kinds of service rendered:

- (1) Compiling, publishing, and distributing bulletins on subjects of special interest to the home and the community.
- (2) Lectures on social, practical, educational, and literary subjects from the various departments of the College.
- (3) Lectures and demonstrations of important home-making activities given by trained and experienced experts from the Departments of Home Economics and of Rural Arts.
- (4) Music-recitals, dramatic recitals, and illustrated lectures from the Department of Music, the Department of Speech, and the Department of Art, respectively.
- (5) Lectures, Demonstrations, and Consultant Services are offered by the Department of Health, Physical Education and Recreation in the areas of aquatics, dance, sports, camping, and health.
- (6) Services of judges for debates and oratorical contests, for contests in Home Economics, Art Rural Arts, and for such other contests as are usually held at community, county, and State fairs.

WOMEN'S CLUBS, PARENT-TEACHER ASSOCIATIONS, AND OTHER ORGANIZATIONS

To supplement these more formal types of service, the Extension Department gives assistance to clubs, civic improvement leagues, and other organizations which have community welfare as their objective. The women's clubs of the State receive assistance in the form of yearbooks, outlines of study, bibliographies, and, in a number of instances, material from which to prepare lectures and club papers. The Department also acts as a clearing house for assembling and distributing valuable information and suggestions in response to individual inquiries on specific home-making problems.

BULLETINS

The bulletins issued by the Department of Extension are written by recognized experts in their specialized fields. As indicated by the titles listed below, these bulletins present subject matter having vital bearing on home and community life. The bulletins are distributed free of charge upon individual request for single copies. However, if more than one copy of the same bulletin is desired by any one person, or if the bulletins are to be used by members of a class or club a charge is made of twelve cents (12c) a copy. This pays for the actual cost of the publication. It has been found necessary to make this charge because the demand for the bulletins has far outgrown the ability of the service to finance their free distribution. It is suggested that when the bulletins are desired by a class or club, some one member make the order for the number of bulletins required, and that the money be sent in form of a money order payable to the Texas State College for Women.
