SYMPOSIUM PUTS FOCUS ON WOMEN IN MUSIC

The accomplishments of women musicians and opportunities in music for today's students will be featured in a symposium presented Oct. 13-14 by the TWU School of the Arts.

The Women in Music Symposium will feature guest artists, choral workshops and the premier of a commissioned work for choir by internationally known composer and artist Eleanor Daley. All events are free and open to the public. For a schedule of events, visit www.twu.edu/as/pa/music/WIMsymposium.htm. For additional information, contact the TWU Department of Music at 8-1-2500.

The TWU Concert Choir, TWU Wind Ensemble and selected soloists will present Daley's work, "Seasons of Love," at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 14, in the Margo Jones Performance Hall. The work was commissioned by the TWU School of the Arts.

Guest artists will conduct master's classes and choral workshops, and will participate in panel discussions. Guest artists include Daley; Carlana Fitch, executive director of the Springfield (Missouri) Symphony Orchestra; Angela Mariani, a musicologist and writer, producer and host of the nationally syndicated public radio program "Harmonia;" and Karen Stone, general director of the Dallas Opera. Guest singers from area high schools will join the TWU Concert Choir in a choral workshop presented by Daley, scheduled at 5 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 14, in the Margo Jones Performance Hall.

Dr. Susan Stewart, assistant professor of music and coordinator of choral activities, said the symposium was inspired by advances that women have made in the music field.

"Women finally have made inroads into being conductors," she said. "It's time now. Students need to think about options other than being a performer."

Dr. Pamela Youngblood, associate professor of music, agreed, adding, "TWU is a perfect place to emphasize what women are doing in music."

TWU TO HOST GRADUATE SCHOOL FAIR

TWU will host a Graduate and Professional School Fair on Oct. 6 from 4-7 p.m. in the Student Center. Twenty-five universities, colleges and professional schools are participating and will share information about their programs with prospective students. All interested persons are welcome to attend.

Information on graduate school requirements, applicable entrance exams and financial aid and scholarships also will be available. For more information, call 8-1-3188.

The fair is sponsored by the TWU Multi-ethnic Biomedical Research Support program, the TWU Honors Scholars Program, the TWU Graduate School, the TWU admissions office, Phi Theta Kappa and the Pioneer Admissions Recruiting Team.

NEWSBRIEFS

Information and news about activities, programs or TWU people may be sent to the office of marketing and communication through campus mail, by fax at 8-1-3463 or by e-mail to info@twu.edu. The deadline to receive information is the first and third Tuesday of each month at 5 p.m. for the following publication. Student information for the "People" section is not published unless it is submitted by or in conjunction with a faculty member and that faculty member's related activities.

Dr. Thomas K. Brown (music) will present an eclectic mix of well-known and newer compositions in an organ recital scheduled for 8 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 7, in the Margo Jones Performance Hall. The concert is free and open to the public. He will be assisted by lyric soprano Dr. Nicki Cohen (music). An additional feature planned for the presentation will allow the audience to view the music being played as the four keyboards of the organ are projected onto a large screen. For more information, call 8-1-2500.

Jan Henning, benefits coordinator for the Agency on Aging of North Central Texas, will be the next speaker at the Parenting Your Parents Brown Bag Lunches, Oct. 9 beginning at noon in room 101 of the Blagg-Huey Library.

Bubble, Rainbows and Worms: Science Experiments for Preschool Children, by the late Dr. Sam Ed Brown (early childhood and special education), will be reissued by Gryphon House Inc. publishing in June 2004. The book was originally published in 1981 and is popular on the used book market.
